

SIX HUNDRED VOICES TO BE HEARD IN MUSIC FESTIVAL LATE IN MAY

University Students and School Children to Join in Three Nights' Program

More than six hundred persons will participate in the annual musical festival to be held under the auspices of the School of Music the latter part of May. Three complete performances in which both professional and amateur talent will take part will be given. The festival will be presented in three parts and a children's cantata in which five or six hundred from the Eugene schools will participate will head the program at the first night's performance. The cantata is now being prepared in the schools and will be assisted by soloists, the university orchestra and the glee clubs.

The second night will be featured by the presentation of "The Rose Maiden" by the University Choral Society, the orchestra and special soloists. The presentation of "The Rose Maiden" is a long promised event and rehearsals have been in progress since the beginning of last semester.

"Cavallera" Third Night

The finale will come on the third night when "The Cavallera Rusticana" will be presented. The presenting of this opera by university players is attracting wide attention as this is the first time a grand opera has ever been given on the Pacific Coast by amateurs.

An added attraction to the festival will be the assistance of other than local talent. The services of several outside soloists have been secured. The names are not yet announced, but they will include a tenor and a dramatic soprano of national note. All local talent both in the University and in Eugene is being drawn upon.

Singers' Cooperation Asked

Rex Underwood and Albert Lukken of the school of music, who are directing the festival, express the idea that it will be one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever held in the northwest and will not only boost the University put Eugene on the map as the grst city on the coast to hold an annual musical festival. Cooperation of every singer and musician in Eugene and the University is urged, especially the members of the Choral Society. Rehearsals of the Choral Society are being held regularly.

The exact date of the festival and the definite program as well as further announcements of soloists will be made later.

NEW Y. W. PRESIDENT OFF FOR CONVENTION

Marjorie Holaday Leaves Portland For Cleveland, Ohio, to Attend National Association

Marjorie Holaday, newly elected president of the Y. W. C. A., left Portland on Monday for Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the national convention of the Y. W. C. A., to be held April 13-20. Miss Holaday will have the opportunity of attending the first national convention of the association which has been held in five years, owing to the war. This convention acts as the only legislative body of the Y. W. C. A. and includes representatives from every university and college association as well as all city and county organizations.

Several important measures will come before the delegates for their consideration. The new basis of membership will provide that girls professing christian faith, regardless of the denomination to which they belong, may have the right to vote, will be brought up for the second vote. Another important question coming up for consideration will be that of the adoption of the program offered by the Industrial Girls' Convention held in Washington, D. C., last fall. This program advocates the minimum wage, the eight hour day, and numerous recommendations for the safe guarding of women in industry.

It was not until the allied armies adopted one supreme command that they really began to win. It is the one master button at the chest that has made the
a winner too. This unique feature eliminates waste effort and time; it eliminates all the wrinkling, the gapping and the sagging that you have where the control is distributed; where a whole row of buttons is doing the work that one button can do better. It eliminates, too, the trouble that somebody has to take in keeping in repair nine or more buttons and button holes.
