YOUR "EDUCATION"

In the columns of today's paper will be found a story telling of the visit of Lawrence Dineen, a graduate of the class of 1916, to our campus and the criticism he has to offer of Oregon students as he finds them after an absence of several years. In general Mr. Dineen says that he finds the students show a great lack of interest and information in national and state affairs—that they fail to let their information and vision lift above the pale of the campus.

Without a doubt a short review of themselves on the part of every student on the campus will find that Mr. Dineen is true. In the hurry and scurry of University life it is far too easy for students to forget everything but their studies, their social activities and other campus duties. In a few words students are prone to confine their thoughts, activities and efforts to the University alone. It is easy to move about the campus day in and day out, making it a sort of secluded little city in itself, with only an occasional glance at the outside world.

This continual adhering to the confines of book study; this delving into books alone for an education too often causes the student to forget to keep abreast of the times and learn something of what is going on in the country about him. This lack of studying present day conditions along with their regular course of study tends to make the student's education one of theory only.

It is surprising to note that in visiting over 20 house organizations on the campus Mr. Dineen found but one prominent state paper being taken by each house. This aids in bearing out the statement that University students are lax in their interest in statewide news and affairs. And yet they are attending school in order to prepare themselves to be the leaders in the state and nation in later years.

While it is true that University days are busy ones, the education and preparedness for a life of success they bring will be sadly hampered if we are not awake to the ever-shifting conditions that are taking place outside the meagre bounds of our campus.

Get out your red ink. Alumni, and scatter it pretty freely around the number 15 on the November sheet of your calendar. That is the time when you are coming home. It is already a red letter date for Oregon students. Alumni, you should make it such for you.

The annual sister dinner of Phi Delta Theta will be given tomorrow at the chapter house. The following sisters will be guests of the fraternity: Gladys Smith, Georgine Geisler, Helen Huntington, Helen Hall, Lois Pixley, Lois Hall, Grace Miller, Mariam Holcomb, Marguerite Hammond and Irene Brye of O.A.C.

ALL HOUSES TO DEBATE

FORENSIC COUNCIL TO PHRASE QUESTION TUESDAY

Women to Fix Schedule for Series at Meeting Thursday Afternoon

All the houses on the campus are lined up for interfraternity and intersorority debate to start immediately after the Thanksgiving recess. A meeting of the interfraternity forensics council will be held next Tuesday at 4 o'clock in Professor R. W. Prescott's room, downstairs in Johnson hall. The purpose of the meeting is to definitely phrase the immigration question, the schedule having been drawn up at a meeting held a week ago.

Also a meeting of the women's intersorority forensics council will be held in Professor Prescott's room at 4 o'clock next Thursday to decide on a definite schedule for the intersorority debate.

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor of The Emerald:

The military records of the University show that over 2,000 students, former students, alumni and members of the faculty entered the military service of the United States during the Great War. Of this number 43 gave their lives to the cause.

Nearly a year has passed since the armistice was signed and as yet no steps have been taken in the direction of a memorial for these men in whose sacrifice the University has the greatest honor.

It is true that there have been many good reasons why this matter has been postponed. Conditions have been upset, and the number of "drives" for this cause and that have made the past year unpropitious. But I can see no good reason now why the University should not lend its interest and whole-hearted support to the cause of a memorial for our men—our boys—who lost their lives for the cause of humanity.

A memorial of a character suitable for so great and worthy a cause will mean a large undertaking. It will mean the raising of thousands of dollars; it will mean much careful consideration as to the form and site of the memorial structure. It may well be that years will be required to bring this undertaking to a successful issue. But of this I am confident: When the matter has been brought to the attention of the students and the alumni it will receive their undivided support. I think the raising of the necessary funds will be a matter of no great difficulty.

Certainly no man or woman connected with the University in any way will think it anything but a privilege to give—and to give generously—to such a cause. Every service man will want to give; every class that lost one of its number will want to give; every member of the faculty, which lost one of its most beloved members, will want to give; and the people of the community at large will want to give. There will be no difficulty about the money.

Let's get this thing started. First, of course, is an organization. That will mean a committee from the student body to co-operate with a committee of the faculty, and one from the alumni. Let's put our hearts into this undertaking. It's worth our very best efforts.

W. F. G. THACHER.

That social events will be crowded one after another and even in twos and twos during the coming week-ends is the report of the social committee which met this week to schedule the larger University parties for the year. This week-end is a fair example, starting with the best Y.M.-Y.W. mixer ever known and ending with the freshmen acquaintance party this evening.

Many students and faculty attended the play "Tea for Three" at the Eugene theatre last night.

Federation Invited To Meet In Women's Building in 1921

The University of Oregon delegation to the Oregon State Federation of Women's Clubs returned to the University Thursday evening, bringing with them a consciousness of the fine work the women of Oregon are doing for the welfare of the state and a determination to do all on their part to help in the federation's big constructive program. This determination was expressed to the confederation by Louise Davis, president of the University league, and was accepted by the women with enthusiasm.

The invitation which the Oregon delegates had expected to extend during the session to the convention to be guests of the University Women's league next fall, was found impossible for during the session the convention decided to hold its next meeting in the spring. At that time the women's building will not be completed. The Oregon delegation expressed its regret at being unable to extend the intended invitation with the hope that the league would have the privilege of entertaining the women the following year.

Oregon Sends Full Quota

Oregon's full quota of delegates attended the Wednesday and Thursday meetings of the convention. Louise Davis and Delegate Nell Warwick attended the Tuesday sessions, the other members being unable to reach Corvallis until Wednesday on account of class work.

The convention was closed Thursday afternoon with the election of officers for the coming year.

Mrs. L. E. Bean, one of Eugene's most prominent clubwomen, was elected auditor.

Mrs. Ida B. Callahan of Corvallis was elected president.

Mrs. Collins Elkins of Prineville was elected first vice-president; Mrs. William Bell of Roseburg, second vice-president; Mrs. Charles Hines of Forest Grove, recording secretary; Mrs. John Van Zandt of Portland, treasurer; Mrs. J. W. Sadler of Aurora and Mrs. E. T. Wade of Pendleton, directors, and Mrs. Charles H. Castner of Hood River, federation director.

Many Localities Represented

The fact that the officers elected represented so many different localities—Corvallis, Prineville, southern Oregon, Forest Grove, Portland, Eugene, Aurora—is a great satisfaction to all of the clubwomen.

Mrs. P. L. Campbell, chairman of the children's committee, introduced resolutions providing for better provision for crippled children and these were approved and referred to the committee on health.

Don Davis of the Owl club went to McMinnville Thursday to attend the Y. M. C. A. state convention.

One of the prominent social events of the past week was the picnic given Sunday by the Alpha Phis in honor of their freshmen members. The party hiked to Spencer's Butte, where lunch was eaten. Those who went were Caroline McPherson, Jen Laughlin, Winnifred Hobson, Ila Nichols, Gladys Wright, Faye Harris, Lucile Elrod, Florence Garrett, Kattie May Stockton, Frances Peterson, Wolcott Buren, Delbert Obertauer, Byron Garrett, Billy Wilmot, Henry Koepke, Bib Burns, George Black, Stanley Robinson, Bill Allen and Frank Clark.

HOME AGAIN, WIN AGAIN, OREGON, MAY BE SLOGAN

From now until the end of that week-end in November Oregon men and women must live Homecoming.

That this may be done more easily it would be well that every student in the University have ever in his mind those words of meaning:

Home Again—Win Again—Oregon! The armory has at last been secured for the big dance on Homecoming day. A number of complications arising out of the fact that the armory had been leased for every Saturday night this winter made matters rather unsettled, but according to Jack Dundore, head of the dance committee, these are satisfactorily settled now and plans for the dance are progressing rapidly.

Committee Appointed

Gross' ten-piece orchestra has been secured for the affair and the heads of the committees have been appointed. Those who will be in charge of the dance are Beatrice Crewdson, decorations; Bill Hollenbeck, programs; Grace Rugg, music; and Charlie Fenton, patrons and patronesses. Sub-committees to work under these people will be appointed at the next meeting of the Homecoming committee, which will be held on Thursday evening at 7:15 in Professor Gilbert's room.

Mrs. C. H. Castner, who has served as president for four years, received a sincere vote of appreciation. There were present 198 accredited voting delegates and many onlookers.

The amendment to raise the per capita dues from 10 to 15 cents was adopted, but the proposed amendment to make the minimum $1.50 and the maximum $40 was not passed. The Council of Jewish Women objected to the new ruling at first, as it would make their dues about $60 per annum to be paid out to the federation. It was explained, however, that no assessment will now be required for the president's fund, as the new ruling includes everything and so the larger clubs were satisfied.

LECTURE TOPICS ANNOUNCED

Dr Edmondson to Speak at First Meeting of Science Club

"The Oregon Coast Trail with Zoological Slant" will be the subject of an address to be given by Dr. C. A. Edmondson of the zoology department of the University of Oregon at the first meeting of the Science club, which will be held Tuesday, October 21, at 8 o'clock in the physics lecture room in Deady hall.

The club will meet the third Tuesday in each month. At the November meeting Professor W. E. Milne of the mathematics department will lecture on "Infinite Systems of Functions." At the December meeting Professor E. McAllister of the Mechanic and astronomy departments will address the club on the subject "Improved Methods for Determining the Meridian from Solar Observations."

After the business of the club has been completed the meetings will be open to the faculty, students and general public who wish to hear the lectures.
