

OREGANA DRIVE BEGUN WITH BIG ENTHUSIASM BY MANAGING STAFF

Campaign to Last Two Days, 1200 Subscribers Needed Among Students

COMMITTEES ARE FORMED

Prizes Will Be Given to Canvassers and Organizations as Incentive to Boost Annual

"The Oregana drive over in two days", is the slogan of George Beggs, business manager, and Elston Ireland, circulation manager of the University year book, in the campaign for 1200 subscriptions from the student body which they are launching tomorrow morning.

Every effort will be made to collect the full quota of subscriptions before Thursday night, and with that end in view members of committees to carry on the canvass have been chosen who have proven their ability in former drives. Plans have been laid to reach as many individuals as possible through their organizations but the hardy "hooverizer" who ventures out upon the campus without an Oregana tag will find plenty of workers waiting for him and ready to take care of his money. As an incentive toward fast work on the part of the committee members, prizes have been offered for the first two who turn in 50 subscriptions. Five dollars and an Oregana go to the one reaching the goal first, and an Oregana to the second person to turn in that number. The organization which first reports its members to be 100% Oregana subscribers will get a free copy of the book.

Not to Juniors Alone

George Beggs emphasized the fact that the Oregana is strictly a University proposition, not that of the junior class. As such he feels that it deserves, and must have, the support of each individual in the University if it is to be an unqualified success.

Reports from members chosen to serve on the committee, according to Ireland, indicate that they are enthusiastic over prospects of success. They feel in this case that they are asking each student to buy something which he really needs and desires, and that the price is something which every one can meet. From the committee's point of view their task is only to get the student to be fair with himself, and all argument on their part is only in his behalf.

Tag for Each Subscriber

Ireland announces that students who wish to save the time and inconvenience may have their checks made out Wednesday morning payable to George Beggs, business manager. Only $1.50 is being collected now as a guarantee on the book. The remaining $3 is not due until delivery of the book later in the spring. Each subscriber will be given a receipt and an Oregana tag at the time his subscription is taken.

LITTLE 'FLU' IN COLLEGES

Northwestern Schools Have Epidemic in Hand Says Red Cross Man

Although reports from the surgeon general of the United States public health service shows that influenza in a mild form is prevalent in practically every community in the country, colleges of the northwest have had little trouble with the disease so far, according to a report sent President P. L. Campbell, by Earl Kilpatrick, division manager of the northwest division of the American Red Cross.

The letter states that parents of college students should be re-assured that their sons and daughters will be guarded as effectively and carefully, as they would be at home, and asks that the University of Oregon send in reports from time to time, as to the health of the students here.

Byers, Now Actor, Defies Desert Heat On 500-Mile Hike

Word has been received from Tracy Byers, '19, who at present is somewhere on the great American desert with three companions, walking from Utah to Los Angeles, a distance of 500 miles. The card, written at Bunkerville, Nevada, last Saturday stated that the party had been in Arizona the day before and would spend a week in Las Vegas, New Mexico.

The trip was started by auto, but a breakdown occurred at an early stage of the journey and it was decided to complete the trip afoot. According to Byers the weather and roads are fine, and the quartet enjoy sleeping in the open. A distance of 100 miles was covered the first five days.

Byers graduated from the school of journalism last spring, entered the newspaper field as city news editor of the "Daily Post" of Idaho Falls, Idaho. During his college career, he took active part in campus dramatics, and also wrote several plays. Byers resigned his position three weeks ago to go on the stage. Due to prevalent flu in several sections of Utah many of the theatres were closed. It was then decided to take the trip to Los Angeles. The companions with whom Byers is making the trip are all members of the company with which he was playing.

O. A. C. GETS MIKE BUTLER

Famous Portland Trainer Will be Part of Athletic Staff

M. H. ("Mike") Butler, famous trainer of athletes, who is at present in charge of the Butler School of Physical Training in Portland, will become a part of the athletic staff of O. A. C. it was announced Thursday by James J. Richardson, general manager of student activities.

Butler is well known not only on the coast, but in the east for his training ability, and to him is given the credit for the good condition of the O. A. C. football team at the last of the season. After the O. A. C. team was riddled with injuries early last fall, it was decided to employ Butler to get the team in condition for the Oregon and Washington games.

Butler, it was announced, would be paid a top notch salary, equal to that of the best coaches and trainers in the country. The exact amount was not given out for publication. Butler will move to Corvallis with his family next Monday.

ALMACK TO TALK TUESDAY

Eugene Congregationalists to Hear Address on American History

John C. Almack, acting director of the extension division, will speak on American history before the Congregational Brotherhood in Eugene, Tuesday, February 10. He is also scheduled to speak in Salem, February 11, at the library, on the subject of Americanization. He expects to go to Crabtree February 14 to attend the annual all-day community meeting and discuss problems of education.

1919 GRAD TO TEACH HERE

Virginia Hales Accepts Position on Summer School Faculty

Virginia Hales, who was graduated from the University of Oregon with the class of 1919, has been secured by Miss Mabel Cummings, director of the department of physical education for women, to be on the physical education staff at the University of Oregon summer school. She will have classes in gymnasium, folk dancing, swimming and sports. "Miss Hales is at the Monmouth Normal school and is making an unmistakable success of her work," said Miss Cummings.

CAMPAIGN MANAGERS IN EACH HOUSE FOR MILLAGE TAX BILL

President Campbell and Karl Onthank to Explain Appropriation to All Members of Committee Wednesday

Students of the University will actively participate in campaigning for the millage tax appropriation soon to be voted upon in Oregon. Stanford Anderson, president of the student body and Miss Charlie Fenton, alumni secretary, have already chosen the above persons to represent every house and organization on the campus to work with the campaign committee in Portland to bring to the fore and advertise the millage tax which is of so much importance to the University. Don Newbury, chairman of this committee has called a meeting for 7:15 Wednesday evening in Dean Straub's room, at which President Campbell and Karl Onthank will explain to the students of the committee exactly what this bill is about so that each representative will be able to go back to his organization and explain to each member the importance of this bill. Each committee member will act as campaign member in his house. Miss Fenton places campaign literature regularly in the pigeon holes for each house in the entrance to the Administration building, and each representative is to either see to getting this literature himself or appoint a member of his group to get it daily.

The latest literature placed in the pigeon holes was a bulletin with statistics showing the proportional building investment per student in the various colleges in the United States and on this list Oregon takes her place near the bottom. "This committee," said Miss Fenton, "is to act as a regular student organization on the campus."

NO FLU ON CAMPUS SAYS DR. SAWYER

FEW STUDENTS VACCINATED FOR SMALLPOX—PERIL EMPHASIZED

The students of the University are not responding to the opportunity for vaccination open to them, according to Dr. E. H. Sawyer of the University infirmary. Forty of the freshmen men have not been vaccinated, either here or in the army, and this is a high average, he said. No data concerning the freshmen girls is available because they do not indicate this on the registration card, but the percentage of unvaccinated is probably much larger than for the boys.

"There will be cases of smallpox in Oregon as long as the people refuse to be vaccinated," said Dr. Sawyer, "and the sooner they realize this the better it will be for them."

"There have been a few cases of mild grippe on the campus," said the doctor, "but these could not be called flu. It is the general opinion among physicians that there will be no flu epidemic this year," he continued, "and that when the records are compiled for this year it will be found that there have been no more deaths from grippe and so-called flu than in any year previous to last."

"I can see no reason why there should be a ban placed on University activities as there was last year, because the disease which is appearing here is too mild to necessitate any such action."

ADDRESS ON LINCOLN FOR NEXT ASSEMBLY

WALLACE McCAMANT, PORTLAND ATTORNEY, TO SPEAK THURSDAY

As next Thursday is Lincoln's birthday, an address on the martyred president will be given at the assembly in Villard hall. Wallace McCamant, a prominent Portland attorney has promised to speak.

Mr. McCamant is a deep student of Lincoln, and is considered an authority on his life. He has given the same address, which he will give here, several times at other places. Those who have heard him, describe him as a member of the old school, a believer in real oratory, and one who arouses intense interest in his subject. Judge E. O. Potter of this city speaks highly of the man's ability as a lawyer and of his influence as a speaker.

The prospective speaker is well known in Masonic circles, and is also active in Republican politics. He was a member of the supreme bench but resigned about two years ago.

He is a graduate of Lafayette College, in Pennsylvania, and is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

A special attraction of the assembly will be the appearance of the University orchestra.

F. H. WILSON, '18, MARRIED

Former Commerce Major Weds Ruth Barrett of Albany

News has just been received of the wedding of Frank H. Wilson, of Dallas, member of the class of 1918, to Miss Ruth Barrett, of Albany, formerly of Eugene. While in the University, Mr. Wilson majored in Commerce, leaving here with the second Ordinance Corps in January, 1918. His diploma was granted during the time that he was in the army. Mr. Wilson recently returned from France.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are spending their honeymoon in California. They will probably make their home in Dallas.

Everybody Grin! The Tabard Inn Takes Bertram In

(Not by B. B.)

This is the way young Bertram rants, so now I think I'll take a chance; for this young Bertram chap, you know, is a neophyte, and I can crow. He's a Sigma Upsilon elected "bee", and just between young Bertram and me, he's got a stunt he has to pull, until the old boys get their full. On Wednesday morning young Bert will wear, a smock that will make girls tear their hair. It's called in Greek, or Siamese, a "Tabard" just pronounce it please.

Besides adorning the campus with this, there's something else you must not miss. He's going to pack a Royal around, and look around until he's found a vacant inch on the Library steps, where he'll pound out some jingling "peps."

This bashful lad must then declaim the things he's written and remain, till something from on high, you see, splashes down on you and me. Oh, Bashful Bertram, I envy you! I kinda wish I were there too. At ten a. m. I'll stand and grin, while you perform for Ye Tabard Inn. But now I guess I gotta quit, or envy'll make Bert have a fit.

GYM MAJORS HEARD FROM

Ella Dews '19 and Esther Furuset '17 Teaching in High Schools

Miss Mabel Cummings, head of the department of women's physical training, has just received a letter from Ella Dews, a major in her department and graduate with the class of 1919, who has charge of the physical training work in the Bend high school and the women's department of the Bend Athletic association. In her letter Miss Dews said that she was coaching a basketball league among the high school girls and one among the women of the town. Eight teams are entered in the women's league. Besides this Miss Dews is taking posture tests and making records and bulletins every month.

Another letter has lately been received by Miss Cummings from Esther Furuset, who was graduated in 1917 and is in charge of the physical training department in the high school at Anaheim, California. Miss Furuset asked for plans for an up to date gymnasium as Anaheim high school is going to have a new $150,000 building for the physical training and domestic science departments. After her graduation Miss Furuset was instructor for a year and a half in gymnasium in the California State hospital for Insane.

"We can't begin to supply the demand for teachers of physical training," said Miss Cummings.

CHILDREN LIKE HISTORY

Almack Writes on Reading Interests of Junior High School Pupils

"The Reading Interests of Junior High School Students" is the title of an article by J. C. Almack, acting director of the extension division, which appears in the last issue of "The American Schoolmaster." The article gives special emphasis to history, and relates a test given to discover what influences children most in choosing books, what kind of books appeal most to them, and whether there is a difference between the interests of boys and girls. The replies to the question "What historical character do you like most?" varied from George Washington to Charlie Chaplin.

The general conclusions which are reached, state that "There is a demand for actuality in the reading material, for truth, for 'real life.' The fairy tale period is past." Also, "Text books do not satisfy the reading interests of junior high school pupils. History, however, has all the elements that these pupils like in their reading."

Varsity Five Wins Overtime Contest From Washington

Oregon fight causes visitors to take 23 to 20 count in fast tilt

LOSS OF STARS NOTICED

Idaho	2	2	500
Willamette	1	7	125
Montana	0	4	000

With a great exhibition of Oregon fight, the varsity five staged a comeback against the University of Washington five Saturday night, and defeated the northerners 23 to 20, after two extra five minute periods had been played to settle a tie score. This victory gives Oregon one win out of the three games played the last week end and leaves the lemon-yellow with a conference standing of .400.

Coach "Shy" Huntington used a different lineup than he used earlier in the season, as both Eddie Durno and Nish Chapman were kept on the bench until the last part of the game. "Skeet" Manerud started the game at the forward position, and Francis Bellar took Chapman's place at guard.

First Half Ends in Tie

The first half was slow, neither team seeming to have much of an advantage, the period ending in a 10 to 10 tie. Oregon jumped in the lead early in the second half, but towards the last few minutes of the game, the Sundoggers crawled up on the varsity, when with the score standing at a 18 to 18 tie, Coach Huntington sent in Durno and Chapman. These two men held the Washington tossers to no baskets but failed to annex any points for the varsity.

The first five minutes also ended in a tie, 20 to 20.

In the second extra period, Lind threw a field basket, and Durno cinched the game by garnering a converted foul.

Munson ald Nicholson starred for the northerners, and Latham and Lind for the varsity. Manerud converted all of six tries for fouls.

The lineup:
Washington (20)	Oregon (22)
Jamieson (2)	C. Latham (4)
Munson (8)	F. Lind (8)
Talbot (2)	F. Manerud (10)
Nickolson (2)	G. Bellar
Cook (6)	G. Jacobberger

Referee: George Anderson. Substitutions: Oregon, Durno (3), for Manerud, Chapman for Bellar.

Varsity Has Slight Chance for Honors

Oregon's chances for the Pacific Coast championship seem to be steadily decreasing, and O. A. C.'s 31 to 10 victory over University of Washington last night, served to dim the lemon-yellow's prospects. Next Friday and Saturday the Oregon basketball team will play a two game series with the agriculturists. The chances for a victory do not look very bright but never in the history of the University have the sport followers given up hope, or quite fighting, until the cause is lost.

The Oregon team is at present badly crippled, and will probably not be in good shape by Friday night. Eddie Durno is ill, and in poor con-
