THE STUDENT CONVENTION

Homecoming was a huge success, according to the favorable comment which comes to the University from all sides. It was an example of the success which Oregon students can attain when all put their effort together for the attaining of one purpose.

The University is now confronted with another movement which calls for concentrated effort, namely, the sending of our quota of delegates to the student convention to be held next month in Des Moines. Oregon cannot fall down in this matter. Practically every university is going to be represented at this convention.

Our sister coast institutions are all planning on sending a larger delegation than we have planned to send, and they are backing the movement strong.

Delegates from our University have been named by the nominating committee. They will be selected by vote Thursday. Every University student should vote Thursday and pay his dollar towards making up the sum which will be needed to send our delegation.

The benefits to be received at this convention are many and our delegates will come back with a wealth of material which can be used towards making our University more progressive.

We must rank with the other institutions of the coast and be well represented at this convention. Pay your dollar. Vote for the men and women whom you want to represent the University at the conference.

Many students forgot they were Oregon students in the "Rawmeating" they gave the O. A. C. rooters when the visitors first showed up on the athletic field and filed past the Oregon rooting section, Saturday. The rooting and spirit which developed in the lemon-yellow rooting section when the game started and throughout the contest was the best it has ever been and aided materially in the victory which resulted. The hooting, jeers, imitation of sheep's blating and cow's bawling which greeted the O. A. C. rooters when they appeared was not the idea of the best sportsmanship in the eyes of many.

VERSE AND WORSE

By W. F. Plus Be Be.

The sophomores and the seniors have their honor societies but the frosh are all members of the Order of the Bath.

No matter how gloomy the rest of the campus may seem the Theta house always has Hope.

Bootlegging? No. A Still was found in the Kappa Sig house last week but it was just Lloyd back for Homecoming.

They were a wonderful match. He was an I. W. W. and ready to strike at any time, and although she was full of fire some said she was a stick.

Not even the prize Aggie roosters can crow over Saturday's game.

During the game Saturday the Corvallis undertaker had a "grave" look.

The doughboys won the war say some, Still others claim 'twas spruce; But when we read "Bull Durham did it"

When there's a will there are always plenty of relatives.

The Aggies wanted to squeeze the lemon but when it comes to showing spirit they need the lemon-aid.

The dramatic classes are study plots. They are near the cemetery and their possibilities are unlimited.

Bashful Bertram says: He claimed she was a creation of the gods, but I would add—and the drug stores.

The gunboat boys of O. A. C. Had quite a winning float, But if you ever beat us, Agges, You must get off the boat.

Oh little book, oh pretty book, Yes, you have lonesome been, Oh dusty book—the fun is o'er, I'll open you again.

Who won the game of soccer? Who won the distance run? Who also won the football game? 'Twas dear old Oregon.

Yes, O A. C., "Smear Oregon" Sure made a slogan rare. You're quite a lemon squeezer, But the juice just wasn't there.

Your men of course outplayed us, I heard an Aggie say so. He said 'twas luck and nothing else, That made Oregon play so.

But anyway the game is played, Another victory won. 'Twas home to win again, for sure; You did it, Oregon.

Miss Aumiller Visits. Miss Elizabeth Aumiller, '19, of Yakima, Washington, a graduate of the school of journalism and a former member of the Emerald staff, returned Sunday evening after a week's visit at the Delta Gamma house.

Scribes' Names are Drawn for Jinks Journalists to Have a Merry Time

An all-journalistic party and frolic will be given in the men's gymnasium Saturday evening as a get-acquainted time for everyone taking journalism course and members of the Emerald and Oregon staffs. The affair will be a lottery. The drawings were made yesterday afternoon in strict privacy in the journalism annex and the lottery drawers give assurance that it was a "square mix."

The party and dance is being given under the auspices of the journalism department and Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi. Committees from both journalism fraternities are planning the details of the evening's entertainment.

Patrons and patronesses will be Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacker, George Turnbull and Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Hall.

The committees ask that any whose names have been omitted notify Lyle Bryson or Alexander Brown at once. The men are urged to make their dates at once.

The list is as follows: Helen Bartle—William Tappenden. Ulda Bazler—Fred Guyon. Mildred Bettingen—Ivanhoe Rustad. Mary Burton—Floyd Hart. Ruth Carroll—Floyd Maxwell. Doris Churchill—Len Fishback. Lorna Coolidge—John Dierdorf. Alice Curtis—Dick Lyons. Gerda Soderstrom—Jacob Jacobson.

GRID GLEANINGS

two aggregations in the same class with Penn State, Syracuse, Pittsburg, Navy and Swarthmore—all having lost but one contest apiece. Only two more weeks remain of the schedule, so the next fortnight will be an important one in the realm of eastern football.

A similar case prevails in the west. Saturday's game placed Washington, Washington State, California and Oregon in the one-defeat column. Coach "Jump" Hunt's warriors spoiled W. S. C.'s undisputed claim by downing the Pullman team 13 to 7.

Oregon's record appears to be as good as any other on the coast, and the varsity schedule has been completed. On the other hand, Washington has yet to meet California and Washington State is slated to battle O. A. C. next week in Portland. California must also play Stanford.

If the Aggies stage a comeback and down the Cougars, Oregon will almost surely make the trip in December, but if the Staters win, the outcome of the decision will be doubtful.

The choice will not be made until after the Turkey day games.

When the Tournament of Roses committee of Pasadena convenes to choose the teams that will decide the national championship in Pasadena on New Year's Day, it will have a problem to solve. In both the east and the west, the titles are still in doubt, and whichever teams are chosen will be chosen more on comparative scores than any other way.

In the east the championship is all in a muddle. Harvard has the best grounds for representing the east thus far. The famous institution has won seven times and tied once in the eight games played. However, she has yet to meet Yale next Saturday, and it is always a doubt which team will win this clash, regardless of the strength of the eleven.

Dartmouth and Colgate, who up till last Saturday had been undefeated, were downed by Brown and Syracuse respectively. Brown completely upset all dope by defeating the stronger eleven. This places these

To be sent into a game in the last few moments of play as a substitute and win one of the greatest games of the year, was the experience of one "Bud" Scherrer of Princeton. By breaking up one of Yale's trick plays, he recovered the ball and ran 20 yards for a touchdown and victory. It must be a "grand and glorious feeling."

Although Stanford has as yet been undefeated in the Coast Conference, the southern team is not to be considered as a representative of the west. If she should down California, it is hard to tell what will be done.

A Correction. In the Friday issue of the Emerald the name of the new local which has been formed on the campus was printed as "Bachelordom." The name of the local in "Bachelordom." The names of Norris Jones and Daniel Payne credited as a freshman in PUayne vcredited as a freshman instead of a sophomore.
