

WET WEATHER HOLDS UP FROSH ATHLETES; VERY FEW REPORTING

Work Now Devoted to Keeping Men in Condition for Training Later

The continued rainy weather has kept the number out for freshmen track down to a low figure for the past week. Most of the time of those who have been faithful in turning out, has been spent in the sheds back of the grandstand where workouts, on the whole, have been light. Just enough work is being done, and no more is possible until the weather changes for the better, to keep the squad in condition for the time when Jupiter Pluvius shall see fit to put a stop to the daily downpours. When they stop, training that will produce results can commence but until that time training cannot be intensive.

"Tiny" Shields registered in college Friday and is again limbering up with the weights. "Tiny" and "Rud" Brown will probably form the weight section for the freshmen against the O. A. C. rooks when the two teams meet here next month. McAlister has been out working with the javelin.

The work of those out for the sprints has concentrated on starting form, Tuck, Larson, Oberteuffer, Coburn, Boyer, Krohn, Couch and Woods have been working every evening and from among them, the sprinters to enter against the rooks will be chosen. Most of these men are also trying the low hurdles. McKinney and Greer are showing good form in the high hurdles. "Shrimp" Phillips is turning out lately and helping Ingle and Waters take care of the pole vault for the freshmen.

The distance and middle distance men have probably been handicapped more than any of the others by the wet weather. The only chances to work out on the open track have been between showers, the frequency of which, has kept the track in a very heavy condition all week. Pelier and Koepf are doing the mile and the half mile, Collins, Wyatt and Larson the 440.

Graduate Manager Marion McClain said yesterday that he was trying to arrange meets with Chemawa and Willamette for the freshmen aggregation, but that as yet nothing definite had been decided.

LAW SCHOOL HAS QUARTET

Sings First at Open House; Will Campaign for Millage Bill

The law school all pepped up after its admission into the Association of American Law School and its acquisition of Phi Delta Phi, now boasts a full fledged quartet. Assembled for the first time at the law school's open house last Sunday, the organization did so well that it was drafted for millage bill campaigning with the Orpheum circuit as an ultimate goal. The personnel is as follows: Karl Gloss and Joe Ingram, tenors; G. R. Morgan, baritone; Don Newbury, bass, with Prof. T. A. Larremore, baritone, as director.

MEN'S CONCERT SUCCESS

NEARLY $600 CLEARED FROM MUSICAL NUMBERS.

Audience Well Pleased With Program; "Shrimp" Phillips Makes Hit in Jazz Numbers.

About 650 people attended the Men's Glee Club concert at the Armory last night, and it is estimated that nearly $600 was cleared, according to George Stearns, assistant manager. This amount greatly exceeds the results expected.

The concert was well taken by the audience, which was enthusiastic in its applause. The men were handicapped to a certain extent by the poor facilities of the stage and by the fact that several of the singers with prominent parts were absent. At the close of the second part of the program, the last number being "Memories of Oregon," sung by the quartet composed of Edwards, Hopkins, Peterson and White, copies of this song were sold in the audience by members of the Women's League. This was followed by a few "movie flashes" of the Harvard-Oregon football game at Pasadena.

One of the distinctive features of the program was the well-balanced arrangement of the numbers, which ranged all the way from "The Redman's Death Chant" to "Four Blue Rings on a Barber Pole." The solos of Albert Lukken, director, Curtis, Peterson, and George Hopkins were effective as usual, as were also the piano selections of Hopkins which were rendered with unusually fine technique and expression. "Shrimp" Phillips starred as the typical "vodenville guy", and displayed his talents with perfect ease and confidence. "Syncopated Rarebits" thrilled all who like to dance—and the rest, too.

Different types of music were presented, the first part being classical, the second, southern melodies and the last, the so-called jazz. Tonight, the entertainers are hosts for a formal dinner-dance at the Anchorage.

FROSH MEN IN MINORITY

GIRLS IN LEAD BY 36; SOPHS, JUNIORS HAVE MORE MEN

Total University Enrollment Now 1800; 158 in Senior Class, 496 in First Year.

There are 36 more women in the freshman class than there are men, and the senior women also lead the senior men in number, though only by the small score of two, according to the latest report on registration for the spring term, as given out by Mrs. George Fitch, chief clerk in the Registrar's office.

At present the Frosh men number 230, while the feminine part of the class count their numbers up to 266. The general opinion has been, said Mrs. Fitch, that returning service men would swell the numbers of the entering class, but these figures show that the sophomore and junior classes are the ones so affected. There are 29 more sophomore men than women, and 55 more third year men, than that class numbers women.

The senior class is the smallest in the University, including only 78 men, and 80 women, bringing the class total up to 158.

work here, and 35 students doing graduate work. In these divisions the men predominate by a count of 74 to 45. The total University registration as just computed, said Mrs. Fitch, brings the number up to 1800, as compared with the 1700 who were enrolled up to the end of the winter term.
