

STATE TRIANGULAR DEBATING CONTEST SIGNED BY O. A. C.

Reed College to Decide Definitely On Plans at Student Body Meeting Thursday

With a contract already signed with the Oregon Agricultural college and a favorable report from Reed college, the plans for the state triangular debate to be held December 12 are pretty well complete. Abe Rosenberg, who has just returned as Oregon's debate representative to O. A. C. and Reed, said that there was not the slightest doubt but that Reed would come in. Rosenberg expects to hear from Reed either today or tomorrow as an emergency student body meeting will be held today to decide definitely on forensic debate, and especially as to how it will be financed by the student body.

Rosenberg said that while at O. A. C. he encountered a little difficulty in securing their signature to a tri-college debate, but nevertheless he succeeded in getting a contract. This will not be the first time that Reed college has debated outside of college, a number of contests having been held with the University of Washington.

A number of Reed men have signified their intention of entering the tryouts. Freshmen, with less than three months' attendance at college, are barred by the terms of the contract, but this will not apply to Reed, since the college opened in the middle of September.

in for Steers and was later replaced by "Skeet." Captain Brandenburg got into the struggle for a short time taking Chapman's place. Mautz replaced Berg, and Bartlett went to tackle and Anderson to end in the second half.

Other games of interest to the Oregon followers that took place Saturday were the 47 to 6 defeat that the Aggies handed the Pacific university, the 35 to 0 win that the University of Washington scored over the sailors from the U. S. S. New York and the 49 to 0 whitewashing that Washington State college handed the Multnomah club eleven.

O. A. C. presented a strong line-up against the Pacific university team at Corvallis, but most of the regulars made way for members of the second squad early. The Aggies were much heavier and they had little trouble in penetrating the opposition's line.

W. S. C. had little trouble with the Winged M team. They had several old stars in the game, among them the two Hanleys. Welch used a number of second string men during the game.

Washington Line Strong
The University of Washington's line was one of the greatest factors in their win over the New York team. Walcott Roberts, at one time a choice for the all-American, while he was playing for Annapolis, worked as one of the halves for the sailors.

A number of Oregon students will journey to O. A. C. this week-end to see the Aggie-Stanford contest, which will be the feature of the Corvallis homecoming. Stanford has three men on its roster from Portland in Pretolt, former Lincoln high school backfield man, who played under Borleske with Ralph Smith and a number of others now on the campus. Lyman Bonney, former Jefferson star, and Floyd Campbell are the other Portland men. Other Oregon men on the squad are Robert F. Pelouse of Medford, Dale J. Butts, Newberg, J. Kenneth Lilly, Ashland, and Wesley A. Seaman, Marshfield.

The Women's league is planning a tea for Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 at the Y. M. C. A. Hut in honor of Dean Elizabeth Fox, Miss Urith Dailey, the new Y. W. C. A. secretary, and the freshman girls. In the receiving line will be Dean Fox, Miss Dailey, Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Mrs. John Straub, Mabel Weller, president of Y. W. C. A., and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and Louise Davis, president of the Women's league, and the members of the executive council of the league

MEDICAL SCHOOL

FRESHMEN FIRST TO ORGANIZE AS CLASS FOR PRESENT YEAR

Kent Wilson Chosen President by Margin of Four Votes; Askey Vice President

School of Medicine, Portland, Ore., Oct. 21.—(Special)—That the energy and enthusiasm of the freshman class is not impeded by their numbers is evidenced by the fact that they were the first to hold a meeting and organize themselves for the coming year as a class. This meeting was held during the noon hour on Monday, Oct. 13, in the men's rest room.

Clinton Thienes, president of the freshman class last year, called the meeting to order and presided until a permanent chairman was elected. Practically every man in the freshman class was in attendance. The meeting was characterized by the businesslike way in which it was conducted and the consideration given the questions-up for discussion. It was short and snappy and shows that those taking part knew what was wanted and the most effective means of obtaining it.

Four candidates were nominated for president, Jack Askey, Harold Tregilgas, "Sandy" Leonard and Kent Wilson. The race between Askey and Wilson was very close, Wilson winning by a margin of four votes. Askey was unanimously elected vice-president. Leonard was chosen as sergeant-at-arms with Solomon Weil as his assistant.

Three men were nominated for secretary-treasurer—Clarence Ogle, McCarthy and Will Rebac. Ogle was elected, leading his nearest competitor by six votes.

Enthusiasm for Homecoming
Very much enthusiasm was shown when the subject of Oregon's homecoming and the Oregon-O.A.C. football game were mentioned. When it was asked that all those expecting to "home gather" rise, fully 25 responded. A committee was appointed to make a survey of the situation, see what faculty obstacles must be overcome, and what co-operation could be expected from the other classes.

The matter of furnishing the men's room was discussed and a committee consisting of Mr. Holcomb, Dwight Wilson and Joe Bell, was appointed to confer with the assistant dean in that regard.

A committee with Jack Askey as chairman was appointed to meet with similar committees from other classes for the purpose of outlining definite plans for a junior annual. M. E. Wilson, Ned Fowler and Harold Tregilgas were placed on a committee to consult with committees from other classes to organize a student body organization. They will also take care of the freshman end of the homecoming plans.

During the balloting for president the matter of proper Emerald backing by the medical school students was presented by the local representative of the Emerald.

The first meeting for the year for the sophomore class was called to order by its president, Mr. Clinton Thienes, on Wednesday morning, October 15.

The main purpose of the meeting as outlined by Mr. Thienes, was to form a definite policy which the class would sponsor in regard to a student body organization, and also concerning the publication of a Junior Annual. A permanent committee consisting of Jack Montague, Grace Young and Albert Morrison was appointed to gather sophomore material and co-operate with similar committees from the other classes.

No definite ideas were developed concerning the particular form of the Annual, some wishing a section in the "Oregonian" with reprints from that if separate books were wanted; others wanted a separate publication entirely. The former idea seemed to predominate because of the co-operative spirit it showed to the University and also because it appeared a more economical method. It was thought that a school with such a small student body could not finance an entirely independent publication. The question of student body organization was laid on the table for further discussion.

Mr. Thienes appointed Messrs. Belknap, Montgomery and Padden to meet with a committee from the freshman class and jointly present to the office the need of the men's room for more furnishings.

Mr. Thienes, president of the class, is a scholarship man and is also assisting Dr. W. F. Allen in histology and embryology, having charge of one of the freshman sections. Jack Montague, the secretary-treasurer, is an old Oregon man, having graduated in '15 and being a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is student assistant to Dr. Burget in physiology. Miss Mildred McBride, Willamette university alumna, is the sergeant-at-arms.

STILL A BOOK SHORTAGE

Orders May Not Be Filled for Months Is Word From New York

Owing to the great shortage of text books this fall many classes are working under difficulty—and will be for some time to come, according to H. R. Taylor, proprietor of the University book store, who says it is impossible to get the books now. He has received word from the New York firms stating that many of his orders cannot be filled at present owing to the pressmen's strike there. This means that some of the classes may have to go the entire term without books.

Sophitocated Soph Claims Speeding is Sport,—Sometimes

Speeding backwards in a Stutz roadster is lots of fun while it lasts, according to "Al" Adams, sophomore from Silverton, but he claims $15 is a little too high for such a short joy ride as he had last Thursday morning.

After helping to give the team a good sendoff Al loaded his car up and started off but was pursued by a swarm of wouldbe passengers. Endeavoring to leave them behind, he crawled down the street at a breakneck rate. It was not until Friday morning that he received his sentence from the police judge.

Since it was near the end of the month, Al spent the week-end at his home. He had to get those 15 bucks.
