HELP HOMECOMING PUBLICITY, STUDENT COMMITTEE URGE

Three Thousand More Stickers Ready for Distribution to Graduates

PLANS ARE TAKING SHAPE

Alumni and Former Students to be Tagged—Work on Bonfire Already Under Way

Stick up for your University. Help it to advertise Homecoming. This is the appeal of the committee which is in charge of the big celebration for November 14 and 15. Three thousand and more lemon-yellow stickers, with a message to all Oregon graduates, have been printed and are ready for distribution. Their use on the back of all letters written by University students between now and Homecoming time forms a large part of the advertising scheme on which the committee is relying for the success of the occasion.

The new stickers may be obtained at the office of Miss Charlie Fenton, alumni secretary, in the Administration building. A nominal charge is made to cover the cost of the printing.

It is not only the buying of the stickers that is going to help the University, members of the Homecoming committee declare. Only those that go out through the mails will be doing any good. The stickers are just a gentle reminder to all former Oregon students that their alma mater is calling them to the biggest Homecoming in the history of the University.

Plans for the entertainment of Oregon's visitors during the two days of November 14 and 15 are rapidly materializing. Arrangements have been made for booths at the railroad stations where all visitors will be asked to register. Alumni and former students will be "tagged" with their names and classes. The tag will admit each to all Homecoming events, including the dinner and dance on Saturday. The booths at the station are under the charge of Elston Ireland. The freshman women will assist their operation.

Work on the big pile for the trash bonfire on the Friday night before the Oregon-O. A. C. game is under way. Collection crews of freshmen have been employed on the opening work of its construction.

Y. W. WILL HOLD SERVICE

National Custom to be Observed at Recognition Meeting Tuesday

The Y. W. C. A. will hold a recognition service at the Bungalow on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in honor of the freshman girls of the University. This service, which is given every year for the purpose of introducing the new girls to what the Y. W. C. A. really means, is a national custom which is given at about the same time in all the universities and colleges of the country. Jeannette Moss and Mabel Weller are in charge of the service. They hope that every freshman girl who is a member of the association, as well as the upperclass girls, will be present.

"Aussies" Dislike Kiddish Capers

Ninety-seven Australian war veterans who registered at the University of California farm at Davis have refused to participate in athletics and have formed teams among themselves in an endeavor to stamp out the traditional American college "kiddish," which they claim to be "kiddish."

WASHINGTON SENDS ITS CONGRATULATIONS

Telegram Received by Stan Anderson is Display of Good Sportsmanship, Agree Oregonians

A new example of college spirit was manifested yesterday upon the receipt of a telegram from the University of Washington complimenting Oregon on their team which played Washington last Saturday. The spirit shown in Washington's congratulations opens up an entirely new field of college spirit, one which is to be admired by any rival institution, declared Stan Anderson, president of the student body, in reading the telegram at the rally dance last night. Anderson said he had never heard of such a fine college spirit as was shown by Washington in sending the message. The text of the telegram follows:

"Seattle, Wash., Nov. 2, 1919. 'Associated Students, University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon.

'University of Washington students congratulate students of the University of Oregon upon team representing them yesterday. Your fellows played a good game and defeated us by better football. University of Washington dislikes to admit defeat. Are looking forward to coming year when we plan to meet Oregon again. Wish you best of luck with Pullman Saturday.

"Elon J. Gilbert, president associated students, University of Washington."

FACULTY MEN TO TRAIN

Younger Members May Compete With Students in Doughnut Basketball.

A meeting of a number of faculty men was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of preliminary discussion of plans for physical training for those faculty men interested in such work this winter. The plan of the faculty men for physical training and competitive games at least three times a week.

It was also proposed at last night's meeting that the younger men of the faculty form a basketball team and compete with other campus organizations in the doughnut basketball league. Handball and indoor baseball teams were considered but definite action was deferred until a larger representation of faculty men can be had. The south end of the men's open air gym is to be partitioned off for the use of the faculty men.

FRENCH CLUB IS FORMED

William Russis Elected President—Plans for Year Outlined

About 25 members of Miss Jennie Louise Fayard's French conversation class assembled Wednesday night in the Bungalow to organize a French club. The purpose of the club is to promote fluency and accuracy in French conversation.

The following officers were elected: William J. Russis, president; Dorothy Manville, vice-president; Doris Dezenford, secretary; Allyn Johnson, treasurer and Harold Benjamin, sergeant-at-arms.

The members of Miss Fayard's class, the organizers, will be the charter members but anyone who desires to become a member must submit his name to be voted on later by the club members. All the meetings will be conducted in French.

French songs will be sung and at times French speakers will be present to talk to the club members. The first meeting will be a social one at which the community sing idea will be carried out.

No name has yet been decided upon. A committee was appointed to suggest names for discussion at a later meeting.

O. A. C. STUDENT PASTOR TO MAKE ADDRESS AT THURSDAY'S ASSEMBLY

Rev. J. G. Clark Will be Speaker; University Orchestra to be Head for First Time

Rev. J. G. Clark, student pastor at O. A. C., will be the main speaker at the assembly Thursday at 11 o'clock in Villard hall. Karl Ontank, secretary to the president, stated that the University was particularly fortunate in securing Rev. Clark to address the student body. "The Challenge of the World to the University Student" has been selected by Rev. Mr. Clark as a topic for his address.

William Teutsch, student body president of the associated students at O. A. C., is also expected at Thursday's assembly, to outline the plan of selecting representatives to the students' convention to be held at Des Moines, Iowa. The University is expected to have 20 delegates at this meeting of students from the various colleges of the United States. The purpose of the convention is to discuss social, economic and religious problems as well as other student problems.

Another feature of the program is the first public appearance of the University orchestra which is under the direction of Rex Underwood, who is in charge of violin in the University school of music. The first number the orchestra will render is the overture "Rosamund" by Schubert.

$140 IN ROOSEVELT FUND

Committee Reports Contributions Still Coming In

Mrs. P. L. Campbell, chairman of the Roosevelt memorial committee on the campus, announces that about $140 has been turned in so far for the Roosevelt Memorial fund.

Several of the houses on the campus have turned in sums of money and those that haven't will do so soon, according to Mrs. Campbell. The contributions are still coming in and it is expected that the total sum will be considerably more than now on hand.

U. GRADUATE IN WAR WORK

Ruth Duniway Helps Keep Returned Doughboys From Homesickness

An original contribution to the home service war work in New York city was made by Miss Ruth Duniway, of Portland, who graduated from the University of Oregon in 1910. She conceived the plan of bringing a bit of home to the soldiers and sailors in a strange land. It was last February when the value of her earnest work was realized and the Hall of States, formerly the old Trinity parish home, was turned over to the project.

The Hall of States not only maintains a canteen from 11 a. m. until 11 p. m., but it furnishes free bus rides, theatre tickets and many kinds of entertainment and information to all men in the service. There the lonely doughboy is able to get his home papers and to converse with people from his locality. Hospitality is the keynote of the organization founded along the lines of the work started by Miss Duniway.

Miss Duniway is now working in New York with Miss Ruth Guppy, former dean of women at the University. She was a major in English literature while here and a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

EIGHTEEN DELEGATES MAY REPRESENT U. OF O. AT IOWA CONVENTION

Quadrennial Students Volunteer Meeting to Convene at Des Moines, Dec. 31

The first Student Volunteer convention to be held for four years is to take place at Des Moines, Iowa, beginning December 31 and ending January 4.

The Student Volunteer convention is not a new idea. It is held every four years. Eight thousand delegates are to attend this year's convention in Des Moines. Every university and college in the United States and Canada will be allowed to send one representative for every 100 students enrolled. No less than 500 foreign students are expected at the Iowa city and they will bring with them a great fund of up-to-date information which will pertain not only to student life but to political, industrial and social movements of significance.

The University of Oregon's quota of delegates to this important gathering is 18. Ninety-seven students are to be sent by the University of California, 43 from the University of Washington, and 33 from O. A. C. The student body will be called upon to raise a sum of $1,000 so as to enable those chosen by the students to have the lemon-yellow colors waving at this great assemblage of college men and women. The churches of Portland and Eugene have extended financial aid to the institutions of the state, thus making the burden lighter.

The leaders, both men and women, of the University are to be there. This University undertaking is in charge of an executive committee composed of Dean Elizabeth Fox, Stan Anderson, Eva Hanson, Era Godfrey, Roy Veatch and John Houston. The nominating of the most desirable candidates on the campus will be taken care of by this committee and these candidates will then be voted on by the student body.

The greater part of Thursday's assembly will be turned over to the student volunteer campaign. An outside speaker has been secured to explain every phase of the volunteer program and talks from the prominent students will immediately follow. Shares are to be sold at the assembly for one dollar each, this share entitling the buyer to a vote on the candidates nominated. An individual may buy as many shares as he wishes.

It is essential to the success of the undertaking that the majority of the students attend the assembly this Thursday. The committee is confident that the University will support the movement in true Oregon style.

48-PIECE BAND PLANNED

Harold Simpson Selected as Leader of R. O. T. C. Musicians

The military training department of the University will have a band of 48 pieces. Harold B. Simpson, a sophomore from North Bend, who has had several years' experience in army bands, will be the leader. His assistant will be Herbert Hacker, a freshman from Portland, who has had experience in instructing and leading a navy band.

Forty-eight instruments were ordered from the government about two weeks ago and are expected to arrive soon. Capt. Raymond C. Baird, commandant of the R. O. T. C., reports that there is every indication that the band will be a great success.

Long on Spirit But Short on Finances; Students Worried

"Tickets, please!"

Two little words, but full of meaning. They are the two words which are causing worry to the whole campus. For the whole campus is going to be moved to Portland for this week-end, and the whole campus doesn't have money enough to go.

Therefore the campus is worrying. They absolutely have to be in Portland to witness the game with Washington State. There isn't one of the 1600 who doesn't want to go. But, the financial question enters into the discussion.

For the men it is a comparatively simple problem when first considered. "Gonna ride the blinds," is the favorite expression among them. But when they stop to consider that there are exactly 798 other fellows planning to do the same thing, and on practically the same trains, the matter assumes a different aspect, and they go to thinking.

Anyone who can play a horn, or beat a drum will have an easy time of it. All they have to do is to join the band, and let the University pay their way. But for the rest of us, what?

Raffles will take care of a few people. Many of the houses are getting up pools to send a few of the lucky ones to the game.

One clever scheme was brought to light when one of the men who went to Seattle last week returned. It seems that he had collected all his fraternity brothers' books, hocked them and made rather a neat profit. He still lacked about ten dollars however, so he had the nerve to borrow it from one of his friends whose books he had trifled with. The brothers could not explain the absence of the books until the man returned from Seattle. But he had been bright. He bet the exact amount of his expenses on the game, won, redeemed the books, placated the brothers, and made everyone happy. What he would have done had Oregon lost is another story.

But to get back to the problem of the Portland trip. No one knows how we are going to do it, but the fact still remains.

Everyone is going.

PRIZE OF $10 IS OFFERED

Theta Sigma Phi is Donor—Winning Verse to Appear in Oregonian

For the purpose of stimulating embryo poets in the University Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalistic fraternity, has offered a cash prize of $10 for the best poem on campus subjects to be contributed before January 1. Besides the cash prize the poem will be printed in the 1920 Oregonian.

Any student in the University is eligible to compete. All copy should be addressed to the fraternity, and placed on the Oregonian desk in the journalism annex. Dean Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, Mrs. Anna L. Beck of the University school of music and Miss Mary Watson of the English department have been chosen as judges.

DEBATERS WILL MEET SOON

Men's Forensic Gathering Postponed to Wednesday for Rally

The men's intersociety forensic meeting scheduled for 4 o'clock Monday afternoon was postponed until 4:15 Wednesday afternoon on account of the football rally Monday.

The representatives of the various men's houses on the campus are urged to be present at this meeting to discuss the constitution and bylaws for the proposed forensic council.

VICTORY PURCHASED DEARLY AT COST OF CRIPPLED VARSITY

Oregon to Face Crucial Game Next Saturday With Stars on Sick List

"COUGARS" OUT FOR BLOOD

Shy's Men to Have New Plays With Which to Battle for Coast Title in Portland

Although Oregon won over Washington Saturday she did it at a cost of several injuries that may prove to be serious in view of the coming struggle with W. S. C. "Spike" Leslie has a very slim chance of being able to play the contest in Portland as a result of injuries sustained in the "battle royal." He is hardly able to walk today and may be kept out for the rest of the season. He has been put under a physician's care who hopes his patient may recover enough to be able to play on Saturday. Mart Howard is limping about the campus with a sore leg but it is practically certain that his injuries will not keep him out of the lineup. Bill Steers is battered up to a minor degree, but with a few days' rest will be able to resume his duties. Several other men, in fact practically every man who played in the contest, is injured to some extent, but Trainer Bill Hayward is working his crew of steamers and rubbers overtime in preparation for the next class.

Next Game Decisive

Thus far there have been no games that give a real clue as to the actual strength of the Washington Staters who are to be met on Saturday. Their defeat of California a week ago was expected, but the strength of the "Golden Bear" is an unknown quantity. The California team just nosed out the O. A. C. eleven by one touchdown, whereas the "Cougars" won by two.

However, everything points to the fact that the northwest and Pacific Coast championship will be settled on Multnomah field this week-end. The Staters downed Idaho 37 to 0 in a comparatively easy contest in which they used most of their substitutes. This, together with the fact that the Oregon-Idaho game was not in any sense a walkaway, proves that the eastern Washington aggregation is among the leaders of the conference.

Oregon's Turn to Win

According to the contests of former years, it is Oregon's turn to win. The wins have alternated during the last few years and W. S. C. won the last one played between the two institutions in 1917. However, it is to be a battle to a finish. The backfield which the opposition has is one of the best that they have had in years. Oregon's line held wonderfully at Seattle except for a time in the second quarter when the Seattleites made yardage five straight times through the line. If the first line can be started intact Oregon should be able to hold her own and with the backs showing the way they did last Saturday there is hope for a victory.

Practice did not begin in earnest until this afternoon. The rally yesterday served as a good time for a rest for the much-battered gridiron warriors and little except training table and a short talk was given in the way of preparation.

Hard Work Coming

The remainder of the week, however, will be given over to strenuous work. With two of the hardest contests before them, Coaches Huntington and Spellman and Trainer Hay-
