

WASHINGTON PRIMED FOR BATTLE ROYAL

(Continued from Page 1.)

will do anything for "Stub" Allison, simply because it is "Stub" Allison. It is that same spirit which is urging numbers of the Washington rooters to come to Eugene to back their team, for they are coming by every means of conveyance, from baby cart to twin-six, to see a real scrap.

Washington will have but five veterans in the line-up today.—Captain Ted Faulk, Ray Eckman, Erve Dailey, Bob Abel and Larry Smith. The other six men are green an inexperienced, but they learned to spell fight in the grammar grades and they have been doing it ever since.

It is likely that Captain Ted Faulk will play left end. Faulk was cut out for two weeks this season, being taken sick just before the game against Montana. He played against Stanford for the first time last week and should be in good trim today. He has been all Pacific-Coast end for two years.

"Zeke" Clark will play left tackle. We call him "Big Zeke" at Washington. He stoops to enter the dining room, and would rather open holes in an opposing line on off-tackle plays, than bury a slab of T-bone. He stopped seven plays directed toward him by O. A. C. without the gain of one yard by the Beavers.

Larry Smith, Washington's center, is a rear veteran. He is a living picture of the statue called, "Fighting Pose." Larry's best work is on defense, and he has tanglefoot fingers when it comes to blocking forward passes.

"Heavy" Glen or Gus Pope are the two who will probably play and alternate at right guard. Glen's daddy is Washington's dean of music and "Heavy" inherits all of his Dad's playing force. Gus Pope is the American discus champion. Gus got knocked on the chin by an opponent the other day and has been start against the Northerners. In the line, "Scotty" Strachan will fill the position left open by the injuries of Ed Ward, regular left guard. Morfitt and Brown will probably alternate at right end, with Brown working in the wing position at the start off.

(Continued on Page 7.)

OREGON-WASHINGTON MEN EVENLY MATED

(Continued from Page 1.)

Steers Strong Factor.

Drive and fight have been developed in the Oregon eleven since the Stanford game, and Washington will meet a much different team than the one met by the Cardinals in the south. "Bill" Steers is expected to perform in his old time style today. Steers is a fighter from the jump, and this is the first game in which he has really been in condition. In the Idaho and Stanford games, "Bill" had only a bare week in which to condition himself, he has taken advantage of the two weeks interval between the Stanford and Washington games to get into shape, and is in the best of physical trim for the contest. His open field running and punting will be a feature of the game this afternoon. Washington is familiar with Steers' playing ability, for it was "Bill" Steers who was the strong factor in the Washington defeat last year.

King, Chapman and Mead have been working well in practice for the past two weeks. King can always be counted on for the proper amount of punch through the line. Mead and Chapman are fast and shifty and will outdistance the Washington defense if they ever get away. Mead performed like a veteran in the game against Idaho the first of the season, while "Nish" Chapman handled a backfield berth on last year's varsity in big league style.

Battle Between Lines.

The big battle of the day will be between the two lines, their weight average is the same, their fighting ability is not under-estimated by either opponent. Washington's line held like a stone wall against the plunges of the O. A. C. and Stanford backs while Stanford and Idaho were equally unsuccessful in piercing the Oregon forward defense. Oregon's backfield may outweigh the Sundodgers backs about 10 pounds, which throws a little favor on the side of the lemon-yellow, and with an average equal in the line the impetus added by the heavier backs may tear up the Washington defense.

"Brick" Leslie, who it is certain will play, although he has been out of practice a part of the week on account of illness, will be opposed by Smith of the Sundodgers; both men are two year letter men, and although outweighed by Smith a good ten pounds, Leslie has so far the advantage in defensive playing. "Brick" is not only a tower of defense in the center of Oregon's line, but he is fast and has a faculty of getting down on a punt about as fast as any man on the Oregon line. "Brick" tips the scales at 166 pounds, the lightest man on the Oregon line, while Smith weighs 176.

Weight Nearly Even.

"Spike" Leslie of Oregon and Ingram of Washington each weigh 186 pounds, there will be no advantage in weight in the battle between these two. "Tiny" Shields has a weight advantage of 5 pounds over his opponent, Clark. "Tiny" weighs 190 pounds, Clark weighs 185.

Pope of the Sundodgers who handles the right guard position will outweigh Strachan, who will oppose him, by one pound, while Mautz has an advantage of 5 pounds over Bryan, who plays the opposite position on the visitors eleven. Pope weighs 187, Strachan 186, Mautz 189 and Bryan 184 pounds.

Tie Game May Result.

There is a difference of 3 pounds in the weight of "Rud" Brown at right end for Oregon and Dailey, left end for the invaders. Brown's weight is 173 pounds.

Dailey weighs 170. "Mart" Howard, at left end will be outweighed by Rogge, 2 pounds. "Mart" weighs 166 and Rogge 168. The lines of both teams are well balanced and a pretty battle will develop between these two veritable mountains of strength.

Providing the rain continues this afternoon, it is not probable that either team will be able to resort to an open style of play, the heavier weight of the Oregon backs may then give them an advantage in pounding the Sundodgers' line.

It is not improbable that a tie game may result from the battle on Hayward field, it appears from comparative strength estimates that the breaks will decide the winner.

Facilities for taking care of the crowd have all been properly arranged for, according to Graduate Manager Marion McClain. The officials will be George Varnell, University of Chicago, referee; Plowden Stott, Stanford University, umpire; "Heek" Dorman, University of Washington, head linesman.

ATTENTION!

The Dividends You Will Receive From One Lot

Will pay expenses to send your children's children to college. Are you going to secure this?

It's Up 2 U

Time waits for no man. Act today. Join before lots advance in price. Ten days from now you may have to pay 10 times as much per lot. Today they cost you $50.00. If Carter strikes oil our stock advances to $100 per lot. If his well goes 100 bbls. it advances to $500 per lot.

The smallest well drilled in Montana is producing over 150 bbls. per day, the largest over 4000 bbls. per day, the average is better than 200.

A FREE TRIP TO THE FIELD

We guarantee money back in 30 days if not satisfied.

Oregon-Montana Oil & Gas Co.

640 Willamette Street

PYREX GLASS WARE—CEDAR CHESTS

Chambers Hardware Co.

Hampton's

The Bargain Counter of Eugene

30 East Ninth Street.

Eugene

Welcome to Your Alma Mater

A bigger and better University this year than ever before.

Dice Grocery Co.

Eighth and Olive

Phone 183

Better MUMS and CORSAGES

—at—

The Rex Floral Shop

962—CALL—962

Oh! Boy

Some lovely dresses and beautiful novelty hose, now at

The

Emporium

The Campa Shop

Welcomes the Grads and Friends for the First Time

This new store is a future of the campus life. A place where you can get oysters, hot rolls and delicious lunches. A fountain in connection is ready to give you good service.

Come In and Visit Us

Campa Shop

H. R. TAYLOR, Manager