

FRESHMAN PARADE IS SET FOR 4:15 THIS AFTERNOON

New Stunts to Supplant Old Time "Rough Stuff," Is Plan.

YEARLINGS TO LEARN OREGON TRADITIONS

Line of March Includes Seal, Co-op, and "O" — To Form at Library.

All freshmen out for the infant's parade this afternoon at 4:15!

Such is the mandate of the class of 1923, backed by a committee in charge of the Frosh parade, which was appointed at the meeting held yesterday afternoon. "Tubby" Ingalls, Bob Shephard, Floyd Maxwell and Hobart Belknap are arranging the details.

The parade forms in front of the Library at four fifteen. From there the Frosh will be taken down Hello Lane to park the seal in front of Villard Hall. The parade will then proceed down Eleventh to Alder, and along Alder to the Co-op store where all yearlings who have not already done so, will secure freshman caps.

The Frosh will then be escorted down 13th street to Willamette, north on Willamette to the Rainbow, where special stunts will take place. From there they will lockstep up to the top of the "O" on the top of Skinner's butte.

"No rough stuff, but real stunts of a worthwhile nature," is the promise of "Tubby" Ingalls, chairman of the committee. All freshmen are urged to turn out, states Ingalls, as it is through the Frosh parade that all new men are acquainted with the time honored Oregon customs and traditions.

RIVALRY PAPERS COMING.

The faculty of the School of Journalism is pointing with pride these days to the fact that both major political parties are running journalists for president. Dean Eric W. Allen has made arrangements to follow the campaign "dope" in the papers owned by both candidates. The Marion Star, owned by Senator Harding, and the Dayton News, published by Governor Cox, will soon be upon the journalism exchange desk.

NEVADA GIRLS IN SPORTS.

Nevada girls are out to keep up their end of athletics, and for exercise they are now playing volleyball.

WOMEN IN MAJORITY AT REED.

The women at Reed College are holding the balance of power. Of the total 247, 135 are women and 112 are men.

Notice on Blackboard Defies Years

Dr. T. Condon's Words to Class Persist

Relic of Veteran Geologist Is Found

"A goodly enrollment of the class in General Geology enables us to promise that the opening lecture on this work may be expected on Thursday at 11:00 o'clock. Signed, T. Condon." This notice written in chalk on a small piece of black painted board was discovered yesterday in a dark corner of the basement of Villard Hall. Although the notice was dust covered and partly erased from its long storage in this out-of-the-way place it is still plainly legible.

On the reverse side is another notice which reads, "Class in Gen'l Geology excused from recitation due 11 o'clock today." This is also signed "T. Condon." The notices are undoubtedly the work of Dr. Condon himself and as he has been dead since 1907 and retired from active work in the faculty several years before his death their age can be conservatively placed at about twenty-five years. The board on which they are written is about 18 by 36 inches in size and is provided with screw eyes and a length of wire by which it could be suspended. The first notice is written in

Seniors Failures In Cultivation of Soup Strainers

What's the matter with the Senior class barber? How does it happen that only two or three male members of that class can exhibit a visible lip piece? Can it be possible that this high official is betraying her trust to the class and to the public?

Several theories have been advanced in explanation of this lack of hirsute adornment. One of the more plausible is that the barber has discovered that there is a greater profit in selling shaves and safety razors than there is in hair tonic and moustache wax. Lyle Bryson, the barber in question, is non-committal in regard to this theory.

Inability to sprout a decent crop of whiskers is another cause of the shortage. Take Alex Brown for instance. After his "hair-raising" vacation solicitous friends told him he had a smudge of coal dust or soot on his face. Then there is the sad case of Eddie Durno. His pride and joy was so heavy that he couldn't smile his wonted smile. Now it is gone. Peevee Edwards had whiskers of good length but unluckily enough they were of flesh color and scarcely more visible than a coal pile in the dark. They too have departed from this life.

Jake Jacobson wins the sugar coated sombrero, though, with his dark brown, cupid's bow, genuine imported symbol of the fourth year men. Jake has signed up for French and the rumor is around that he hopes to win a rich young Gaelic countess for a bride.

But in spite of these exceptions, there is an alarming lack of moustaches and the impeachment of the barber is rumored.

FIVE FRAT HOUSES MOVED THIS YEAR

Pi Phi, S. A. E., Bachelorcon, Zeta Rho and S-Maralda Change Location.

Among the changes of interest about the campus are those made by several of the fraternities and sororities in house locations. Other houses have made alterations. Those having moved are the Bachelorcons, who have drifted from University street to Hilyard; the S. A. E.'s from the corner of 15th and Alder to 14th and Alder, their former residence being taken by the Zeta Rho's, a girls' local which was formed the latter part of last year in Hendricks Hall; the Pi Beta Phis who have moved from Eleventh street to the corner of Fourteenth and Alder, across from the S. A. E.'s. It was formerly the home of Professor Frederick S. Dunn. The S-Maraldas have gone into the house occupied by the Pi Phis last year.

plain white chalk and the second in yellow chalk.

How the board survived the years with the notices intact is a problem for conjecture. Professor Clark, of the Latin department, was the one to call the first attention to it. A workman in the basement of Villard noticed it and spoke to him about it. It was leaning against a wall in a dark corner and its discovery as an article of interest was largely accidental. From there it was taken to the Journalism Annex, where it is now held.

Dr. Condon came to the University in 1876 as professor of geology and natural history and remained with the school until early in the present century. Under his able direction the department of geology was founded and brought to its present stage. The Condon Geological Museum in the Administration building is a gift from him to the University.

It is planned to preserve the board as an object of historical interest and to serve as a model for those janitors of the present day who so ruthlessly erase anything which it is desired to save.

FRATS ANNOUNCE PLEDGES; 75 NEW MEMBERS TAKEN

Portland Heads List With 18 Men—Eugene Second With Six.

PHI DELTA THETA CHOOSES 12; DELTA TAU, 10

Four States Represented; Sorority Pledges to be Announced October 2.

Phi Delta Theta leads the list of fraternities with twelve pledges this year. Delta Tau Delta comes second with ten new men. Up until last night seventy-five men had been chosen by the national and local chapters of the campus. Pledges first announced last fall numbered 77.

Eighteen of the men are from Portland. Eugene with six, is followed by Marshfield and Pendleton with three each. All but six are residents of the state of Oregon. Of these six, four are from California, one from Washington, and one from Idaho. Women's houses will announce their pledges Saturday.

Following is the list up until Wednesday night:

The Owl club pledges will be announced at a later date.

O. A. C. NEAR 3,000.

Registration at the Oregon agricultural college last Friday had nearly reached the 3,000 mark. For the first three days 1689 men and 589 women had registered.

FROSH PLEDGING BARRED.

A new ruling at the university of Utah forbids freshman from being pledged to any house during their first year in college.

THREE NEW DEANS, MANY ADDITIONS TO OREGON'S FACULTY

Colin V. Dymont, W. G. Hale, and John F. Bovard Head University Schools.

H. B. TORREY TAKES CHARGE OF ZOOLOGY

James H. Gilbert Chief of Newly Made Department of Economics.

The University of Oregon is opening for its 44th session with many new members on its staff. Three new deans are beginning their work in their executive capacity on the campus this fall. — Dean Colin V. Dymont, Dean of the College of Literature, Science and the Arts; William G. Hale, Dean of the School of Law; Dr. John F. Bovard, of the newly created School of Physical Education. Both Dean Dymont and Dean Bovard are well known to Oregon students. Dean Hale, however, has just come to the University from the university of Illinois, in the Law School of which he held a prominent position.

Two departments have new heads. Dr. Harry Beal Torrey, well known in Oregon for his work in Reed College, heads the department of zoology, succeeding Dr. Bovard, and Dr. James H. Gilbert has been promoted to head of the newly created department of economics. Dr. E. L. Packard will head the department of geology in the absence of Dr. Warren D. Smith; and Dr. F. L. Shinn will head the department of chemistry in the absence of Professor O. F. Stafford.

Other Appointments Made.

Numerous appointments to the University teaching staff include the following: Mildred L. Johnson, instructor in Botany; Dr. Roger Williams, assistant professor in Chemistry; Merton K. Cameron and C. M. Hogan, assistant professors in Economics; Miss Grace Edington, graduate of the University of Oregon and well known on the campus as an author and with teaching experience in the School of Journalism in the University of Washington, and Andrew Fish.

Y. W. CABINET PLANS EXTENSION OF WORK

Field of Interest in Study Classes Larger

Extension of the activities of the campus Y. W. C. A. this year was the keynote of a dinner for cabinet members given Friday evening. This was the first of a series of meetings of the cabinet held during the week end for the purpose of outlining plans for the year. On Saturday afternoon the Advisory board were guests at a tea given by the cabinet.

Numerous social affairs are planned for the coming term, the first of which is the annual Open House for all University women on the evening of October 1. Freshman Open House is scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Study classes this year will include broader subjects than ever before in an effort to present a larger field of interest, according to Marjorie Holaday, president of the Y. W.

Florence Easel, who was elected chairman of the bungalow committee last year, has not returned to school due to illness. She has been succeeded by Ruth Lane.

The members of the cabinet are:

President, Marjorie Holaday; Vice President, Vivian Chandler; Secretary, Frances Habersham; Treasurer, Ruth Flegal; Meetings, Isla Gilbert; Social, Beatrice Weatherbee; Bible Study, Eleanor Spall; Bungalow, Ruth Lane; Publicity, Margaret Smith; Seabeck, Alice Thurston; Missionary, Glyde Schubel; Finance, Leta Kiddle; Employment, Ollie Stollenberg; Social Service, Elsie Marsh; and annual membership campaign, Jennie McGuire.

Operatic Soloist At Assembly Today

MME. ROSE M'GREW.

Madame Rose McGrew, operatic soprano, and a member of the faculty of the School of Music, will sing at the first assembly of the year to be held in Villard hall at eleven o'clock today. A quartet consisting of Madame McGrew, Laura Rand, George Hopkins and Glen Morrow is also on the program.

Professor John Stark Evans will be in charge of music for the assemblies this year.

COMMERCE COURSES MORE SPECIALIZED

Foundation Work Limited to First Two Years.

Important changes in the School of Commerce, which will require Freshmen and Sophomores to take general courses that provide a good foundation for specialized commercial work, are announced by Dean E. C. Robbins. One of the greatest handicaps with which the school has had to contend, says Dean Robbins, is that upper class students have not fulfilled lower class requirements.

Junior and Senior courses will then be made more specific and specialized. Instead of a general course in commerce the department now requires that upper division students select a special branch of commerce work with the final view in mind of becoming specialists and professional men. Courses for specialization will be offered in accounting, banking, finance, foreign trade, labor management, general retail business and Chamber of Commerce secretaryship, instead of the more general and specialized commercial course.

The department is greatly aided by an almost doubled corps of instructors, and arrangements are now under way to keep sections and classes small enough to give the students a more personal supervision than was formerly afforded. Plans are also under consideration that will make the course extend over five years in order to bring about a realization of the aim of the school, which is to turn out professional men who can take special places of responsibility at their graduation.

Under the able leadership of Dr. Robbins who succeeds Dean Morton as Dean of Commerce, the school is making rapid advances in many ways and promises to be one of the University's greatest assets now and in the future.

REGISTRATION FOR TWO DAYS IS 1300

Enrollment Higher Than For Same Time Last Year — 2,000 Mark Expected.

The business office reports 1300 students as having paid their registration fees at the end of the second day of registration. There are 975 students completely registered as compared with 718 at this time last year. The number of applications from new students for admission to the University is 871. Students are coming in very rapidly and it is believed that the 2000 mark will be reached in a short time.

OPEN HOUSE PLANS DISCUSSED AT FIRST COUNCIL MEETING

Two or Three Nights May Be Used by Men to Visit Women's Groups.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR YEAR BY SAVAGE

Issuance of Printed Matter For Students Use Now to be Limited.

Discussion of problems confronting the Associated Students at the opening of the year occupied the first meeting of the student council last night. Attendance at assemblies, suggestions for open house to be held Saturday, and appointment of a committee to authorize issuance of printed matter for use of students for which advertising is solicited from Eugene merchants were important topics discussed.

A committee consisting of Vivian Chandler and John Houston was appointed by president Carlton Savage to consult with Dean Fox regarding arrangements for the annual open house scheduled for Saturday night. The number of sororities and annexes to the women's dormitory having been increased during the past year, members of the council favored consulting Dean Fox in the hopes of arranging a new plan whereby men might be given more than one night to visit all the women's groups.

Two plans were suggested which will be discussed by the committee which will meet with Dean Fox today. One, which seemed to be favored by the council, inasmuch as it permitted men to meet all the organizations in two groups, one visiting one-half of the women's groups, and the other group visiting the remaining half of the women's houses. On another open date early this term, a second open house would be held when the men's groups would visit the houses that were missed the first time.

The second plan was to have open house the first Saturday of each term, dividing men and women's organizations into three groups, one men's group visiting one women's group each term. Such a plan was objected to on the grounds that it would not permit every member of the student body to become acquainted with each other during the first term.

A motion to appoint a committee to authorize all printed matter such as calendars, blotters, telephone directories and student lists which are financed through advertisements of Eugene merchants was passed by the council, and a committee consisting of Raymond E. Vester, chairman, Harry A. Smith and Lyle Bryson was named by President Savage to authorize all publication of matter for the use of students.

Attendance of every student at assemblies during the year was strongly urged by President Savage. Assemblies during the coming year are to be held down to exactly fifty minutes in length, and none will run over into the noon hour as in the past. A committee appointed last term will recommend a list of assembly speakers to the University for the year. Senior marshals will assist in
