

OREGON SPIRIT SURGES AND YELL KINGS VIE IN FIRST GREAT RALLY

BUSINESSSESSION SHORT

Announcements Fill Early Part of Session—Graduate Manager Gives Data on Expenditures.

PEP!!! Slim Crandall voiced it as he sprang to the stage in one tremendous bound. Aroused by the immortal OSKEE the first great surge of life and returning spirit burst out in assembly today. One after another Oregon's prospective yell kings stepped forth and gave their all.

With hoarse throats and ringing ears the gathering responded. Reserve broke under the stimulus. Even the frosh in the gallery were forgotten till an empty stillness turned Carl Knudson to them as leader. Then above hoarse shouts of "mill race," they swept away both noise and opposition with Oskee and Oregon.

With the last echo dying in the distance Johnny Houston landed upside down upon the platform. Oskee in a whisper, Oskee quivering the very building followed while the midget pep machine gyrated from floor to ceiling and from one side of the platform to the other, disappearing suddenly as abruptly as he came. Claire Keeney followed with action that kept a flying tangle of long legs and arms, before one's eyes, and brought forth a mighty volume of sound from the crowd.

Pasto Arouses 'Em. The fast cooling lunches were again forgotten as George Pasto slid home beneath the piano and arose from his back halfway down the page with his oration. Laughter where tears were expected, merriment that drowned his words and flattened his excuses met him at every turn. "Oregonensis" hardly brought forth the same results as the more familiar yells, but Pasto was behind it. The thrilling strains of Mighty Oregon ended as the last man fled out of Villard hall.

General business covered the greater part of the first student body assembly of the year. "We want seniors" rose in chorus from the sombered gang occupying the front benches in the lower middle section of Villard. Dean Straub announced an important freshman meeting in Villard hall at 7:45 tonight.

ELEANOR CHAPMAN, FLINT JOHNS ELOPE

Delta Gamma Sisters and Sigma Nu Brothers Each Find Member Missing Wednesday Morning.

The Sigma Nus awoke yesterday morning to find that Flint Johns had suddenly packed his bag and departed in a most mysterious manner. And the brothers were worried, until a call came from the Delta Gamma house announcing the disappearance of Eleanor Chapman, and the Sigma Nus were asked to throw light on the subject. To make a long story short, a few well directed inquiries on the part of friends of the couple disclosed the fact that they left their college haunts with the intention of being married within the next two or three days.

The Johns-Chapman romance is one of long standing, having begun in their home town, Vancouver, Washington, before the close of their high school days.

Johns was a member of the senior class, having returned to college after serving in the navy last year.

DANCE WILL BE FORMAL

SOPHOMORES VOTE ANNUAL PARTY DRESS AFFAIR

December 5 is Date Set—Committees Appointed to Make Plans and Find Place.

The members of the sophomore class decided at their meeting on Tuesday to return to the custom of ante-bellum days and have their annual dance a formal affair this year, the date having been set for December 5. During the past few years, owing to war conditions, the sophomore dance has been informal, but this year the old custom will be resumed. No decision was made as to the place where the dance will be given, but a committee was appointed to decide, in addition to the various other committees necessary to plan the affair.

Carl Newbury was appointed as general chairman. The committee members are as follows: General committee, Carl Newbury, chairman; Bill Bolger, Roscoe Hemenway, Steve Smith, Remy Cox, Henry Kospke, Ralph Burgess, Bill Cummings, Charles Huggins, Helen Nelson, Barbara Sheppard, Marvel Skeels, Ila Nichols, Audrey Roberts and Alice Wharton; programs, "Curley" Lawrence, chairman; Mary Hegart and Doris Dezenford; refreshments, Walcott Buren, chairman; Helen Clark, Vivian Strong and George La Roche; music, Verne Dudley, chairman, and Guy, Sacre; feature, Howard Staub, chairman; Gene Kely and Art Ritter; chaperones, Gladys Everett, chairman; Elston Ireland and Pauline Coad.

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE STARTS NEXT MONDAY ON CAMPUS

Money Obtained to be Used Here; John Houston and Roy Veatch Head Teams

Every man in the University who likes entertainment, enjoys a "smoke" smoker, and mixing with his fellow-beings, will spend a dollar on a membership to the University Y. M. C. A. when the big membership drive opens next Monday morning.

The purpose of the drive is to raise enough money so that real smokers, lectures, motion pictures, and all forms of entertainment may be put on for the University Y. M. C. A. men. It has nothing to do with the national Y. M. C. A. and all funds will go to the making of a better "get-together place" for the men of the University.

The campaign will extend through three days, in which time 700 men are expected to join. Two teams, composed of two men from each house, have been appointed to secure memberships, one under Roy Veatch, to be known as the "blues" and a second under John Houston, known as the "reds." Two huge thermometers will be placed in front of the "Y" but during the campaign and will register the number of memberships each team is securing. The two teams will be given a "feed" later at the "Y" hut.

In addition, posters and banners with the slogans, "Join the 'Y'" will be displayed on the campus. The membership committee includes:

Beta Theta Pi, Eugene Kely and Sterling Patterson. Non-fraternity men, William Purdy and Harold Quayle; Friendly Hall, Merritt Whitten and Dick Thompson; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Carl Liebe and Henry English; Sigma Nu, Warren Gilbert and Sprague Carter, Alpha Tau Omega, Chester Adams and Morris Morigan; Kappa Sigma, Harris Ellsworth and Howard Straub; Sigma Chi, Leslie Carter and William Coleman; Phi Delta Theta, John Gamble and Joe Ingram; Delta Tau Delta, Bruce Yergen and Reed Rowland; Phi Gamma Delta, Jyle Bain and Herman Lind.

"If everyone subscribes a dollar," said Elmo Madden, president of the council, "we will have the money to carry this on, otherwise we will not."

TRE-NU TO ENTERTAIN

Self-Supporting College Women Will Entertain Freshmen Girls.

Tre-Nu, an organization of University women who are wholly or partially self-supporting, will give a reception Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. R. Sweetser. Freshmen women on the campus are being invited by a Tre-Nu committee to be present at the informal reception and a special effort is being made to reach girls who are not living in University houses of residence. The Tre-Nu girls will meet their guests at the Y. W. C. A. Bungalow and take them to Mrs. Sweetser's home.

TAYLOR TO HEAD FROSH

New Prexy Elected Following Resignation of Ruthford Brown.

Ralph Taylor of Albany was elected president of the freshman class at a meeting of the class held Tuesday evening. Taylor was elected following the acceptance of the resignation of Ruthford Brown of Baker, who was elected at the first meeting of the year, but who refused to accept the office.

The rest of the meeting hour was taken up with the discussion of plans and the appointing of committees for the freshmen part of the underclass mix which will be held Saturday.

A dinner will be given at the Parish Hall of the Episcopal church for University students of the church. All Episcopal students welcome. Seventh and Charnelton streets, 6 p. m.

PLAN FOR BOATHOUSE OFFERED UNIVERSITY BY F. L. CHAMBERS

Mill Race Headquarters Under Student Management Discussed

The proposition of having a boathouse as canoeing headquarters on the millrace and under the management of the associated students of the University is being discussed to some extent at present by the student council, the executive council and students generally about the campus. Talk of the plan began when F. L. Chambers, of Eugene, purchased the boathouse property last summer from Mrs. Kountz, the former owner.

Canoeing has become almost a sport of the past during the last two years because of no place to keep canoes and of no way of supervising the privilege of canoeing. The plan under discussion, it is said, would provide a place for storing canoes and also authority for enforcing student body regulations in regard to the sport.

Boathouse Needs Repair.

The only proposition so far presented to the University is a rental of the property at $60 a month. This would, in fact, amount to a charge of $120 per month, because there are but nine months of school and at least four of these months are unfit for canoeing. The building at present is in a bad state of repair, and the plumbing is in bad condition, say those who have looked at the property this year.

Other difficulties encountered in talking over the plan are the cost of equipping the proposed boathouse with sufficient canoes and with blankets and pillows and a proper management. Canoes and blankets, it is said, would amount to $2000 in expense beside the rental of the property. The University is at present facing the matter of a debt on the new athletic field.

McClain Favors Proposition.

"The University needs a boathouse under student management," said Marion McClain, graduate manager of the associated students, today. The plan has been worked with success at other universities and colleges, and canoeing has been a sport enjoyed by a majority of the students in a safe manner and beyond criticism of any sort. The University owns a strip of ground just across the race from the boathouse, and this is accessible by means of the bridge.

A tea room and soda fountain in connection with the boathouse have also been discussed and it is thought that by charges for canoes, which would amount to about one dollar for an entire afternoon, and the profit from the tea room the scheme might be made at least partially self-supporting.

At the opening of the present school year President Campbell considered the advisability of opening a dining-room annex for Friendly hall in the large room above the boathouse in order to accommodate the men of the hall. This plan has been abandoned, however.

Mr. McClain is investigating further the possibility of a boathouse for the University and definite announcement in regard to the matter will probably be made in the near future.

FORMER EDITOR WRITES

Helen Brenton Now Attending Medical School at California.

Helen Brenton, prominent figure in University journalistic circles of last year's graduating class, is now attending the University of California medical school at Berkeley, according to word received from her by friends on the campus.

She says there are quite a number of former Oregon people now attending the University of California. Among them are: Douglas Mullarky, Lloyd Still, Nelson Dezenford, Charles McDonald, Henry Howe, Dorothy Stine, Amy Stannard, J. D. Foster, Aldis Webb and Margaret Mann.

Miss Brenton was editor of the 1918 Oregonian and also served as editor of the Emerald during the last term of last year.

NEW INSTRUCTOR OF SPANISH HERE

Miss Rosaline Espinosa Takes Charge of Classes—May Get Assistant. Classes Large.

Miss Rosaline Espinosa, new professor of Spanish, arrived in Eugene a few days ago and is now taking charge of all Spanish classes in the University. Her classes are crowded to the limit, her beginning classes numbering over 100, and there is a possibility that an assistant will come to her aid next week.

Miss Espinosa is a graduate of the University of Colorado and has been doing graduate work at Columbia university. Last year she was a teacher of Spanish in the high school of commerce in New York city. Miss Espinosa's parents are both Spanish and she learned to speak Spanish at the same time that she began to learn English. She is a sister of Dr. A. M. Espinosa, professor of Romance languages at Leland Stanford university. Dr. Espinosa has written text books on Spanish grammar, composition and folk lore. Some of his text books are used in the Spanish classes here.

Y. W. CAMPAIGN STARTS

REPRESENTATIVES OF HOUSES TO BOOST MEMBERSHIP

Plans to Make Every Girl on Campus Wear Blue Triangle—Big Committee Busy.

A campaign to make every girl on the University campus a member of the Y. W. C. A. is being vigorously launched by the membership committee of the association with Jeannette Moss as chairman. Every girl who had signed up as member before assembly today were a little blue triangle to assembly and those not wearing them were tagged there. A member from every girls' house on the campus has been appointed to see that all the girls in her house have taken out membership cards. Members of this committee are:

Senior Cops to Make First Bow

Sophs and Frosh Rarin' to Mix

Psst! Look out for the Senior Cops!

Sheltered behind six-cylinders silver stars, made from the sacred remains of garbage cans and one-lung Lizzies, the world-famous horde of Senior Cops will make their inaugural appearance on the Oregon campus, Saturday at one o'clock on Kincaid field, when they will start the festivities for the big interclass mix.

The mix this year is likely to be one of the big surprises of the year, for the freshmen huskies are reported to be holding nightly conclaves, while class officers have been seen scurrying about the campus burdened with copies of the "Strategy of Napoleon" and "Mohammed and his Wives," presumably looking for a means to achieve a strategic victory. Further encouragement to the babes will be given when the six dozen freshmen football aspirants appear on the field ready to die (or be dyed) for their class.

"Pinky" Boylen has confined his studies to mathematics. As soph president, "Pinky" has been trying to add up the points he is sure to get so that they will be more than the points the sophomores won't get, and he is having a hard time doing it. The aid of several members of the faculty of the mathematics department has been called in, but the use of many boxes of chalk has not eased the strain on young Boylen's mind.

On the other hand, the few heavyweights of the sophomore class are

MULTNOMAH-OREGON CONTEST SATURDAY WILL OPEN SEASON

Eight Old Members of Varsity Expected in Lineup to Face Clubmen

GAME TO FOLLOW MIX

Portland Aggregation Lists Veteran Players on its Roster—Tegart at End.

(By Alexander G. Brown) With the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club football eleven as their opponents the University of Oregon football team will start the season this Saturday afternoon on old Kincaid field. This game will probably be the last contest staged on this historic old gridiron, upon which for over ten years the lemon-yellow has triumphed over opposition from all points of the Pacific Coast conference. To many of the old students, the fact that this game marks the end of Kincaid as a football field is of greater importance than the fact that the game of November 15 marks the opening of the new stadium.

The game Saturday will be a Waterloo for some of the men turning out for the Varsity night after night. The squad must be cut down so that more individual attention may be paid the players. To say the least, the candidates Saturday will stage one great exhibition, as everyone is determined that he is not going to be among those left behind when practice starts next week.

As the game is still two days away it is impossible at this time to say just who will start. One guess is just about as good as another. From sideline observation it would appear that the game would be started with the following men: Center, "Brick" Leslie, veteran of the team of 1917 and of the freshman squad of 1916; guards, Al Harding, a member of last season's team, and Art Berg of the frosh eleven of 1916 and the Varsity of '17. At tackles there are three from whom it is impossible to pick the two that will start. Baz Williams, who played on the team of 1917, has been out but a week and for this reason may not start. "Spike" Leslie, of the freshman team of '16, and Ken Bartlett, a returned member of the great Varsity aggregation of

Men to Parade In robe de nite

Big Rally to Follow Fashion Show

Clad in faultless evening dress of the kind commonly used for sleeping purposes, 900 men students of the University are scheduled to give artistic interpretations of the modern shimmy during their course in the annual pajama parade which will begin to commence tomorrow evening at 8:30.

All the latest shapes and colors in Sleep-Tite, Snorewell and Nu-bone will be shown by very much alive models, it is announced by authorities, and a peep into the masculine boudoirs discloses the fact that Nature overlooked several colors when the rainbow was devised.

"It's going to be worth seeing and being in," declared "Stan" Anderson, student body president, this evening. "We expect absolutely every man in college to be out. No excuses will be tolerated, and unfortunate will be the man who fails to appear."

The men are instructed to meet at the library at 8:15. In charge of the yell leader they will start serpentine down Thirteenth avenue a few minutes later, over to Eleventh avenue by way of Alder street, and thence to Willamette, where Eugene's populace will glimpse Ostermoor decorations extraordinary and hear yells that would make Sioux warriors pink with envy.

A short stop is to be made at the Rex theatre, so that everybody and his relatives may know what is going on, and a trip will be made through the Rainbow conjunction.

"Should any business house in Eugene feel slighted, we will consider making it a visit," it is announced.

At the corner of Eighth avenue and Willamette street the secret is to be let out and everybody in town will be let in on the fact that the rally is to promote interest in and raise enthusiasm for the Multnomah game to be staged on Kincaid field Saturday afternoon. Permission has been granted the yell leader by local authorities to wake all early-to-bed enthusiasts in Eugene and Springfield. Consequently it is believed by the time all "Oskies" are delivered the lin eof pyjama wearers may be lengthened by several yards of citizens.

Following the finale at Eighth avenue the parade will return to the campus.

"The main thing is to have everybody out," Anderson declared, "and I believe everybody will be. We want to bring out the fact that Oregon spirit—the spirit that's going to help win our games for us—is still very much alive.

"Let's go!"
