

OREGON MEN PICKED BY COAST AUTHORITIES FOR ALL-STAR ELEVEN

Steers Choice of Four Critics for Quarter—Bartlett and Mautz Praised

Post-season reviews of the 1919 football season by sports writers and football officials give the university of Oregon a good representation on both the first and second all-coast elevens. Bill Steers whose consistent work on the Oregon team has featured every game throughout the entire season, is unanimously chosen as quarter for the mythical all-coast eleven. Kenneth Bartlett is picked for a tackle position by both Harry Grayson, sports editor of the Oregonian, and George Bertz of the Oregon Journal, while Doug Montell of the Oakland Tribune picks Carl Mautz for guard on his eleven. K. Leslie and Callison are both mentioned for center on the second eleven.

Following are the selections made by prominent coast football authorities:

Coach Huntington's All-Star Selection.

Faulk and G. Smith, U. of Washington, ends; Bartlett, Oregon, and Herreid, W. S. C., tackles; Grimm, U. of Washington, and Garghey, Stanford, guards; center, Keith Leslie, Oregon; quarter, Steers, Oregon; halves, Powell, O. A. C., and Gillis, W. S. C.; fullback, Huntington, Oregon.

DOUGHNUT SERIES IS GOING FINE; BETAS AND S.A.E.'S VICTORS

Sigma Nus and Owls Out of Basketball League; Fijis Defeat Kappa Sigs

Taking the Owl club into camp by a score of 12 to 6, the S. A. E. quintet strengthened their claim to the top of the percentage column in their league yesterday evening in the indoor gym. The Betas also staged a come-back and walloped the Sigma Nu tossers by a score of 14 to 10. Both games were fairly fast and were featured by the absence of rough playing. The Owls did all their scoring in the last quarter of the game by two long field baskets by Porter and one by Ross. Fiebe was the star hooper of the S. A. E. quintet, scoring five of their seven baskets.

In the Beta versus Sigma Nu game, "Skeet" Manerude played the whole game of the Betas, hooping six of the seven baskets they were able to chalk up. Dudley and Starr each played a good game for the Sigma Nus. Both of these teams show a marked improvement over their playing in their first appearance, and faster games will no doubt be played in the future in all the doughnut contests.

Herman Lind refereed the two games in the indoor gym.

The scores—

Betas (14)	Clerin (2)	C.	Sigma Nu (10)	(4) Starr
Manerude (12)	F.	(6) Dudley	Mead	F.
McKinney	Buren	G.	Van Buskirk	Cofoid	G.	Shattuck
Substitutes—Sigma Nu, Gilbert for Shattuck, Morfitt for Van Buskirk.	S. A. E. (12)	Owls (6)	Gassaway	C.	(4) Porter
Liebe (8)	F.	Say	McDaniels (2)	F.	Ross
Moore (2)	G.	Hayter	Harper	G.	Lowden

Fijis Down Kappa Sigs

The Fijis upset the Doughnut league dope Monday afternoon in the outdoor gymnasium when they defeated the fast Kappa Sig team by a score of 15 to 12. The victory was partly due to the addition of Vince Jacobberger, who could not play earlier owing to football.

The game was rough and many personal fouls were called by Referee Durno. At the end of the first half the score was 7 to 7, and the last half was anybody's game until the final whistle. The ability of Knudsen for the winners to convert fouls was the deciding factor.

The line-up was as follows

Fijis (15)	Kappa Sigs (12)
La Roche	F.	Strahorn
V. Jacobberger	F.	Andre
Knudsen	C.	Carson
Bain	G.	Bellar
H. Jacobberger	G.	Burnett
Substitutions—Fijis—Tuerck for H. Jacobberger. Kappa Sigs—Carson for Strahorn, Carson for Shields.

FEW SEEK TO ENTER MILITARY ACADEMIES

Examinations for West Point and Annapolis to Be Held on December 5

Candidates for admission to the United States naval academy at Annapolis, and for the United States military academy at West Point of the First Congressional district of Oregon, will be examined at the university Friday, December 5, at the request of W. C. Hawley, a member of congress from this district. Two principals and six alternates will be recommended to Mr. Hawley for appointment to Annapolis, and a principal and two alternates for appointment to West Point, provided there are this number of qualified candidates. So far the number of applications received to take the competitive examination has been very small. It now seems unlikely enough candidates will appear to fill the vacancies open for appointment.

Professor E. D. DeCou, head of the department of mathematics of the university, has been appointed chairman of the committee to examine candidates for both academies. The examinations will cover subjects in which a later examination is given, for final admission to the academies.

Qualified young men residents of the First Congressional district of Oregon which includes Oregon west of the Cascades, excepting Multnomah county should notify the president's office of the university at once if they desire to take the examination on Friday, December 5.

PORTLAND STUDENTS MAY JOIN RESERVE

MEN ELIGIBLE TO AMERICAN LEGION ASKED TO ENLIST IN ORGANIZATION

Portland students who are members of the American Legion or who contemplate joining the Portland post, No. 1, are asked to see Louis C. Rosenberg in the architecture building at their earliest convenience to consider the invitation to join the Civilian Reserve of the City of Portland.

Mr. Rosenberg has received from J. W. Crawford, chairman of the Portland committee on organization, 250 membership applications to be filled out and sent in to the Portland headquarters in the Liberty Temple.

At present only those university men who are eligible for membership in the Legion are asked to affiliate with the Civilian Reserve. In Portland it includes, besides Legion men, members of other organizations of a patriotic or semi-public nature.

The purpose of the reserve is set forth in the application for membership.

OREGON TO ASK FOR COAST TRACK MEET AT SEATTLE SESSION

Professor Howe to Represent University at Conference December 6

Professor H. C. Howe, as chairman of the faculty athletic committee, will represent the university of Oregon at the Pacific coast conference meeting in Seattle on December 6. Faculty representatives from the six Pacific coast conference institutions will attend.

In addition to the meeting of the faculty representatives, athletic managers from each of the six colleges will meet in Seattle at the same time to draw up a basketball, track, baseball, and the 1920 football schedules.

Professor Howe stated that the university of Oregon has already asked to have the annual Pacific coast conference track meet held in Eugene next spring, and this matter will be decided on December 6. In case the meet is awarded to Oregon, an attempt will be made to hold it as a junior week-end attraction, although Professor Howe stated this will probably necessitate postponement of the week-end date to a slightly later date.

The request of the university of southern California for admission to the conference will come at the Seattle meeting, Professor Howe stated. The university of California is expected to open discussion on the matter of allowing graduate students to participate in athletics.

Graduate Manager McClain stated that it was possible that both Bill Hayward and Shy Huntington would attend the conference in addition to Professor Howe and himself.

No selection of basketball coach was made at the meeting of the athletic committee of the faculty last night, according to Professor H. C. Howe.

bership, in which the following pledge is included:

"I hereby enroll in the Civilian Reserve of the City of Portland, Oregon, and pledge myself to forthwith answer the call of the governor of Oregon when in his judgment an emergency shall exist in the city of Portland, whereby the constituted law-enforcing units may be unable to maintain law and order, and during such emergency I will serve to the best of my ability, under arms or otherwise, in such capacity and in such units as may be designated by the governor of his appointed representative."
