

UNIVERSITY COURSES FITTED TO NEEDS OF THEOLOGY STUDENTS

Religious Schools Require University Training As • Pre-Requisite

Answers to inquiries sent out by the University religious and moral activities committee to leading schools and seminaries of theology in this country, asking suggestions for subjects which would be practical to offer in a pre-theological course, show that these schools are eager that students preparing themselves for Christian service be fitted with a knowledge of general subjects before taking up the more technical branches.

The branches emphasized in practically every case were English, including rhetoric, literature, and oral English, history, Greek, philosophy, economics, sociology, and psychology. Other subjects, which were mentioned in a few instances were evolution, physical science, Latin, government, public speaking, logic, pedagogy, French or German, biology, Hebrew, science, and ethics. All of the courses mentioned are given thoroughly in the University with the exception of Hebrew.

Credit Given For Technical Work
Some of the schools expressed the desire that students leave most of their technical work to be taken in the school of theology. However, many of them have arranged to give credit towards graduation for these subjects if they have been taken while the student was in University.

"The purpose of making this investigation," said Librarian M. H. Douglass, chairman of the religious and moral activities committee, yesterday, "was to find out what the theological schools wanted in the students coming from the universities, and to know what the University should do to fulfill these requirements, in case they were found lacking."

Members of the religious and moral activities committee, in addition to Mr. Douglass, are: E. E. DeCou, E. S. Conklin, Dean Elizabeth Fox, A. R. Sweetser, Miss Mabel Louise Cummings, and Albert Lukken.

List of Schools Replying
The thirteen schools of theology which have answered the inquiry made by the University are: Chicago Theological Seminary, McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago; Auburn Theological Seminary, Auburn, New York; Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, California; Divinity School of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.; Divinity School of the University of Chicago; Boston University School of Theology; Oberlin College Graduate School of Theology, Oberlin, Ohio; Union Theological Seminary, New York; School of Religion, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.; Pacific Unitarian School for the Ministry, Berkeley, Cal.; Berkeley Baptist Divinity School; Rochester Theological Seminary, Rochester, New York.

Speakers Visit Many Points in Lane County in Behalf of Elementary Education Tax Bill

An intensive campaign is being carried on by members of the University faculty and students in the department of education for the two-mill tax for elementary education, says Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education and chairman of the Lane county committee for promoting this bill. W. C. Hoppes, a student in the education department, spoke at Mabel Tuesday, at Lorane Wednesday, and will speak at Santa Clara Friday and at London Saturday. Dr. Sheldon will speak at Jasper Saturday. Meetings are scheduled for Lowell, Trent and Four Oaks Grange at which F. F. Cooper, rural school supervisor for Lane county, will talk on this measure. Mr. Hoppes and Mr. Cooper are also making many trips to the rural schools, speaking for the measure, talking with the teachers and citizens of the community.

Letters are being sent by the committee throughout the county enclosing a circular explaining the purpose of the proposed two-mill tax and the necessity for its passage. A return postal is enclosed with these letters on which each person is asked to indicate how many circulars they can use for distribution to their friends. About three thousand of these bulletins are ready to be sent out.

Separate letters are being sent to the clerks and chairmen of the school boards in the rural districts setting forth the advantages of the two-mill tax measure. A letter is also being sent to the clergymen in the rural districts asking them to make a special appeal to their congregation next Sunday for support of this measure.

VEATCH TAKES RIVER BATH

Falls Into Siuslaw While Fishing Sunday Morning

"A nice early morning bath that Roy Veatch took, quite unintentionally, in the icy waters of the Siuslaw was about the most exciting thing that happened on our trip," said Norton Winnard, a University sophomore, in telling of the fishing trip above Swiss home they enjoyed last weekend. Roy Veatch, also a University student, had just picked out a nice place in the river where he was sure he could haul out innumerable fat and juicy fish, so he said, when his feet slipped out from under him and down he went.

Nevertheless, the trip, which began early Saturday morning and ended late Sunday evening, was very successful, according to Mr. Winnard, and they brought home some quite life-sized fish. "Now don't forget to mention that we lost our biggest fish, a reg'lar whopper," he cautioned.

Faculty Committee to Consider Means in June Meeting

Action by the faculty on the proposal of Professor Young, dean of the graduate school, to develop the advanced work in the University to a point where the degree of doctor of philosophy may be granted has been postponed until the faculty meeting in June. At that time the question of the University's resources will be settled in the fate of the millage bill, and the faculty will know definitely how much time and money can be devoted toward improving the graduate work.

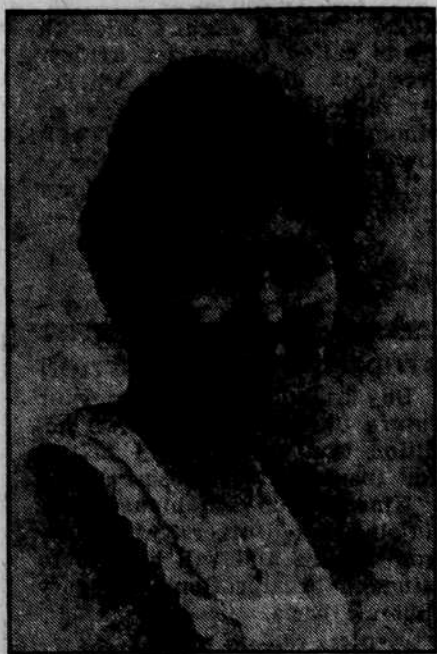

Departments may be permitted, according to the plan set forth, to present candidates for the degree of doctor of philosophy on recommendation of the graduate council when they have met the conditions.

Asks About Southern Club

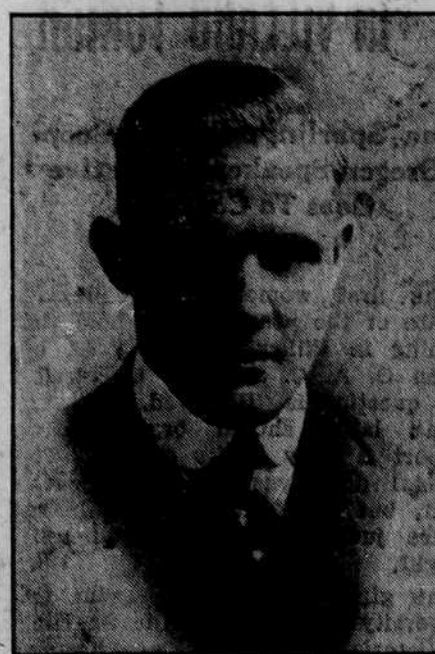

E. L. Rich Jr., of Ithaca, New York, has written President Campbell inquiring about a possible Southerners' club at the University. He is representing the Southerners' club at Cornell University, and says that they wish to be put in touch with such an organization on the campus or with prominent southerners, with the ultimate aim of forming a national organization of these people, with chapters in all the prominent schools of the country.
