

HOMECOMING SLOGAN CONTEST WILL END WEDNESDAY EVENING

Stickers Advertising Big Week-End to be Placed on Sale This Week

LETTERS SENT ALUMNI

Old Students Are Asked to Send in Requisitions for Tickets to Oregon-O. A. C. Game

The contest for the best slogan to be used in advertising Homecoming is closing tomorrow and every student on the campus is urged by Herald White, chairman of the Homecoming committee, to drop from one to ten suggestions in the box at the library. This is absolutely necessary in order that the best slogan Oregon has ever had may be found. A committee of five, consisting of two students, one faculty member and two town people, will act as judges of the submitted slogans and the winner of the contest will be announced Friday. A prize of $6 in cash or three tickets to the O. A. C.-U. of O. game will be given to the student or town person handing in the best slogan.

The heads of the fraternity and sorority houses in the campus are asked by the Homecoming committee to hand in a list containing the names and addresses of all alumni and former students not later than Friday afternoon. This list is absolutely necessary in order that letters may be sent out by the administration office by the first of next week.

Personal Letters Sent

Dean John Straub is sending out personal letters throughout the state and every student is asked to write to old Oregon students. In addition to the circulars containing the program for Homecoming, which the committee is sending out, there will be envelopes which are to be used by the alumni and guests for procuring their tickets for the game. Applications for seats will be filed in the order in which they are received and they should all be in on or before November 6. Envelopes which are not accompanied by a draft or money order, or reservations which are verbal will not be considered. Checks or money orders must be made payable to I. H. Johnson, comptroller. Tickets will be mailed out about November 8.

Every alumnus and former student is urged to register and procure a tag as soon as he arrives in the city. These tags will enable him to procure a machine for the day; secure first attention at the luncheon; have a discount on the price of the ticket for the game, and will admit him to the big dance on Saturday without admission. Registration booths will be found in both the Southern Pacific and Oregon Electric depots; in the lobby of Johnson hall, and in the men's outdoor and indoor gyms. The Y. M. C. A. Hut will be used as a central headquarters for the guests and will be fitted with phone booth and conveniences for making the alumni feel at home.

5,000 Stickers Printed

Elmo Madden, who is in charge of the stickers, announced yesterday that 5000 of them will be ready for distribution on Wednesday afternoon and another 5000 will be ready by Thursday. Those in charge of selling them may procure them at the office of the alumni secretary in the administration building.

The stickers will be pennant-shaped with the words "Homecoming, November 15, U. of O. vs. O.A.C." in green letters on a field of yellow. These stickers are most attractive and the committee feels sure they will sell rapidly at 25 for 10 cents, 50 for 15 cents and 100 for 30 cents.

Juniors Lose Date For Jinks to Frosh; Affair Postponed

The jinks is off; but at the same time it is on. The Junior Jazz Jinks which was billed for this Saturday night has been declared null and void by Dean Straub so the members of 1921 will have to sit back and watch the freshmen make merry in the men's gymnasium on the date that the juniors had decided to have their extremely informal gathering.

Undaunted by the icy blast from the office of the dean of men the juniors have moved their date ahead a week, hoping that the jinks may be off by that time so that the Jinks may be staged.

The dance is to be a lottery and those responsible for the staging of the affair—Sam Lehman, Theodora Stoppenbach, Alexander Brown and Dick Lyons—are in secret session this afternoon jesting with fate to see just who will bring who. Sam Lehman, in an exclusive interview to the Emerald this morning, said, among other things, "this is a square mix."

The juniors had so much fun at the gathering staged last spring, when they were sophomores, that it was decided that another party of a similar nature was in order this fall, in order that all of the new members of the class might meet everyone else. The lottery will probably be found in Thursday's edition of the Emerald and the fate of many a member of the class of 1921 will then be announced.

HEALTH TO BE CHARTED

Addition of Dentist to Infirmary Staff Contemplated

Dr. E. H. Sawyer, physician at the infirmary, has begun work on charts of the physical condition of the freshmen. One side of the chart contains places for records of the family history, personal history and physical examination, while the reverse side is reserved for a dispensary record.

The teeth of the students are in fairly good condition, those of the men being better, as a whole, than those of the women, according to Dr. Sawyer.

Dr. Sawyer said that he hoped that the infirmary would be able to obtain the services of a dentist. Such a system is used at the University of California and while Oregon has not as many students he believes there is sufficient work to be done here to keep a dentist busy his entire time.

BRITISH MAGAZINES HERE

Give English Ideas on Topics of the Day—Other Papers Listed

Some British magazines are to be found in the weekly magazine section of the University library, which throw an interesting light on the British views on such topics as the league of nations, prohibition, nationalization of railroads, food profiteering and reconstruction. They correspond to such American magazines as the Literary Digest and American.

The Spectator and the New Statesman are catalogued in the Reader's Guide supplement of special and foreign magazines not common to libraries. Other valuable British magazines which are not indexed are the Saturday Review, the London Times Weekly, one of the foremost London papers, and the Illustrated London News, a pictorial presentation of current topics.

Art Students to Meet.

All majors in architecture and those interested in art work are requested to meet in the exhibit room of the architecture building tomorrow evening at 7:30. Plans for the forming of an art club will be discussed.

200 MEMBERS ALREADY HANDED IN; DRIVE PUT ON BY REDS AND BLUES OF Y.

First Day's Results Almost Third of Quota Set; "Blues" in Lead

The first day of the campus Y membership drive closed with every indication of impending success, according to both Johnny Houston, "Red" leader, and Roy Veatch, commander of the "Blues." Up to a late hour last night complete figures were not available, but the estimates of the leaders placed the day's total at about 200 members. This is almost a third of the quota set for the three days' drive. The day's results give a slight lead to the "Blue" forces, but Veatch considers his lead negligible in sight of the fact that both teams were not fully organized at the start of the drive.

"The campaign so far has met with hearty co-operation from the men on the campus," said Ray Veatch last night. Although the first day's work had not secured a third of the members sought, he seemed well pleased with the results. The last two days, he feels certain, will more than make this up.

Both Houston and Veatch stressed the fact that the University Y is purely a campus organization. "A certain quota is needed to keep the Hut open," Houston said, "and failure to secure it will reflect on every man in the University and will mean a distinct loss to the school." He expressed strong confidence in being able to put the drive over.

Roy Veatch characterized the Y as a "men's organization of the men, by the men, and for the men." Its only excuse for existing, he said, is to be of service and interest to the men, and its very success and usefulness will be determined by the way in which it is supported. It is the one truly democratic organization on the campus and should be supported by every man in the University.

Results of the drive are to be posted each night on a large triangle placed in front of the Hut. If anyone is overlooked in the canvass for members he may secure a card at the Hut or from any one of a number of workers about the campus.

PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK

Two Members of Musical Faculty to Appear at Assembly

President P. L. Campbell will speak on the year's work to the students next Thursday morning at assembly. There will be musical numbers by members of the new school of music faculty, the two so far scheduled being Rex Underwood, professor of violin, and Miss Martha Findahl, assistant vocal instructor, who will give a soprano solo.

Mr. Underwood came here to take the place of Robert Barron and Miss Findahl is taking the place of Miss Eleanor Lee. This will be their first appearance before the University.

PRACTICE IS TRI-WEEKLY

Men's Glee Club to Meet Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays

At the first rehearsal, held last Friday afternoon, men's glee club members decided to meet for rehearsal three times weekly. Practice periods are to be at 5 p. m. on Mondays and at 7 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. With the tryouts over and rehearsals started, it is expected that the glee club will soon begin steady work and that concert dates will be definitely decided.

NOTICE

Emerald advertising staff meet in Journalism annex, Wednesday evening at 7:30. Be sure to be there.

PLEDGE DAY ASSEMBLY, YEARLY CUSTOM, TO BE EARLY NEXT MONTH

U. of O. is One of Few Institutions to Honor Flag and State at Assembly

The annual Pledge Day assembly for the University students will be given on one of the early Thursdays in November, according to the present plans. The University of Oregon is one of the few educational institutions that have adopted this method of enabling the students to word their appreciation to their flag and their state.

To those that are unaccustomed to Pledge day, it might be well to say that the idea was inaugurated some years ago for the purpose of pledging to the state, by each student, of his service and loyalty, in return for the education provided by public expense.

This formal recognition of the obligation to the state will likely be read in conjunction with a pledge to our flag and country by the governor of the state. It is planned that special music shall fill out the program and other features will be introduced to make the state executive's visit a pleasant one.

It is hoped that a large attendance of the student body will be present in Villard on this morning to make this annual assembly a tribute to Oregon Spirit.

30 MEN TO REPRESENT Y.

University Delegates Will Go to McMinnville Conference

The University of Oregon expects to have at least 30 men at the Y. M. C. A. student conference to be held in McMinnville this week-end, October 17-19. An attempt will be made to have every house on the campus represented in the delegation.

This conference is expected to bring together the leading men of all the colleges of Oregon. Roy Veatch, local "Y" chairman on conferences, considers it an excellent chance for Oregon to get in touch with other schools of the state, and is indorsing the movement heartily. Speakers for the occasion will be drawn from the various delegations. Gale Seamen, Pacific Coast secretary for the Y. M. C. A., will be in attendance. According to those who know him, Mr. Seamen is a very forceful speaker, and is in close touch with the work to be taken up.

The following colleges are expected to be represented at McMinnville: Reed College, Pacific University, Pacific college, Willamette university, Philomath college, Albany college, McMinnville college, Oregon Agricultural college and the University of Oregon.

GIRLS HARVEST BERRIES

Wanda Brown and Five Assistants Brave Wilds of Linn County

Twenty-one days of harvesting in the wilds of Linn county was the novel experience of Wanda Brown, junior in the University, before entering college this fall. With the assistance of five girls, Miss Brown undertook a contract to clear 65 acres on Mt. McCully of all the wild blackberries they possessed. The party maintained a camp on the property and thus combined vacation with work.

Starting on September 1, all the berries were picked and loaded into trucks within the allotted time of 21 days. Zerolene cans and every other sort of receptacle were used to move the crop to the market in the large Chevrolet truck, where they brought a price of eight cents per pound.

Faculty Foments Snappy Slogans Hailing Holiday

Wild whoops for the professors. The Oregon spirit has long been imbedded in the souls of the faculty and at last it has come out. Oregon needs a new slogan. The students have been doping them out for the past four days.

But now comes the good word. Even the profs, dim demonstrators of another world as they may seem, are hard at work for the University. It is rumored that the $6.00 prize for the winner has had something to do with the unusual interest shown, but be that as it may. A copy of slogans, said to have been composed by the different profs, has been handed in to the Emerald office. We reprint them without responsibility.

"For the ultimate good of the University, Oregon must win."—President Campbell.

"We will now hear from the Aggies on the subject."—Timothy Cloran. "It must be a square game I personally shall be there to see it."—Dean Straub.

"Give 'em HELL!"—Dean Morton. "Oregon will win if I keep score."—Dean Allen.

"All players must be off the field by 5:30."—Dean Fox.

"Physiologically, psychologically, bim; Hyper-amnesia; we're out to win."—Doctor Conklin.

The Emerald does not vouch for the accuracy of these slogans. It is safe to say, however, that the faculty has the right spirit. There are three reported incidents where professors have excused pupils for lack of preparation because the students had been busy writing slogans. These are as yet unverified.

All slogans must be in the wooden box at the library by Wednesday night. The judges will be absolutely square, and the fame and money will go absolutely unbiased to the composer of the best one. Oregon brains are at work.

GEORGE TAYLOR MARRIED

Former Prexy of Dorm Club is Now Head of High School

George Taylor, graduate in the class of 1919, has been appointed principal of the Lowell high school at Lowell, Oregon. Taylor was elected vice-president of the student body last year, but resigned when he entered the service. He was president of the dormitory club and active in student affairs.

Taylor was married to Miss Elizabeth Wilson quietly a few days before the close of college but no announcement was made at the time and none of their college friends knew of the marriage until the news leaked out last summer.

READING ROOM OPENED

Freshmen Do Supervised Work for Economic Class

A new reading room has been opened for reference work in the University library. All students in Dr. Robbins' Economic History classes, it is announced, will use this room (No. 30, upstairs) from 6:30 to 10 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. As there are 250 freshmen in these classes, and more than the usual number of other readers using the reading room on these evenings, it is necessary to have the books on Economic History placed upstairs.

In the daytime and Friday and Saturday evenings the main reading room may be used by everyone, because the congestion is not then so bad.

The freshmen's study will be done under the supervision of advanced students in the course.

RECENT GAME SHOWS MUCH TO BE DESIRED IN PLAYING OF VARSITY

Great Deal of Work Necessary Before Beginning of Big Conference Schedule

BACKFIELD LOOKS GOOD

Team Has Several Weak Spots—Ed Strowbridge is Star of Multnomah Contest

(By Alexander G. Brown)
The game Saturday gave the followers of the lemon-yellow their first chance to see the Varsity in action, and while the Oregon team had little trouble in downing the Multnomah club eleven the local team was not all that could be expected and plainly showed that a great deal of work would have to be put in before they can launch forth on the conference schedule and enjoy any amount of success.

Taking the line from end to end, Oregon showed up as well as did the visiting clubmen but, it must be remembered, that the Multnomah team observes few training rules and there were men playing for the club who had been out to but three practices. Stan Anderson at right end played a steady consistent game. Anderson never plays a game that can be called spectacular but his work is always the same and he can be depended upon at all times.

No Worry Over Bartlett

Bartlett, at right tackle, showed that he had not lost any of his old-time ability in his chosen department. This is one position of the line that can be checked and laid aside, as there is no reason to worry about it as long as Bartlett is on the job. While he was in the game his presence was not so noticeable as it became when he was taken out in the last quarter. Starr, who took Bartlett's place, was unable to keep up to the pace set by his predecessor. Starr has a lot of fight and is a hard worker but he will never make the player that Bartlett is.

At right guard Art Berg played a good game. It was noticeable that in getting down on punts among the first to get to the man was Berg. Once or twice Berg beat the ends down on the punts and made the tackles. The placing of Berg on the line has added a great deal of speed and has not taken any of the strength from the defense. Mautz, who replaced Berg in the last part of the game, kept up his good work. Mautz is a mighty good lineman and will probably be of great value to the Varsity before the end of the season. The work during the conference this year if going to demand that there be at least two men for every position on the line and few better combinations can be asked for than that of Berg and Mautz for guards.

Two Good Centers on Team

At center both "Brick" Leslie and "Prink" Callison put up a great exhibition. Leslie appeared to be the stronger in his defensive playing, and while he is undoubtedly a better center than "Prink" the work of the latter must be given due consideration.

On the left side of the line Al Harding proved a good running mate for Berg. Both of these men are fast and big and are not afraid to smash the opposition. They opened up some holes Saturday that were large enough to drive a wagon through. Bas Williams set to rest all of the fear that he had lost some of his ability to stop the onrush of the opposition when he took Harding's place late in the game. Bas stopped several line rushes of the clubmen Saturday holding about half of the line. On the offensive he showed all of his oldtime skill in opening up the line for the backs to speed through.
