

MEN'S GLEE CLUB HAS FINE TIME AND COMES BACK WITH REAL COIN

Manager Forced to Feed Singers Well; Men Sung Way Into Hearts of Hearers

Sand, snow and song featured in the Men's Glee club tour of eastern Oregon, according to those who made the trip. They went through a blinding sandstorm on the way from Prineville to Bend, found Bend wrapped in a blanket of snow, and sang all the time, according to the returned vocal artists.

The party made the trip from Prineville to Bend in cars, and sand was in the air most of the time. When they arrived at their destination their faces were so blackened and grimy that they were mistaken for a colored minstrel troupe, they say.

Three feet of snow greeted the party at La Grande and snow and cold was also met at Bend, after the struggle through the sandstorm.

And They Made Merry! The natural features of the trip were not the only unusual ones, for the proceeds of the concerts not only paid expenses but left a margin in the treasury, which is not always the case. The concerts were well attended in each of the places visited, the members say.

At every place they stopped they were entertained by the people under the leadership of the alumni. Dances, dinners and trips were planned for them at each town.

For the greater part of the trip the club travelled in its own private car and enjoyed all the comforts of Pullman life. The only mad scramble to catch a train came in Portland, where "Chuck" Huggins and a few faithful retainers chased the train almost out of the yards but managed to climb on at last.

The home concert will be given by the glee club on April 23 in the Eugene Armory, according to present plans.

BROWN AND JOHNSTON AWARDED $20 PRIZE

Homer Rogers Offers Money to Student Submitting Best Plans For Hotel

Eyler Brown and Hollis Johnston, students in the school of architecture, are the winners of the two prizes, $15.00 and $5.00, offered to the student in that department, by Homer Rogers, the owner of Mount Hood Lodge and Cloud Cap Inn, on the slopes of Mount Hood, who submitted the best plans for a summer hotel and several smaller structures to be erected on the mountain somewhere near Mount Hood Lodge.

The plans which were to be drawn were to include a hotel, 20 summer cottages, a recreation building, a farm building and a garage. Morris H. Whitehouse and W. G. Percell, Portland architects were the judges of the plans submitted, and in addition to the winners make favorable mention of Irving Smith's, Loran Ellis's and Del Hinson's work.

According to Dean E. F. Lawrence, dean of the School of Architecture, the work of the students was exceptional and many very good plans were submitted.

Mr. Rogers, the donor of the prizes will be remembered by many people as Frank Branch Riley's assistant when he gave his illustrated lecture at the University several weeks ago. It was while on the campus at that time that he offered the two prizes.

EX-PROFESSOR NOW EDITOR

Gustave Buchen, Here 1909-11, With "See America First"

Announcement was received by the Emerald recently that Gustave W. Buchen, assistant professor of public speaking in the University of Oregon during 1909-1911, has become associated with the Bureau of American Travel, Milwaukee, Wis., publisher of the "See America First" magazine.

While at Oregon, Mr. Buchen was also coach of the intercollegiate debating teams and orators, in which activities the University of Oregon made splendid records.

TARGET PRACTICE BEGINS

Cadets Will Be Taken to Range Every Saturday This Term

The first squads of cadets to be taken to the rifle range this year

fired at regular target practice just before spring vacation under the direction of Sergt. R. M. Martin, instructor in musketry.

This was the only target practice held last term, but cadets will be taken to the range every Saturday of this term. Firing is conducted over the entire course. The cadets make arrangements to take their lunches and will stay on the range until the middle of the afternoon.

The range is situated at the south end of Willamette street. Students are allowed to fire on the range with Enfield rifles and service ammunition after completing the prescribed course in sub-calibre fire.

Y. M. NOMINATIONS MADE

ROY VEATCH AND DON DAVIS UP FOR PRESIDENT

Elections to be Held at Hut All Day Wednesday; Enlarged Scope of Work Planned

- Nominations for Y. M. C. A. Officers
- For President—
- Don Davis
- Roy Veatch
- For Vice-President
- Joe Ingram
- Raymond Vester
- For Secretary—
- Raymond Osborne
- Norton Winnard
- For Financial Secretary—
- Wesley Frater
- Elston Ireland

The Y. M. C. A. is planning big things for next year. This year it has been more or less handicapped, due to a lack of financial means, but it is the intention to expand in all of its activities on the campus.

This will be effected by raising a large budget, so that the organization will be able to procure a high class secretary, and pay him a good salary. Not only this, but with this money the Y Hut will be able to cover all other expenses, and will be able to branch out more than heretofore. Several attempts have already been made to secure a secretary but no definite selection has been made.

It will be necessary to have a selection of capable officers, to handle the additional work resulting from this policy. This is the only organization on the campus which seeks to enlist all men, without any distinctions whatever, and all are urged by the present cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. to take an interest in the election of officers for next year.

Election will be held all day on Wednesday, April 14, 1920.

Are You a Mason?

The Masons club on the Oregon campus, for 3rd degree Masons or higher, called the Craftsmen, wish to call attention to their meetings on the third Tuesday of every month, and to their informal dinner to be held at the Osburn hotel next Friday evening, April 16th at 6 o'clock. All Masons are invited, and so that the club members may know how many diners to count on, all who expect to attend are urged to give their name to either Newton Bader at the S. A. E. house, or Mr. Latimer, at Friendly hall. The business entertainment is promised to be over at the dinner by 8 o'clock.

37 PER CENT OF MEN STUDENTS EARN WAY THROUGH UNIVERSITY

Figures Show Number of Girls Entirely Self Supporting Much Lower

Of all the men students in the University, 37 per cent are wholly self supporting, 61 per cent earn more than half of their expenses, and only 20 per cent have incomes to depend upon or are willing to let their families bear the burden. These figures are based upon approximately the first thousand students who registered during this week for the spring term, 530 men and 510 women.

An interesting feature of the reports furnished by the students as they register, is the evidence of increasing economic power demonstrated by the successive classes. Of the men of the freshman class only 23 per cent support themselves wholly without help; sophomores, 34 per cent; juniors, 42 per cent; seniors, 47 per cent; special students, 70 per cent; graduate students, 75 per cent.

51 Per Cent of Freshmen Help Almost exactly one-half of the freshman class (51 per cent) earns half of its way or better, while of the sophomores 59 per cent earn more than half, of the juniors and seniors 63 per cent, special students 82 per cent, and graduate students 84 per cent.

One senior man reported that he had earned "150 per cent of his expenses." When asked what he meant it developed that he was paying his own way through the University and supporting his sister, who was also taking the course.

The figures covering the young women of the University tell a story of greater difficulties in the way of self support. Not nearly so many are able to make it as among the men.

Girls Have Harder Time

The self-support figures among the girls drop off in the second year and do not recover until the junior or senior year. Of the freshman girls 16 per cent earn half or more of their expenses the first year, but the figures drop to 12 per cent for the sophomore year. In the junior year they are back, however, to 14 per cent of them earning half or more of their way, and in the senior year nearly double this number have learned the trick, for 27 per cent are more than half self-supporting. Of special students 47 per cent of the girls come in this class, and of graduate students 33 per cent. Of all the girls in the University 67 per cent are supported by their families, 10 per cent support themselves wholly and 18 per cent earn more than half of their living.

On entrance 71 per cent of all women students are dependent upon their families. They soon begin to get ideas of self-support, however, and in the sophomore year this total is reduced to 69 per cent, in the junior year to 62, in the senior year it is 64 per cent, among the special students it is reduced to 47 per cent, and among graduate girl students to 33 per cent.

Dobie to Coach Cornell Eleven. Gilmore Dobie is to be the 1920 coach of the Cornell football team.

LIBRARIAN RETURNS FROM VISIT SOUTH

Mrs. Marion McClain Says University Library is Working Under Great Handicap

Mrs. Marion McClain, University circulation librarian, who has been sojourning in the southern part of California for the past few months, has returned to take up her duties fully recovered from the illness that necessitated her leaving Eugene.

While away Mrs. McClain visited libraries at Stanford, Berkeley, and other libraries of note, studying the library methods of all these institutions.

Lack of room, lack of working materials, lack of assistants, and lack of funds for the library make it impossible to put into effect all the new ideas gathered from these different libraries visited, according to Mrs. McClain.

"The University of Oregon library works under a greater handicap than any library I visited on my visit to the south," said Mrs. McClain.
