Miss McCollister Loves Dogs, All Kinds; Likes Rain Also

INTRODUCING GRACE-MCCOLLISTER, Santa Cruz, California, instructor in the Household Arts Department. Tall and slender, is this new member of the faculty, with grey hair and wonderfully kind brown eyes.
"You'll think it strange for an instructor in the household arts department to have such a hobby as mine," she said with a little smile, "but I'll tell you, it's dogs. Anything that salls under the name of dog, I love, but most of all the Irish setter. For a woman, though there is one great difficulty in owning an Irish setter—he is a hunting dog and it is hard for a woman to keep him happy. For a good everyday dog I believe the Airedale is the best. Unfortunately I move around so much that I cannot keep a dog now, but I have had many of

SOCIAL COMMITTEE TO MEET OCTOBER 19

Patrons, Chaperons, Head Residents, All Interested Requested Attend.

The University social affairs committee, of which Dean Fox is chairman, announces an open meeting of the committee on October 19, from 4 to 6, and invites those men and women who are especially interested in the social life of the campus to be present.

"We want the patrons and chaperons of last year's parties, and those who are interested in this year's parties," said Dean Fox yesterday. "We want house chaperons and head residents and student presidents. We want the student council and chairmen of dance committees; women of the faculty and University staff, and wives of faculty men. In fact, all who are interested in the campus social life and problems are invited and urged to come. There will be a thorough discussion of the year's social program."

The place of meeting, and the program will be announced later.

FIFTY STUDENTS SEE FRENCH CLUB START

Dorothy Condon Is Elected Secretary.

"Please don't think this is a club for the select few," said Raymond Burns, president of the French club at the first meeting of the year last Tuesday night. "It is a club of students who are interested in French. We are all just beginners." No one need feel timid about joining because he is not fluent in French, he declared, as no one will not be called upon to take part in the program or help in any way unless he is quite willing. Students having had one year of French will find they are able to understand most of what is said, he declared, and they will find the club helpful.

There were about fifty students present at the meeting Tuesday night. Miss Dorothy Condon was unanimously elected secretary. Miss Henrietta Gony and Madame Fayard made interesting talks. Miss Alberta Potter gave a violin solo. Then the party formed little groups and talked in French, while coffee and wafers were served.

The club has a membership now of about thirty students and it is expected to take in about that many more. They wish to admit those students who are really interested in French, and who will help to make the club a live affair. Later in the year a play may be given, and it will be so chosen that the newer students may take part. Membership may be had by applying to the president.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks, and visitors interested in the study of French are very welcome.

MISS SPALL AT Y. CAMP

University Girl Is Recreation Director at Newman Lake.

Miss Eleanor Spall was recreational director for the Y. W. C. A. camp at Newman Lake, near Spokane, this summer. Y. W. C. A. girls over 16 were admitted to the camp, and an attendance of from 15 to 45 was maintained all season.

all kinds." Now you know that she is essentially kind or she wouldn't love dogs so much and if you could see the light in her face when she talks to them, you would be sure that she loves them.
Miss McCollister was born in Illinois, but came to sunny California to get most of her education. She received her degree at the University of California in 1915, having taught for a time before that. She comes to us from the State Normal School at Lewiston, Idaho, where she has taught for the past four years. Here, Miss McCollister teaches sewing, housewifery and textiles.
"I have never been in Oregon before and I certainly do like it here," Miss McCollister declared. She also says that so far she likes the rain—isn't it lucky she was interviewed so early in the year?

STUDENT COUNCIL ACCEPTS MILITARY BAND PROPOSITION

Squabble Ended; A. S. U. O. to Use R. O. T. C. Band For All Occasions.

RESIGNATION OF HISTORIAN RECEIVED

Report of Mary Ellen Bailey to Be Investigated by Committee.

A proposal by Major Raymond C. Baird, of the University Military department, to allow the student body the use of the R. O. T. C. band for all occasions, such as yell practice, rallies and games was adopted by the student council at its regular meeting last night.

The R. O. T. C. band, according to Carlton Savage, who presented the proposal of Major Baird, is composed of some forty members, mostly underclassmen. The R. O. T. C. furnishes the band with military uniforms and instruments. According to Savage, Major Baird made the proposal, wishing to co-operate with the student body and at the same time afford the organization more time for practice. The student council voted to accept the proposal, agreeing to co-operate with the military department and giving up plans for a University students band, which would be a separate organization from the R. O. T. C. band.

Herbert Hacker, a student, is employed by the military department as instructor for the R. O. T. C. band. The department is equipped with several hundred dollars worth of instruments for the use of the band.

The band last year consisted of more than forty pieces, and was under Hacker's supervision during the last term. A large number of the men who played with the organization last year have returned to the campus.

OREGON STUDENTS WORK ON NEWSPAPERS

Oregonian, News, and Journal Call Five Trained by School of Journalism.

City newspaper work is proving attractive to many former students of the University. Three of last year's class are now connected with the Oregonian, while the News and Journal claim two others who were in school last year.

Robert O. Case, Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, Delta Tau Delta, and editor of the Lemon Punch, has been promoted to the position of railroad and financial editor on the Oregonian. Mr. Case went directly to the Oregonian upon his graduation last spring.

Two other members of the class of 1920 who are on the same paper are Earle Richardson and Dorothy Duniway. During his senior year Mr. Richardson was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, and Sigma Upsilon, and was on both the Oregonian and Emerald staffs. During the summer he was connected with the Cottage Grove Sentinel. Miss Duniway also went directly to the city last spring. During her course in the university she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Scroll and Script, and the Oregonian and Emerald staffs.

The Portland Journal claimed Mauna Loa Fallis, a freshman last year. Miss Fallis was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Kwama. Ariel Dunn, a sophomore, worked in the Telegram's office during the summer, and at present is doing general assignment work for the News. Both Miss Fallis and Miss Dunn were on the Emerald staff.

CAMPAIGN ISSUES FAIL TO AROUSE STUDENT INTEREST

Meeting Is Held in Order to Stimulate Activities of Both Parties.

CHAMBERLAIN MAY TALK TO DEMOCRATS

Address to Precede That to Be Given in Courthouse at Seven O'Clock.

Although nothing has been done so far to organize political clubs among the students, a committee of campus democrats is trying to complete arrangements for Senator George E. Chamberlain to speak to those interested, tonight at seven o'clock, just preceding his speech at the courthouse. If negotiations are carried through, the announcement will be made at the assembly this morning.

A meeting of students who favor the democratic ticket was announced for last night to organize a Cox-Roosevelt club. The committee decided to postpone the meeting until tonight and make an effort to have Senator Chamberlain here.

The Eugene Republican club is very anxious that a Harding club be formed, and although no plans have been made as yet, something will be announced definitely within the next few days.

Those who were here in 1916 remember the active part which university students took in that campaign. There were students' clubs for both of the big parties. According to two of the professors the apathy this year is noticeable when they think of four years ago.

Both faculty and students lined up for one side or the other and a straw vote was taken, which gave Wilson a slight majority. The democratic club held a meeting in Villard hall, in which Wm. J. Hanley spoke. Several debates were held, and literature was profusely spread over the campus.

"The Wilsonian" was the name of a paper which was published in the interests of the administration. It contained live arguments from the student standpoint and was edited by Harry Crain, Stanley Eaton and Floyd Westerfield. However, there is still nearly a month before election and it is expected that a greater interest will be developed. Although some of those interested stated yesterday that students take very little interest in politics this year. They attribute this to the aftermath of the war, and to the difference in the appeal of the issues of this campaign and the last.

Both the University of California and the University of Washington have political clubs which are actively engaged in the distribution of literature and the presentation of arguments. Clubs are in the process of formation at many other colleges in the country.

HOEBER RE-ELECTED WELL KNOWN AUTHOR

John Anderson to Be Manager Again; Jazz Music to Be Played at Assembly.

Ralph Hoerber was re-elected president of the University orchestra, and John Anderson was re-elected manager at the election of officers Tuesday night. Herbert Hacker is assistant manager, Alberta Potter, secretary and treasurer, Maud Largent, librarian, and Arthur Campbell, assistant librarian.

At the assembly today the orchestra will play for the first time this year. They have decided that the orchestra should not be confined to classical music so all numbers at today's assembly will be strictly Jazz. Hoerber says this is to balance the Sunday afternoon concerts, when all classical pieces will be played.

According to Rex Underwood, orchestra director, they have more material now than they have ever had before. The orchestra plan to make two trips this year. One at Christmas close around Eugene, and one during the spring vacation, in Eastern Oregon.

Also the orchestra are going to try and have the Student Body Constitution amended so that the members can get their pins the same as the glee clubs. Last year the orchestra was made a student body organization.

ASSEMBLY SPEAKER HEAD OF ORCHESTRA

Dr. Philip Parsons Writes on Criminology; Was Head of Sociology Department at Syracuse University.

Dr. Philip A. Parsons, recently appointed head of the Portland School of Social Work, and Professor of Sociology at Eugene, will be the speaker at assembly today.

For eleven years Dr. Parsons was head of the Department of Sociology at Syracuse University. He is a graduate of Union Seminary and Columbia University, receiving his Ph. D. in 1909 from the latter. He was also a student and fellow in the New York School of Philanthropy and the Bureau of Social Research.

Dr. Parsons is the author of "Responsibility and Crime," a well known standard work on criminology, and has written a number of articles and book reviews on this subject. During the war he served as Community Director for the War Comp Community Service in Dayton, Ohio, and Lafayette, Indiana.

OREGON TO BID FOR COAST CONFERENCE

Laying out of Track Around Hayward Field Begun.

Oregon will make a bid to bring the Pacific Coast Conference track meet to Eugene as an attraction of Junior Week-end next spring, according to Trainer "Bill" Hayward. A Pacific Coast Conference meet has never been held here, and it is the opinion of Hayward that Oregon has a strong chance of getting the event staged in Eugene.

One reason that Oregon has not bid for the meet heretofore is on account of the poor track facilities here for handling such a meet. Work will be commenced soon on the new track which will be laid out according to track regulations and will encircle Hayward field. The track will be a quarter-mile oval with a 220 yard straightaway, and will be strictly modern in every sense.

Although the conference officials do not meet until December, the movement to have the meet at Eugene is already getting under way and it is planned to have a first class proposition to offer to the officials at their next gathering which is slated to be held in San Francisco.

GRADUATE OF OREGON ON CATHOLIC SENTINEL

Lawrence Dinneen, '15, Takes Position as News Editor on Portland Paper.

Lawrence Dinneen, Oregon '15, has taken a position on the staff of the Catholic Sentinel. He has charge of the circulation department and is acting as news editor. While at the University he was correspondent for several papers. He is one of the founders of the Newman Club.

Since leaving the University, where he majored in journalism, he has had a broad experience in the journalism field, having served as reporter and assistant circulation manager of the Portland Journal, city editor of the La Grande Daily Observer and as reporter of the Dallas Observer.

Since his return to Portland from service overseas, he has been assistant circulation manager on the Journal and is correspondent for the Statist, a London journal of practical finance. He is a director of the Portland Press Club.

INFIRMARY VERY BUSY

Colds and Sore Throats Lead in Ills, According to Dr. Sawyer.

The University infirmary is treating, on the average 35 clinic cases a day this year, which is slightly above that of last year, according to a statement given out yesterday by Dr. Sawyer, the college physician. So far no contagious cases have been received, said the doctor. Colds and sore throats comprise most of the cases, although there have been a few patients with a fever, but they are not serious, he said. From time to time students come with minor injuries to be dressed.

Nurses quarters are being fitted up in and adjacent building which will leave more room in the infirmary.

NEW LINE OF WORK NOW UNDERTAKEN BY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Miss Grace Robertson Will Have Supervision of "Follow-Up" Cases.

OREGON AMONG FIRST TO EMPLOY EXPERTS

Dietetic Advice and Outside Aid Incorporated in the Present Activities.

More pioneering has been done by the Health Service Department in the obtaining of the services of Miss Grace K. Robertson who, according to Dean Bovard, has training and experience much beyond the ordinary. She will have charge of some classes under the Home Economics Department and besides that will do follow up work in conjunction with the infirmary.

"We were fortunate indeed in getting her," said Dr. Bovard in telling of Miss Robertson's experience. She is a graduate of the Great Ormond Street Hospital in London, the largest children's hospital in the world. After completing her work there Miss Robertson entered the Post Graduate Hospital of Northwestern University, Chicago. Training equivalent to that of a doctor is required to gain entrance there. She graduated from that hospital also.

Served in Siberia.

During the war Miss Robertson served one year as a nurse in connection with the Aviation and Marine Corps and a year with the Red Cross in Siberia, where she was attached to the General headquarters staff in Vladivostok. While there she was in charge of a children's hospital on the Russian Islands. The refugee children from Petrograd were sent to these islands and it was for the treating of these children that the hospital work was carried on. She returned from Vladivostok only a short time ago.

New Courses Open.
Two courses will be offered by Miss Robertson under the Home Economics Department. One of these will be a course in home nursing and the other on the care of children in the home.

The remainder of her time will be taken up with what Dean Bovard calls "follow-up" work in conjunction with the Infirmary. This work will include a wide variety of activities and will be carried on under the Health Service Department. She will work entirely outside the Infirmary.

One of the things in which Miss Robertson will assist is the making of a survey of the sanitary conditions of the school in general.

Sick to Be Visited.

A large part of her work will be in keeping in touch with cases of sickness outside the Infirmary which do not need a doctor's care. She will visit students who are sick at home—those who have been sent home from the Infirmary and any others who need her help. She will determine whether they should be taken to the Infirmary and if that is not necessary will treat them in their homes. This will enable the Health Department to broaden its scope a great deal.

Miss Robertson is an expert dietitian and will give advice to students doing their own cooking. She will suggest menus and in general help them to keep their appetites in good working order.

The women of the University will be advised in regard to home remedies and other problems of the home.

This work, Dean Bovard said emphatically, is not to be of a prying nature. Miss Robertson is here to help and will soon be a friend to everybody, he continued.

Only the most progressive universities in the country have made a start in this work. The University of Washington is the only other one on the coast which has so far instituted such a department.
