

WIRELESS STATION IS ERECTED IN DEADY BY JOHN K. TUERCK

Student Communicates With Los Angeles, Reno, and Everett

EVENINGS SPENT AT WORK

Holds Second Class License — Has Sent for Another—Plans for Radio Job on Boat

Over in the basement of Deady hall, a small wireless outfit has been established by John Tuerck, a sophomore majoring in the department of Physics. Already the operator has communicated with many amateur stations, similar to the one he has erected, including one near Everett, Washington, another at Reno Nevada, and one at Los Angeles. The latter is the farthest-off station with which Tuerck has communicated so far.

With John Tuerck, wireless is a hobby, and so for many years he has been working with it, by himself. This year he asked the privilege of installing a station at the University, which was readily granted. Dr. W. P. Boynton, head of the department of Physics, is furnishing some of the materials, and the others Tuerck has collected or made. According to Dr. Boynton, Tuerck spends nearly every evening at work either listening in, or communicating with other stations, and it is very hard to keep him from spending his entire time there.

Holds Second Class License

Although he has never done any commercial work, he was able, by examination in 1917, to secure an amateur's license, second class, good for two years. When this expired, last year, he again took the examination, and his license was renewed, this grade of license being sufficient to allow him to operate such a station as the one he has established here. A rate of twelve words per minute is all that is required to secure the license which Tuerck now has, but, in the opinion of Dr. Boynton, who is very much interested in him, the boy will have no trouble at all in making 20 words.

Besides the license he now holds, he has sent for another which is the same as the one under which technical schools operate. Dr. Boynton said Thursday that he expected to receive this any time now.

May Operate This Summer

The Continental code is the one used by Tuerck. This code is the one most in use at present, although some still use the Morse and Navy. According to Dr. Boynton, Tuerck is thinking of securing a position as operator on a boat for the summer vacation. For this he will be required to secure a commercial license which will necessitate his making a trip to Seattle sometime this spring for an examination before the radio inspector there.

Last summer Tuerck installed a wireless set near Bull Run lake purely for amusement.

JUNIOR MEETING TUESDAY

Week-end, Prom, and Vaudeville Will Come up for Discussion

Plans for advertising Junior Week-end during the spring vacation will be considered at a meeting of the Junior class Tuesday afternoon. Special features for the occasion are being planned and may include the Junior vaudeville, to be staged either during Junior Week-end or immediately before.

Whether or not the Junior Prom will be a formal affair this year will probably come up for discussion. Juniors are divided upon this question which will probably be thrashed out at the last class meeting of this term.

Professor Valued Eighty Cents Higher Than Good Janitor

What's the difference between a college professor and a first class janitor? Eighty cents a year, if you can believe the figures on comparative wages.

The average full-fledged professor at the University draws $2,300 a year while a real good janitor can command $2,299.20.

It figures out like this: The janitors here draw from $85 monthly to $100, but elsewhere they receive more, with the result that now and then one leaves to take another position. H. M. Fisher, superintendent of buildings and grounds, reports that one of his best men has just resigned to accept a position at $6.60 a day, with his house furnished in addition.

At $6.60 a day the monthly wage for 26 working days would amount to $171.60. This is $2,059.20 a year. Rent of a house amounts to $20 a month or $240 a year, making a grand total of $2,299.20.

Professors are fully convinced that their long period of training and development of superior intellect fully entitles them to the additional eighty cents per annum.

TUESDAY DATE SET FOR STUDENT VOTE

SEVEN AMENDMENTS WILL BE PASSED UPON—POLLS IN VILLARD HALL

Seven amendments to the student body constitution will be voted on next Tuesday from ten o'clock until two in the lower corridor of Villard hall. Special ballots are being prepared which contain a statement of each of the measures before the students according to Stan Anderson, student body president. All students of the University are eligible to vote. Under the new arrangement all the individual student needs to do is go to Villard hall and mark his ballot.

Amendments are to be voted upon include: a change in the requirements for winning football letters, making it necessary for a player to take part in either Pacific Coast conference or inter-sectional games to win an "O"; an amendment changing the specifications for the pin awarded to glee club members; recognition of the orchestra as a student body activity; re-organization of the for-ensic council to give the students control of the body; election of the yell leader in place of appointment by student council; designation of the University comptroller as treasurer of the student body; recognition of the women's league by the student body.

SCIENCE CLUB TO INSTALL

Initiation for University Members to Be Held Tuesday

The annual banquet and installation of honor members of the University Science Club, will take place Tuesday, March 16, at 6:30 at the Osburn. The honor members for this year are Edmond Cox and Marcus O'Day. After the installation ceremony Dr. E. L. Packard will give an illustrated lecture on, "The Ancient Climates of Oregon."

Invitations have been issued for the affair, which is under the direction of W. E. Milne, secretary of the club.

GRADUATE ACCEPTS POST

Lillian Hausler of 1918 Class Returns to Eugene From Portland

Miss Lillian Hausler, a graduate of the University of Oregon with the class of 1918, has accepted a position with the Bown Lumber Company of Eugene, and has just arrived here to take up her new duties. She will be employed as a stenographer.

Miss Hausler has been employed as a stenographer for a Portland tire company for some time.

Senior Girls Aim High In Matrimony Future Husbands Must Possess Kale

RAINY WEATHER KEEPS BASEBALL MEN INSIDE; BATTERIES LOOK GOOD

Season's Schedule Soon to Be Announced; Trip North
Is Anticipated

Inclement weather and wet grounds have interfered with workout since the call for spring baseball practice Monday evening, however, Coach Huntington has his batteries working overtime in the outdoor gym and with a little sunshine to dry up the diamond, practice will begin in earnest. The indoor work fails to give the men much in fielding and batting, but they are limbering up the arms, and there will probably be fewer sore muscles as a result of the inside workouts for the first few days of practice.

Batteries Look Good

The pitching staff which has so far shown up for workouts is composed of Jacobson, Kennon, Jacobberger, Knighton and southpaws, Shim, Knudsen and Barg. On the receiving end of the batteries are "Bob" Earl, "Spike" Leslie and "Vince" Jacobberger. Competition for the batteries to be used on the varsity nine this season is going to be stiff and so far there is very little difference in the ability of the candidates.

Rodney Smith, who played a fast game at second for the frosh nine in 1917 has been working out with the boys and will enter school next semester. Among the other infielders who have answered the spring call are Captain "Herm" Lind, "Bill" Collins, "Skeet" Manerud, Carl Liebe and Johnny Houston. For the outfield the candidates are so far made up of John Gamble, Marc Latham, Bill Reinhart and Bill Steers.

Heavy Season Faced

Suits have been issued to practically all of the old letter men who are out for the nine, and the definite schedule for the season will be completed soon. Some eight or ten games will be arranged for the team which in all probability will include a northern trip to play Idaho, Washington State, University of Washington and Whitman College.

"Nick" Williams, former manager of the Spokane and Portland professional nines in the Northwest league, who is at present managing the Moose Jaw team of the Canadian league, will bring his team here for a series of games with the lemon-yellow the week following spring vacation. This will promise some stiff practice for the varsity nine and some excellent exhibition games for the fans.

OREGON VOTER USES MILLAGE TAX STORY

Presidents of Board of Regents of Three State Institutions Give Arguments

The official argument for the affirmative of the millage bill question, of R. S. Bean, president of the board of regents of the University of Oregon; J. K. Weatherford, president of the board of regents of the Oregon Agricultural College; and Ben W. Olcott, president of the board of regents of the Oregon Normal School has been published in the March 6 issue of the Oregon Voter.

This argument summarizes the situation in the three schools, and puts before the people the great need for the passage of the bill in the May election.

A graphic page showing the building value per student is also shown. This shows that at the top of the list the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has a building value of $3,728 per student. At the bottom of the list O. A. C. has a valuation per student of $327, and the University of Oregon of only $322.

"Love In Cottage" Called Bunk; Demands of Better Halves Average $250 a Month, With Bank Account For Rainy Day.

Permanent Position and Chance of Advancement Requirement of Another Co-Ed; Goal of Engaged Girls Lower.

Must a man possess an automobile, a mansion, a bank account in several banks, besides a job behind doors marked "private", before he can secure the fair hand of a University of Oregon co-ed in marriage? Or can he be an ordinary human being, a hard working man with a position which has a future, a salary small but adequate, and a small though growing bank account?

Questions put to a number of senior co-eds in this regard show that most of them think a salary averaging $250 a month is necessary, although one damsel, who will probably be a spinster if she limits her suitors to college men, before she strides to the altar thinks that $500 a month would be the ideal sum to entice marriage. Another maid of like anticipations thinks her better half should offer her a bank account of $5000. The lowest amount which any woman seems to be willing to take the big leap for is $100 a month with $1000 safe in the bank. Needless to say, she is an engaged woman.

Following are views given by different women of the campus:

"The man I marry must have a salary of $125 a month," said one senior girl very seriously. "And then, I think he ought to have enough saved up to buy a home, a little bungalow with a fireplace, and at least some furniture. Of course, if it were absolutely necessary, I would consider living in a convenient rented house. I am not engaged," she concluded.

$500 a Month Asked by One

"Give me a man with a salary of $500 a month." This is the demand of a girl who believes she can earn $100 a week herself. "However, I might marry for $100 a month," she added mischievously. "Whatever happens, I don't intend to earn part of the money," she declared. "I intend to stay at home and keep house. He ought to have enough saved up so that we could own our own home soon. I don't like to be in debt. I am not engaged, but you never can tell how soon I will be. I don't demand a limousine, but I insist upon a nice honeymoon."

"Let my man have a salary of $150 a month and I'll be satisfied." This was the verdict of another senior girl. To this she added, however, "How does that compare with the rest of them? I don't want to ask for too much. I think he ought to have something saved up—enough to buy a house at least." When asked if she were engaged, she answered with a rather emphatic "No."

Permanent Job Held Necessary

"He's got to have a lot of money," declared one very positive maiden. "The first thing he needs is a good permanent job at a salary of about $175 a month. He has to have a reserve in the bank or invested, of $5000. It doesn't make any difference to me whether he buys a house or not. I don't think a car is absolutely necessary, but if we have one I think I might furnish it. Also a girl ought to have a little money herself—enough to buy her trousseau and to furnish at least one room," she was quite certain on this point. "I certainly intend to give up my profession when I am married, but there's no particular need of hurrying about it."

FRED COLEY WINNER IN SPEAKING CONTEST

Oregon Man State Champion Orator
Event to be Held Here Next
Next Year

Fred Coley, representing the University of Oregon, won first place in the state intercollegiate oratorical contest held at Forest Grove last night. Second place was given to W. T. Black of O. A. C. Coley's oration was entitled "Call no Man Common."

Iri McSherry of McMinnville College, took third place and John Bridges of Eugene Bible University took fourth place.

The University of Oregon has won the state oratorical contest seven times out of the thirteen times it has been held. Abe Rosenberg won first place in 1918.

The state oratorical association elected the following officers for the year: John Bridges, Eugene Bible University, president; Paul Elliott, Pacific college, Newberg, vice-president; Frances Taylor, Pacific University, Forest Grove, secretary; and Paul Patterson, University of Oregon, Eugene, treasurer. The contest next year will be held at Eugene.

ROSS HICKERNELL RESIGNS

University Band Instructor Leaves
For New York

Ross Hickernell, director of the University band, has resigned his position in the University, and left Thursday for New York. Mr. Hickernell is recognized as one of the leading band instructors in the United States. He has had long experience in this work.

At one time Mr. Hickernell was solo cornetist in Innes band. He came to Eugene for the first time last fall.

RABBI JONAH B. WISE TO TALK AT ASSEMBLY

Prominent Churchman Here March
18, at Last Student Meeting of Winter Term

Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, of Beth Israel Temple, Portland, and a member of the board of higher curricula of Oregon, will be the last assembly speaker of the winter term on Thursday, March 18.

Rabbi Wise is one of the best public speakers in the state, and has spoken at the University on several previous occasions. His last appearance here was when he delivered the annual pledge day address two years ago. Students who have heard him expect next Thursday to be one of the most worthwhile assemblies of the year.

Rabbi Wise who was born in Cincinnati, was educated in both the United States and Europe. He has been in Portland since 1910 and has been active in civic, charitable and social work. He is an editorial and special contributor to religious journals, and a public lecturer as well.

It is planned to have special music at assembly by the University Glee Clubs.

HENRY HOWE ON CAMPUS

Former Student Here in Connection
With Field Work for Thesis

Henry Howe, '16, son of Professor Howe, who was an honor student in geology, and who now holds a fellowship in paleontology at the University of California, is in Eugene for two weeks.

He is doing field work in connection with his thesis. He has already written a paper on fossils which has been approved.

At a meeting of the Condon club next Thursday, Howe will talk on the work in this department which is being done at Berkeley.

SIXTEEN MEMBERS OF 1919 FOOTBALL TEAM AWARDED SWEATERS

Track Turnout Light; More Men
Wanted For Varsity and Freshmen Squads

HAYWARD MAKES APPEAL

Oregon Spirit Lagging—Rejuvenation
of Pep Badly Needed, Says
Veteran Trainer

Award of football sweaters to 16 members of the 1919 team featured the special student body meeting in Villard hall on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. Bill Hayward, veteran trainer of the University, presented the awards and complimented the team as being among the greatest which the University has ever turned out. Following the presentation Hayward spoke to the student body on school spirit.

Something is wrong with the school spirit, said Hayward in commenting on the very slim turnout of track men from the freshman class. Unless more men are out in the near future, he predicted a disastrous outcome in the freshman track meet to be held here on Junior week-end with the O. A. C. rooks. Out of a class numbering several hundred boys only 25 are turning out regularly. This he declared is typical of the varsity as well. A few years ago with only a few hundred students more men were out training than now with an enrollment of 1700.

Willing Men Needed

"I don't want stars," said Bill, "I want men who are willing to come out and work. No wonderful record in high school is necessary. The men without experience who are willing to work are the ones who make good." There is better material in the student body right now, he continued, than is turning out for practice. He cited examples of some of his most dependable men who had developed from unpromising prospects.

Oregon has built up a record in track in the past but is in danger of losing it unless the attitude of the students changes. The spirit is here, Hayward feels confident, but it must be roused if the University puts out teams strong enough to hold its own. Even the women are not displaying the interest in athletics that they formerly did, he contended.

He concluded by asking for the support of the men by turning out and working with him to build up a team worthy of the University.

Sixteen Sweaters Awarded

Football sweaters were awarded to Ken Bartlett, Bill Sters, Baz Williams, Spike Leslie, Prink Callison, Mart Howard, Vince Jacobberger, Francis Jacobberger, Skeet Manerud, Stan Anderson, Nish Chapman, Hollis Huntington, Al Harding, Carl Mautz, Brick Leslie and Captain Everett Brandenburg. Several of the men were not present to receive their sweaters.

President Stan Anderson announced that owing to the small turnout of students no vote could be taken on the seven amendments to the student body constitution. A motion to vote by ballot on the measures next Tuesday was passed.

PRESIDIO ATTRACTS 55

U. of O. Cadets to Attend Summer
Training Camp

Fifty-five cadets from the University of Oregon will attend the Reserve Officers Training camp at the Presidio this summer. Applications were forwarded to the war department yesterday by Captain R. C. Baird, commandant. Sixty-three cadets made application to attend but were disqualified on account of lack of military experience. No cadet will be allowed to attend who has not had the equivalent of one year's training in the R. O. T. C.

The camp will be held from June 21 to August 2. All expenses of the cadets will be paid by the government. They will be accompanied to the Presidio by members of the local military staff.
