

3 OREGON STUDENTS GIVEN NEW HONORS BY OTHER COLLEGES

Ray Kinney, Kerby Miller, and E. P. Cox Accept Positions

To the roll of honors bestowed on University of Oregon graduates may be added three new names. Ray Kinney, a graduate and honor student in the school of commerce has accepted a position of part instructorship and part graduate work at the Wharton school of commerce in Pennsylvania. Out of a choice of four scholarships, Kerby Miller has decided to enter the department of philosophy at the Columbia University to continue his study, with the aid of $150 from the scholarship. E. P. Cox, of Salem, a senior in the department of chemistry has accepted a scholarship of $750 in the department of chemistry in Throop University, Pasadena, Cal.

Mr. Cox will go to California next year to continue his studies and to teach about 12 hours chemistry a week. He received his bachelors degree in January but has remained in the University to complete his courses. Mr. Cox entered the University as a freshman from Klamath county high school four years ago.

Mr. Miller whose home is in Eugene, is at present majoring in Greek, but he has studied extensively in philosophy, languages and science. He will go to Columbia next year to continue his studies in philosophy. Only one or two scholarships a year are offered at the New York school along this line and Mr. Miller feels fortunate in securing one.

Mr. Kinney was also offered positions at Columbia University, the University of New York, University of Illinois, Chicago and Northwestern Universities, but has decided to accept the position as instructor at Wharton. He will leave for Pennsylvania next fall. This is one of the first positions of responsibility offered a graduate of a western school of commerce in an eastern institution, and according to Mr. Kinney it is an acknowledgment of the University school of commerce and its methods.

He took up Professor Hopkins classes in life insurance and business organization last December and is teaching classes in purchasing and real estate this term. He is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, national commerce fraternity and Delta Tau Delta.

WOMEN SET HIGH MARKS

NINE NAMES OMITTED FROM SCHOLARSHIP LIST.

Total of Those Making Top Grades Comes Close to That of Men Students.

Nine women with all grades class III or above were omitted from the list of students of high standing recently published. Of these, five had no grades below class II, and one, Harriet E. VanTassell, senior, Albany, made 14 hours II, and 5 hours IV out of 19 hours carried. The corrected list includes 32 women with no grades below class II as compared with 40 men in the same classification, while the total with high grades among the women is 79. The total for the men was 86.

The five women with no grades below class II who were omitted from the first list are: Mary Turner, junior, Eugene, 16 hours II; Emily Veazie, freshman, Portland, 10 hours I, 8 hours II; Helen Watt, junior, Portland, 3 hours I, 15 hours II; Pearl Watts, sophomore, Montpelier, Indiana, 3 hours I, 13 hours II; Mrs. Ruth Wheeler, senior, Eugene, 12 hours I, 2 hours II.

House Grade Work to Begin. Work will be begun on the house grades the first of the week, according to Mrs. George Fitch, chief clerk in the Registrar's office, and the results will probably be available in about three weeks.

EASTERN SOPRANO TO HAVE LEAD IN CAMPUS OPERA

the fact that upon being first engaged for opera she told the manager she knew ten of the leading roles. Really not knowing a one of them, she set to work, and when called upon to sing them, knew them perfectly.

Praised by Mr. Lukken.

Madame McGrew comes to the campus from Denver, where she has been since the outbreak of the war and the necessary cancelling of all European contracts.

Albert Lukken, who is directing the opera, knows Madame McGrew personally having staged this same production once before when she had the leading role. Mr. Lukken can couch for the high standard of her work, and knows no woman on the operatic stage today who can more convincingly portray a role, and her interpretation of Santuzzen in "Cavalleria Rusticana" is one long to be remembered.

The children's chorus of about 600 voices, assisted by soloists and the orchestra, will be one of the features of the festival. The advanced public school music classes under Mrs. Beck are rehearsing regularly in the schools with the children, who will take part in the cantata.

Statewide Interest Shown.

State-wide interest is being manifested in the May Festival, and many out of town people will spend the week-end on the campus in order to attend the largest musical production that has ever been attempted by a university in the northwest. Portland musical managers have all indicated their intention of coming to Eugene for the entire three days.

Co-operation of both University and town people is necessary to make the festival a complete success. The choruses will be composed of University members and local town singers as well. Choruses and rehearsals are being held regularly every Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. hut and it is especially urged of the members of these choruses that they attend every rehearsal from now on. All persons, whether actively interested in musical work or not, are asked to give their assistance in the choruses. The University orchestra is rehearsing regularly, and will act as accompanist in each night's production.
