OREGON WELCOME WAITS

Homecoming, that time to which all University of Oregon students and alumni look forward with such interest, will be, the University hopes, this year the largest homecoming ever held on the campus. All former students are being notified that November 15 will be the day when they can get together to renew old acquaintances and again feel the spirit of the Oregon campus.

Of principal interest in the week-end's schedule will be the annual contest with the Oregon Agricultural College eleven. Oregon students always take more delight in viewing a game with the Aggies than one with any other college team, and this year the wealth of seasoned material will give the game its former "big league" quality. It will be a contest that no former Oregon student would wish to miss.

All sorts of pep will be needed for the big rally Friday evening preceding the game, the rally that is to eclipse all others in Oregon's history. With so many men back this year, the yelling and enthusiasm of the serpentine mob will surely be sufficient to stir even the most impervious freshman. The freshman bonfire will be started weeks in advance and when it is finally lit and the flames shoot skyward, speeches by "Shy" and "Bill" and old students will add to the eagerness for the next day's contest.

It isn't necessary to urge alumni and former students to return. They want to come back, but it is necessary to make them feel welcome and every Oregon student must help in the creating of this feeling.

Let's all pull together to make this the largest and best homecoming ever given on the campus and to make old Oregon students prouder than ever of their alma mater.

OREGON FIGHT MUST BE REVIVED.

Oregon has been known far and wide as a school of student body spirit and enthusiasm. Oregon fight, that indefinable something which has been a characteristic of Oregon students and athletic teams since the founding of the school, has been in a large measure responsible for the success which every department of student endeavor has gained in the past few years.

Tomorrow night at the pajama parade and Saturday afternoon at our first football game of the season every student in the University will be given a chance to show whether they have that Oregon spirit or not. Every man should enter into the spirit of tomorrow night's parade and be present in garb to suit the occasion. Saturday should see the grandest revival of Oregon spirit there has ever been in the history of the school. The grandstand and bleachers should be packed with rooters. Clear your throat and expand your lungs and yell. Stand behind your yell leader in all he asks and does, and get that Oregon spirit of yours to bubbling over.

Leader Reported
Seeking More Of Old Blarney Rock

Colonel John Leader has included in his itinerary for the next few weeks a trip to Ireland. He is going to look after his business and property interests—at least such is the explanation he gives his friends about the campus.

But putting two and two together they crystallize into an interesting bit of gossip. Now the colonel's property, so we are told, is located in the county of Cork, or thereabouts. His estate may need his personal attention, but the famous old Irish blarney stone is also located near Cork, doubtless handy to the gentleman's property. In discussing his trip the colonel has made no mention of his designs on Cork's greatest tourist attraction for he dearly loves to put something over on us Americans, but his secret has been guessed—he is crossing the ocean to bring back the rest of the blarney stone, that small bit which he left behind him years ago; he is considering going into the real estate business.

GIRLS TRYOUT SATURDAY

Last Year's Members Will Compete With New Candidates.

Girls' glee club tryouts are scheduled for next Saturday from 8:30 until 10, and from 3 until 4, in the music building, according to Leland A. Coon, assistant piano instructor in the department, who will direct the club.

Last year's members of the glee club will try out for this year's membership in the same manner as new girls who have not been on the club before. This decision was made by Professor Coon on account of the unusually large enrollment of girls in the University. This, it was decided, was the only fair way of keeping the best voices in the University on the glee club, and the decision was enthusiastically received by all of the old members.

THIRTY ON PROBATION

COMMITTEE MAKES RULE TO DROP LOW GRADE PEOPLE.

Examination To Be Given in Month to Determine Rating of All.

The scholarship advisory committee, composed of the deans of the departments, the deans of the college, Professor DeCou, chairman of the student committee, and Carlton Spencer, registrar, met Tuesday evening to discuss the supervision of the scholarship of the students on probation.

Due to existing circumstances a few exceptions have been made to students entering the University this fall. Allowances have been made for about 40 mature service men who were desirous of entering college this year, which has made a slight irregularity in the usual required 15 credit entrance rule.

Some 30 students who did not make their required nine hours last term are now on probation for this term. If they fail to carry their present work successfully they will be dropped without further notice.

Owing to the crowded condition of all the classes the committee has adopted the plan of having tests in all subjects in about a month. Students falling low in these examinations can be put on probation by their instructors. Such people will be requested to report to certain members of the committee at regular intervals until their grades are of passing nature. The committee feels that this will be a highly satisfactory plan as last spring of the 15 warned for having low grades only one failed to pick up in scholarship by the end of the college year.

All students are urged to see their major professors or their individual class instructors if they feel uncertain as to their class standing or if they feel that their course is too difficult.

MIX TO BE "SQUARE"

Ways and means of perpetuating the underclassmen mix as a "square" one and at the same time assuring sophomore victory were discussed Tuesday afternoon at the junior class meeting in the Y. M. C. A. hut. Nish Chapman, junior president, appealed for co-operation in the matter and urged that all juniors be on the field Saturday to uphold Oregon's traditions. Ernest Boyen was appointed general chairman of the mix.

Under The Showers

By Herman Lind

Report from Corvallis state that Hargiss and his staff were disappointed with the showing made by the Aggies against the Alumni last Saturday. The grads outplayed their competitors and held them to a scoreless tie.

The O. A. C. schedule has now been fully arranged for. The Hargissites will battle Gongaza on Thanksgiving day in Spokane.

The University of California varsity eleven and the Olympic club of San Francisco played a 6-6 tie game in Berkeley Saturday. The latter team is an aggregation of stars from all parts of the country.

Coach Welch, the Carlisle Indian in charge of the Washington Staters, seems to be having trouble with his backfield. On the line he has at least two men for every position, but Captain Dick Hanley and Mike Moran are the only two who are showing collegiate class behind the line.

Captain Breshears of the Idaho eleven was injured in a recent practice and may not be able to play in the game against the varsity in Moscow on the 18th.

Coach Bleameister has more men out for the varsity eleven than at any previous time and has hopes of making them all "step" this season.

FOUR TRY FOR OXFORD

President Campbell Selects Candidates for Scholarships.

James S. Sheehy, Wilbur S. Hulin, Randal Scott and Kerby S. Miller, of the University of Oregon, have been recommended by President P. L. Campbell as candidates for the two Rhodes scholarships available for Oregon. The final choice of Oregon representatives rests with the state committee on the award of Rhodes scholarships. P. L. Campbell, president of the University of Oregon, C. H. Gray, of Reed college, C. H. Wooddy, of Reed college, A. C. Newell of Portland, Professor J. B. Harrison, of the University of Washington.
