First Meeting of Class.

Plans for the different events of the coming season were the chief topics for discussion at the first junior class meeting of the year at the "Y" hut yesterday afternoon.

October 30 is the date set for the ananal Junior Jinks, the Junior "rough neck" affair of the season. As is customary the affair will be a lottery, but a number of novel features are expected from the committee in charge consists of Helen Nelson, chairman, Wilbur Hoyt and Sherman Reese.

It was also voted that Junior vaudeville be re-established this year. Carl Newbury, president of the class, will appoint a committee to work out the details and arrange a date for the vaudeville in the near future. This year's class is the first in two years to attempt vaudeville, but with the talent contained in the class a show of excellent character will be expected. It is planned that a committee will be appointed to act as a head and work with another committee of representatives from every organization on the campus.

President Newbury also made a short talk on the coming Underclass Mix and all Juniors were urged to be on hand Saturday afternoon. The following Juniors are working on the affair: "Chuck" Huggins, chairman, Carl Liebe, Melvin Murchie, "Nick" Michels, "Bill" Collins. "Virg" Cameron and "Wes" Shattuck.

RETURN TO SCHOOL

CHAUTAUQUA GIRLS

Several girls from the University of Oregon have been ensnared in the coils of the Ellison-White Chautauqua, but all who were in this employment last summer have returned to school this fall more enthusiastic than ever to finish their courses. The four who were in school part of last year are Marian Taylor, who served eight months in the work as booking agent and later as director, Ruth Lane as junior supervisor and director, Ruth Nash as director, and Lois Hall as junior supervisor and cashier. To this list may now be added the name of Nancy Wilson, a freshman from Olympia, Washington, who was junior supervisor.

William Jennings Bryan seems to have a special feature on the girls cir cuit for most of them met and became personal friends with the great man. Miss Nash and Miss Taylor had the pleasure of introducing him to their respective audiences, so they say. Other persons of prominence and interest were encountered, all of whom helped make the work more interesting. When asked what benefits were derived from the experiences, one girl said, "It was worth two college years in that we met all kinds of people, learned how to manage, received excellent executive training and numerous other lessons well worth the inconveniences and hardships." The territory covered by the Oregon girls was made up of Arizona, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Utab. They all took the trip through Yellowstone Park during the summer, enjoying every minute. There they met many people from colleges and universities who were doing some kind of work. "Some were classified as Gear Jammers, Pack Rats and Savages, to which they responded cheerfully," said Miss Taylor. "We lauded the University of Oregon and I believe we made a real impression on them. It certainly made me feel proud to say I was from Oregon."
