Thomas G. Hendricks is dead. The University of Oregon has lost one of its greatest benefactors—a man whose steady, consistent effort in the University's behalf during the past many years has been a big element in the progress of our institution. We mourn his departure. His spirit can never grow old—can never die. The sacrifices he made for the University at the time, money and work he expended for its progress will live on after him as a guiding light for the achievements of his predecessors.

TODAY'S ISSUE IS THE LAST ISSUE OF THE EMERALD UNTIL JANUARY 6.

SUPPORT AND LOYALTY

With Oregon chosen on her merits as the eleven best fitted to defend the west when it meets east next New Year's day at Pasadena in the greatest gridiron classic ever staged, there are a few things which might be said about—loyalty.

The facts are few, simple, easily grasped—obvious. This article is not written with a view to convincing anybody of anything—it is merely to remind.

Two years ago "Shy" Huntington—young, comparatively inexperienced—took over the coaching of football at the University. He didn't have much to work with. The S. A. T. C. was on—most of the football material had enlisted. Nobody had a lot of encouragement to offer and most everybody looked askance. And then—

Coach "Shy" Huntington, youngest mentor in the United States turned out a team. It was a regular team. Nobody denied that. Nobody knows exactly how he did it—working, cwearing, hoping—praying, maybe—Coach "Shy" Huntington whipped into shape a machine that smashed through the Aggies for a decisive victory and for the first time in many, many year tore up the Washington defenses and—won.

This year has been even better. He is still the youngest coach in the country. And he is still stacking up victories for Oregon. Oregon has outplayed every team it has met. Huntington has built up a style of play not easily grasped by the layman—but that is extremely effective. The Aggies were whipped—beaten down. Washington didn't have a chance. The famous stonewall defense of the Purple and Gold crumbled under the Huntington attack. Fighting in its own inimitable way, Oregon has won the coast championship and it is going to meet the great Harvard on New Year's day.

And now what is needed more than any one thing is loyalty—loyalty to Oregon, loyalty to its team—loyalty to Coach "Shy" Huntington.

Coach Huntington has delivered the goods. In the two years that he has worked teeth and toe nail for Oregon he actually has done what no eastern coach would agree to do without signing a contract for several years. Huntington didn't ask for this time in which to make good—he simply did it.

Seldom if ever has a staff at the head of athletics at Oregon worked together as the present staff works. Everything is harmony—there is no friction.

Coach "Shy" Huntington has been weighed—and not found wanting. Coach "Shy" Huntington's crack University of Oregon eleven is going to play—and beat—Harvard. But he needs support and there is such a thing as—loyalty.

Huntington has done big things for Oregon. And now he should have Oregon's backing.

Is he going to get it?

LEST WE FORGET.

Don't let the interest in the big Women's building drive during vacation die for a single instant. Oregon students are before the eyes of the state in this big drive and the state's estimation of our institution will be guaged in a large measure by the way we put over this campaign.

Others have sacrificed everything for the building. It is not asking too much that we devote a big part of our vacation time and energy in raising funds with which to complete the structure. It is your building, And we are going to be benefitted by it. Let's Go.

REGISTER NOW.

Students now enrolled in the University of Oregon who intend to return next term should by all means register Monday and Tuesday of next week before they leave for Christmas vacation. It will be impossible to handle others than new students Monday, January 5, and regular classes in which cuts will be counted, will start Tuesday, January 6. Students now in college have the opportunity to register Monday and Tuesday, and failure to do so will make it difficult for them to register upon returning after vacation. Class cards are all that need to be filled out now. The registration fee can be paid by mail during vacation. By registering now an extra day of vacation can be had in as much as those registered will not have to return until Tuesday.

CAMPAIGNERS FORCE AHEAD WITH STRATEGY

the support of the late Governor Withycombe.

Funds should be sent in to L. H. Johnson, comptroller of the University, and not retained until the students return to Eugene, Mrs. Gerlinger said. An accurate check will be kept of all subscriptions sent in, and in this connection she suggested that the name of the solicitor accompany the remittance.

Easterners Pledge Support

She emphasized the fact that many places in the state have not been reached in previous efforts to raise money for the building, and a thorough canvass of such districts should yield exceptionally good returns.

About 50 eastern Oregon students plowed through the snow and frost on Thursday evening for a pep meeting in the Y. M. hut to give the campaign a send-off in the eastern Oregon towns. Harris Ellsworth and Lindsay McArthur, district chairmen of the region, presided. Plans of organization were discussed and Mrs. Gerlinger addressed the meeting.

Portland Rally Monday

A similar rally for all Portland students at 4 o'clock on Monday in Guild hall is announced by Dorothy Duniway, chairman of the Portland district. It will be the first all-Portland meeting held in the University for several years.

Pamphlets bearing an architect's drawing of the Women's building and a photograph showing its present stage will be distributed on Monday. These pamphlets are to be used in soliciting funds and each has a subscription card attached. Arrangements are being made to supply all students with pledge cards who were not at assembly on Thursday. These will also be distributed on Monday.

PORTLAND STUDENTS WILL MEET MONDAY

All students from Portland will meet Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Guild hall. The meeting will be the first gathering of all Portland students held on the campus for several years. Come and get together for a good time.

TWELVE WOMEN ADD NAMES TO GROUP OF EUROPEAN TOURISTS

Trip Abroad Appeals to Many, Reading to Begin Soon, Itinerary Planned

About 12 university women have expressed their desire to add their names to the list of those planning to make the trip to Europe in 1921, says Dean Elizabeth Fox. This increases the number of the group to 29. No plans have yet been made for a club, said Miss Fox. Definite arrangements will, no doubt, be made at the beginning of the second term.

The club when formed will be primarily for the purpose of directing the reading of the young women who plan to make the tour. Miss Julia Burgess, who will accompany the group, has expressed her willingness to make a biology of such literature. It has also been suggested that those who are to go may desire to make additions to their university course of study. European history, both ancient and modern, art and French have been suggested as desirable courses, and both Dean Fox and Miss Burgess will be glad to offer suggestions in the matter of courses of study for those who consult them.

Dean Fox, who will act in the capacity of conductor and chaperon on the trip, will write to Cook's and other tourist agencies in England Europe asking for their tourist prices for various itineraries. The charges will probably be less in accordance with the number of women who make the trip, said Miss Fox.

Two Groups May Travel.

The plan as announced before is for a group of from 20 to 30 women from the university to make the trip to France, Belgium, Switzerland, Holland, England, Scotland and Wales during the summer of 1921, returning to the United States in time to reach the university for the fall term.

Suggesions have been made that if a sufficient number of women are interested a few of the group might sail in March and spend the spring months visiting the countries of southern Europe, joining the rest of the group in June at some stated place.

No plan was at first made to visit southern Europe because of the limited time the women would have to travel and because of the hot weather prevailing there in the summer months. The weather there is delightful in the spring and fall, say those who have made the trip, and there is little danger of malaria or other disease at those times.

Cost Estimates Vary.

The group will be chaperoned by Miss Fox, who was in Europe in war service, and Miss Burgess, who has traveled extensively in Europe. Miss Burgess had planned another trip to Europe the year the war began there.

HIGH SCHOOL JOBS OPEN

Appointment Bureau Has Positions for Three Instructors

There will be two junior high school positions open about the middle of January in one of the prominent cities of Oregon, according to the appointment bureau report yesterday. This position includes seventh, eighth and ninth grade work. There is also a vacancy in an eastern Oregon high school for a teacher of French and typewriting, or if this combination cannot be made, French and some other subject.

DELTA PSI IS NEW LOCAL

Organization to Petition Delta Zeta—Residence is Sought

Thirteen young women of the University form the nucleus of a new organization on the campus. It will be called Delta Psi, and is petitioning Delta Zeta, national women's fraternity. Their petition passed the student body council at the meeting Tuesday night.

The following are charter members: Alys Sutton, Delta Zeta from the University of Louisiana, Velma Moser, Gladys Everett, Helen Frome, Hazel Sanders, Leona Marsters, Jeanette Hogan, Blanche Shipp, Bernice Shipp, Dorothy Cash, Marion Tuttle and Crescent Lorenz.

The girls have not yet found an available home, but intend to get settled after Christmas if one can be found.

VERSE AND WORSE

By W. F. Plus Be Be.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to a friend has said,
"Is it cold enough for you?"

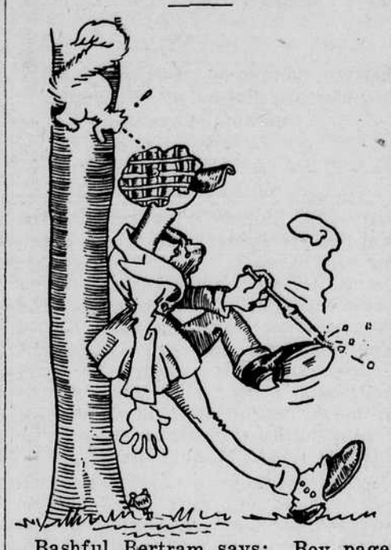
It will be much better sledding in exams if you study now.

Have you seen Kerby Miller's snow shoes?

A man who writes bogus checks and a student of journalism differ in the length of their sentences.

If the end of the world comes next Wednesday some of us will not need to worry about the shortage of coal.

The poets write about the snow.
It is the Eskimo's hovel.
The only way I can handle it
Is on the end of a shovel.



Bashful Bertram says: Boy page Harry Thaw.

Don't worry if you are cold, the teachers will make it hot for you in exams.

Darling, I am getting colder.
'Round the fire I could scorch,
But my bed is like an ice chest
Out upon the sleeping porch.

Feed the sparrows, the jail birds will take care of themselves.
