

AD. BUILDING FOLK HAVE MOVING DAY

New Business Places Occupied by Officials.

MAIL CONGESTION OVER Post Office Building Houses Manifolding Devices.

Several changes in the location of offices have taken place in the Administration building in the last few days that will add much to the convenience of those concerned and enable advantage to be taken of all available office room and partially relieve the present congestion, say administration officials.

In addition to the removal of the post-office department from its former location on the upper floor south side, to the new temporary building directly in rear of the Administration building, there have been several changes that will make some of the offices more easily approached and add to the convenience of the students as well as the occupants of the office.

Alumni Secretary Moves.

The large room on the northwest corner of the upper floor recently occupied by Miss Charlie Fenton, alumni secretary, and adjoining the office of Dean Dymont, will be used for administration purposes and committee meetings, for the purpose of which a suitable room has been lacking.

The new office of the Alumni Secretary is in the southwest corner of the upper floor lobby where the multigraph machines were formerly installed, and which have been removed to the new building. The new quarters of Miss Fenton will be more convenient for those having business at the office than her former office room which had to be approached through the office of Dean Dymont.

New Postal Building In Use.

The office in the center of the south row of the upper lobby recently occupied by the postal department is now the office of W. K. Newell, director of property, who recently vacated the office adjoining it on the east.

The temporary wooden structure erected late last summer to relieve the congestion in the Administration building is located directly in rear of the "Ad" and is so built that it can easily be removed to any part of the campus when the present space is demanded by the new University building program. It was built especially to house the postal department but at present part of the space is given over to the mimeograph and multigraph machines.

All University mail and express is handled through the campus postoffice in addition to all student mail addressed to the University, and the great increase in the amount of mail and express matter handled necessitated larger and more convenient quarters than the former small office in the Administration building afforded.

The congestion of uncalled-for mail that troubled the postal department the first few days of the term has been relieved, according to Aitine Foster of the postoffice staff, who attributed the unusual amount of student mail addressed to the University to the fact that many of the students had not yet become permanently settled in Eugene.

Football Outlook

Made Rosy Again

mistic about the chances for the varsity in Saturday's game, but he is determined that the Idaho eleven will have a real battle if they carry home the honors. In the opinion of Coaches Huntington and Spellman, the Oregon eleven is just beginning to hit their stride now and it is fast being transformed into a smooth working machine. Better signal practice has been the order this week and light scrimmage workouts form a part of the afternoon program. Chalk talks from the coaching staff are also being drilled into the squad.

Captain "Bill" Steers looks fine in a suit this year and has added "pep" to the squad. He is in good shape and will be used a part of the time in the Idaho game, according to the plans of Huntington. "Bill" had a fighting spirit that the team likes and not only will "Bill's" return add another pillar of strength to the team physically, but the morale is bound to rise.

Steers to Play.

"Bill" Rinehart will pilot the team against the Idaho eleven, and George King will handle the full back position. Steers, Hill, Chapman, Mead and Jacobberger make up the quintet from which Coach Huntington will select his two half-backs. The line positions are being filled this week by practically the same line-up which played the game against the frosh eleven last Saturday and this combination will in all probability start the game against Idaho. "Bud" Brown and "Mart" Howard at ends, "Spike" Leslie and "Tiny" Shields at tackles, Mautz, Strachan, Ward or Voder Ahe at guards and "Brick" Leslie at center.

Idaho does not have a heavy team this season, but the men are speedy and full of fight and the game they put up against Washington State last Friday shows them to be in fighting trim. Saturday's game will be one of the hardest games that the varsity will be up against this season.

FACULTY MEMBERS HOLD "SOCIAL SWIM"

Plan to Organize Intra-Mural Teams To Challenge Students.

"Social swim" is the term applied to the faculty swimming class held each Monday evening at the tank in the men's gymnasium. According to Professor E. E. DeCou, chairman of the intra-mural sports committee, it is not a regular supervised class but simply a form of recreation for the members of the faculty and their families.

For several years past, states Professor DeCou, the men of the faculty have had an organized athletic club during the stormy months of the school year and they plan to organize (again) toward the latter part of November. The purpose of the club is to provide recreation and exercise for its members. Their meetings are held three times a week in the east end of the men's gym and it is here that they organize the teams which challenge the student teams. Basketball, baseball, tennis, volley ball, and golf are among the most popular sports in which they engage.

"In the course of a few weeks," says Professor DeCou, "a committee will be appointed to outline the sports for this year and then our further plans can be announced."

Y. STARTS BOYS' CLUBS

Sunday School Classes, Feeds and Gym Work To Be Fostered.

Boys of grammar school and high school ages are eligible to the boys clubs, now being started in the various churches under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A. This movement is becoming very general among all students in the country. The object is to give the younger boys a good time and also encourage them to start their school life straight.

On Sundays college students instruct classes of the boys at Sunday school, and during the week club meetings, feeds and gymnasium work will be carried on. The first of a series of entertainments of this type will be held Thursday, Oct. 21, at the "Y" hut.

DEAN SHELDON TO SPEAK

Head of School of Education to Address Idaho Teachers at Boise.

Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education, has been asked to address the Idaho State Teacher's Association, at Boise, on Nov. 25, 26, 27, during the regular annual session. About one thousand teachers are expected to attend the Association meeting.

Dr. Sheldon will deliver four addresses: "Teacher's Organizations of the Future," "War Against War," "The New History," and "The Mob Mind and Its Cure."

WORKING STUDENTS WILL START CLUB

Men to Have Organization To Correspond With Tre Nu.

A club for men students who are working their way through school, and corresponding to Tre Nu among the women, is being started at the "Y" hut. The club will set a standard wage for student labor, and be instrumental in securing positions for reliable students.

Membership will be limited to about thirty, these to have shown in some way that they can be depended upon for steady and competent help. Saturday jobs will be rounded up Friday and club members will be notified in order to apply for them. The club is not to be antagonistic to employers of such help, according to Jimmy Price, originator of the movement. It will be of as much benefit to them as to the students, in that the men employed through the club will always prove satisfactory. Also there will be no further dispute in regard to wages.

This organization will be for social purposes as well as business. Mr. Price said that the club will see that all its members have fully as much pleasure as any other men on the campus.

No one has been elected to membership as yet, and Mr. Price asks that anyone who is interested see him at the "Y" hut as soon as possible.

OREGON GRADUATES ATTENDING COLUMBIA

James L. Almack and Victor P. Morris Work for Higher Degrees in Education.

James L. Almack, a graduate from the school of education of the University last June, is now enrolled in the Teacher's College at Columbia University, New York, where he is working for a Doctor's degree. Mr. Almack is teaching part of the time at the college.

In a letter to his brother, John C. Almack, director of the Extension Division of the University, Mr. Almack stated that Victor Morris, former Oregon man who left the University last fall is also at Columbia, and that Dr. Samuel Ebeden, formerly connected with the state Normal School is at present on the faculty of Columbia.
