

CAST FOR "THE LITTLE DOG LAUGHED" CHOSEN BY PROFESSOR REDDIE

Forty Persons to Take Part in Mother Goose Fantasy, Has Own Orchestra

Professor Fergus Reddie, head of the dramatic department of the University, has announced the cast for "The Little Dog Laughed," which will be played at the Eugene theatre and the Hellig theatre in Portland within the next three or four weeks. The exact date cannot yet be definitely announced owing to the fact that these theatres are engaged for some time ahead by road shows.

"The Little Dog Laughed" is a comedy which has its own orchestra and music. There are many splendid character parts, according to Professor Reddie, who is the author of the play, and they are very evenly distributed. It is by no means a one person affair for there will be a cast of 40 people with several leading parts. MADDEN WINS $10 PRIZE

BEST DESIGN FOR ART CLUB PIN MADE BY SENIOR

Organization Plans to Meet Twice a Month—Membership Requirements Given

Harvey Madden, a senior in the University, was awarded the $10 cash prize offered anonymously for the best design for a pin to be worn by the members of the newly formed Art club. Mr. Madden's design was one of ten offered to the judges, and was chosen with some difficulty because of the uniformly high standard of the designs offered.

The requirements set forth by the club members for their emblem were that it should be worked out in one metal color and two enamel shades. Mr. Madden's design will make a circular pin one-half inch in diameter with a Greek key design around the edge and the monogram "S. A. C." worked in the center in red-orange and blue shades. Mr. Madden was instructed by the club to secure estimate prices for the pin and present them at the next meeting which will be held on November 5.

The judges who selected the design for the pin were Professor A. H. Schroff and Mrs. A. C. Dixon. The club then voted on their selection at the meeting on Wednesday evening.

At this second meeting since their organization the members made a decision regarding requirements for membership in the club. There will be three classes of membership: active, inactive and associate.

The first class will include those who are doing active work in the art of architectural departments. The inactive membership will include those who are able to attend lectures on the theory of art and who are interested in it, but who can do art work. The associate members shall be those who cannot belong to art classes but who are artists. This class will take in townspeople of faculty members who are interested in the work and who cannot come to classes.

The club plans to have the supervision over ten art exhibits which will be shown this year, according to Marion Ady, president.

The club decided to hold meeting on the first and third Wednesday in each month unless a special lecture or exhibit is to be given and at this time the president is authorized to call a special session.

DR. E. L. PACKARD VISITS

Oil Investigation Trip Takes Geology Professor 5,500 Miles

Dr. E. L. Packard, professor of geology in the University, and Richard Nelson of Eugene, who was graduated with honors in geology last June, spent the week-end in Eugene after nearly four months spent on a survey of possible oil-bearing formations in Washington and Oregon. They will be busy at this work until the last of the year, when a report will be made to a large oil company employing them. Dr. Packard will return to his class work at the opening of the second term, in January. The two geologists are travelling by automobile, in which they have travelled more than 5,500 miles in the course of their survey.

DELAYED BOOKS COMING

Professors Have Difficulty in Class Rooms on Account of Shortage

Relief is in sight for some of the University professors, who at present are forced to conduct their classes without the necessary textbooks because of the pressmen's strike in New York. A list of books has been announced by H. R. Taylor, proprietor of the University Bookstore, which the publishing companies had promised to send Oct. 21. They are: Bleyer's News, Principles of Accounting, Pirsson's Geology, Elementary Psychologies, Pratt's History of Music, Anderson's Physics, and Analytical Geometry.

Classes have been conducted with difficulty in cases where it has been impossible to get books. T. J. Bolito, professor of accounting, has been giving a series of lectures to his classes upon the subject of accounting. Unless books come soon he intends to mimeograph a number of copies of principles which are absolutely necessary. Prof. W. P. Boynton has mimeographed a series of 13 lectures upon subjects of physics.

In Professor DeCou's classes about three-quarters of the members have geometry books, while the rest are forced to borrow.

FROSH PLANNING BONFIRE

Total of $150 to be Spent on Big Blaze and Fireworks

One of the biggest bonfires in the history of the University will usher in Homecoming hilarity on the eve of the O. A. C.-Oregon football game, if the plans of the freshman class mature. At a meeting Thursday afternoon, the class voted $150 to finance the affair scheduled for the night of November 14. Of this sum, $100 will go up in smoke with the bonfire, the remaining $50 materializing in a display of fireworks.

The bonfire is in charge of a committee headed by Hobart Belknap. The members of the committee are "Pink" Manerud, Rufus Dinwiddie, "Hunck" Latham, J. Y. Maxwell, Kenneth McHaley, Harry Kurtz, Roland Andre, Nelson English, Harry Meyers and John Alexander.

The Cost of Good Glasses

Competition has established a standard of prices at which dependable service and good glasses can be bought. Lower prices mean inferior service, poorer glasses and possibly defective sight. I charge no more than the established standard prices, but I try to be so painstaking with each examination that my patients will say that my service and glasses I prescribe are the best obtainable at any price.
