

'U' SUMMER SCHOOL WILL HAVE WIDELY KNOWN INSTRUCTORS

Educators to Be Especially Able This Year, Says Dean Sheldon

Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the summer school, states that he has been very fortunate in securing a number of especially able men and women for summer school this year, plans for which are being completed. The catalog has gone to the press and should be out by the first of March.

One of the best known of the instructors is P. W. Horn, superintendent of the city schools at Houston, Texas, who will give a course in problems of school supervision for superintendents and principals, and a course on recent movements in the elementary course of study for grade teachers. He will also assist Prof. H. R. Douglass, of the school of education, in a course on tests and measurements. "Mr. Horn has made a number of inductive studies and surveys, and is recognized as one of the leading superintendents of the country," said Dr. Sheldon.

Professor Lincoln R. Gibbs, head of the English department in the University of Pittsburg, has been secured for the English literature department. Professor Gibbs, who was graduated from Wesleyan university and has done graduate work at Harvard, will give two courses, one on the novel in the 19th century, and one on romantic poetry. He will also assist advanced students who are interested in doing special work in literary criticism. The work in English composition will be given by Professor W. F. G. Thacher of the rhetoric department.

Mrs. Laura Ripley Mack, a graduate of the Platt institute at Chicago, will give a course in methods of teaching art. Miss Helen Rhodes will give a class in plastic art.

Professor E. L. Packard, of the geology department, will give a course in minerals and rocks. Professor Packard also plans a camp, to begin about June 10, which will give practice in field work for students in geology and geography.

In compliance with the influenza ban, Mrs. Bark and Mrs. Weir have indefinitely postponed the bridge tea party which they were to have given tomorrow.

according to Dr. Sawyer. This, however, does not mean that all students should not take the very best care of themselves, he explained, and that a great deal of attention should be paid to proper eating, avoiding exposure, and general health habits. He desires that every case of illness be reported because, however slight the case may be, it may grow serious with lack of proper care.

"We do not wish to appear arbitrary," Dr. John F. Bovard, member of the health committee, said in speaking of the ban on University affairs. He explained that it is not due to illness among University students, but to comply with city health regulations and to prevent any spreading of the epidemic on the campus.

COLONEL R. B. LISTER PRAISES IMPROVEMENT IN DRILL

General Staff Officer to Pick Best Units of Country in Late Spring Tour

Colonel R. B. Lister, district inspector of the R. O. T. C., arrived in Eugene Monday to inspect the cadet corps here. After witnessing a review and seeing the organizations drill, Colonel Lister said he noted considerable improvement over the work displayed at his last visit here, about two and a half months ago. Speaking to the cadets at the close of the drill period, Colonel Lister complimented them upon the atmosphere of co-operation which is prevalent in their work. They should be well prepared, he said, for the final inspection of the year, which will be made by an officer of the general staff near the close of the term. At this time, one-fifth of the institutions in the country which have R. O. T. C. units will be picked and designated as the best.

Colonel Lister expects shortly to transfer his headquarters from Spokane to San Francisco, due to the recent consolidation of the 11th and 12th R. O. T. C. districts. Colonel Lister spent over 18 months in France during the war with the headquarters division of the first army. He was with the first army from the time of its formation until the last of the men had departed for the return to this country.
