

VICTORIOUS SOCCER ELEVEN PLANS FOR FURTHER TRIUMPHS

Prof. Colin V. Dyment to Coach Team Mondays and Tuesdays

Now that the soccer team has been organized and has shown itself capable of defeating O. A. C., it is expected that every effort will be made toward securing games for future dates. A return game with O. A. C. will probably be played at Corvallis the week following the Thanksgiving holidays and Manager Dwight Parr is at present in communication with Eddie Sammons of Multnomah club for a game to be played in Portland the morning of Thanksgiving Day. The club has organized a team, many of whom are ex-university players and, with other veterans, no doubt has a good team.

In last Saturday's game with O. A. C., although handicapped by not having a coach and but one week's practice, the team showed good form especially in the second half when three goals were scored. The handicap of not having a coach will be somewhat alleviated through the kindness of Prof. C. V. Dyment, who refereed Saturday's game and who has been connected with soccer at the university ever since the English sport was introduced, to coach the team on Monday and Tuesday of each week. Professor Dyment's extension courses keep him in Portland the remainder of the week.

With the benefits of Professor Dyment's coaching, a big improvement should be made in the playing of the team and Oregon should hold its own with any of its adversaries. Some of the men who showed to particularly good advantage in Saturday's game were Frank Bosch and Lyle Bain. On the forward line Jay Fox was there with the old-time speed. Fox, Willard Ables, Curtis Phillips, and Mube Jacobberger form a good forward line.

Now that the first contest has resulted in a victory, the team is out for fresh blood and renewed interest will be taken in the game and with further perfection in teamwork Oregon should be well represented on the soccer field in future contests.

Quisenberry Takes Position.

Russell Quisenberry, graduate in the class of 1918, is now a salesman for Swift & Company in Portland. After fourteen months in the service, he returned to Eugene for several months, leaving last week for his new position. He wrote that although he could not be here for the Homecoming he wished every success to the game and the weekend in general.

DEAN QUANTON TALKS ON EX-SOLDIER CREED

Topic of Sunday Vesper Services is "Post War Theological Reconstruction."

The attitude of the returned soldier toward religion was the particular point stressed by Dean C. S. Quainton, pastor of the Church of Christ Cathedral at Victoria, B. C., at vesper services in Villard Hall Sunday afternoon. His subject was "Post War Theological Reconstruction." He believes that the men who fought for us are willing to accept religion as it is and apply it to their every day lives, if it is presented to them in the right manner.

Speaking of different religions, Rev. Quainton said that we used to hear the expression that one religion was as good as another so long as a man was sincere in his belief, but he says this has proven untrue. Other religions, said Rev. Quainton, Confucianism, Buddhism, all have in them something of truth, but the Christian religion affords the highest moral and spiritual development.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. F. G. Jennings, pastor of the First Episcopal church of Eugene. Preceding the sermon the combined glee club sang "Lord, It Is I," and Mrs. B. H. Williams and Mr. Curtis Peterson sang "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." In conclusion the university choir sang "Ave Maria" and "Lead Kindly Light."

TEACHING POSITIONS OPEN

Three Vacancies to Be Filled in State High Schools.

Three high school teaching positions which must be filled at once are open, according to a statement given out by the appointment bureau this morning. One of the positions is to teach literature and grammar in a large high school; another for a commercial position in a small school; and the third to fill a vacancy in the English department of another high school.

The shortage of teachers at the first of the year has largely been taken care of by temporary arrangements, according to the appointment bureau. This shortage was principally due, it is believed at the bureau office, to the fact that teachers' salaries are, for the most part, much lower than for any other kind of work; that the new law making the minimum salary $75.00 a

DRAMATIC HIT TO RETURN

"LITTLE DOG LAUGHED" TO BE STAGED NOVEMBER 21

Students Prepare to Put On Play by Professor Reddie in Eugene Theatre

"The Little Dog Laughed", written by Professor Fergus Reddie of the dramatic interpretation department, which is to be given November 21, at the Eugene Theatre, is a rollicking comedy from start to finish, according to Norvell Thompson, business manager, who plays the part of Captain Eleazar Goose, a smuggler. The play is unique in being the first one written by a member of the University faculty to be presented by dramatic students. "It is a Mother Goose fantasy, and worthy of being done for its literary worth," said Mr. Thompson. "It will prove interesting to everybody, but especially to students."

"The Little Dog Laughed" was given last year in Eugene, and because of its success is to be repeated. Later in the year it will be given at the Hellig Theatre in Portland. Charlotte Banfield played the original part of Mother Goose and is again taking that role. Gertrude Phetteplace has the part of the little dog, which was taken last year by Hester Hurd. There will be forty persons in the cast, of which three are leading characters.

The cow with the moon (drum), the cat with a fiddle, and the dog with a dish and spoon (cello and bow) will make up the Mothe Goose orchestra. It plays in front of the curtain between Part 3 and 4.

Action throughout the play takes place in the kitchen of an old house in Salem, Massachusetts. The time is the early eighteenth century, but during the last part, changes to the present century.

Special attention is being paid to the costumes, scenic and lighting effects. The manager wishes to announce that there will be no waits between acts.

Tickets may now be secured from Carl Miller, at Guild Hall. They will also be on sale November 20 and 21 at the box office of the Eugene Theatre.

month is relieving the situation to a certain extent, especially in the smaller grade schools.

2 SETS OF LAW BOOKS RECEIVED BY LIBRARY

Volumes for Use of Commerce and Art Students Also Put On Shelves

Two new sets of law books were received by the University library this week. One, the Federal Reporter, consists of 255 volumes, and the other, the "Northwest Reporter", consists of 171 volumes. These editions were published by West Publishing company, St. Paul, Minnesota, and will be used in the law department of the library.

"Directory and Chronicle of China and Japan" is the name of a recent publication by the Hong Kong Daily Press, a directory of business houses in China and Japan, and used by American and English tourists and business men. It is of interest to the Commercial department of the University.

Three books dealing with styles of France and Germany from 1790 until 1878 are called "Modes and Manners of the 19th Century", written by Oscar Fischel and Max von Boehn. These volumes contain numerous illustrations from German and French style magazines of the time the styles were in vogue, many of the plates being in color. Art students will find these of use.

"See Campus First" Is Slogan.

A new scheme in decorations has been brought to light for the varsity ball to be held at the University of Washington students on Dec. 5. Instead of using the scenic qualities of other countries for decorations, "see the campus first," has been adopted and the campus in miniature reproduction will greet the dancers.

Willard STORAGE BATTERY

UNIFORMITY

Uniformity is the secret of success of any good product. It's the reason Willard Batteries with Threaded Rubber Insulation are making such a wonderful record of long life without repairs. Ordinary materials used for insulation between battery plates are taken just as they come from nature and can't be made uniform by any process.

But Threaded Rubber Insulation is built up by a scientific manufacture. Every piece of it is like every other and almost invariably Threaded Rubber lasts as long as battery plates.

No wonder many of these batteries have given three and four years of uninterrupted good service.
