

WASHINGTON PRIMED FOR BATTLE ROYAL

 dumping everyone who gets in his way since then.
 Bob Ingram, Washington's right tackle, is the other twin Gibraltar to Clark. These two men are like two towers of strength on either end of the short defensive line from tackle to tackle. Bob opened holes big enough last week to drive a wagon through.

 Bob Abel plays right end. Though a quarterback, he fits very easily into the position, and has better opportunities to show his fight in the line, than in the backfield.
 Johnny Wilson calls the Sun Dodger's signals. He possesses both an educated toe and a vice-passing hand. This is his first year.
 Ray Eckmann is the star of Washington's backfield. He is tagged for all-coast now, because he excels in all departments.
 Erve Dailey or Rea Butler will play left half. Dailey is almost unbeatable at open-field running. Butler is known as "Bullet" for his line plunging.
 Elbert Harper or Jimmy Bryan will play fullback. Harper is the regular man, but Allison has a hunch that Bryan, who is a linesman by profession, may be a good fullback, due to his weight and may call on him.

"SCANDALS OF 1919" WILL APPEAR HERE

With lavish dressing and pretentious scenery, George White's "Scandals of 1919" comes to Eugene for the first time on Monday evening, November 15.
 Comedians with brains, experience, genuine dancing ability and rare comic nimbleness, are only one of the features of this gigantic production. There are scenes upon scenes. There's something happening all the time but what's coming next nobody guesses. Scene comes and scene goes and there is something new with every one of them. There is anticipation and expectation and gasps of admiration and "Ohs" of delight, as every new "Scandal" that is revealed far exceeds even the wildest anticipations of the waiting audience. Altogether there will be sixteen scenes in this revue, with elaborate costumes to harmonize with the gorgeous scenic effects.
GENEVIEVE HAVEN VISITS.
