

Professions Plan to Recreate From Los Angeles to Norway; Fords and Fruit Farms Figure

Plans for the summer are being formulated by the various members of the faculty now that the end of the college year is approaching and a variety of work and recreation is scheduled by them. A number will remain on the campus for the summer school and others will teach in the summer sessions at other schools.

Dean Eric W. Allen of the school of journalism is one of those who will be out of the state for a part of the summer. He has accepted a position with the University of California at its southern branch in Los Angeles, where he will have charge of the journalism department for the summer session. He leaves next week for the south and will be gone about seven weeks. He then plans to return to Eugene where he will be occupied with the work of the University press and journalism department. Colni V. Dymont, also of this department, will teach in the summer school of the University of California at Berkeley.

Portland will be the summer address of Dr. E. S. Bates, head of the department of rhetoric. His time will be devoted to reading, writing, baseball games and other recreations, he says. Melvin Solve, graduate assistant in the same department, will leave for the east shortly after the close of school on the first stage of his journey to Chritiania, Norway, to spend the coming year in the university where he holds a year's scholarship. He will sail from New York on August 2, according to present plans.

Professor E. E. DeCou will teach mathematics in the summer school of the University. He is planning to spend the rest of the summer either in the mountains up the McKenzie or at the coast. Last summer he went on a hunting and fishing trip into the wilds of Curry county and he may possibly repeat the experience this year. Dr. Conklin will be in Eugene for the greater part of vacation instructing in the psychology department.

A fruit ranch in the foothills of the Cascades, four miles above Mabel, will provide exercise for Professor Barnett during his leisure time. While there he will work on the revision of the manuscript of a new book on civil service reform and also finish his part of a co-operative work on the government of Oregon which is being undertaken by several professors of political science in Oregon college.

From St. Louis to the coast in a Ford is part of the tentative plans of Professors Larremore and Warner and their wives. Mrs. Larremore is going back to New York for part of the summer and Mrs. Warner is now in Massachusetts, and their husbands plan to join them in the east at some later date. Mr. Larremore and Mr. Warner will attend the meeting of the American Bar association (legal bar, not brass rail kind, they say) in the latter part of August and then the party will Ford over the plains to Oregon, if their plans materialize.

THOMPSON AWARDED MEDIC SCHOLARSHIP

Zoology Major's High Grade of Work
Wins Free Tuition In Portland
School for Two Years

Richard Thompson, a senior and major in the zoology department, has been awarded the scholarship given by the University of Oregon medical school in Portland. The scholarship includes full tuition for two years at the medical school and if the work of the student is satisfactory the scholarship is renewed for another two years.

"Dick" Thompson has been a resident of Friendly hall for the last four years. According to Dr. Bovard, Thompson's grades in his department have averaged a consistent S plus throughout his course. His grades in other departments have also been above the average. Thompson is now working on a thesis for the zoology department on "The Locomotor Movements of the Myriopods."

Three scholarships are available each year to University students majoring in pre-medic. The full scholarship, which provides for the tuition fees for two years amounting to $300, and two half scholarships that provide half tuition fees for two years. These are also renewable if the student makes good. The scholarship awarded to Thompson was the only one granted this year.

According to reports from the medical school, the method of selection for entrance has been changed. Heretofore the only requirement was completion of required work at the University. This year the men will be selected for admittance upon their scholastic standing at the University and the scholarship that is expected while at the medical school.

This year the medical school freshman class will be limited to 60 and it is expected that there will be over 100 applications for admittance in the fall. According to Dr. Bovard there are at least 45 students from the University who expect to enter medical school next year. The others will come from Washington, California, O.A.C., Reed, and McMinnville.

All students expecting to enter medical school should have their applications in by July.

BOVARD TO HEAD COUNCIL

Chapman and Benefiel Elected On Inter-Fraternity Body

At the last regular meeting of the Inter-fraternity council Dr. John F. Bovard was re-elected president. Jack Benefiel and "Nish" Chapman were elected to the offices of vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Dr. James Gilbert and Professor Alfred L. Lomax were the members elected for the tribunal.

The retiring officers are: Harry Jamieson, vice-president; Lee Hulbert, secretary-treasurer, and Prof. E. E. DeCou, member of the tribunal.

WE wish to express our deep appreciation for the patronage the students of the University of Oregon has given us during the past school year. We also wish you a happy vacation and hope you will return again next year with the same old Oregon Spirit.
