

HAYWARD MAY SPRING SEVERAL SURPRISES IN DUAL MEET TOMORROW

Twenty-Seven Men to Enter In Contest With Aggies at Corvallis

NEW ENTRY FOR MILE

Darkhorse Billed For Distance Event; Hemenway To Compete; Abbott May Run 440.

Bill Hayward has several surprises to hand the Aggies in the dual meet at Corvallis tomorrow, but the Corvallis men consider that they will have no trouble blanking the Oregon proteges. The changes that are being made in the team are deep secrets, known only to those on the inside.

Done has leaked out, however, that the entries in the mile will be one of the biggest surprises of the season. Bill has some unknown athlete up his sleeve that he intends to use to good advantage against Mike Butler's man.

Oregon will have 27 men entered in the meet, and the reason that these men have not been assigned to events is because Hayward intends to wait until the meet and see which events the Aggies are weakest in, which events Oregon can win the most points in, and assign the men accordingly. In this way Oregon may be able to pick up a good many extra points.

Leith Abbott will run the quarter mile, it was thought today by athletic authorities. It is a question whether or not he will run the 880, but it seems likely that he will do so. Wayne Akers has also been changed for he will perform in the half mile instead of the mile. Akers has been working on this event for some time in preparation for the first meet.

Of course nothing is certain in a track meet, but it seems likely that Oregon will take firsts in the javelin, 100 yd. dash, pole vault, quarter or 880, discuss, relay, and perhaps the 220. This prediction does not take in account the seconds and thirds, which if all things break right may win the meet for the lemon-yellow.

Roscoe Hemenway will be one of the new actors in the contest. He has been out working consistently in the speed events for some time. Several times in the past he has outrun Snook, the famed O.A.C. speed merchant, and it is probable that he will repeat.

Many Oregon students are planning on going to Corvallis this week end for the track meet and baseball games. The interest in Corvallis in the track contest is unusually keen because the O.A.C. men wish to repeat the defeat they handed Hayward's men last spring. Twenty-seven husky Oregon men leave tomorrow for Corvallis to make the best of the "fighting chance" Oregon is said to have with O.A.C.

Emerald Not Held For $500 Libel Fine; Decision Delayed

Too Much Time Used by Prosecution Prevents Other Side From Presenting Case

Stalling for time on the part of the prosecution prevented a decision being reached in the libel case brought against the Emerald by Professors Warner, Larremore, and Prescott, which was tried in Moot Court last night. Although the circumstances kept the Emerald from being fully cleared in the eye of the law, those connected with it are rejoicing that they will at least not have to pay the $1500 damages asked by the plaintiffs.

Among the witnesses introduced by the prosecution was Thomas J. Bolitho, instructor in the school of com-

FROSH TRACK TEAM TO MEET JEFFERSON

Saturday at 2:30 on Kincaid Field Is Time Set; Participants Not Chosen Yet

The Freshman track team will be seen in action again on Kincaid field next Saturday at 2:30 against the Jefferson high school of Portland. Jefferson high has one of the best teams in the Portland intercollegiate league.

From the drubbing the Frosh gave the Washington high boys a week ago there seems to be no doubt but that the Frosh will add another victory to their list.

Nothing definite has been given out by "Bill" Hayward as to who and how many men will participate in the meet, because there has been no word received from Jefferson as to how many men they are going to bring.

A plan is afoot to schedule a meet between the state "all-stars" and the Frosh. If this cannot be done Saturday's meet will wind up the season for the Frosh.

5 FACULTY MEMBERS BID TO HONOR GROUP

UNIVERSITY HONOR SOCIETY INCREASES NUMBER OF MEMBERSHIP

Five members of the University of Oregon faculty, who are graduates of this university, have just been elected to membership in the University Honor Society, an organization formed by faculty members belonging to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship fraternity. The members chosen are E. H. McAllister, class of 1890, now professor of mechanics; Frederic S. Dunn, '92, professor of Latin; Dr. James H. Gilbert, professor of economics; Miss Mary E. Watson, '09, assistant professor of English literature, and Miss Gelia Hager, '12, instructor in psychology.

Other members of the classes from which they were elected will be taken up for consideration later, it is explained by officers of the organization. Those elected at this time were chosen to help pass upon the qualifications of undergraduates who will be considered for membership next Tuesday.

The standards of the University Honor Society are those of Phi Beta Kappa, and one of the purposes of its organization here, besides recognizing and promoting scholarship, is to obtain for the university a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at the next meeting of the national senate of that body two years hence.

Every faculty member elected made an outstanding record scholarship in his undergraduate days in the university.

F. B. KELSEY GETS POSITION

Former Graduate Assistant To Do Field Work in New Mexico

Frank B. Kelsey, a graduate of Washington State College and a former graduate assistant in the Geology department at the University, has just accepted a position with a well known company doing field work in New Mexico. He left lately for San Francisco to get final instructions before going into the field. Last summer he did considerable work for the Oregon Bureau of Mines.

For the past three years Mr. Kelsey has been teaching sciences in the Stadium high school at Tacoma, Wash. He came to the University of Oregon to study enough field geology to hold down this position, according to an assistant in the department here.

A. G. JACKSON SPEAKS ON OREGON'S NATIONAL FORESTS AT ASSEMBLY

Special Plan Is Made For Fire Prevention; Blazes Start From Carelessness

GOVERNOR OLCOTT PRESENT

Lieutenant Kelly Speaks in Interest of Flying Field to be Voted On Friday

Oregon's greatest material resource, the standing forest, was pictured by A. G. Jackson, in charge of one of the western districts with headquarters at Portland, in an illustrated lecture to the student body of the University at their regular weekly assembly in Villard. Beautifully colored slides depicting the scenic spots of the many mountain ranges, the streams abounding in fish, and the wild life of the deep timber lands of the northwest were thrown on the screen, accompanied by explanation and comment from Mr. Jackson.

Mr. Jackson gave a brief sketch of how the forestry service works and outlined briefly the organization with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

Camp Fires Dangerous

"The national forests are for the people of the state, and all we ask is that you are careful with your camp fires. You may use all the fuel you need, breathe as much of the air as you can, take in as much of the scenery as possible, and all we ask in return is that you obey a few rules which are for the safety of our forests and the wild life in them." Seventy-five per cent of all forest fires are caused by human carelessness, said Mr. Jackson, which we could avoid if we would only be careful with our fire and cigarettes. The other 25 per cent is attributable to lightning, he stated.

Governor Ben Olcott was at the assembly for a few minutes, having stopped over en route home from Grants Pass for a conference in connection with establishing an airplane fire patrol for Oregon.

Lieut. R. M. Kelly, Colonel H. H. Arnold and Lieut. Williams, who are with the flying circus in Eugene, accompanied the governor.

Lieutenant Kelly Speaks

Lieut. Kelly spoke for a few minutes in the interest of the proposed municipal landing field for Eugene which will be voted upon tomorrow, and asked the support of every student in the University. The governor and his party left assembly early in order that the state executive might get back to the capitol city for lunch.

ANXIOUS JUNIOR RELIEVED

Senior Girls Really Know What Car They Are Taking

What all-important freshman, newly arrived at his alma mater and thinking the whole world lay at his feet merely for the taking, has not stepped onto a College Crest car and, after riding for several odd miles, come to the conclusion that he had a little bit to learn after all!

A well known junior walked down Willamette street. Also two equally well known senior girls did the same. The girls stepped out from the curb as a street car stopped, and prepared to get on. The junior man glanced up at the car, gave a gasp of horror, and rushed up to the girls.

"Hey," he cried, "that's the College Crest car."

"We know it," came the sweet response from the senior girls, "that's where we are going."

FATE OF UNIVERSITY WILL BE DECIDED BY VOTERS TOMORROW

9 Constitutional Amendments Are Being Submitted to the People

UNIVERSITY MEN CANDIDATES

Elementary Education Fund, School For Blind, Ex-Service Men's Aid, Also Up

The financial fate of the University of Oregon is to be decided tomorrow at the hands of the state. At the special general election Friday, the millage bill will be one of the nine constitutional amendments submitted to the people by the legislature.

The millage bill provides for an annual tax levy of 1.26 mills for the support of the University, Agricultural college and normal schools. Its passage will raise annually, for the purpose of higher education, approximately $1,247,000. The institutions, for whose support the bill was framed, are depending upon its passage for finances with which to continue operations. Their incomes are solely from the rate, and the advance in prices through the past few years, together with the stationary income, has made the funds now at hand insufficient.

Three other educational bills are on the same state ballot which will be voted upon Friday. A bill known as the State Elementary School fund tax provides for the levy of a two mill tax per annum. The money from this tax will be used to augment the funds now provided for elementary schools and will be distributed within the counties proportionately to the number of teachers.

Tax For Blind School

A tax of one-sixth of a mill for the year of 1921 is provided in another bill for the construction and equipment of a state school for the blind to be established in the city of Portland under a state board of control. A maintenance tax of one twenty-fifth of a mill is also provided in the bill. The school is intended to be of a vocational nature, teaching arts and trades.

Further education aid for ex-service men is provided in the Soldier, Sailor and Marine Educational Aid Revenue Bill.

It is provided for a tax of two-tenths of a mill. Funds accruing from this levy will be used to give additional aid to that now provided ex-service men by the state of Oregon. The bill further provides that the tax shall be levied each year in a sum six percent in excess of that levied the preceding year.

Oregon Graduates Run

The National, state and county primaries contain the names of four graduates of the University, and two men who have, or have had, sons or daughters attending Oregon.

Richard W. Montague, of Portland, candidate for delegate at large to the Democratic national convention received an honorary degree of Master of Arts in Public Service from the University in 1919.

Lee M. Travis, candidate for district delegate to the Democratic national convention graduated from Oregon in 1897 with a B.A. degree.

Lawrence T. Harris, republican candidate for justice of the supreme court, holds two degrees from the University. He received a B.A. in 1893 and an M.A. in 1896.

R. S. Bryson, republican candidate for county clerk graduated here in 1899, receiving a B. A. degree.

Marvey G. Starkweather, Democratic candidate for United States Senator has a son, Hugh G. Starkweather at present attending the University. He is a freshman in the Journalism department.

Seward D. Allen, candidate for representative of the third district on the Republican ticket is the father of two former Oregon students. His daughter, Louise H. Allen graduated in 1917 and his son, Franklin S. Allen graduated in 1913.

LAST EMERALD STAFF MEETING IS TUESDAY

Preparations To Be Made For Banquet; New Editor To Tell Plans For Next Year.

The last meeting of the Emerald staff will be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the Journalism annex. Formative plans for the ensuing year will be discussed, and Harry Smith, editor-elect, will talk.

The annual Emerald banquet which will be given a week or so before examinations will be one of the important matters discussed at the staff meeting. Arrangements for the affair are being made by a committee of which Harry Smith is chairman. The Emerald banquet is one of the most important social events of the year. It is the occasion of the awarding of the Emerald "O's" and the prizes for the greatest number of unassigned stories turned in by any one reported.

The issuing of the "Banquet Emerald," a ten or twelve-page paper, will be a feature of the evening as well as speeches and toasts by members of the staff.

FACULTY MEMBERS ACCEPT POSITIONS

PROFESSORS TO INSTRUCT IN OTHER COLLEGES THIS SUMMER

A number of positions have been accepted by the members of the University faculty for the summer months, according to Karl Onthank, secretary to the President. Up to date about eight University professors have announced their intention of accepting temporary positions in other institutions.

Dean Eric W. Allen of the school of journalism is leaving about June 18 to instruct classes in journalism for the University of California, at Los Angeles, while Professor Colin V. Dymond plans to take up the same work at Berkeley.

The University of California at Berkeley is also the summer headquarters of Professor William Milne, of the school of mathematics. Professor Peter Crockatt of the history department is planning to take up research work in California between spring and fall semesters here this year.

Dr. Raymond H. Wheeler will have classes in psychology at Stanford. Professor Albert Raddin Sweetser, of the University of Oregon department of Botany will be located at the University of Washington Marine Biological school at Friday Harbor.

The Bellingham Normal will have as one of its summer instructors in education, Professor Chester A. Gregory of the University school of education. Also in Washington will be Professor T. J. Bolitho, at Washington State College, where he will teach in the commerce department.

Class reunions will call several members of the faculty to far away parts of the United States, although just who will make these trips is not known.

ART DESIGNS ON DISPLAY

Exhibition Opens Wednesday; Honors May Be Given Students

An exhibition representing work for the year in Miss Rhodes' two classes in design, will be opened next Wednesday, and will last for about a week, according to Miss Rhodes, of the department of Design. No prizes will be given for the work, said Miss Rhodes, but it is hoped that Miss Esther Wuest, supervisor of drawing in the schools of Portland, will be here to award honors. She has been granted a leave of absence by the school board.

Among the examples of the work there will be some work in batik which the class has just begun, block printing, linoleum printing, posters, all elementary designs and designs for lampshades. The classes are now making designs for imitation parchment.

BERG PITCHES OREGON TO VICTORY OVER U.W. IN FIRST CONTEST 4-2

Sundoggers Get Initial Score of Game In Fifth; Oregon Leads In Sixth

NINE VISITORS STRIKE OUT

Skeet and Spike Bat High; Reinhart Steers and Lind Help in Days Blugging

Berg's airtight pitching coupled with timely hits by his team mates in the sixth and seventh innings gave Oregon a 4 to 2 victory over the University of Washington on the local diamond yesterday in the first of a two game series. "Shy's" premier southpaw held the "Sun Dodgers" to five scattered singles and struck out nine men. Errors at critical moments of the game alone prevented Oregon from scoring a shutout over the Washington team.

With two down in the sixth and Washington leading 1 to 0 Spike Leslie drove a hot grounder through the infield for a clean single. The big catcher scored a moment later when Maloney failed to catch Knudsen's high fly along the right field foul line. The Washington outfielder made a beautiful run, leaping high in the air to spear it with his gloved hand, but it glanced off, allowing the runner to take three bases. Knudsen scored on Fox's fly back of second which the shortstop failed to handle, Fox taking second on the play. Jay reached third on a wild heave over second by the Washington catcher in an attempt to catch him off the bag. Jacobber grounded out to pitcher ending the inning.

After Berg was out on a long fly to middle in the seventh, Skeet Manerud singled through second. Reinhart doubled to left sending Skeet to third. It was a high ball and McCroskey of Washington lost it in the sun. Lind smashed another double over third, scoring two. Steers was out on a fly to short center, Chamberlain coming in fast on the ball and making a shoestring catch. Lind died on second when Spike Leslie fouled out to Pigott. This inning ended the scoring in the eighth inning fast work of the Washington infield retired Knudsen, Fox and Jacobberger in a row.

The Sun Dodgers scored their two runs in the fifth and seventh innings. Maloney first man up in the fifth hit a ground ball squarely between Jacobberger's feet. Pichot singled sharply to right and Maloney scored when the ball bounced away from Knudsen. Two errors in succession had Berg in a bad hole, but he retired the next three batters, striking out Land who had hit safely in two previous trips to the plate.

Origin of Blaze Unknown; Flames Start on Roof; Occupants Unaware

A fire which started at 1:10 this afternoon, the origin of which has not been ascertained, partly demolished the Bachelordon house, located at 2028 University street. The blaze lasted for a little over an hour, the Eugene fire department, which was soon called to the scene, having difficulty in getting the flames under control due to lack of force from the water mains. The house will be untenable for some time as a result.

The fire started in the southeast corner of the structure, under the sleeping porch roof, and broke through the roof. Four members of the Bachelordon organization, who were in the house at the time, were unaware of the fact that their house was burning until a passerby rushed
