

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB BOOKS CONCERTS IN SIX OREGON TOWNS

Program Arranged for Southern Tour; 23 Members Will Make Trip

Final preparations are now under way for the University Girls' Glee club trip which will be made by the club during the latter part of Christmas vacation. Extra rehearsals have been held this week and any number are scheduled to take place between examination periods next week. The club members are planning to return to Eugene December 29, giving them one day before starting south on the concert tour.

Dean Elizabeth Fox will accompany the club and Leland A. Coon, director, will be on the job in all the towns to see that things go off just right. The first concert will be given in Cottage Grove on the night of Dec. 30. From there the club will go south to Roseburg, Dec. 31; Grants Pass, Jan. 1; Medford, Jan. 2; Ashland, Jan. 3, and Klamath Falls, Jan. 5. This will give the girls Sunday in Klamath Falls, where the townspeople have promised to give them a trip around the Lakes.

There are 23 members who will make the trip. Following is the list:

First soprano—Beulah Keagy, Portland; Adah McMurry, Eugene; Alice Gohlky, Portland; Genevieve Clancy, Portland; Jeanette Crossfield, Wasco; Florence Garrett, Hillsboro.

Second soprano—Joy Judkins, Eugene; Arbelyn Healy, Baker; Lois Muir, Portland; Gladys Ellsworth, Emily Spaeth, Portland; Marjorie Holman, Dallas.

First alto—Marvel Skeels, Coquille; Margaret Phelps, Pendleton; Mildred Bettinger, The Dalles; Laura Rand, Portland; Bernice Alstok, Portland.

Second alto—Mrs. Minnie Johnston, Portland; Gladys Lane, Heppner; Hattie Mitchell, Salem; Margaret Wells, Hillsboro; Kate Chatburn, Bandon; Helen Manning, Portland.

Accompanist—Patty French, Portland.

OREGON DELEGATION TO LEAVE DECEMBER 28

Stanford Anderson, president of the associated student body, is unable to attend the convention on account of the Pasadena game on New Year's day, and Don Newbury, also elected as a delegate, will be unable to go.

Each delegate will have to furnish $25 to make the trip, the rest of the money to send the delegation having been raised through the campaign on the campus and the money sent in from the churches of Portland, Eugene, The Dalles, Prineville and Wasco. "It would have been impossible for Oregon to have sent 15 delegates if the churches of the state had not made a canvass of the people of their towns and raised as many subscriptions and donations as they did," said Miss Urith Dailey, "and we now have sufficient money to send the 15 delegates, and if more money comes in an addition may be added to the list."

Portland Starting Point

The group will leave from Portland on December 28 and go by the most direct route to the convention, which will be over by January 4. The delegates will then return to the campus.

"Roy Veatch, a sophomore in the University and a Eugene boy, is chairman of the committee, and it is through his efforts that Oregon has been able to make this movement a success," said Miss Dailey this morning, "and he should be credited for doing an awfully lot of hard work."

When asked of her personal view on the subject Miss Dailey said, "In one way it is too bad that Oregon could not send 20 delegates, but in view of the fact that expenses have gone up so much since the campaign started on account of the coal shortage, the higher Pullman rates than we expected to have to pay and the delay in getting any rates at all, I think it is mighty fine that Oregon can send as many as 15 delegates to this convention."

Pullmans Not Available

Another drawback along the expense line is the fact that the delegates will have to live at a hotel while in Des Moines, instead of in their special Pullman car as they had planned for, which adds considerably to the expenses of the trip.

"The World Student Conference only meets every four years," continued Miss Dailey, "and in face of the money necessary to raise it is wonderful that we can be so well represented at this convention. It was due to the churches that we were able to raise the necessary money for this trip."

HARVARD COMES TO DEFEND CROWN

season. Several of the members of the squad who have been kept out of some of the main contests of the year are now in excellent shape and will be able to battle against the Crimson. The Leslie brothers, the unfortunate of the season, are now in the "pink," as are "Baz" Williams, Captain Brandenburg and "Bill" Steers. The rest which the men have had since the Multnomah contest on Thanksgiving day has done more for them than anything that could have happened.

Crimson Reported Powerful.

The Harvard eleven is the strongest that has represented the ancient institution for many years. If Oregon can down it, she will earn the greatest honor that any western team has ever gained on the gridiron. The Crimson has, since she dragged Yale from the proud position, been looked upon as the college of colleges on the gridiron, and it has not been until recent years that the followers of Walter Camp have considered any team outside the "Big Three," namely Harvard, Princeton and Yale, as an important factor in football circles.

Two of the Crimson's men have been picked by most of the eastern sport critics as members of the mythical All-American. Casey, who has made a wonderful reputation for himself this year, is an almost unanimous choice of the eastern sport writers. He has starred in nearly every contest that Harvard has played and is a human battering ram at halfback. Sedgwick, guard, is the other member of the eleven that stands head and shoulders over the other eastern linemen.

Shy Would Strike Casey Out.

Having the notables of this calibre pitted against the varsity takes one back to the Oregon-Penn game of January 1, 1917. Howard Berry, who had been fairly tearing the soil of the gridirons of the east, was hardly even noticed in the Pasadena classic of that year. Whether or not the same thing will happen in the case of Casey remains to be seen, but it certain that Coach Huntington will do his utmost to have the team see that the mighty Casey "strikes out."

Just how many men will be taken south is not as yet certain. Manager M. F. McClain is communicating with the southern people and expects to be able to take a large squad along. If arrangements can be made, at least two full teams will be taken south in order that practice may be held in earnest.

Team to Entrain Friday.

The squad will probably leave on Friday, the 19th. Coach Huntington is anxious to leave at the earliest possible moment, but some of the members of the team have examinations on Friday, and it is almost certain that they will not be able to leave prior to that time. The team will journey by a special car direct to Pasadena, arriving there about two days before Christmas and will begin training in earnest immediately. This will leave a period of more than a week in which to get in condition and with the aid of Trainer "Bill" Hayward the team should be able to round into form nicely.

Harvard Brings Thirty.

The Harvard team, consisting of some 30 players, plus half a dozen or more coaches and trainers, is planning on reaching the western city about the same time as the Oregon squad, so no alibi as to lack of condition can be advanced in case Oregon should win.

Great interest is being manifest in the west over the greatest inter-sectional classic that has ever been arranged, and a number of westerners are making preparations to be in the southland on New Year's.
