

SAVAGE WINS PRESIDENCY

ELECTION BRINGS EXCITING CONTESTS

WINNING CANDIDATE'S LEAD IS 37; HOUSTON NEW VICE-PRESIDENT

Lyle Bryson Chosen Secretary; Wanna McKinney Editor of Oregana

BOTH AMENDMENTS CARRY

Total of 1186 Ballots Cast—Polls Close at 4—Count Requires Until 10:30

Carlton Savage was yesterday elected president of the associated student body for next year. In one of the closest races held on the campus for some years he nosed out his only competitor by 37 votes. Don Newbury, the other candidate, received 568 votes while Savage received 605.

The vote was exceptionally heavy, 1186 votes being cast. The voting started with a rush at 9 o'clock in the morning and continued to be fairly heavy until the polls closed at 11. During the first part of the afternoon the voting was light but later, and to the closing hour, numbers of students waited in line. The polls closed at 4 o'clock and the count was not completed until 10:30 o'clock.

Johnny Houston led the race for vice-president by a plurality of 80 over his nearest competitor. For the office of secretary of the student body, Lyle Bryson received 128 votes over the next candidate, Wanda Nelson.

With a majority of 451 Harry A. Smith defeated Ernest Crockatt for editor of the Emerald. Raymond Vester was the only candidate for business manager of the Emerald. The 1921 Oregana is to be edited by Wanna McKinney, who had a plurality over the three other candidates for the position. Warren Kays was elected business manager of the Oregana.

Lyle Bartholomew, Don Davis and Leith Abbott were elected senior men for the student council. Kate Chatburn and Wanda Brown will represent the senior girls on the same body.

Marc Latham was elected junior man on the executive council by a narrow margin over Wesley Frater and Arthur Kuhnhausen. On the student council the juniors will be represented by Wayne Akers and Norton Winnard and Ruth Flegal.

Everett Brandenburg, Glen Walkley and Si Starr were elected to the athletic council.

Tom Watters was elected sophomore.

Continued on page 4.

$500 WORTH OF HUMILIATION SUFFERED, SAYS PROFESSOR

Dr. Smith and Dr. Packard Take Geology Class For Day at Black Butte

A "libel suit" brought by Sam Bass Warner, plaintiff, against the Oregon Emerald for damages to the amount of $500, charging that the Emerald of May 4, 1920, published a false and defamatory statement concerning the plaintiff damaging him financially and humiliating him, will be tried in the May 20.

University moot court, Thursday. The defendants named in the case are Leith F. Abbott, Dorothy Dunaway, Lyle Bryson, Nell Warwick, Harry A. Smith and Maybelle Leavitt. Attorneys for the plaintiff are Gordon S. Wells and Lyle McCroskey. The defence will be represented by Kenneth Armstrong and Ben Ivey.

The plaintiff charges that the false

(Continued on page 2.)

The New Regime

President—Carlton Savage.
Vice-President—John Houston.
Secretary—Lyle Bryson.
Editor of the Emerald—Harry A. Smith.
Business Manager of the Emerald—Raymond Vester.
Senior Men on Student Council—Lyle Bartholomew, Don Davis and Leith Abbott.
Senior Women on Student Council—Kate Chatburn, Wanda Brown.
Junior Men on Student Council—Wayne Akers, Norton Winnard.
Junior Woman on Student Council—Ruth Flegal.
Sophomore Man on Student Council—Tom Watters.
Junior Man on Executive Council—Marc Latham.
Athletic Council—Everett Brandenburg, Glen Walkley, Si Starr.
Editor Oregana—Wanna McKinney.
Business Manager Oregana—Warren Kays.
Yell Leader—Claire Keeney.

MISS SLOTBOOM WINNER

Marjorie Kay and Florence Riddle Compete in Tennis Tournament

Miss Madeline Slotboom will represent the University women in the tennis tournament with the Willamette University representative Friday afternoon. Miss Slotboom defeated Miss Marjorie Kay Monday afternoon in the semifinals of the elimination tournament and Monday she defeated Miss Florence Riddle, which determined the championship of women's tennis on the campus. The first game played was a three-set match and the second a two-set game, with a 6-3, 6-3 score.

Miss Slotboom has been a member of the Varsity tennis team for the past two years. Last year Miss Marjorie Campbell, who graduated in June, was the champion.

ADDRESS GIVEN IN FRENCH

William Russis Talks on France and His War Experiences

William Russis made an address last night before members of the French club, Le Foyer Francaise, and invited guests. His topic was "My Experiences in France During the War," and was given in the French language.

A musical program had been planned by a committee but, on account of the student body elections, was not given. About 20 people were present. The next meeting will be more complete and a longer program will be given, according to Mr. Russis.

HENRY ENGLISH ENGAGED

Member of 1919 Class Announces Engagement to Pasadena Girl

Henry F. English, '19, who has been teaching school at Alsea, Oregon, has announced his engagement to Miss Hazel Marguerite Green of Pasadena, California, who is a graduate of the University of California. Miss Green was also teaching school at Alsea, and it was there that the romance was started. The date for the wedding has not been set.

Mr. English was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and was prominent in campus activities here. He was on the student council and served as treasurer of the class of 1919. He was at one time president of the Oregon club and was a charter member of the U-Avava club, which was later installed as the Oregon Beta chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. His home is in Eugene.

TOM MURPHY CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF CLASS OF 1923; VOTE CLOSE

Men Picked For Most Offices; Bernice Alstock Made Secretary

"HAZING" IS OBJECTED TO

"Executive Committee" Calls for "Square Deal" in Events of Week-end

Tom Murphy was elected president of the sophomore class last night by 13 votes, in one of the closest elections ever held on the campus. His competitor in the race was Eugene McEntee, who received 126 votes as against 139 for Murphy. "Shrimp" Phillips did not make a strong run for the office.

Al Malone was chosen for vice-president by 13 votes over Imogene Letcher. Others in the race was Marjorie Kruse and Gladys Nosler. Bernice Alstock was elected secretary with 128 votes, her nearest competitor being Mauna Loa Fallis with 93 votes. Others running were Mildred Mumby and Florence Johnson.

Harold Simpson was elected treasurer. He was unopposed.

Stan Anderson spoke to the class concerning the letter recently sent to the student council by some of the men members of the freshman class calling themselves the executive committee of the class of 1923. The letter, in brief, was a request that all so-called "hazing" such as previously indulged in by upperclassmen on Junior Week-end be done away with this year and that the freshmen be given a "square deal" in the tug-of-war, push ball contest, mill racing and other events.

The letter emphasized the fact that the freshman class was more than willing to work on Campus day, paint the "O," and do everything to further the interest of the school, but that members of the class objected to the use of paddles wielded by sophomores, especially on the occasion of the painting of the "O."

"We men are anxious to uphold all college traditions and precedents," said one member of the class last night, "but we want a square deal and object to these one-sided inter-class mixes." The men are willing to be mill-raced, but they want a chance to take a few sophomores in with them.

"The tug-of-war will be a square deal," said Anderson, "as far as I know. As for the mill-racing—that is up to the sophomore class."

The women members of the class did not go on record as either in favor or opposed to the action of the men in sending the letter to the student council.

CHURCHES SUPPORT BILL

Eugene Church Makes Millage Tax Plea in Sunday Program

Even the churches of Eugene are backing the millage tax and urging people to vote for it. Following is part of an announcement taken from the Christian Church program for Sunday, May 9:

"It is not often that political matters are mentioned by your minister, only when a moral issue is involved does it seem proper to urge action from the pulpit, but there is one measure that seems of such importance that it should be considered, and that is 'The Higher Educational Millage Tax Measure.' One thing we cannot afford to neglect, and that is any step that means for the better educational advantages for the youth of our state."

Pledging is Announced
Delta Psi announces the pledging of Gertrude Whitten of Eugene.

VISITORS FROM SALEM SHOWN UNIVERSITY'S CROWDED CONDITIONS

Assembly Speakers Impress Cherrians With Needs of Institutions

COLIN V. DYMENT TALKS

Secretary of Joint Alumni Relief Association Presents Case to 56 Visitors

Sketching the crowded conditions at the University with a few illustrative details which he said were typical examples and applicable to all departments, Professor Colin V. Dymont, secretary of the joint alumni relief association, presented the case of the University of Oregon to a visiting delegation of 56 Salem Cherrians in the special assembly at Villard hall yesterday. Students gathered to welcome Oregon's guests filled the hall to capacity and scores jammed the outer hall and entrance aisles, unable to find seats on the lower floor.

James Elvin, Salem Y. M. C. A. secretary, responded in behalf of the visiting Cherrians. The hearing organizations in Salem have unanimously indorsed it, he declared, and are working for it.

"I have 56 arguments to present in behalf of this bill," said Mr. Elvin, and turning, pointed to the members of his party behind him on the platform. These men, he added, he regarded as concrete examples of enthusiasm and interest for the students and for the millage tax.

Salem people realize that men and women all over the state benefit and are helped each year by the University, and they are going to stand behind the millage bill in the May election.

The publicity brought to the state by the Pasadena game is worth more to Oregon than the millage tax will cost in ten years, he said.

Taking Deady hall as an example of college conditions, Professor Dymont sketched briefly its history and present use. Built in 1876 and in constant use for over 40 years the venerable building is now the home of the science departments of botany, bacteriology, zoology and physics, as well as the abode of the modern language departments of French, Spanish and German, the professor said. Crowded conditions are not confined to class room space. The department of botany possesses 6 representative herbaria of the northwest, containing in all 100,000 specimens, collected as the result of years of constant effort. Yet of these fully one-half lie unused in wooden boxes, unprotected from destructive climatic conditions and unavailable for use in class work, Dymont pointed out.

In the department of bacteriology, also housed in Deady hall, which performs service to the state at large in the analysis of water, foods and milk products, continued Professor Dymont, 35 students are taking general bacteriology this year in a laboratory room which has space for 10. These students are undertaking to pursue the work under these conditions for their only alternative is to go elsewhere for it after they finish at Oregon. Six research laboratories are needed if this one department is to function as it should, Dymont stated, and at present it does not have a single one.

Zoology illustrates much the same points. The increase in this department has been 20 per cent each year. This year, according to Professor Dymont's statement, 144 students are enrolled, although the laboratory accommodates but 24. In the physics department, he continued, summarizing the needs briefly, only half the necessary laboratory space is available. The department of psychology lacks suitable quarters and at the present time all its work must be handled under most adverse conditions, such as noise, odors from the chemistry department, and the jar and shake of heavy machinery. Work in chemistry is also handicapped by lack of room, he pointed out.

"The United States," said Professor Dymont, "is the freest, happiest,

(Continued on page four)

FRIARS elect

William Reinhart
George Hopkins
Carlton Savage
Edwin Durno

Umbrella Stops Eggs For Neophytes While Delivering Orations

Seven neophytes of Alpha Kappa Psi, national commerce fraternity, emerged from the men's gymnasium promptly with the ringing of the gong for 11 o'clock classes, and in single file made their way to the senior fountain.

The column was led by Si Starr, playing with great intelligence upon a bass drum. Behind him came Walter Banks, Jack Benefiel, Franklin Miller, Spike Leslie, Don Davis and Prof. A. L. Lomax. Arriving upon the scene of action, a conference was held to determine the first victim.

Benefiel imparted a new formula for the dilution of lemon extract, with a demonstration of the residue. Miller, as a book-keeper, carried an enormous pen, and claimed to know of but one larger, and that was in Salem (Loud groans from the crowd).

A "Helinie" steel helmet, labeled egg protector, was worn by Benefiel, while Leslie carried an umbrella as an extra precaution.

The initiates were greeted with a barrage of eggs, the hurlers of the hen fruit giving an excellent demonstration of rotten throwing. In spite of poor marksmanship, the seven neophytes did not retire from the place without casualties, for some were hit during the heavy (egg)shelling.

The column was re-formed, and to the accompaniment of rare ability and technique by Starr up his chosen musical instrument, wended their way to the gymnasium.

WRECK KILLS MISS DOSCH

Former Campus Housemother Succumbs to Injuries Received

News of the death of Miss Camille Dosch as a result of injuries received in the wreck of the Southern Pacific electric trains near Portland Sunday morning came as a shock to her many friends on the campus.

Miss Dosch spent last year on the campus acting as housemother for Kappa Kappa Gamma, and while here made many friends. She was a sister of the late Roswell Dosch, and of Arno Dosch-Fleuret, who was a war correspondent in Russia for the Oregonian, and who is now living with his family in Europe.

Fleuret Dosch Josselyn, a nephew of Miss Dosch's, who was with her on the train, was also a victim of the collision. He was instantly killed.

The University of Oregon has lost a good friend in Miss Dosch, and all members of the student body and faculty extend their sympathy to the family. Mrs. P. L. Campbell went to Portland to attend the funeral Wednesday.

BOB-TAILED DOG LEADS PARTY THROUGH QUICKSILVER MINE

NELSON GETS FELLOWSHIP

Geology Student Holds Same Prize As Dr. Packard Six Years Ago

Richard N. Nelson, '19, has just received a one-year fellowship in geology valued at $500 from the University of California, according to word received yesterday by Dr. E. L. Packard of the geology faculty here. This is the same fellowship which Dr. Packard himself held in 1912 and 1914. The position requires no teaching, giving the student all his time for advanced research.

While in the University of Oregon Mr. Nelson distinguished himself by his exceptional work in geology, according to Dr. Packard. Last summer they were engaged together in field geological work for a large commercial oil company, and when Dr. Nelson returned to the University, Mr. Nelson continued the work for several weeks more.

BASEBALL GAME IS OFFICIAL OPENING OF BIG JUNIOR WEEK-END

Oregon Beats O. A. C. 6 to 3 This Afternoon; Canoe Fete Tonight

OREGANA IS DISTRIBUTED

Chairmen of Committees Announced—Programs for Events Issued by Ernest Crockatt

Captain Herm Lind's home run clout in the ninth inning with the score tied and two men on bases, gave Oregon the game over the Oregon Aggies in the first of a two game series played on Kincaid diamond this afternoon, and Oregon won 6 to 3. Oregon took the bat in the last of the ninth with O.A.C. leading by a 3 to 2 score. Berg singled into short left and Manerud beat a bunt to first. Reinhart bunted the first ball over and Gill, the Aggie backstop, made a wild throw to first, Berg crossing the plate for the tie score. Lind followed this with his four bag hit and cleaned the bases.

Oregon scored first in the initial frame, O.A.C. coming from behind in the fifth and making two runs on three costly errors by Oregon. They had already scored one run in the fourth. The game was one of the fastest played on the local diamond this season and was by far the most exciting.

Berg was on the mound for the varsity and held the Aggies to five lone bingles while Oregon touched "Lefty" Miller of the Aggies, for ten safe ones. Captain Lind made two home runs during the game, clouting the first one out in the first inning and scoring Manerud who got a walk off Miller. Bill Steers smashed one for three bags during the eighth but was unable to score.

The Box Score

Oregon	AB	R	H	A	PO	E
Manerud, ss.	5	2	2	2	1	0
Reinhart, lf.	5	1	0	0	2	0
Lind, 1b.	5	2	2	0	11	0
Steers, cf.	4	0	1	0	0	0
Leslie, c.	4	0	1	0	9	0
Knudsen, rf.	4	0	0	0	1	0
Fox, 3b.	4	0	2	4	0	0
Jacobberger, 2b.	4	0	0	4	3	2
Berg, p.	4	1	2	1	0	1
	39	6	10	11	27	3

O.A.C.—

O.A.C.	AB	R	H	A	PO	E
Lodell, rf.	5	1	1	0	0	0
Selberts, 2b.	4	0	0	2	4	0
Hubbard, ss.	4	0	0	2	4	0
Gill, c.	4	1	1	1	5	1
Sommer, lf.	4	0	1	0	2	0
Palfrey, 1b.	4	0	1	0	6	0
Kasberger, 3b.	4	1	0	0	2	1
Hartman, cf.	4	0	0	0	1	0
Miller, p.	4	0	1	2	0	0
	37	3	5	7	24	2

Home runs, Lind 2; three-base hits, Steers; struck out by Berg, 6; by Miller, 4; bases on balls, off Berg, 3; off Miller, 3. Stolen bases, Oregon, 2; O. A. C., 1. Umpire, Newell.

(Continued on page 3)

Alleges Error In Paper Brings Ridicule, And Sues For Libel

Grotesque shadows dancing on the rugged walls of a great subterranean cavern; human figures disappearing and reappearing as the numerous candles were carried back and forth under the dripping rock dome; human voices which seemed strangely out of place echoing from rocky corridors to rocky walls; and at the entrance to the "manhole" which led to the upper level, a dog—not the three-headed Cerberus, but a real bob-tailed white-collared dog—ran excitedly as his master, Caretaker Galer, and geology students from the University of Oregon under the guidance of Dr. Warren D. Smith and Professor Earl Packard, ascended the ladder from the main tunnel into

(Continued on page 2.)