

TWO NEW BUILDINGS TO BE COMPLETED BY FALL, IS PLAN

Board of Regents Meets in June to Approve Officials' Program

$1,500,000 TOTAL BUDGET

Recitation Hall Near Education Building and Women's Dormitory in Scheme

Two new buildings will be ready for use upon the campus by the opening of the fall term if the June meeting of the board of regents approves the present plans of the University officials for remedying overcrowded conditions, according to Karl Onthank, secretary of President Campbell. These new buildings will include a recitation hall to be erected on the quadrangle of which the Education building is the first unit, and a women's dormitory unit following out the building plans which call in time for four or five women's dormitory buildings facing a common court with Hendricks hall, and using the present dining room.

Specifications have not been drawn up as yet, but both buildings will necessarily be comparatively small in order that they may be completed in time for the opening of the fall term. The recitation building will help relieve the congestion in the present buildings and from all indications will be greatly needed before another year, according to Mr. Onthank. Work on the women's building is also being pushed in hopes that it, too, may be available for use this fall, although it may not be entirely completed. It is probable that some of its rooms will temporarily be used for purposes other than originally intended until some other means of meeting congested conditions have been provided. No definite plans for its utilization have been made so far, Mr. Onthank said.

First Step in Program.
The authorization of the two new buildings now being sought from the board of regents is the first step in a comprehensive building program which according to President Campbell will probably provide for the expenditure of nearly $1,500,000 in the next five years. The program is designed to provide the University with the buildings most needed first and, as rapidly as funds are available for this purpose. Among other additions to Oregon's permanent halls a science building can be looked for in the near future as well as some move to provide adequate room for the University library. Later in the program will come more recitation buildings, a modern men's gymnasium and the much needed auditorium to release Villard for remodeling into recitation rooms.

Thus, according to President Campbell, does the University plan to meet the obligation placed upon it by the splendid vote of confidence of the people of Oregon in the recent election. A university extended along the present lines and guided by the ideals and traditions of Old Oregon, he feels, will give the people the best returns on the money they are investing in higher education. The internal development as regards standards of

LAST MUSIC FESTIVAL PRACTICE ON SUNDAY

Day to Be Given Over to the Cantata, "The Rose Maiden" and Opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana"

A complete rehearsal of the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana," and the cantata "The Rose Maiden," to be given June 7, 8, 9, will take place next Sunday, when practically the whole day will be given to it, according to an announcement made by Mr. Albert Lukken, director, at the last practice of the "Cavalleria" Monday afternoon. The rehearsal Monday afternoon was one of action only, according to the participants present at the last drill, who said that the players are progressing very well. One of the most interesting features is, perhaps, the "Drinking Scene" where much stress is being placed upon the action at rehearsal. A great deal of excitement was caused at the last rehearsal of "Cavalleria" when the participants practiced the use of the daggers and the correct position of the forceful thrust of death at the enemy. Madame Rose McGrew, soprano soloist, who is to take an important place in the opera, was unable to be present at the last rehearsal, but since has been practicing with the group. The outcome of the entire assemblage Sunday is going to be the last and best rehearsal of the year, according to the players participating.

She has been teaching in Baker since last January and expects to return there this fall.

STUDENT OFFICERS SWORN IN; REPORTS RECEIVED FOR YEAR

Financial Report Indicates Profit of $2,000; Best Year in History

OREGON SPIRIT IS PRAISED

Pasadena Football Man is Speaker; Emblems Awarded Varsity Men and Women

Student body officers for the coming college year were sworn in at the last student body meeting of the year held last Thursday at the regular assembly hour in Villard hall. He following officers, which will make up the new regime for the coming year, took the oath of office, administered by the retiring president of the associated students, Stanford Anderson: President, Carlton Savage; vice-president, John Houston; secretary, Lyle Bryson; editor of the Emerald, Henry Smith; business manager of the Emerald, Raymond Vester; senior man on student council, Lyle Bartholomew, Don Davis and Leith Abbott; senior women on student council, Kate Chaburn, Wanda Brown; junior men on student council, Wayne Akers, Norton Winnard; junior women on student council, Ruth Felgal; sophomore man on student council, Tom Watters; junior man on executive council, Marc Latham; athletic council, Everett Brandenburg, Glenn Walkley and Si Starr; editor of Oregana, Wanna McKinney; business manager of the Oregana, Warren Kays; and yell leader, Claire Keeney.

Oregon Spirit Praised.

Chairman Cimos, of the football committee of the Pasadena Tournament of the Roses, spoke for a few moments on Oregon's football fame. Mr. Simons is in the city visiting one of his old college chums.

In speaking of the Oregon spirit he said, "It is a thing I will not be able to bottle and uncork when I get back to California, for I understand there is a law in Oregon which forbids the bottling of spirits." Mr. Simons said that no matter where he heard of the University of Oregon, he heard of the Oregon spirit.

Stanford Anderson spoke briefly on what the University had accomplished during the past year, both in athletics, debates and oratory. During the first tri-mester we accomplished two big things, first, the wonderful football record of the Oregon squad, and Homecoming, which was by far the grandest thing the University had ever put over. The second tri-mester, he said, we beat O. A. C. two games of basketball, put into operation a new point system for student activities, started work on the millage campaign, established a new cut system, and won two debate championships. During the present term the University has annexed four Northwest titles, one each for baseball, track, oratory, and debate.

Co-op Plans Explained.

Lyle McCroskey explained several plans for a students' co-operative store next year. During the past school year a great deal of difficulty has been encountered in securing the necessary textbooks and stationery supplies. "Shy" Huntington spoke of the importance of getting the best students from the present graduating high school classes to come to Oregon next year. It should be an individual matter with each student, he said, to get the best of the state to come to the University. Huntington did not make a plea for athletics alone, but for high school students who stood high scholastically as well as in athletics.

Graduate Manager Marion McClain made a financial report for the year as near as he could glean the figures from the books of the secretary. The fiscal year does not end until September. The total income for the year reached $51,328.21, including about $9000, which was borrowed for the work on the new athletic field. Total expenditures for the college year reached $50,370. When outstanding bills had been met, Mr. McClain thought the student body would come

MUSIC FESTIVAL STAR HAD TWELVE YEARS IN GERMAN GRAND OPERA

Madame Rose McGrew Has No Desire To Go Back Now But Liked Work There

STUDENTS GO ELSEWHERE

Milan and Paris Attract Many Who Formerly Would Have Gone to Kaiser's Land

"Oh, no, I wouldn't care to go back to Germany now. I'm too American." As Madame Rose McGrew, who will sing the leading soprano role in the music festival next week, said it she smiled engagingly, but in an afterthought added quickly, "However, I'm glad that I went there for I know that what I have will stand the test of time. Germany is the hardest country in the world to make good in because the people are so imbued with their own superiority, and one must work."

"Would I advise young American music students to go to Germany to study now? No; for there is too much of a hurt feeling there now, and for his own sake I would suggest that any student wait for two or three years before going to Germany. Very many people, some of my own friends, are going to Milan and to Paris, both of which furnish wonderful opportunities. "You know," she continued, "it was very strange the way I happened to go there to study. We were living in Denver, where I was in high school. A German lady, who sang in the choir in our church was going back to Germany and she offered to take me with her."

Schwerin First Engagement

The first six months in Germany were spent in learning the language, but after that Rose McGrew traveled about studying and perfecting her art. Her first operatic engagement was at Schwerin, the capital of the grand duchy of Mecklenburg, where Madame went after studying at Dresden. At Schwerin she sang coloratura parts in an old court theatre for three years, at the end of that time going to the Royal Theatre at Hanover, one of the theatres owned by the emperor. It was here that she commenced to sing lyric parts such as Marguerite in Faust, Elza in Lohengrin, and Undine. Dramatic roles took the place of lyric parts when she had taken an engagement at Breslau, in northeastern Prussia. During the last three of the six years spent there she created many new roles which had not been sung before, among them being Strauss' "Rose Cavalliera." Her 12 years of grand opera in Germany completed Madame McGrew started travelling as soloist with Frederick Neil Innes, world famous bandmaster.

SENIOR AUTHOR OF NOVEL

Paul F. Weidenheimer of Corvallis Turns In Work for Term Thesis

"The Gray Boulder," a novel of 175,000 words was turned in as a term thesis in the department of rhetoric by Paul F. Weidenheimer, a major in the department. Mr. Weidenheimer, will graduate this June, having finished the course in three years taking two years of short story writing. He applied for honors this year. Next year he expects to teach, and the following year hopes to enter the profession of authorship, according to Professor W. F. G. Thacher of the rhetoric department. The story is entirely original and although it has a plot the chief interest is centered about the development and revelation of a young boy in a small community of Oregon. Mr. Thacher said the work is well composed fictional material and worthy of much credit and praise. An enormous amount of effort has been spent upon the production of the book, he said which is only an example of his year's work which has been consistently excellent. The book will be submitted soon to the publishers, he said.

There will be a student body dance Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 4 in the men's gymnasium, according to an announcement made this afternoon.

Catholics to Meet.

There will be a meeting of all Catholic students Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in the parish hall to meet Father O'Hara and talk over plans for next year.

Each Student to be Held Responsible for Definite Accomplishments, Says Chairman

Greater Oregon committee members were appointed today by Eddie Durno, chairman for 1920-21. The list is not as long as the one for last year, as it is Durno's policy to concentrate the responsibility and hold each member accountable for definite accomplishments. The organization used during the millage campaign will be followed this summer by the Greater Oregon committee.

Will Announce Meeting.

"Plans for the summer work," said Durno, "will be outlined at a meeting next week." The time for the meeting will be announced later. Although the committee members are held directly responsible for the work," added Durno, "every student is expected to do his best in co-operating with them."

The committee members follow: Eddie Durno, chairman; Dorothy Wootton, Cecyl Ross, James Say, Earl Conrad, Lyle Bartholomew, Mae Ballack, Ken Lancefield, B. Only $10,000 Yet To Be Raised; Structure To Be Ready For Fall Term

Only $10,000 more remains to be raised to complete the fund for the erection of the Women's Building. This announcement was made by Mrs. Irene H. Gerlinger, who is in charge of the fund. It is hoped, she said, that the announcement can be made on commencement day that the total amount has been subscribed.

The University has already turned over three $25,000 payments on the $100,000 fund to the state, according to L. H. Johnson, comptroller. There is at present $10,000 in the hands of the University and an additional $5,000 outstanding in pledges which have not yet fallen due.

It is expected that the building will be completed by the beginning of the fall term. Work on the structure was delayed somewhat during the past few months, owing to the shortage of brick. Sufficient material is now on hand to allow the work to proceed uninterrupted.

The completion of the Women's Building this year will mark the close of a campaign for funds extending over five years. The first subscriptions to the fund were made in 1915. Through an agreement with the state, the University was to match, through voluntary subscriptions, $100,000 voted for the building by the state, making $200,000 in all. Actual work on the building was started last year. An appropriation of $50,000 for furnishings was made by the special session of the legislature last winter.
