"Home to win again—Oregon." With this slogan manifesting itself in the very expression of the returning old students the University started today to celebrate its greatest of Homecomings. Members of the class of 1891 said "Hello" to the members of the class of 1921, and those of '23 are being plied with questions from the members of the class of '93. Although there have been but a few of the many returning students who have returned today they all seem glad to get back. Just watch the smile that all the old boys wear, if you think they are not having the time of their lives.

The campus is the property of the "Old Grad" this week-end and we are glad to extend to them the hospitality that goes with and is a part of the Oregon Spirit. Trains this evening are expected to bring a number of old students, who are returning in time to see the freshmen bonfire and listen to the "pep" talks which will be given on Kincaid field this evening.

Frosh Work all Night

After working all night last night the freshmen fire mounted up until it was about 40 feet high this morning. It is being closely guarded by the first year men, who are not taking any chances on having the result of their labor going up in smoke before the appointed hour. The "O" on Skinner's Butte is also being watched to keep it free from any orange tinted paint.

Following a jazz parade, from which old grads will not be barred, the ceremony on Kincaid field will start. The parade will start at 7:30 and will be a regular rough-neck affair. Eugene will be stormed and captured and then, the ralliers having gotten their pep in good running order, they will return to the campus to listen to the "Old Grads" tell how it "used to was" and then hear some of the others tell how "it is going to be."

Cup for Best Stunt

The stunt show will also be staged tonight. Each of the men's houses will put on a stunt and will give some original offerings along lines of vaudeville. To the winner of the stunt show will be given a large silver cup, donated by the Luckey Jewelry Store. All of the houses have dusted off their mantle pieces in order to provide a place for the trophy.

Tomorrow morning it is expected that the "Old Grads" will pour in by the hundreds. As they arrive they will be met at the depot by

BOYD A. ISEMINGER WINS DRILL MEDAL

Medal for Military Efficiency Goes to Eugene Member of Company D.

Boyd A. Iseminger, of Eugene, won first place in the finals of the freshman military efficiency contest which was held at drill period Wednesday morning. In the presence of the entire battalion the final elimination took place among twelve chosen freshmen representatives, three from each of the four companies. Iseminger is a member of company D. The medal which was to be awarded to the winner of the contest has not arrived. Captain Baird announced that it should be here in the near future, when it will be officially awarded.

The contest, which has been carried on for the past two weeks embraced the work of the school of the soldier which is involved in the elementary R. O. T. C. training. It includes the manual of arms, military courtesy and discipline and elementary movements.

STATE CAMPAIGN URGED

Mrs. Gerlinger to Present Women's Building Plan to Students

Mrs. George Gerlinger of Portland member of the University board of regents, will talk at a special meeting of the student council Friday night. She will introduce a new plan in behalf of the Women's Building fund, by which she hopes money may be obtained. Mrs. Gerlinger plans to start a campaign in which certain designated students will go out over the state making speeches about the building.

NEW LOCAL FORMED; IS NAMED BACHELORDOM

ORGANIZATION OF 18 MEMBERS TO PETITION NATIONAL FRATERNITY

The "Bachelordom" club is the latest local to make its appearance on the campus. The members, composed chiefly of men who have seen overseas service, have leased a house on University street and are well under way. They have chosen Prof. F. S. Dunn as a faculty member.

Members of the club are: Morris Jones, of Baker, senior; Cecil J. Ross, of St. Helens, junior; R. Daniel, Kelson, Wash.; Herbert Graham, John McCourt, Stanley Allen, Oliver S. Hargraves, Sherman E. Rees, all of Portland, sophomores; C. W. Kirk, Salt Lake City, Daniel Woods, William Heerd, R. B. McIntosh, James Benedict, Elsworth Lucas, George McFaul, all of Portland, freshmen; Fred M. Schuerman, Ashland; Harold V. Simpson and Alfred Payne, also of Ashland.

The local expects to petition a national in the future.

BILL SNYDER ON CAMPUS

Member of '16 Team Deserts Baby Food Company for Week-End

It took Bill Snyder, ex-'18, to put his University commerce training to good use. Bill is now on the campus in a state of ultra-excitement, having decided to let his understudy buy milk for the baby food company during the big Homecoming week-end, while he came down to help Oregon win the game.

Bill was famous as a member of the 1916 varsity team, as a first lieutenant in the 91st division during the war, and now as an all around good fellow who helps keep the Mellen's Food in stock.

SATURDAY MARKS 42D YEAR OF DR. STRAUB'S WORK IN UNIVERSITY

Event is Taken as Token of Victory for Oregon on Gridiron

COMPLIMENTS ARE GIVEN

Head of College of Liberal Arts With Oregon for Nearly Half Century

The lucky talisman is found, fate will be with the team Saturday for never yet have the skies decreed defeat for Oregon on the anniversary of Dean Straub's connection with this University. Two years ago Oregon gave O. A. C. a terrible beating. Why? Because the game was played on the day which marked the Dean's celebration. Tomorrow the University's best friend will start his forty-second year on the Oregon campus. What more encouragement could any team ask?

Forty-two years and still a freshman, is the record of Dean Straub, still an Oregon enthusiast. The old Oregon spirit, famous from coast to coast, has been in his keeping since Deady Hall was an infant and the University football team could count its principal rooter as the first Oskie rang out on Kincaid field. Freshman have been his special pride. Who has entered the University without his wonderful send off which goes something like this: "This is the very best freshman class that ever came to the University?"

Developer of Oregon Spirit

"Dean Straub," said Marion McClain, graduate manager, "is responsible for the Oregon Spirit, because he has never let a freshman start wrong." Stan Anderson, president of the student body said today: "Alumni need never worry about the old Oregon Spirit as long as John Straub is dean."

There are a few differences between the University of today and that of thirty or forty years ago. For instance, the men's gymnasium in the early days consisted of two ropes hung from oak trees in front of Deady Hall. It was on these ropes that Oregon developed her Bill Steers of yesterday. "Yelling," said the Dean, "my, no! No one ever yelled on the campus then. The whole place bore the character of a deaf mute institution."

"OREGON QUOTA WILL BE THERE" IS WORD FLASHED TO NEW YORK

Telegram Sent Central Office of Student's Volunteers Convention

SPECIAL TRAIN CHARTERED

Homecoming Delays Campaign Until Tuesday—Proceeds of Play To Be Given

"Oregon's quota will be there."

Those were the words of the telegram sent to the central office of the student volunteer convention committee in New York last night. This seemed a bold step to take but the campus committee had received notices that the delegates from the other colleges in Oregon were to be there, those from Washington and California specially mentioned, so these members of the committee felt that the students of the University would meet the call.

The Homecoming activities have to some extent delayed this volunteer campaign, making it necessary to postpone the day of voting for the student delegates until next Thursday. Era Godfrey, chairman of the nominating committee, announced today that the list of nominees will be ready for public announcement next Tuesday. She wished to impress the fact that if anyone has students in mind whom they believe would make good delegates, that they hand in their names to her as soon as possible.

A special train will be chartered to carry the delegates from the Oregon institutions, leaving Portland in time to place these students in Des Moines for the first session of the convention. The latest word from the national committee is that more than 8,000 students from the United States and Canada will assemble on December 31. Speakers of international reputation will bring their messages on the topics of political, social, industrial and religious questions. The national committee further points out that no university or college can afford to pass up this chance of having their delegates there to profit from these important discussions.

The play to be given by Mask and Buskin on December 6 for the benefit of the volunteer fund is progressing. The play selected is a likeable comedy and one which the students will enjoy. Johnnie Houston, in charge of this all-student production, reported last night that the cast and the name of the play would be announced by an extensive advertising campaign

TEAM READY, SPIRIT HIGH FOR BIGGEST FOOTBALL GAME OF YEAR, ON NEW GRIDIRON

TEAM PICKED FOR CROSS COUNTRY RUN

Walkley, Sloan, Davis, Boylen, Combs and Gale Will Run in Four-Mile Relay

The annual cross-country run with O. A. C. is scheduled for next Saturday as a preliminary to the big football game to be played on that day. From all indications it will be a close race, as reports have it that O. A. C. has a strong team. Coach Bill Hayward, however, has had the men out for practice each night and all are in good shape to give the boys from Corvallis a run for honors. The team consists of the following men: Glenn Walkley, Arnold Sloan, Don Davis, Eugene Boylen, Albert Combs and Lester Gale. Of these, Walkley and Boylen have had previous experience which fact will aid materially in determining the winners.

The race will start from the administration building, continuing along Alder street out through the cemetery, along the car track to Nineteenth street and back to the new football field by way of Moss and Fifteenth streets. Several laps will be run around the football field, where the final result will be determined.

FIRST VESPERS TO BE HELD SUNDAY

REV. E. C. QUANTOR OF VICTORIA, B. C., TO BE MAIN SPEAKER

Reverend C. N. Quantor, dean of Christ's Church Cathedral at Victoria B. C., will be the principal speaker at the first vesper services of the year in Villard hall at 4:30 Sunday. "The Post-War Theological Reconstruction" will be his subject. Reverend F. G. Jennings, rector of the First Episcopal Church, of Eugene, will deliver the invocation.

Special music will be furnished by the combined college glee clubs under the direction of Professor Albert Lukken, head of the vocal department of the school of music.

OLD YELL-KING IS BACK

Charles Robinson Was the "Slim" Crandall of 1912

Charles W. Robinson of Astoria is among the prominent alumni who are back at Oregon for Homecoming week-end. Mr. Robinson is a graduate of the class of 1913. He is associated with the law firm of Mathison and Robinson of Astoria.

Mr. Robinson was prominent here in University activities. In 1912 he was yell leader. For several years he was a member of the varsity debate team. He is among the alumni who will speak during Homecoming.

"Misfit" Party is Held

A "misfit" party was staged at Utah Agricultural College by the seniors. Prizes for costumes were awarded on the grounds of absurdity, lack of taste, and general impossibility. Each "misfit" was presented with a noisy toy.

With a new field, prospects for good weather, some six thousand visitors here, and one of the best teams that has ever represented Oregon on the gridiron, what more can Oregon followers ask for a perfect game tomorrow afternoon? If the weatherman does not fall down in the pinch, followers who are in Eugene for the Homecoming struggle should be treated to one of the best contests of the year.

Spirit is at a high pitch this evening—the eve of the battle. Oregon fans are out to win, alumni and students combined. The spirit is at such a high pitch that every person in Eugene is anxiously awaiting the morning when the big clash of the year is to take place.

Tomorrow morning, the Aggie followers are due to arrive on the campus. From all early reports, the collegians will be remarkably well represented in the bleachers. The manager of O. A. C. student affairs has wired for more seats in the stands, and the Corvallis people together with the alumni will number close to three thousand.

The spirit at Corvallis also has been at an abnormal height this week. Beginning with Monday, the rooters have been busy every evening with rallies, bonfires and shows, and the entire student body of the rival institution is slated to be in Eugene by noon.

To say that the game will be one of "fight" is useless, because an O. A. C.-Oregon contest is always known for that. The Aggies are out to down the "Once every ten years" tradition, while the Varsity will do their utmost to show the Corvallis aggregation that such is the case.

The new field is now in pretty fair condition, and the only thing that will spoil things is rain. Coach Huntington and Trainer Hayward have spent the greater part of their time during this week in getting the new gridiron ready for the impending battle. An effort will be made to roll it before Saturday in order to make
