UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 29, 1920.

NUMBER 1

SIX NEW BUILDINGS UNDER WAY; COST REACHES $655,000

Second Unit of Hendricks Hall to Be Completed By January 1.

GROUP FOR EDUCATION Commerce Hall Under Way; Women's Building Gym Is Nearly Finished

With but five months gone of the first year in the University's five-year $1,250,000 building program, made possible through the passage of the Millage Bill, construction activities on the campus are being carried on with vim. Several buildings are being rushed to completion to accommodate the increased number of students.

Six different pieces of work, in addition to the Women's building, are under construction; the second unit of the women's dormitory, a new commerce building, new buildings for the School of Education and University high school, remodeling of the open air gymnasium to house a part of the School of Journalism, and a post office building just south of Johnson Hall.

150 Men at Work.

One hundred and fifty artisans are engaged at present in the building work on the campus, which has reached a total value of $655,000. The new Women's Building will cost approximately $285,000 of this amount.

The second unit of the women's dormitory, it is planned, will be ready for occupation by January 1. It is a three-story building of brick and mill construction, identical with the present Hendricks hall. One hundred and ten girls may be housed in this second unit, the same number as lodged in the present dormitory.

With the foundation of the School of Commerce completed, work is well under way on this three-story structure between the library and the School of Education. The building is to be a duplicate of Oregon Hall, 110 by 90 feet, and is to cost $100,000. It will include 14 classrooms and 14 offices, and will probably be completed by March.

New Education Group.

The new home of the School of Education and the University high school on Kincaid street south of the campus are each to be one-story frame structures, brick veneered. The School of Education will be 130 feet by 50 feet with an art room annex 24 by 40 feet. It will include two classrooms, one lecture room, six instructors' rooms, a seminar room, and the office of the dean. The high school building is to be considerably larger, covering 240 by 80 feet, with an annex for an auditorium, 54 by 96 feet, and an open air gymnasium 40 by 40 feet.

A newly organized holding company, composed of Eugene business men, is arranging for the erection of a brick and frame building south of the campus which will be leased to the University for use as a music building. It will cost about $75,000. Present plans are that it be ready for use by spring.

Outdoor Gymnasium Remodeling.

Remodeling of the open air gymnasium to relieve crowded conditions in the School of Journalism is well under way. Workmen are boarding up the sides and

ATTENTION!

Since students automatically become subscribers to the Oregon Daily Emerald upon registration, it has been necessary to adopt a new system of distribution.

All students residing in fraternities, dormitories and annexes will have the Emerald delivered to their houses, while students residing in the city may obtain their copies of the Emerald at the Co-op store.

Men and women who have the papers delivered are asked not to take one of the copies left at the Co-op store, so that the right of the town students may not be infringed upon.

Manager.

To University of Oregon Students:

Last year we all worked for a "Greater Oregon" through increased financial resources, and the splendid new buildings now rising on our campus and the great increase in the University staff are evidence of our success and of the confidence of the state in the University. This year we can justify the increased responsibility placed upon us all by continuing to work for "Greater Oregon" by maintaining the highest standard of scholarship and of University ideals.

There are now twelve schools or major divisions in the University. The enrollment this fall will certainly reach at least two thousand. With this growth in size and diversity of work there is danger that the University will lose the close community spirit which has always characterized it. By conscious striving against this tendency to segregate into groups, I am sure that this fine old friendly cooperation can be maintained.

This is the year, it seems to me, to carry forward the work studied by student committees for several years, namely that of student self-government. A self-government based on mutual confidence, mutual respect and mutual effort in achieving the highest type of University life, and representing every factor in the University community, student and faculty alike, will round out splendidly the organization and life in the University.

My greetings go to all Oregon students, new and old. This will be the finest year in the history of the University and we are glad that you are to be a part of it.

P. L. CAMPBELL.

25 FRESHMEN OUT FOR 1924 ELEVEN

"Ken" Bartlett to be Mentor of Infant Football.

With the arrival of Coach "Ken" Bartlett Monday the freshman football candidates started their fall workout. About twenty-five men turned out for the first practice, and more will be out later. The freshmen seem to have a good turnout of heavy men, and Bartlett is well pleased with them. The main work for the first two weeks will be preliminary practice, consisting of falling on the ball, tackling the dummy and punting practice. The regular scrimmage will not start until the last part of next week.

During the first practice two of the men were injured. While diving at the ball "Tommy" D'Armand, a John Day product, received a broken collar bone, and Frink, a San Diego boy, strained his shoulder. These injuries were due to the hard field.

"Baz" Williams, a member of last year's varsity team, who was to assist Bartlett in the coaching, is working with his brother in a bakery and will be unable to take the work. Efforts are being made to secure a man as an assistant.

Bartlett is at present trying to arrange a number of games for the freshman squad. The team has prospects of games with the University of Washington freshmen, Reed college, and Chemawa. A game has already been scheduled with the O. A. C. rooks for November sixth.

It is too early in the season to tell much about the team but with the material out Bartlett expects to turn out a good aggregation.

DR. SHELDON TO TALK BEFORE COLLOQUIUM

First Faculty Gathering to be Held Oct. 5; Dean Dymnt and Dr. Wheeler To Speak.

The history of the University of Oregon will be the theme of the address which Dr. H. D. Sheldon, the Dean of Education, will give at the first faculty Colloquium of the year to be held the night of October fifth in Johnson Hall. Dr. Sheldon will also deal with present and future problems confronting the faculty.

Professor Colin V. Dymnt, the new dean of the College of Literature Science and the Arts, will speak on current problems in the presence of reorganization of their body.

According to Dr. R. H. Wheeler, chairman of the Colloquium, the meeting will be helpful to the old as well as the new members of the faculty, who are all expected to attend.

JOURNALIST TAKES POSITION.

Ariel Dunn, a member of last year's sophomore class, will not return to the University this year, having accepted a position on the editorial staff of the Portland News. Miss Dunn was a member of the Emerald staff during her registration at Oregon.

EASTERN STUDENTS REGISTER FOR WORK

Atlantic Coast, Middle West and South Represented

One of the most remarkable things about the registration of students at the University this year, according to Mrs. George Fitch, of the registrar's office, is the number of students enrolling from other states in the union. New York, Maine, Florida and other states from the eastern coast are represented. Also Louisiana, in the south, and Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Mississippi, and Illinois in the middle west. Many are enrolled from the nearby states of Washington, Idaho and California.

Approximately 160 students are coming to Oregon this year with advanced standing from other colleges. This is a gain of about 33 1-3 per cent over that of last year, Mrs. Fitch states.

The registration for Tuesday up to four o'clock numbered 682 people, this being a gain of 195 over that of the second day of registration last year. Monday the registration was normal, only 236 turning in their cards compared to the 231 of the first day of the fall term last year.

It is expected by Mrs. Fitch that there will be an enrollment of 2000 by the last of October and of 2500 for the whole year. In applying for admission, the freshman girls were ahead of the boys, many more of them sending in for literature, but more boys are registering than was at first expected, according to Mrs. Fitch. There were 658 freshman applications for admission.

STUDENT OFFICERS FAIL TO RETURN

Leith Abbott, Kate Chatburn and Wanda Brown to be Succeeded on Student Council by New Members.

Leith Abbott, Wanda Brown and Kate Chatburn all senior members of the student council, will not put their names on the University roster this term according to word received by Carleton Savage, president of the Associated Students. Their vacancies on the council will be filled by Nell Warwick, Nish Chapman and Ollie Stoltenburg.

Miss Chatburn will be married to Ben Fisher of Marshfield early in January, and in the meantime she is working in the state capital at Salem. Miss Brown is working at Stayton, Ore., and may return next term. Leith Abbott is going to continue his position as telegraph editor of the Pendleton Tribune until at least the first of the year.

DEAN ALLEN HAS SUCCESSOR

A new member has been added to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Eric W. Allen. The son arrived September 14. The boy has been given an additional start in life by being christened Eric William Allen Jr.

BANNER YEAR NOW AT HAND DECLARES HEAD OF A. S. U. O.

Student Body President Urges Demonstration of Real Old Time Spirit

APPOINTMENTS TO FILL VACANCIES IN COUNCIL

New Members Selected for Social Affairs Committee and Forensic Body

Oregon spirit, pep, and enthusiasm will be the keynote of the new college year according to Carleton E. Savage, president of the Associated Student body who in a statement this morning makes an appeal to the old students to start the year with a bang and show the newcomers the real meaning of the old Oregon spirit.

"We must have college enthusiasm and a display of campus pep immediately," declared President Savage. "Now is the time to gain a momentum that will carry us through the entire year and arouse and enthuse the new students with that college spirit and loyalty that is an integral part of every man and woman at Oregon."

"We are at the threshold of what will undoubtedly be the banner year of the University. With the Millage bill safely passed and indications of the largest enrollment in the history of the college, it is now up to the student body and especially the incoming class to take hold and show a spirit of co-operation with the student body officers and endeavor to make this a memorable year for student body affairs at Oregon."

"The old students must lead, set the pace, now, at once, and give the new class a demonstration of that well-known Oregon spirit that we pride ourselves upon, and set an example to the new students of what the University expects in the way of loyalty, enthusiasm and in-

CHANGES IN SOCIAL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

Open Dates for Student Body and Fraternity Affairs Are Decided By Deans.

A number of corrections in the social calendar for the coming school year have been announced by Elizabeth Fox, dean of women. In a number of places throughout the schedule as given in the students' handbook, a new publication this year, dates are given as being open for "student body dances." This should have read for "student organization affairs" rather than student dances. The dates are open for any parties which any student organization may wish to schedule and are not necessarily to be student body dances, says Miss Fox.

The evening of Saturday, October 9 has been set aside for the annual Y. W. C. A.—Y. M. C. A. mix. Church receptions for the students of various denominations will be given on Friday evening, October 15. On Saturday evening, October 16, the annual freshman acquaintance party will be staged.

Any student organization desiring to have any form of entertainment is expected to make a formal application one week before the date of the party, through the offices of the deans of men and women, following the usual custom.

Friday afternoon, October 2, Dean Fox will be at home to all women students in the University at Hendricks Hall from three to five o'clock.

ELKS TO ENTERTAIN

Local Lodge To Stage Affair for Members on Oregon Campus.

For all members of the Order of Elks upon the University campus, the local lodge is entertaining tonight at eight o'clock. Arrangements have been made whereby all Elks can secure automobiles to call and take them to the lodge rooms.

By calling 433, and leaving their names and addresses, campus Elks can make arrangements to have a machine call for them. Boxing and entertainment of various sorts is on the program.

Campus Piggers Face New Rival In "Eyron Mike"

"Hey there, you champion piggers. There's a fellow on the campus now who has kissed more co-eds in the past two days than there are bricks in the Woman's building."

Startling as this statement may seem, it is the truth. Both the dean of women and the dean of men are aware of the fact but each evinces complete sanction of this remarkable state of affairs. Each hour his list of fair and friendly lips grows longer. Each minute some man wishes he could get away with such "democracy."

"Who is he?" Why he's Eyron Mike, a left-over from the class of 1920, prominent prohibitionist, member of Bubble Bubble Bubble, and a newly installed member of the National Order of "Tween Class Meetings Places. He arrived on the campus during the summer and is permanently located at his present stand in front of the library steps.

When the class of '20 was on the verge of departure from the University, they decided to leave behind them something which would be constantly in contact with the students as a reminder of their great and noble class. Unlike the class of '10, they decided upon something that could be used by frosh and senior alike. Mike was the logical one for the place, so he was chosen.

Whether or not his cooling touch will prove a successful counter-attraction for the library steps remains yet to be seen, but, as Big Ben says, "Time will tell if you listen to it."

SIGMA DELTA PHI LEADS GRADE LIST

Pi Beta Phi Second—Women Ahead in Scholarship.

Sigma Delta Phi and Pi Beta Phi hold the same place at the head of the grade bulletin for the spring term of last year that they held for the winter term. Five of the six women's fraternities that headed the list of house grades for the winter term retain that place.

Friendly Hall by holding its winter average of 3.20 crowded the Alpha Delta Pi out from among the leading six.

A comparison of the house grades for the two terms does not show many radical changes. The general relation of the grades is the same. The biggest change for the better was made by the

HUNTINGTON PUTTING SQUAD THROUGH HARD FOR OPENING GAME

Coach Sees Need for Work to Fill Places of Missing Gridiron Stars

EX-FROSH HAVE CHANCE

Old Faithful Scrub Members Also Out; Students Urged to Support Team.

With two weeks of practice behind them and the possibility of scrimmage work the latter part of the week Coach Huntington is beginning to get a fair line on the material from which he will have to develop an eleven this fall. "I'm not optimistic with the outlook at present, neither is he dubious in speaking of the grid prospects. "We have a lot of hard work ahead of us," he said last night, "and a lot of the work will have to be done off the field. Everyone must get behind the team. Although we have lost a lot of stars we are not going to become dejected on that account. It only means that we will have to fight harder."

Big Stars Missing.

"Bill" Steers, mighty quarterback of last year's eleven and this year captain-elect will not don a suit for the lemon-yellow this year according to the information Coach Huntington gave out last night. In addition to the loss of Steers, it is doubtful whether "Skeet" Mannerud, the midget speed demon who substituted for Bill last season, will be back. "Skeet" is in Eugene but has decided not to enter school this fall.

Other men who were lost to the team by graduation last June are "Stan" Anderson, "Ken" Bartlett, "Holly" Huntington, and "Baz" Williams. Anderson held down a right end position last year. Bartlett played at tackle, Huntington in the backfield, and Williams at guard.

Strong Line Men Back.

Four of last year's letter men will be back for line positions this fall and are working with the squad every night. These are "Spike" Leslie at tackle, "Brock" Leslie at center, Carl Mann at guard and "Mart" Howard at left end. For the back field positions there are also four letter men although not regulars; these are "Nish" Chapman, Vince Jacobberger, Francis Jacobberger, and Everett Brandenburg. Two letter men of former years are out for a backfield position, "Busher" Blake who held down a posi-

Shakespear Slipped Up on Adage

What's in a Name? Mor'n You'd Think

Hospitable Elmer Has Latest on It

Maybe Shakespear was right in his estimate of the scant significance of names, but an answer received to a letter of welcome mailed to a prospective student brings doubts. Following an ancient custom of the university, old timers who arrived early obtained lists of students who had written inquiring about entering. The following letter is typical of those mailed, though the answer is unique.

The letter was addressed to a "Mr. Browning Purdin":

Dear Purdin:

I understand that you are to come to the University this fall, and I want to know you. Maybe you'll come here a perfect stranger but it doesn't take long to get acquainted. Everyone is friendly and we want you to act on that idea.

I live at Friendly Hall on the ground floor. Come in via the window—it's nearest. We'll manage to supply you with a dresser or table or maybe a trunk to hang your feet from and we'll have a talk that will make you think you're in your own back yard.

Possibly we won't like each other but I promise not to kick you out the first time anyhow. Climb in.

ELMER PENDELL.

The answer was as follows:

Dear Pendell:

Your letter received and I thank you for your courtesy. I appreciate your friendly spirit immensely and regret that two reasons prohibit my accepting your hospitality; one being that I have been forced to change my plans and will be unable to enter the University this fall, and the other, I believe that it is not deemed proper by the authorities for young ladies to call at the men's dormitory and perch themselves upon trunks or tables and imbibe in manly conversation and much smoke.

Alas, 'tis not for us of the weaker sex, but what could be more thrilling. I assure you again, that if it were possible I would surely accept your hospitality.

My parents held no particular grudge, just an insane inspection prompted them to handicap me through life with a name like mine. Think nothing of your error; everyone makes the same mistake and I regard it as a huge joke.

If you ever come south drop in at the bank. While we have no trunks we have plenty of tables and stools to sit upon.

Wishing you a successful year at the University and thanking you again for your friendliness, I am

Yours sincerely,

MISS Browning Purdin.
