

COMMERCE ENROLLS 330

OLD AND NEW MEN ARRIVE FOR DEPARTMENT.

The University school of commerce, with a registration of 330 majors and still more expected to enroll, is experiencing its heaviest year since its organization. The present enrollment is over twice that of any previous year. All classes are crowded, making it impossible for them all to be held in the commerce building. Villard hall is being used for some of the commerce classes.

Many new subjects have been added to the course of instruction, among them being fire insurance, life insurance, plant management, brokerage and credit management. Four new instructors have been engaged to assist in the school: Prof. A. C. Hopkins, an instructor in the University during 1916-17, who will teach insurance and brokerage; C. C. Edmonds, an instructor during 1917, who has just returned from service, teacher of salesmanship and business organization; A. L. Lomax, a graduate of Washington University, formerly of the United States shipping board, teacher of foreign trade, and T. J. Bolitho, a professor at Washington State college, instructor in accounting.

D. W. Morton, dean of the school of commerce, has been appointed advisor of the federal board for vocational education.

Society

Open house marked the beginning of social activities of the campus for the year. The men of the University were given cordial greetings by the women of the different houses. Few events of a social nature other than rushing took place last week.

A few of the more recent engagements known to date are those of Martha Tinker to Lieut. Fred Godboat; Doris Slocum to Ed Garbade; Thelma Stanton to Wesley Shattuck; Rachel Parker to William Goodrum of Marshfield; Josephine Connors to Sam Lehman; Annamay Bronaugh to Ralph Burgess, and Mary Ellen Bailey to Paul Foster.

The Misses Dorothy and Priscilla Eakin of Astoria have been pledged to Phi Beta Pi. Mrs. Fletcher Linn of Portland and Miss Hazel Shattuck of Vancouver spent the week-end at the Pi Beta Phi house.

Miss Carlotta Read and Miss Patricia McCabe of Seattle were visitors at the Delta Gamma house during the past week. Miss Rena Adams visited at the Delta Gamma house over the week-end.

Mrs. H. J. Blaesing of Portland visited for several days at the Gamma Phi Beta house last week. Miss Mildred Hall, a Gamma Phi from O. A. C., was a Sunday guest of Oregon Gamma Phi chapter.

DRAMATIC OUTLOOK GOOD

MANY MAJOR STUDENTS BACK IN DEPARTMENT.

Mabel Holmes Parsons' Manuscript "Real Things" First on List for Presentation.

With practically every major in the department of public speaking back and some promising new material to work with, Professor Fergus Reddie is making plans for a big play producing year. Leads will be chosen from "The Company," now composed of seven advanced students of the department, most of whom were active in plays last year. Arrangements have been made so that the more worth while plays may be staged in Portland this winter after they have been put on for the University.

First among the plays to be presented this year is Mabel Holmes Parsons' recent manuscript entitled "Real Things," a problem play in four acts. The cast will be chosen soon from faculty and student talent and work will begin so that the production can be staged in November, both here and in Portland. This is the first of Mrs. Parsons' plays which has ever been used by the University.

Another probability for the season is "The Little Dog Laughed," a fantasy in three acts, written by Professor Reddie. This will be given near Thanksgiving time both in Guild hall and in Portland. The play created much interest when it was given here two years ago and the department has been asked to present it again. The manuscript came out this summer in book form, printed by the Gorham Press in Boston as one of the American Dramatists' series. It is the first play published by Professor Reddie since he came to the University although he had several printed before that time.

"Bobby," a comedy in three acts, written last winter by Professor Reddie and Norville Thompson, will be staged some time this winter according to the present schedule. It was to have been produced last spring, but owing to lack of time it was postponed until this season.

"Huckleberry Finn" is one of the bigger things which will be put on later. Many one-act plays are under consideration and will be given throughout the year in both afternoon and evening performances.

Girls' Glee Director Named

Leland A. Coon, newly appointed head of the vocal department at the school of music, is to be director for the girls' glee club for this year. Further than that no information about the club or the tryouts can be obtained until a later date, according to Dr. Landsbury, on account of the confusion of registration in the music department.

Professor Warner Writes

Prof. Sam Bass Warner, of the University of Oregon law school, has an article in the latest number of the California Law Review on the subject "The Duty of a Railroad Company to Care for a Person it Has Without Fault Rendered Helpless."

The snappy stuff.

THAT'S what the young fellows want; that's what we have for them; and they're coming* to us to get it. Hart Schaffner & Marx have certainly done a great work for us this season; never before such "live" styles as now.
