OREGON ROOTERS TO HAVE SPECIAL TRAIN TO CORVALLIS GAME

Excursion to Leave Depot at 12:30 P. M. Saturday; Will Return After Contest

SEATS NOW ON SALE
AT CO-OP FOR STUDENTS

Rally Is Planned for Friday
Night and Serpentine
Upon Arrival

A special train to carry Oregon supporters to the game with O. A. C. has been arranged for to leave the Oregon Electric depot at 12:30 Saturday, arriving in Corvallis at 1:45 p. m. It will return to Eugene an hour after the game besides the regular scheduled ones.

Seats for the game are on sale at the Co-op today. In the rooting section 1500 seats have been reserved at 50 cents and 1200 seats in the reserved section have been held for sale here at $1.50 and $2.00.

A band and 1500 students are expected to go from Eugene to attend the game. Plans are made for a crowd totaling 13,000 people by the Corvallis authorities.

There will be a rally here Friday night before the game, and as soon as the train arrives in Corvallis Saturday noon there will be a serpentine through the town, according to those in charge. The band will lead the march.

The excursion will follow a different route, than the regular trains, arriving at the Southern Pacific station in Corvallis in order to avoid the long trip across the river from the O. E. station.

GRADUATE STUDENTS ORGANIZE AND ELECT

L. H. Douglass, Chosen President of Group-Council Meeting Held.

A graduate club was formed Thursday evening when the group of graduate students on the campus were entertained by the Graduate Council at the Y. W. C. A. bungalow. L. H. Douglass, a graduate fellow in psychology, was chosen president; George Theiss, major in German, vice president, and Ruth Montgomery, education major, secretary.

The club has not definitely defined its plans for the year. At the meeting, talks on graduate work were made by Dr. H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education, Professor F. G. Young, dean of the school of sociology, and Professor H. C. Howe, head of the department of English literature. Refreshments were served, and the group spent a social hour.

A meeting of the Graduate Council was held Thursday afternoon when Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate school was down from Portland. The members of the council, besides Dr. Sheldon, Professor Young and Professor Howe are Dr. E. S. Conklin, head of the department of psychology, Dr. W. P. Boynton, head of the department of physics, Dr. E. L. Packard, acting head of the department of geology, and Dr. F. G. G. Schmidt, head of the department of German and German literature.

Hal Donnelly Looked 'Em All Over, Picked Oregon; Here He Is-Smiling

INTRODUCING HAL DONNELLY, Y. M. C. A. and state student secretary. "I saw all the college towns in the northwest and chose this as the best," declared Hal, "as almost everybody calls him. So he packed up his old kit bag way back in Princeton, New Jersey, where he'd been getting his master's degree in philosophy (think of anyone being able to refer to an M. A. from Princeton as casually as that) and brought along his mother and his younger brother, Bob, out to little of Eugene and the U. of O.

"Say he's got a mean temper," said one of the boys standing near. "We've never seen any evidence of it, but he's

FACULTY COMMITTEE THANKS STUDENTS WHO AIDED HOMECOMING

The Student Advisory Committee of the faculty wishes to compliment the student body upon its smooth and capable handling of Homecoming events.

Alumni and other visitors as almost one person said they had been most generously treated, and that the hospitalities and exhibitions exceeded anything of earlier years; they commented also upon the fine quality of Oregon Spirit, and the Committee is a supporter of Oregon Spirit.

The Committee understands how great an amount of extra work has been thrown upon the students by Homecoming week and thanks them for doing it. It feels they should know that the administration is appreciative of the high-class work in which the University was represented by the students from Friday to Sunday.

The Committee believes it is speaking also for the faculty as a whole in extending this compliment.

FRIENDSHIP COUNCIL WILL MEET TONIGHT

Thanksgiving Party and Other
Plans To Be Discussed

The Friendship Council of the Y. M. C. A. will hold its first official meeting for the year 1920-21 at the Y hut this evening at 7 o'clock.

This council is the legislative body of the University Y. M. C. A. In an effort to make it as representative as possible, three members have been chosen from each fraternity, six from Friendly hall, and nine from the Oregon club. The Y. M. C. A. cabinet brings all its plans before this council for criticism and approval.

Among the important things to be considered tonight are the Y. M. - Y. W. Thanksgiving party, preparation for various noted speakers during the winter term, and the question of campus movies—whether they will be shown, and if so, how often.

Another important matter to come up for discussion is the part the association will have in answering the recent call sent out by Herbert Hoover for the relief of starving students in European universities. It is as yet undecided whether this work will be carried on by the Y. M. C. A. or the student council.

COLEMAN TO SPEAK FEB. 17.

Word was received by Karl Onthank, secretary to the president, that Norman F. Coleman, president of the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen, will address the student body on February 17. President Coleman will use "Lincoln and Labor" as his subject and he will discuss the changes which have come into industry within recent years. He will also address a special meeting of journalism students, according to the present plan.

OREGON TAKES 17-0 VICTORY FROM FAST WASHINGTON ELEVEN

Steers Runs 75 Yards For Touchdown in Second
Quarter of Game

SUN DODGER DEFENSE
WEAK BEFORE ATTACK

Enormous Crowd Treated to Spectacular Game; "O"
Men Parade

For the third consecutive year Oregon triumphed over Washington, Saturday. The score, 17 to 0, tells the story. It was a splendid Homecoming victory, before an enormous crowd at Hayward field, and the old grads assembled as guests of their alma mater were treated to one of the most spectacular games ever seen at Oregon.

The official score shows that Bill Steers, mighty captain of the Oregon eleven, did all the scoring for Oregon. It was a great day for Bill, who never appeared to better advantage. It was a different team from the one that fell before Stanford on its last appearance. Perfect interference, crushed the Washington defense, while the Washington offense was helpless throughout the game.

Steers, at quarter, won the game for the lemon-yellow, when early in the second period he caught a Washington punt on his own 25-yard line and, supported by faultless interference, ran 75 yards to a touchdown. In the third quarter he added three points with a perfect field goal from a difficult angle, though the range was short. Early in the fourth quarter he completed Oregon's seventeen points by skirting Washington's right end for four yards and a touchdown from a fake line buck formation.

The visitors were unable to fathom the Oregon passes and fake formations. On the defense the lemon-yellow warriors were a tower of strength and smeared the fast Washington offense time after time.

The Oregon defense stopped forward pass after pass and intercepted a number of the visitors' attempts, thus stopping the only mode of play which the Sun Dodgers were able to make yardage through the Oregon eleven.

"Mart" Howard was a big factor in the Oregon defense formation, and in addition to his hard and sure tackling of the Washington backs and spoiling of their interference, downed the Washington safety in his tracks on practically every punt. Howard downed the ball three times when Washington backs failed to catch the offerings of Steers, who booted the oval for an average of 40 yards.

For the Sun Dodgers, both Eckmann and Dailey played a star game. Eckmann is a shifty runner and was usually called upon for the gains through line. Although weighing 145 pounds, Eckmann makes more yardage through the line than any other Washington back. Dailey proved a strong man in broken field running. Most of his gains were made through his own selections of holes, and not depending upon the interference running of the Washington backs for his yardage.

Two forward passes from the hands of Steers, one received by Morfitt and one by Howard, netted 35 and 30 yards respectively, during the first quarter, placed the ball on the Washington 3-yard line when a bad fumble gave Washington the ball and Wilson kicked out of danger. Oregon received a 15-yard penalty for holding after the first pass, which also helped to spoil the chances of scoring.

A crowd of over 9,000 spectators witnessed the game. Before the two football teams trotted out on the field 58 men who have made their letters in some sport in Oregon during the past years, paraded on the field. They occupied a special rooting section on the sidelines during the game.

Washington and Oregon rooting sections returned yells before the opening of the game. The Washington eleven coming out on the field at 2:25 with Oregon coming out at 2:35.

The game was played practically the

Impromptu Rally Held to Celebrate Gridiron Victory

Students Serpentine During One O'Clock
Hour; No Action Taken Yet By Faculty
Committee

Oregon's victory over the University of Washington eleven last Saturday was celebrated by an impromptu rally on the campus yesterday afternoon. Shortly before 1 o'clock classes took up a serpentine, formed in front of the library, trailed over the campus, gathering rooters as it went, and ended in front of Villard hall.

Several talks were given by student officials and the varsity coaching staff. Part of the students left to attend 2 o'clock classes, the remainder going down town to the Armory, where an impromptu dance was held until 4:30 o'clock.

Impromptu rallies, which interfere with class work come under the general ban of the faculty disciplinary committee, but no action has been taken as yet regarding yesterday's celebration. At a meeting held last Saturday it was voted to hold classes the Saturday preceding Christmas vacation in order to make up for time lost in any rally which should interrupt the school work after the Washington game. Whether or not yesterday's affair comes under this head has not been decided by any official body.

Karl Onthank, secretary to the president, said yesterday evening that students who did not attend classes would receive cuts, which, he added, would prove disastrous in cases where pupils are on the verge of probation.

The action taken at the faculty committee Saturday was explained to the rooters at Villard hall by Dean John Straub. "Bill" Hayward and "Shy" Huntington spoke to the students on the support given the team at the Washington game and urged that the same loyalty be displayed at the conflict with O. A. C. Saturday.

Carlton Savage, president of the A. S. U. O. in speaking to the students, scored those who supported "victory rallies" solely with the prospects of attending a dance. The Oregon custom of celebrating a victory on the gridiron should not be lowered, he said, to the habit of merely staging a dance. He urged, however, rallies that tend to show loyal support of the teams on the part of the students.

ALUMNI OF Y. W. C. A. ASKED TO ORGANIZE

Thirty-five Former Cabinet
Members Entertained.

About thirty-five former cabinet members were guests of the local Y. W. C. A. at a breakfast given at the Anchorage Saturday morning. Florence Furuset acted as toastmistress.

Dean Fox welcomed the girls back to the campus. Mary Chambers was the next speaker, representing the cabinet of 1917. She spoke especially of Miss Watson's discussion groups which met at 7:00 o'clock in the morning. This group was organized by this cabinet and according to Miss Chambers is the thing which stands out as worth while in her memory.

Ruth Ann Wilson, president of the cabinet in '18, declared that she thought in the friendships made through the association the cabinet groups were the ones which lasted even after one was out of school. She urged the girls to take advantage of this opportunity.

Helen Hall, '19, told the girls where a great many of the members of her cabinet were and what they were doing now.

Marjorie Holaday spoke of the growth of the association in the last few years. According to Miss Holaday the budget has jumped from $16,000 to $28,000 in the last two years. Also the cabinet has five new members who head newly formed committees.

She told of the girls who were doing Y. W. work in different parts of the country. Essie Maquire is in Fort Worth, Texas; Helen Wells doing girls work in Casper, Wyoming; Harriet Garrett in Muscatine, Iowa, in city work; Mable Weller in Boise, Idaho; and Eleanor Spall who was in a recreation camp in Spokane.

It was then decided to have an alumni representative on the cabinet. Ruth Westfall was appointed to this position. Sunday afternoon the alumni met again to see what they could do to help the association. A permanent committee was created consisting of Ruth Westfall, Francis Shoemaker Gregg, Lillian Miller, Mary Chambers and Mildred Steinmetz.

These girls are going to get a record of all the old members and what they are doing. Then they are going to organize all the Y. W. alumni in Portland so that they can stand back of the association and help them more. One of the things they expect to do is to keep in touch with new students.

After voting to have this breakfast an annual event the girls left singing "Oregon our Alma Mater."

DEAN LIKES ATTITUDE SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Miss Fox Believes Dancing
Should Be Improved

Dean Fox is very favorably impressed with the attitude of the social committee this year towards the matter of student dancing. The committee feels that the University of Oregon is at the turning point of its history, and whereas before the student body dances have been the main form of amusement the committee recognizes other interests coming in, and that Oregon spirit is broadening in its generous support of all the best interests of the community.

"I have observed in regard to the dancing at the student dances," said Dean Fox, "a variety of form. Some students endeavor to introduce what they call the latest and newest steps, which in reality would be condemned by any reputable academy of dancing. There are other forms which are merely awkward and are the result of lack of training and quickness to observe and distinguish between graceful and ungraceful, not to say disgraceful dancing."

"The West Point military academy have some dancing rules which might well be adopted as campus slogans," she continued. "They are 'dignified carriage and demeanor,' and 'cheek dancing, extravagant posture, and motions of any kind are prohibited.'"

In regard to the attitude of the students toward patrons and patronesses, Dean Fox wishes especially that the students be more courteous and show their appreciation for the chaperones. "It is my opinion," said Dean Fox, "that they should not expect to be shadowed and booked for every moment of the evening, but I feel that they have a right to expect courteous treatment. One woman should never be left sitting alone in a corner, even at the most informal of afternoon matinee dances, and anyone seeing her in such a place should come at once to talk with her. No women should be allowed to cross the ball room unescorted. More spontaneous courtesy on the part of the students in greeting the patrons and patronesses is wanted instead of artificial politeness."

Y. W.-Y. M. TO GIVE PARTY.

The Y. W. and the Y. M. are planning for a big Thanksgiving party to be given Wednesday, November 24 at the Y. M. hut. It will be in charge of the social committees of the two associations. They are to have a very informal good old fashioned party. All students who stay over the vacation are expected to come.

WEEK OF PRAYER IS OBSERVED BY Y. W. ON OREGON CAMPUS

World's Fellowship Originated
By Central Committee
In London

FOREIGN COUNTRIES
ARE REPRESENTED

15 Women Born Outside the United States Will Speak
On Social Problems

The World's Fellowship Week of prayer which was organized by the world committee in London, is being observed by the campus Y. W. C. A. this week. Clyde Schuebel has charge of the plans.

Each day of this week will be given to discussing the social and philanthropic work done in some particular country. Brief talks of about five or seven minutes will be given in each girls organized house during the dinner hour, by girls selected from the Y. W. C. A. Besides this there will be a short meeting at the bungalow every morning between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock, to discuss the same questions.

The week is divided up as follows: Monday the work in Africa will be talked about; Tuesday, North and South America; Wednesday, Asia; Thursday, Australia; and Friday and Saturday, Europe.

There will be a special meeting at the bungalow Wednesday at 1:45 p. m. which will be in charge of women born out of the United States. The members of the world fellowship committee will all be dressed in Japanese costumes. The Y. W. here is particularly interested in Japan because they partly support a Japanese student, according to Miss Dinsdale, secretary of the local organization.

The following girls will speak at the meeting, dressed in the costume of their respective countries: Anna Karagomah representing Armenia; Jean Madsen, Norway; Germaine Dew, Paris; Josephine Smith, Honolulu; Mary Evans, Porto Rico; Elsie Marsh, India, and Frances Lee (born in Portland of Chinese parents).

Other girls on the campus who were born out of the United States and so included among the foreign girls are Bernice Mittleman, Russia; Astrid Mork, Norway; Hildegard Repinen, Australia; Vera Shaver, Westover, Ontario; Lucy Vander Sture, Netherlands; Miss Rosalia Cuevas, Colombia; Ethelmae Daniel, Rossland, B. C.; Alice Evans, Porto Rico; Adah Harkness, Canada; Winifred Hopson, Nova Scotia.

EIGHT SINGERS PLACED IN MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Organization is Expected to be Better
Than Ever Before; Christmas
Trip Abandoned.

After carrying eight extra men for a prolonged tryout of three weeks, the men's glee club was finally selected for the coming school year and announced Friday.

Speaking of the prospects for the season, John Stark Evans, director, said: "We have had more material to work with than ever before; the competition was so keen it took us three weeks to finally decide on the men. I think we will have a better organization this year than ever before."

According to the present plans no Christmas tour will be made, but everything will be saved for an extensive trip during the spring vacation.

The men selected for the club were as follows: First tenor, Carroll Akers, Wallace Cannon, Warren Edwards, Curtis Phillips, Ralph Poston, Eugene Short; second tenor, Wayne Akers, Nelson English, Creecene Fariss, George Hopkins, Joe Ingram, Arthur Johnson; baritone, Richard Gray, Charles Huggins, French Moore, Glen Morrow, George Stearns; bass, Maurice Eben, Harris Ellsworth, Edgar Kanna, Carl Newbury, Richard Pate.

The officers of the club are: President, Warren Edwards; vice president, Creecene Fariss, manager, George Stearns; secretary, Glen Morrow.
