

WASHINGTON NOT UP TO MARK FOR OREGON CONTEST, SAYS COACH

Same Lineup Used In Whitman Game Will Probably Open Mix Tonight

SEVEN MEN MAKE TRIP

Dope Points to Victory for Shy's Team, Though Form is Not Yet Up to That of 1919

"Shy" Huntington and seven of the best basketball players on the coast according to Oregon rooters, left on the 5:05 train Wednesday for Seattle to mix with the University of Washington team. Among those who made the trip were Francis Beller, Eddie Durno, Nish Chapman, Francis Jacobberger, Herm Lind, Mark Latham and Lynn McCready. "Shy" Huntington did not announce the men he would use to start the game tonight, but it is thought the same combination that defeated Whitman will be used, namely, Durno and Lind, forwards, Latham, center, Jacobberger and Chapman, guards.

Coach "Stub" Allison, Washington basketball coach, is reported much disappointed in the results of the first practice game with the Spalding five. "Terrible," declared Allison, commenting on the showing of the varsity squad. "There wasn't a particle of teamwork displayed. The squad acted like a bunch that had never been together before. They have done better in scrimmages. They lacked everything."

All things seem to indicate that the Eugene contingent will return with at least one victory added to the honor roll, although followers of the game are not yet convinced that Oregon is up to the championship standard of 1919.

JANUARY "OLD OREGON" WILL APPEAR MONDAY

ALUMNI MAGAZINE TO CONTAIN SPECIAL ARTICLES BY STUDENTS

The January number of "Old Oregon," the alumni magazine, will be ready for mailing to alumni and former students of the University Monday, according to announcement made today by Robert Case, the editor of this issue. The latest number is being issued by the editing class, the senior class in the school of journalism, who chose Mr. Case as editor. The other members of the staff are Percy Boatman, business manager; Earle Richardson, Louise Davis, Mary Trux, Neil Morfitt, Elva Bagley and Dorothy Duniway.

The January number is being made particularly attractive with a large number of special articles. University students, as well as alumni, will be interested in "From the Bench," the inside story of the Pasadena game, as told by Neil Morfitt; "The Old Fight, to the Front," by Dean Eric W. Allen; "The Student Memorial," by De Witt Gilbert; "The Need for Research" and "The Student Conference," by Louise Davis.

The magazine contains page after page of alumni notes, which are always of interest to former students. The notes are arranged according to class years as usual. The section of Campus News and Comment will give the alumni an idea of principal events at their alma mater and the Notes on Professors, a new department, will give interesting sidelights on the members of the faculty, old and young. The Who's Who department is also retained, but the name of the prominent alumnus chosen for this issue is held secret.

The next number of "Old Oregon" will be edited as usual by Miss Charlie Fenton, alumni secretary, with Miss Jeanette Calkins as business manager.

OREGON TO DEBATE CANADIANS FEB. 27

Northerners Suggest Amendment to Question—Eleven Try for Local Team

Word has been received from British Columbia by R. W. Prescott, professor of public speaking, agreeing to the debate contest between the University of British Columbia and the University of Oregon on February 27, but suggesting an amendment to the former phrasing of the open and closed shop question. British Columbia, Idaho and Oregon are members of this triangular debate league. The question, as amended by the Canadians, would read: "Resolved, That the industrial interests are best served by maintaining the policy of the closed shop." Oregon's negative will debate Idaho at their university, while the Oregon affirmative will remain at home to meet British Columbia. Agreement has not yet been reached on the phrasing of the question, and Professor Prescott announced that he intended to ask British Columbia to reconsider the phrasing of the question, several of the terms being ambiguous.

The two Oregon teams will probably not be chosen until a week or so before the debate, Professor Prescott announced. Oregon, he said, had 11 strong candidates from whom to choose four.

HACKER IS BAND LEADER

Harold Simpson, Former Head, Resigns Through Lack of Time

Herbert Hacker of Portland has been appointed leader of the R. O. T. C. band, succeeding Harold E. Simpson, who was in charge last term. Simpson resigned from the position owing to other pressing duties at the University. Hacker, last term, held the position of assistant band leader. The leader ranks as second lieutenant.

Frank Jue was appointed a sergeant last Monday. Jue serves with the band.

Transfers to the band from the regular drill companies were made Monday by Captain R. C. Baird, commandant, as follows: James G. Byrne, Willis D. Link, Company C; Ernest Amburn, George N. Crossfield, Company B; Jay Butler, Wayne R. Moor, Company D.

LEADERS ARE ASSIGNED

Weekly Discussion Groups to Meet This Evening at 7:15

The leaders who will conduct the weekly discussion groups at the various houses on the campus have been assigned to their classes, the first of which will be held this evening from 7:15 until 8:00 o'clock. The leaders and their groups are: Mrs. William Moll Case, Alpha Phi; Miss Mozelle Hair, Pi Beta Phi; Mrs. Eric W. Allen, Kappa Alpha Theta; Mrs. E. H. Sawyer, Sigma Delta Phi; Miss Urith Dailey, Gamma Phi Beta; Miss Ida M. Turney, Alpha Delta; Miss Sue Badollet, Chambers Annex; Mrs. D. Walter Morton, Thacher Annex; Mrs. R. C. Baird, Chi Omega; Mrs. R. C. Clark, Delta Gamma; Miss Katherine Beekley, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mrs. Kerby Miller, Delta Delta Delta; and Dean Elizabeth Fox, Hendricks Hall.

EMERALD IS SAVED; STUDENTS GIVE AID WITH SUBSCRIPTIONS

Campus Drive Nets Estimate of 400 New Subscribers to Paper

HOUSES RESPOND READILY

Energetic Committees Solicit Entire Student Body in Two-Day Campaign

The Emerald is saved. This is the report given out by Leith Abbott, editor, and Warren Kays, business manager, this morning, following a two days' subscription drive held on the campus Tuesday and yesterday.

The exact number of subscriptions taken during the drive is not known yet by Mr. Kays, as detailed reports from several committee members who solicited in different houses on the campus are not yet turned in. The business manager places a close estimate on the new subscriptions gained at 400. This will mean that the paper's future is assured and that it can keep on as before. Mr. Abbott announced today. "The drive fell short of the goal we set," he said this morning, "but results of the drive put us in a position where by steady, consistent effort on the part of every member of the staff for the remainder of the year the Emerald will be possible. It leaves us no surplus but it puts us on our feet."

Both Kays and Abbott are warm in their praise of the committee and solicitors who conducted the drive. "The committee worked unceasingly," Editor Abbott said, "and practically every student was reached in the two days of the drive." The fact that practically every student was reached during the two days of the drive is given as the reason for letting the campaign stop short of the 600 subscribers goal which was set.

All of the houses on the campus are practically 100% or over. All of the organizations have subscribed for a flat number for the house while many in the organizations have taken an individual copy to send home. The committee hardly expected as high a rate could be obtained in Hendrix and Friendly Halls owing to the larger number of students, but reports indicate that both are nearly 100% subscribers.

Fine Spirit Shown

Kays declared that everyone came through in good spirit and he thinks that the drive was only made necessary because students had not been solicited at the beginning of the year. He said much credit is due the women's organizations which detailed two girls from each to solicit subscriptions on the campus the closing day of the drive. These members, he declared, kept the drive from lagging till the very close.

Kays is anxious to complete his check on the drive and asks all members to turn in their complete reports to him as soon as possible. Dorothy Duniway, he said, so far as incomplete returns indicate, has outdistanced all in collecting Emerald money. She secured 40 subscriptions in the drive and was an untiring worker from start till finish. Clem Cameron also made a splendid showing throughout the drive and her total in new subscriptions has reached about 30, Kays thinks.

Friendly Hall Well Up

For Friendly Hall, Bill Martin collected 19 new subscriptions, and the hall high up in the percentage column before the drive was well under way. Marjorie Holliday lead the Hendricks Hall Emerald boosters with 15 new subscriptions. Mauna Loa Fallis, who conducted the campaign in the Kappa house, and also worked on the campus, turned in about 15 subscriptions and earned a place among the live wires of the campaign.

Price of Homes Limited

The board of regents at the University of Washington set $45,000 as the limit that fraternities and sororities could spend in the erection of homes.

JUNIORS SET MAY 13 FOR ANNUAL WEEK-END; PROGRAM IS LINED UP

Varsity Track to Be Absent; Oregon Frosh Will Rescue Meet

COSTUME PARADE FEATURE

Chapman Appoints Committees to Work for Success of Big Date

—Ed. Durno, Chairman.

The date for Junior week-end, May 13 to 16, was announced for the first time at a meeting of the junior class Tuesday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. Hut, where plans for the affair were discussed. The program, as far as it is made out, was presented by Eddie Durno, chairman of the committee for arrangements, and Nish Chapman, president of the class, appointed committees for the various events to take place during the week-end.

Unlike other years, there will be no varsity track meet during the week-end because the team has already signed up to be away at that time. As this was the best week-end to have the annual junior "blowout" it will be given during the absence of the track men. "A track meet between the O. A. C. Rooks and the Oregon Frosh will fill the place of the varsity meet," stated Chapman.

One of the features of the week-end is to be the costume parade which made such a hit the last time it was staged. "We decided to give this so that the 'preppers' can see us at our worst as well as at our best," declared Durno, explaining the reason for including this event in the program. The costume parade has been left in charge of the Yell Kings.

Dances at the various houses on the campus on Thursday night were discouraged at the junior meeting.

"These dances," stated Durno, "are not only a trouble for the houses to arrange and give, but they interfere greatly with the rest of the program. These dances usually start before the canoe fete. The couple dance until nearly time for the fete and then rush over in their light clothes to the raceway and stand around for hours. After the fete is over, it's rush back to the dance again. These entertainments have always met with great disapproval. It is our plan," Durno continued, "to set aside the time following the fete this year for house members to become acquainted with their own guests."

The costume parade is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and the canoe fete at 9:30 p.m. on Thursday.

The most important event of Friday of the week-end will be the senior play at the Eugene theatre. As yet no announcement has been made in regard to the choice of play of the plans for staging it.

Saturday morning the "O" will be painted as has always been the custom. This is to be taken care of by members of the Order of the "O."

It is hoped that the weather will permit luncheon to be served on the campus Saturday noon, instead of in the gymnasium. The committees for this affair will be announced later through Women's league, stated Chapman.

Many aquatic features will be staged during the early part of Saturday afternoon. A committee consisting of Francis Jacobberger, chairman, Vivian Chaudler, Helen Case and Gladys Smith will be in charge of the meet.

A tennis tournament between O. A. C. and Oregon is to have a place on the program; George Beggs and Roland Woodruff are the committee for this affair.

Definite plans for the big junior Prom of Saturday night are being kept dark, but the committee in charge, consisting of Wilbur Carl, chairman, Theodora Stoppenbach, Willard Hollenbeck, Nell Warwick and Wanda Nelson, promise to make it a better Prom than ever before. Whether it will be formal for the men or not was not discussed at this meeting, but it will be decided at a later date and announcements will then be made.

Sunday afternoon will be turned

CRAFTSMEN BANQUET AT HOTEL OSBURN

Twenty-six Members Attend Meeting; Humorous Anecdotes Fill in Between Courses

The Craftsmen of the University entertained themselves by telling of their varied individual experiences as Masons at their banquet last night held at the Hotel Osburn.

Twenty-six members of the organization were present at the banquet, which was the third regular meeting this school year. The dinner began at 6:30 and lasted for two hours, during which time each member present told some amusing incidents relative to his initiation or experiences in school or overseas having to do with his Masonic connection.

The dinner took the form of a purely social meeting of a type which they intend to hold regularly. The Craftsmen society is composed of all Masons of the third degree or above who are enrolled students or faculty members of the University. "There are about 60 Craftsmen in school," said Professor Dunn, "but it is hard to get all of them out to any one meeting."

OREGON TEACHERS SOUGHT

Positions Offered Several Students and Three Already Taken

Oregon trained teachers are in demand. Three 1919-20 students have accepted places for the rest of the year and others have been offered desirable positions. Misses Ethel Ewer, Harriett Garrett and Marion Andrews have been offered positions in the Eugene high school.

Miss Ewer and Miss Garrett have accepted, the former to teach English in extra classes made necessary by the increasing enrollment in the city high school, the latter to take over the science classes formerly taught by Miss Katherine Howells, who was transferred to the head of the home economics department.

Y. M. C. A. FACES PROBLEM

Employment for University Students Fails to Meet Demands

The employment openings at the University Y. M. C. A. have been on the decrease since the beginning of the new term. There is a usual falling off, each year, in the jobs that come in during the middle term but this term has beaten all records.

The demand for jobs by the students has been great up to the present. The figures on hand show that more than three hundred jobs were given out last term, some of which were permanent. The total amount which this brought in, came to over five thousand dollars and has proved to be a reason for many students remaining in school.

Reverend A. M. Spangler, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., said that if the situation did not improve, some steps would be taken to let the townspeople know of this need so that they will respond to the students' desire for work.

LUCILE REDMOND TALKS

Eutaxian Meeting Given to Modern American Poets

Lucile Redmond gave a talk on "Modern American Poets," as the main feature of the meeting of the Eutaxian Literary society Tuesday evening. She told about their lives and read sketches of their works.

At the short business meeting held before the program it was decided to elect officers at the next meeting of the club on February 3. These officers are elected twice each school year, she explained, but no ballot has been made up yet. The regular meeting on February 17 will be a social for the members only; if present plans are carried out.

STUDENTS HAVE CHANCE TO HELP PUT OREGON ON EFFICIENT BASIS

Support of Millage Bill to Be Voted On In May Urged At Assembly

TWO DEANS GIVE FACTS

Straub and Morton Tell Needs—Dr. Gilbert Discusses Chance for Victory at Polls

"The opportunity is within your grasp to make this a bigger, better and a greater Oregon." So said Dean D. W. Morton, speaking before the student assembly in Villard hall Thursday morning on the subject of the new appropriation measure for the University which is to be placed before the people at the primary election next May. Each student was urged to obtain ten votes for the millage bill.

Urging the students to support the referendum which will increase the millage tax for the higher educational institutions throughout the state to 1.26 mills, Dean Morton showed the crying need for additional funds at Oregon.

Oregon has received, since the allowance of three-sevenths of a mill tax in 1915, approximately $300,000 a year. The new bill provides for an additional income of $514,000 annually, which funds will be used for the construction of new buildings to bring the university up to a standard with other similar institutions throughout the country. Of the new levy, .06 of a mill is to provide funds for the state normal school and the remainder is to be split three to four, O. A. C. receiving the larger portion of the appropriation.

Less Than High School Cost

"All the buildings on the campus at present," said Dean Morton, "have been built at a cost of $528,819.06. What did Lincoln high school in Portland cost? Some of you are graduates of Lincoln. It cost a little more than $600,000."

"With our present facilities overcrowded and prospects for an increase of 25 per cent in the enrollment next year, as estimated by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Churchill, something must be done to care for the increased need. The increase in appropriations has not kept pace with the growth of the school. In 1915 the enrollment was 818, and to—

SENIORS BEGIN TEACHING

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION STUDENTS TRAIN

Classes Assigned for New Semester in Eugene and Springfield High Schools

Twenty seniors in the school education are embarking these days on their careers as teachers. Of this number four will take charge of classes at the Eugene high school next Monday morning as follows: Alice Schoonhoven, Spanish; Bernice Miller, English; Gretchen Taylor, modern history; Helen Whitaker, English; Misses Ethel Ewer and Harriett Garrett, who have been doing practice work in the schools the past term, will assume positions Monday as "regular" teachers of English and science respectively. At Springfield high school Marjorie Holladay and Margaret Gray will take classes in Spanish and French respectively. Others have been assigned classes in the University high school as follows: Mary Irving, biology; Ethel Wakefield, English; Marie Riddings, algebra; Thomas Hardy, general science; Inga Winter, French; Charlotte Patterson, modern history; Joy Judkins, general science; Grace Knopp will have charge of the library of the school. These embryo educators will commence their work Monday, February 9, which marks the beginning of the second semester of the high school.
