

UNIVERSITY MAKING EXHIBIT AT SALEM

Birds, Paintings, Mental Test Apparatus Included.

CAMPUS VIEWS SHOWN

Extension Division in Charge of Display.

Earl Kilpatrick, director of the Extension division, has returned from Salem, where the extension division installed a University exhibit at the state fair.

The extended work of the University, which has culminated in the establishment of many separate schools, was featured in the exhibit. The color scheme, which forms the background for the exhibit was arranged by the department of architecture. The exhibit is to the side of the entrance in the educational pavilion directly across from the exhibit displayed by the Oregon Agricultural college.

Pictures of the University and colored views of the campus by Kaiser, displayed on transparent illuminated moving screens form a part of the exhibit.

The display includes native birds furnished by the department of zoology and over 100 books, upon a wide range of subjects, written by members of the University faculty and former students and alumni. Under the direction of John C. Almaek complete apparatus for conducting child mental tests is on display. During the last three days of the fair Mr. Almaek will conduct actual tests.

Two oil paintings by Professor A. H. Schreff are on the walls of the Oregon exhibit. A number of other paintings by Professor Schreff as well as student work in art and architecture are placed in the state art exhibit in the main pavilion.

The exhibit was installed by Alfred Powers, assistant director of the extension division, and is now in charge of Robert Earle, '21. Earle is assisted by Mozelle Hair, '08, and Lucille Davis, '20. Mrs. Jennie Beattie Harris and Marion Stowe Downs, Salem alumnae, aided the arrangement of the exhibit.

FRESH HOLD MEETING

Nominating Committees Named For Election Monday.

The first meeting of the class of 1924 was held in Villard hall Wednesday. Both Dean Fox and Dean Straub spoke to the Freshmen, explaining the campus traditions, telling them what was expected of students at Oregon and administering timely advice.

Two nominating committees were selected, to report on candidates for the class offices. Charlie Wilson was appointed chairman of one committee with Willar Marshall, Phillip Strawbridge, Vera Hughes, Evans, and Vashti Hoskins. The other committee was composed of Vera Hughes, Lurline Coulter, Leonard Lerwill, Benjamin Pollack with Mildred Hall as chairman. The election is to be held next Monday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock in Villard. Dean Straub urges all members to be present.

"This is the largest Freshman class ever to enroll in the University, and it is going to be the best," said Dean Straub. "There are 500 enrolled in the class at present and more are coming in all the time. We hope to make this the best class that has ever entered the University, and if we all pull together, we can."

LARREMORE FINISHES SURVEY IN PORTLAND

Professor Thomas A. Larremore of the Law Department, assisted by Gordon S. Wells of this year's senior class and Fred Packwood of last year's graduating class, both of the Law School, has just completed a survey of the conditions involved in the administration of justice to poor people in Portland. The survey was conducted under the joint auspices of the extension division and the law school.

Much data was collected by Professor Larremore and his assistants, such as the cost of litigation, operation of the Small Claims Court, "ambulance chasing" and contingent fee in personal accident cases, loan sharks, the method of assigning counsel in criminal cases, the need for a Portland Legal Aid Society, and so on.

The survey is a continuation of the work done under the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching published in a bulletin entitled "Justice and the Poor." The Portland survey was undertaken by the law school because the Carnegie investigation did not cover that city.

The results of the research will be published as soon as possible, according to Professor Larremore, probably by the end of December.
