

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB ASSAILED BY CUPID

Havoc Played in Songsters' Ranks by Love God.

SEVEN MEMBERS BACK

Genevieve Clancy Is Elected President for Year.

Following the example set by their director, Professor Leland A. Coon, four members of the Girls' Glee Club allowed Cupid to decide their future lives for them, but departing from his example, permitted the little god to interrupt their college careers. Five more entered the ranks of engaged couples and failed to return to the University with the result that the seven old members who were present at the Glee Club meeting on Monday decided that the club was a sure cure for old maids. Six others for various reasons also failed to return.

Genevieve Clancy, Laura Rand, Florence Garrett, Marvel Skeels, Bernice Alstock, Margaret Phelps and Alice Gols, the only remaining Glee Club enthusiasts, outlined tentative plans for their activities, and elected officers for this year. Genevieve Clancy was chosen president. Laura Rand, manager, and Florence Garrett, secretary and treasurer to succeed Marjorie Wells, who is ill and will not return to school until the winter term.

The annual spring vacation tour was discussed, but as yet nothing definite has been decided upon. It is expected that a short trip will be made earlier in the season. Initial try-outs for membership were held Tuesday and will again take place in the music building on Thursday from 3:00 to 4:30. It is hoped that a large number will turn out for these, so that final try-outs will be necessary later on in the term.

Members of last year's club who are not now on the campus this year are: Beulah Keagy, Patty French, Marjorie Holman, Gladys Ellsworth, Arbely Healy, Lois Muir, Adah McMurphy, Kate Chatburn, Marjorie Wells, Miriam Stockton, Joy Judkins, Mildred Bettinger, Clara Collins, Helen Manning, and Gladys Lane.

2200 New Books Added to Library

Society, 50 volumes in all.

Reginald C. Robbins, of Asticon Lodge, North East Harbor, Maine, has given the University seven volumes of his poems. These books are bound in leather and are never sold, but are kept by the author for gifts.

Many of last year's library staff are back. Caroline Sykes, Mrs. M. P. Watts, Arthur Johnson, Margaret Jackson, Vincent Engeldinger, and Beatrice Rice are employed in the circulation and order department. Mary Moore is employed in the cataloguing department, Ralph Hoehner in the reference and periodical departments, and Johanna Johnson is employed as stenographer. Marian Boetticher, who was employed in the library during the summer, is continuing her work there. Blanche Ross, a new member of the staff, came to the University from the Portland library.

Elmer Pendell will again have charge of the economics reading room on the second floor of the library which will be open to all students of economics four evenings of the week. A mathematics reading room will be provided in the administration building but the arrangements have not yet been completed.

Students will not be permitted the use of the stack rooms this year without special permission, according to Mr. Douglass. Students who need the use of the stacks for any length of time may secure written permits from their professors which will entitle them the use of the stack rooms for the term or year as the case may be. Those who wish to use the stacks for a short time only may secure permits at the desk.

MONROE DOCTRINE OF JAPAN IS TOPIC

Buholzer Says Tokio Seeks to Dominate Orient.

F. A. Buholzer, a native of Lucerne, Switzerland who holds a graduate fellowship in history at the University of Oregon, has just completed a thesis on the Meaning and Significance of the Japanese Monroe Doctrine, a work of 5000 words which has special reference to the 21 demands which Japan made on China in 1915. This thesis will be submitted to the American Institute of International Education, New York, for a competitive prize.

During the summer, Buholzer devoted the greatest part of his time in studying the eastern question, and the tedious research work has convinced him that Japan is attempting to dominate the entire Orient. The thesis is a clear exposition of this domination. He believes the Japanese aggression in the Orient a serious problem for the United States. Referring to Japan's diplomacy, Buholzer writes:

"Here we are face to face with an Asiatic Prussia whose cunning and unscrupulous diplomacy descended to the lowest depths conceivable in international relations." The thesis states that in 1915 Japan demanded that China hand over the heritage of 400,000,000 people. Buholzer writes in conclusion:

"A Japanese Monroe Doctrine means Asia for Japan to the exclusion of every other nation commercially and politically. Then Japan will be ready for her western march through Siberia and settle with the Occidental nations the question of white or yellow."

After the American Institute of International Education decides on the merits of the thesis, Buholzer intends to publish his exposition of the eastern question in a pamphlet form.
