

EDUCATION IS CURE FOR SOCIAL TROUBLE SAYS DR. PARSONS

Sociologist Points Out Peril of Selfishness to a Country.

RELIGION IMPORTANT CONSTRUCTIVE FORCE

Students Said to See Need for Offering Help of More Practical Nature.

Education, combined with an intelligent and conscientious following of the teachings of Jesus Christ, is the thing that would, if radicalism ever threatened to destroy the existing social fabric, save the people of the globe from that movement. This is the opinion of Dr. Phillip A. Parsons, professor of sociology of the University, as expressed in his address to the Associated Students at the regular weekly assembly held yesterday in Villard hall.

People know too much now, he said, to ever succumb wholly to such a scheme of government as the syndicalists, the I. W. W., the Bolsheviks, or whatnot, might suggest to take the place of the already existing forms of rule. If they follow such a plan, he said, it would be with their eyes open.

Destructive Forces Losing.

Science now has such a wide knowledge of means of destroying any forces that might threaten civilization, such forces would not stand much show of succeeding, a motive too, would have to be shown by the aggressors if they hoped to recruit any following, as no army will fight earnestly without some compelling desire to fulfill.

The older civilizations—the Babylonian, the Roman, and others—passed away because of the weakening influence exerted by the exploitation of the so-called upper classes. They could not, because of the weakened national morale, withstand the onslaughts of aggressors. The backbone of the nation, the common people, had nothing to fight for and were not much concerned about who governed their country.

Wealth Less Centralized.

Today, he continued, things are different. The government is not in the hands of the few, and the wealth of the country is not as centralized as formerly. It is getting to be more so every day. The average man is quite familiar with things as they are happening in the financial, industrial and political capitals of the country, and has an interest, a deep interest, in what is going on now and what is planned for the future.

Each generation, as it grows up, is learning other things than mere fortune-seeking, he said. A short time ago as one generation ago, he pointed out, the average youth was taught the world was a battle ground, and that he must trample on his fellow man in order to attain that end he sought, whether it be riches, power, fame, or something else.

More Desire to Help.

Those whom he termed the "future millionaires" of the country are now being shown that there are other ways of living besides selfishly enjoying the fruits

FRESHMEN TO HOLD PARTY TONIGHT

Acquaintance Party Scheduled for Eight o'clock. Promises To Be Lively Affair.

The annual freshman acquaintance party, scheduled for Saturday night, October 16 at 8 o'clock, will be the liveliest affair of its kind ever held on the campus, if the plans of the committees in charge materialize. President Campbell and Dean Straub will interrupt the jazz just long enough to offer a little advice and to urge everyone to smile at everyone else and get acquainted.

Claire Wallace, president of the class, has appointed the following to act as chairmen of committees: Rodney Langlois, punch; Edna Bushman, entertainment, and Walter Holman, music. According to Wallace, the punch will be the "real thing," and the music the best to be had.

Dates and party clothes are taboo. This, when translated, means that it will be a strictly informal get-together. Girls are to depart from custom, and come without escorts.

SENIORS' ROUGH NECK PARTY SET FOR OCT. 23

Event May Be Held This Saturday if Later Date Cannot Be Obtained.

The Senior Class will hold their annual "Rough Neck" party Saturday, October 23, or if this date is not available, it will be held Saturday night of this week. This was decided at a "peppy" meeting of the Seniors this afternoon. A committee has been appointed to investigate the date available for this party, and a definite announcement will be made in Saturday's Emerald, so all Seniors are requested to watch this issue of the Emerald closely. If it is to be held Saturday of this week all seniors are asked to be on hand for this acquaintance party.

Alice Thurston was elected vice president and Bob Earl treasurer of the class. Miss Norma Dobie and Prof. Crockett were re-elected class sponsors.

GIRLS' OREGON CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS

Two Vacancies To Be Filled, Debate and Basketball Teams To Be Organized

The Oregon Club of the Woman's League will hold its first meeting for this year in Villard hall at 5 o'clock Monday. The purpose of the meeting will be reorganization and the election of officers to fill the places of those who failed to return to school.

Membership in this club is open to all women on the campus who do not belong to a residence organization. The club might be called the sister organization to the men's Oregon Club. The two clubs are run in much the same manner.

Dean Fox will be the principal speaker at the meeting. Jessie Todd, president, and Elsie Hildebrand, vice president, of the organization last year, have both failed to return to the University this term, so one of the important features of the meeting will be the election of officers.

It is for the purpose of giving girls not belonging to other organizations an opportunity to enter these contests that the club is to be formed.

Freshman co-eds at Maryland are called "Rabbits."

CHAMBERLAIN SAYS LEAGUE OF NATIONS SURE TO BE ADOPTED

Oregon Senator, Candidate for Re-election, Addresses Student Audience.

SENATE MAJORITY FOR INTERNATIONAL PACT

Countries' Financial Condition Discussed; Democratic Club Is Urged.

No matter which presidential candidate is elected the league of nations will be adopted although probably not in its present form, according to Senator George E. Chamberlain, who addressed a meeting of students in the Oregon building last night.

The people of America want a league of nations and Senator Chamberlain believes that its immediate adoption, in some form, is the thing of greatest importance before the American people today.

That the ratification of the league ever got into politics was considered unfortunate by the senator, who stated that he had done all in his power to secure its approval. The people of America hope that there will be no more war, but whether or not the league will accomplish the result remains to be seen.

The majority of the senate are in favor of some form of a league, according to the senator, but opinions on the reservations are so divided that it is very doubtful if the present league will ever be adopted.

Senator Chamberlain emphasized the part which the younger generation would be compelled to take in the solution of problems arising from the war and reconstruction, and urged young people to prepare themselves to the utmost degree. He said that congress is responsible for the immediate solution of the problem, but that very soon the young people of America would shoulder the burdens of government.

The fluctuation of monetary standards may compel America to stop exporting, and this effect is already being felt, said Senator Chamberlain in discussing America's financial condition. He spoke of the change of America from a debtor to a creditor nation.

Senator Chamberlain was introduced by Dr. R. C. Clark of the history department of the University, and spoke to a small crowd of students and faculty, before his speech at the court-house at eight o'clock.

Dr. Clark announced that a democratic club would probably be formed in the future.

FIRST-BLOOD SCORED IN CAMPUS POLITICS

Journalist Decorate "Shack" With Campaign Literature and Candidates Pictures.

The first signs of a bitter campus struggle over national politics have broken out. The journalism "shack" is the first place to experience a manifestation of the old time partisan spirit that was formerly aroused by campaign cider and torch light processions.

The fun began when an enthusiastic republican pasted up a Harding poster on the "shack's" door. In retaliation the democratic element secured a number of Cox and Roosevelt pictures and decorated the windows of the Emerald office with them.

Not content with gumming up the windows with posters, the enthusiastic Bourbons pasted a large "Cox and Free Beer" slogan under the candidate's photograph. This popular war cry lasted only as long as it took for the prohibition representative to discover it and tear it down.

Before the socialists had a chance to advertise their wares the janitor issued an ultimatum to the effect that no more window decorating would be tolerated. He had to wash the windows, at any rate, so the "shack" will at least have clean window panes until dust again flies in the spring, all of which goes to prove that it's a poor election that does nobody good.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Yell Leader Keeney Upbraids Students For Poor Showing in Wednesday's Yell Practice; Thirty Frosh Out.

"When you can get more men out for rooster practice than we have out for football I'll talk to them," replied Bill Hayward when asked if he would say a few words to the rooters at yell practice Wednesday evening.

Notwithstanding the fact that we announced at the beginning of the year that every Wednesday evening would be set aside for the purpose of practicing yells, and that a notice of the time and place of practice was announced at the head of Wednesday morning's Emerald and on the bulletin board in front of the library, probably a scant hundred responded to the call. A casual observer of that practice might well be justified in observing that the Varsity Yell Staff held a very good Secret Practice.

Is that the old-time Oregon Spirit? Is that the kind of support that will encourage Oregon's Warriors to again smear up a perfectly clean field with an O. A. C. team? How does any one of those warriors feel when he spends every evening of the season fighting that victory may be realized, when he knows that the members of the Student Body haven't enough interest in him, in the team, in the outcome of the season, or enough honest-to-goodness school patriotism to devote an hour or an hour and a half of their time, a week, to learning the yells, or learning how to play the tunes that will be an inspiration to him in the time when it is most needed?

Someone has advanced the kind and consoling belief that we will have no trouble in arousing enough School Patriotism to grant us a big turnout for the games, both in the rooster's section and in the band.

That's all very good, an we'll sure be tickled to death to have you there, but what kind of a showing is our rooting section and our band going to make against larger institutions such as Washington and O. A. C.?

Some people have the idea that if they know the yells and songs and come out to the games, that their mission is entirely completed. That is not so! Real Rooting is done by individuals yelling as a body, not as a body yelling as individuals, and this state of affairs cannot be reached without practice.

Special arrangements were made with the coaching staff, whereby the team would be allowed on the new field for a short time Wednesday evening so that they might witness the yell practice and the Student Body might view their work. They were greeted with a turn-out of about a hundred rooters and a fifteen-piece band. That is not only shameful, but disgraceful.

What's the matter? By actual count there were thirty green caps in evidence. Are the organizations of the campus adopting the right methods of instilling Oregon Spirit into the youngsters? Alright then, let's see you snap!

There are about one thousand men registered. With the right amount of co-operation and hard work we can become known as Oregon's "Thundering Thousand." LET'S GO!

According to the present schedule we can have but one more chance to get together before the Idaho game, and that will be WEDNESDAY (OCT. 30) AT 4:30 P. M. ON KINCAID FIELD.

FROSH AND VARSITY TO MIX ON GRIDIRON SATURDAY MORNING

Game to be Played in Regular Style on New Field Near Hayward.

NEITHER TEAM YET DEFINITELY PICKED

Competition Is Keen Among Men of First String for Backfield Positions.

Student fans will be treated to a rare football game Saturday morning when Coach Bartlett's Frosh eleven will be pitted against the Varsity for the first time this season. No announcement as to line-up has been made by either Coach Huntington of the Varsity or Coach Bartlett but there will be plenty of brawn on the frosh eleven according to the present indications and it will be up to the Varsity to put on a regular battle.

On account of a number of the Varsity players wishing to attend the O. A. C. Multnomah Club game in Corvallis Saturday afternoon the Varsity-Frosh game will begin at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and will be played on the new practice field near Hayward. According to Coach Huntington the game will be played in regular game style and if the Frosh have anything on the ball this year they will be given a chance to show it.

"Spike" Will Probably Punt.

The Varsity line-up will be shifted slightly from that which started the game against Multnomah last week, from information given out by Coach Huntington last night, although all the players who took part in the Multnomah game will no doubt be in the line-up at some time or other during the morning.

"Spike" Leslie will in all probability do the punting in the game, providing any punts are necessary. "Spike" has been making a good average in booting the ball the past week and Coach Huntington is well pleased with his work, he will probably be groomed for the kicking job in the conference games if he can keep up his present pace. "Nish" Chapman who proved to be one of the fastest men on Coach Huntington's backfield last year is out again in a suit and will probably get his initial workout with the lemon-yellow first stringers in the Frosh game Saturday. "Nish" got his letter last year and played in every game at some period. He played the entire Idaho game last season.

Letterman Out for Backfield.

"Brandy" Brandenburg also will get his first whirl at scrimmage this week in the Frosh game according to Huntington. "Brandy" had a little hard luck this summer in getting his ankle broken and has been kept off the squad so far this season. The trainers feel that he has sufficiently recovered however to give him a chance at a scrimmage workout.

The addition of Brandenburg and Chapman to the eligible list for a backfield position makes the competition still more keen for a berth. Three of last year's letter men are now out for a backfield berth, "Jake" Jacobberger, Chapman, and Brandenburg. They are going up against a hard battle for their places however, as the work of Hill, Blake, King, Mead and Hoisington in the Multnomah game and in the recent scrimmage workouts has shown that they are not to be overlooked in the selection of the backfield this year.

"Bill" Rinehart who played with the

MENTAL NEWS TEST WON BY 1923 CLASS

Revised Quiz May Be Given Scribes This Year.

Professor Max Freyd, who devised the psychological test for journalistic ability, to which all the local journalism students submitted last year, writes Dean Allen that he has a better, revised test, which he would like to have tried out on this campus in the near future. Professor Freyd is now on the faculty of the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh.

Last year's tests were given in many Universities. At the University of California the winner was Dorothy Bennett, a Freshman girl, and the showing she made led to her being employed by the San Francisco Examiner, to write a series of feature stories, which the Hearst paper runs under a by-line displaying Miss Bennett as the winner of the "test for super-journalists."

At Oregon last year, Fred Guyon, also a freshman, was the winner, but no metropolitan paper has yet secured his services. Dean Allen refused last year to give out the names of the freshman winners because he believes that too much publicity is bad for freshmen. The best freshmen in the order of their rank were: Fred Guyon, Ernest A. Richter, Floyd Maxwell, tied with Charles Gratke, Inez E. King, Herbert Scheidt, Margaret Scott.

Incidentally, the freshmen beat the Sophomores, which, according to Dean Allen's theory would have been particularly bad medicine to reveal. It is now made public for the first time.

NEW INSTRUCTOR AT R. O. T. C.

Sergeant Edward Conyers, of Vancouver Barracks, Washington, will soon join the Military Department here as an instructor according to advices from that quarter yesterday. A number of new non-commissioned officers in the R. O. T. C. will be selected and their names announced in the near future, by the members of the military committee.

Miss Tirza Dinsdale Changed Major From Languages to Girls

INTRODUCING TIRZA DINSDALE, our Y. W. secretary. And would you believe that anyone with big, brown eyes and a sense of humor would study, yes, even major Greek and Hebrew in college, not to mention mastering the more conversational languages such as French and Italian?

But she did. She says she did. She says she did it at Lawrence college, in Appleton, Wis. And then she went down to the University of Wisconsin and did it some more.

She changed her major when she left college though, and began majoring in girls, and she likes them better than languages or anything else in the world. She studied the subject of girls so hard, as Y. W. C. A. secretary in towns in Wisconsin and Iowa, that she had to go home for a rest.

Then she heard of the glorious West where, so the chamber of commerce literature says, everybody is well and happy, and she came to Oregon.

She took a year and half vacation to study girls' problems abroad. At Brest she helped get the little war brides home. Then by way of good measure ran down into Italy long enough to help start clubs and Y.W.'s for girls there before she came back to us.

She says, and the brown eyes lose their twinkle and grow serious, that she believes in girls, especially American girls. That she loves girls. That the thing she is most interested in is—girls.

SPONSOR-SPONSEE LIST POSTED.

Owing to lack of space, the Emerald has been unable to print the list of freshmen women and their partners for the annual sponsor-sponsee dance which is to be held tomorrow afternoon from three to five in the men's gymnasium. The list will be found posted on the building. All women are urged to inspect the list for their partners for their partners for the annual co-ed dance.—Editor.
