

FIRST STUDENT MEET DATED FOR THURSDAY

P. L. Campbell and Carlton Savage to Give Welcome

NEW PASTOR TO SPEAK Plans and Committees for Year to be Announced.

A welcome to new and old students alike is the object of the first student body assembly Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in Villard hall. President P. L. Campbell and Carlton Savage, president of the Associated Students, are both to make addresses of welcome, the latter outlining his plans for the year and announcing appointments of committees.

Better and "peppier" assemblies than ever before, with better attendance than ever before, is the aim of those in charge. Every meeting will commence promptly at 11 o'clock and last for 50 minutes, according to Carlton Savage.

Besides the usual assembly speaker, John Stark Evans, associate dean of the School of Music, is arranging special music for each week. Madam McGrew, soprano, Laura Rand, contralto, John Hopkins, tenor, and Glenn Morrow, baritone, will compose a quartet to lead the singing at tomorrow morning's assembly.

Reverend Bruce J. Griffin, first student pastor to be assigned to the University, will also take part in assembly services tomorrow. Reverend Griffin was assigned to University of Oregon this summer by the Presbyterian synod of Oregon. He is located on the campus and although his purpose here is mainly to keep in touch with students of the church which he represents, his services will include students of all denominations.

For the convenience of students who are new at the University, it is announced that seats at the front of the left hand section as one enters the hall are reserved for the faculty. Front seats in the center section are occupied by seniors, both men and women. Junior women sit just behind the seniors while the section to the right is reserved for sophomore and senior men. Sophomore women occupy the seats back of the faculty. The lecture is reserved for first year men.

WOMAN'S BUILDING NEAR COMPLETION

Class Rooms and Gym Ready By November 1.

MATERIAL HARD TO GET Grounds Around Structure to Be Improved Soon.

The new Woman's Building, just south of Hendricks Hall, which has been under progress of construction since last August is nearing completion, according to W. K. Newell, superintendent of properties for the University. The west end, in which are class rooms and a gymnasium, will be ready for use by the department of physical education for women by the first of November if present plans work out. Dean E. F. Lawrence, of the School of Architecture, prepared the plans for the building.

Although work was started on the building last August there has been much interruption because of inability to secure materials and workmen. The estate of the late W. O. Heckart, Eugene architect who commenced the building, has since the death of Mr. Heckart carried on the building, engaged Mr. Snook, of the Portland firm of Snook & Traber, to complete the building. A number of the buildings at Oregon Agricultural college are the work of this company.

The alumni hall and the main stairway, in the east end of the building, will be left until last to be finished, according to Mr. Newell, since there is no pressing need for their completion.

A caen stone finish will be used in the lobby and main stairway in the building which have a Terrazzo tile floor. A combination of the caen stone with paneled wainscoting in fir is to be used in the alumni room, which has two monumental fireplaces, one at each end of the room. In the faculty and reception rooms there will be simple mantles with the fireplaces.

As soon as the grounds surrounding the building can be cleared the hockey field will be put into condition, as well as tennis courts and a field for archery.

R. O. T. C. Leads Rifle Matches.
The Western Department of the R. O. T. C., of which the University of Oregon is a member, lead all collegiate rifle teams in the National matches held at Camp Perry, Ohio, during the summer. Donald Zimmerman, of Eugene, was

Western Department rifle team. He tied with another cadet for a place on the team, losing by but one point on the second contest.

NEW ART COURSE GIVEN

Book Illustration and Decorating is Subject of New Classes.

"The Art Book and the Poster" is the title of a new course to be offered early this term by the fine arts division of the school of architecture. The course has been planned through Professor A. H. Schreff and his Assistant Arthur Runquist. It is to be a commercial art course in line with modern journalism, printing, binding and advertising art. Professor Schreff has arranged for lectures on the subject by Ray Coyle of San Francisco, a well known decorator and book designer, and Mr. Waddell, late of New York City, an advertising artist who has been at the head of a school in Los Angeles, California.

building partitions. The present annex used by journalism students will be connected by a covered passageway with the former open air gymnasium, in which will be offices occupied by Dean Eric W. Allen, of the School of Journalism, Alfred Powers, of the department of visual instruction in the Extension Division, who will do a great deal of the publication work for the School of Journalism, and Dr. John Boyard, head of the new School of Physical Education. It will also include a bindery, three classrooms, accessible to both the departments of journalism and physical education, and assistants' rooms. A covered passageway will also connect this with the University press.

Just back of the Administration building there is a small building under construction of stained wood which will be used as a postoffice and express office for the University. This department is increasing so rapidly that there is no room for it in Johnson hall.

Slim Crandall came back to school this year so he could be present when the last brick was laid on the Woman's building. He is one of the three living witnesses to the laying of the cornerstone of Deady. At present he is working on his new book, "Oregon Before 1876."

For three long years he had gazed upon it—always with great respect and from a distance. Now had arrived the time when he could approach the object of his desire with impunity. From force of habit he threw a searching look over his shoulder—and sat down upon the Senior bench.

Rumor has it that the Sigma Chi's are going to discard their present pin and substitute a pair of crossed crutches.

A story is going the rounds to the effect that Joe Ingram mistook a fair senior girl for a new student and offered to assist her in finding her way to the campus and in registration. He's luckier than we are at that. The one we tackled graduated a year ago.

GREETINGS:

We are very glad to have the opportunity to link our establishment with as lively a medium as "The Oregon Emerald." We have a lot of good things to tell you about our good clothes and the service we are prepared to render during the months to follow.

Now, fellows, we want every one of you to feel perfectly free to come into our shop any old time and make yourselves at home. You will not be urged to buy anything—no time—we're not here to bore you, but rather to serve you to your own liking.

Our merchandise will be the kind that we know you'll be glad to look over, and we'll leave it to you to buy or not buy your needs after you've seen our "styles and prices."
