

TWENTY-SIX SEEK ADVANCED DEGREES

Graduate School Is Growing Department.

DR. REBEC IS NEW DEAN

Nine Hold Fellowships In Major Subjects.

The graduate school is a growing department in the University of Oregon; twenty-six persons are regularly checked up for the degrees of Master of Arts and Master of Science, nine of these have teaching fellowships and are assisting in the departments of their major subjects.

Dr. George Rebec, director of the Portland division, is now dean of the graduate school, having succeeded Professor F. G. Young, who is dean of the new school of sociology, established this year. Dr. Rebec makes a visit to the Eugene campus every ten days or two weeks to confer with the graduate council. The council is composed of the following men of the faculty:

Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education, Dr. E. S. Conklin, head of the department of psychology, Dr. W. P. Boynton, head of the department of physics, Dr. E. L. Packard, acting head of the department of geology, Dr. F. G. G. Schmidt, head of the department of German and German literature, Professor H. C. Howe, head of the department of English literature, and Professor F. G. Young, head of the department of sociology.

A meeting was held last Thursday afternoon, when the applications of twenty-six students were discussed for degrees. The names of these with their major and minor subjects follow. The first nine are holding teaching fellowships:

Read Bain, sociology, history; Adele Bischoff, German; Ranie Burkhead, psychology, commerce; Victoria Case, psychology, English; Helen DuBuy, French, Spanish; Mrs. C. M. Hogan, psychology, education; William C. Hoppes, education, economics; William R. Skidmore, chemistry, mathematics; Paul Weidenheimer, rhetoric, English literature; Anna L. Beck, rhetoric, music; Walter H. Buxton, mathematics, education; Chandos B. Castle, rhetoric, philosophy; Mary H. Chambers, zoology; Leo H. Cossmann, education, psychology; Leigh C. Douglass, psychology, Spanish; Meta M. Goldsmith, French, Spanish; Benjamin Horning, zoology, romance languages; Vivian Kellems, economics, psychology; Effie B. McCallum, education, pedagogy of music; Verne R. McDougle, commerce, economics; Jessamine M. McGlous, sociology, economics; Irl S. McSherry, rhetoric, public speaking; Richard H. Martin, economics, commerce; Ruth Montgomery, education, sociology; Marius D. O'Day, physics, mechanics; Dorothy Sanford, psychology, education.

Besides the above, there are three others who are doing work which will be applied on Masters degrees, but who have not yet made official application to the Council. All three are also teaching University classes; Chester Adams in the department of chemistry, F. A. Buholser, history and M. Lucile Copenhaver who is instructor in mathematics.

Lillian A. Carleton and Frederic S. Knight are on the campus doing graduate work, but are not candidates for degrees.
