STUDENT SELF-GOVERNMENT.

The question of student self-government and the honor system was again brought before the Associated Students yesterday morning. President Campbell spoke at length on the plan, urged the early adoption by the students of the self-government plan similar to that used by the students of many of the larger institutions of the country.

Oregon will eventually try out self-government and the honor system—that much is certain. But before the plan is adopted, every student in the University of Oregon should give the matter real serious thought, realize the responsibilities the adoption of this movement would throw upon such individual student, and make up their minds whether Oregon is ready or not.

Self-government, as the Emerald sees it, involves two phases: Discipline and the honor system. The first phase means that all matters of student discipline which now come under the jurisdiction of the faculty committee in charge, would be handled by a student committee. The honor system means that every student in the University pledges himself not to cheat in examinations.

Student self-government is based on the idea that students must check up on each other. The American boy instinct of hating the "tattler," has made the plans of self-government go awry in many institutions. But it has been overcome in many more. Once that instinct is overcome, self-government cannot fail to be a success.

Just because student self-government has been adopted in practically every large institution in the country is no reason the University of Oregon should blindly adopt the measure. The question will undoubtedly be brought up at the next meeting of the Associated Students. In the meantime avail yourself of every opportunity to study up on the matter.

The program of class meetings during the past few days has been rather strong. But no member of any class can afford to be on the outside of anything his class is doing. Class spirit is second only to Oregon Spirit. New students who are not acquainted with this fact will likely have it brought home to them permanently sometime Saturday afternoon. Class spirit is big. Get it!

Open practice will be held on Kincaid field one night a week—Wednesday, which means in plain English that on-lookers are not welcome at varsity practice at any other time during the week. Secret practice is necessary if Oregon is to have a winning team this year. Don't wait for the coaches to ask you to leave. Watch the team practice on Wednesdays.

"Y. M." RECEIVES BOOK

The "Y" hut Tuesday received a new contribution to its library in the form of a book of essays and lectures by Reverend James L. Hill, D. D., of Salem, Mass. The volume, which is entitled "The Worst Boy in Town" was presented by the author through the agency of H. H. Robbins of Eugene. Mr. Robbins and Rev. Dr. Hill were schoolmates back in Grinnell, Iowa, about 1870. Hill is the author of several other books on religious and social subjects. The "Y" hut library is open to all.

LOST. — At freshman class meeting, "Manual of Good English." Name Howard E. Bailey in front. Please leave at "Y" hut.

LOST. — A diamond in onyx setting somewhere between Library and Gamma Phi Beta house. Reward given. Call at 772.

LOST—Overcoat with belt during open house. Phone 1320—adv.

LOST—Red and black model Waterman fountain pen between McClure and the library. Call 107.—adv.

The Weekly Half-Wit

EXCHANGES.

Two nickels for a dime. Fairmont for College Crest. Vice versa.

He promised her that he would show her their future home after they were married. The next night he led her out Kincaid street and showed her the graveyard.

HELP WANTED.

Few boys over 16 to sell refreshments in the graveyard Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings

"Doc" Landsbury told us to get this off our chest early, and while we are close to the subject, we must let it out. He says they are building the new music building where they can wake the dead.

SPORTS.

Canoeing.
Craps.

OUR WEEKLY ATTEMPT.

Down amongst the millrace.
Him and her did stroll.
A dance was on at the armory,
But his was a thrifty sole.
Eyron Mike says: "Th' best way t' get a rank in the R. O. T. C. is t' sign up as a 'major' in th' department."

Now that the football season is well under way, the University Infirmary has announced that expansions will be made in the near future. Perhaps a premonition from the psychology department.

Kansas has honored its loafers with a special room to loaf in. Here the boys are not so particular where they loaf and besides we need all our rooms for classes.

COLLEGE CUSTARDS.

"Now I can speak my mind."
"Sh! Even the trees have ears."
"Do I have to wait till the trees leave?"

This is a deep one. Better read it twice. Dictated to the Phi Delt grub hounds.

"What's in a name," said Bill Steers, as he jumped into the rear seat of the automobile.

Did that penetrate. This seems to be a nice way to kill time. Some guys are lard up, however, and last Saturday morning several of the boys journeyed over to Springfield to investigate the manufacture of Springfield rifles, R. O. T. C. line.

There is no excuse for students to snore in class as long as clothes pins can be bought for ten cents a dozen.

Gushing Co-ed — "Three of us girls had such a wonderful time this summer. We took a tramp through the Cascades." "Cruel Man—And did the tramp have a good time?"

A modest man shouldn't go canoeing on the race. If he capsized he might be too bashful to hug the shore.

Willard Standard of Service

First.—Meeting every customer more than half way, being really glad to see him, and glad to help him.

Second.—Being properly equipped to help—thoroughly trained and experienced in battery care, construction and repair.

Third.—Maintaining a real station in a good location, with space in which to do business properly.

Fourth.—Showing the car owner how to care for his battery and how to avoid things that will injure it and shorten its life.

Fifth.—Being businesslike, to base fair and just charges on knowledge of actual costs, to give good returns for every penny, and to carry an adequate stock of new batteries, rental batteries and repair parts.

Of course, we're human, and we're not all of us 100 per cent all of the time; but we are honestly and sincerely striving to live up to our standard. We believe Willard Service is the most reliable battery service in America and we're making it better every day.

We welcome your suggestions.
