

COUGARS HUMBLE O.A.C. VARSITY TEAM

Washington State Downs Aggie Team 28-0 at Pullman.

MOE SAX STAR OF GAME

Rutherford's Team Fails On Offense and Defense.

Washington State College, Pullman, Wash., Nov. 15.—Humbled a week ago by the California Bears, the fighting Cougars returned to Rogers field in a berserker rage and outclassing the Aggies in all phases won the northwest conference championship by a score of 28 to 0 here Saturday afternoon.

The Aggie offensive totaled but four first downs, while the hard-driving Gillis and slippery Moe Sax found the Aggie line and ends again and again for long gains.

Although the Aggies battled unto the end, Coach Rutherford's players failed on the offensive while Gillis' bucks and smashes over right guard and within the ends revealed a woeful weakness in the Aggie defense which precluded at best a close game.

Two veteran Cougar players, Mike Moran and Roy Hanley, were missing in the lineup when the Crimson and Gray eleven took the field, the shakeup resulting in the formation of an eleven that battled to another Northwest Conference championship. On the eve of the championship game, Coach Welch's announcement, made Friday, that the veteran halfback, Moran, and left end, Roy Hanley, would under no circumstances be inserted into the fray, came as a thunderbolt to the local grid campus. Saturday his action was entirely vindicated, and local fandom was loud in its praises of his moral courage in eliminating the discontented players.

Returning Captain Rose's first kick-off to the Cougar's 30-yard mark, the locals, on successive line slashes for five first downs, in which Gillis bore the brunt of the offense, took the pigskin to the 1-yard chalk and Gillis bucked it over. Sax kicked goal. The procession was duplicated in the third quarter when Sax returned Hugh McKenna's pun: to the 22-yard line and on the next play the red-jerseyed tornado tore down the field for the second touchdown. Sax again kicked goal.

Again in the same period, Gillis bucked over after a 15-yard penalty had been inflicted on the Aggies and Sax's end run carried the oval to the 8-yard mark. The final score came in the middle of the final stanza when Sput Loomis recovered Kasberger's fumble of Dunton's 40-yard kick on the 8-yard line and in three plays Gillis again pierced the Aggies' right side for the final touchdown. Sax kicked goal.—Eugene Daily Guard.

EASTERN FOOTBALL SEASON NEAR END

Notre Dame Now Considered Champions of West

New York, Nov. 15.—Football's bread line, standing outside the door for an issue of championship pie, was strung out somewhat today.

Princeton, in the east, Notre Dame and Ohio State in the west and Georgia Tech in the south head the line. Pittsburgh and Harvard continued their shuffle to the front, but neither showed the class that the Tigers did in trouncing Yale and Pennsylvania State lost prestige by barely getting a tie with Lehigh.

Illinois was pulled out of the line in the west by Wisconsin, leaving Ohio State in undisputed lead of the western conference while Notre Dame trimmed Indiana.

Georgia Tech gave further reasons for the southern claim by beating the strong Georgetown eleven. With the season just about ended, it seems improbable that a clean cut title for the eastern championship will be acquired.

Princeton is through for the year and unless Yale pulls the "impossible" and beats Harvard next Saturday, the Tigers and the Crimson can both claim the eastern honors.

Ohio State and Illinois, contenders for last year's conference championship, meet in the west. If State should lose, the wreath will have to be divided between Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Regardless of conference figures and prestige, Notre Dame very likely will be considered the real western champions if Coach Rockne's eleven finishes an undefeated season.

Georgia Tech seems almost sure of the southern honors.—Eugene Daily Guard.

CLAIREL OGLE LIKES CAMPUS.

Clairel Ogle, or better known as "Tub," graduate in the class of '16, was down from the Medical school for Homecoming. "Tub" was enthusiastic about the campus and thought Homecoming a big success. He also said that the Oregon Medical school, which he is attending, was up and coming and doing bigger things every day.

CASSILIS ENGAGEMENT TO BE PLAYED AGAIN

Popular Demand Results in Scheduling of Comedy for Reappearance November 22.

Due to the popular demand the "Cassilis Engagement," given with such marked success in Guild theatre a week ago, will be presented for a third performance in the Eugene theatre Monday night, November 22.

This will be the first University production to appear down town this winter. Monday evening was the first possible date available after it was decided to give another night to the play. Tickets will be on sale at the Rainbow and Linn's drug store.

MOTHER OF UNIVERSITY MAN KILLED BY AUTO

Mrs. Augusta Leader Succumbs to Injuries Received Sunday Afternoon.

Struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. J. N. Crocker, while she was standing on the sidewalk at Eleventh avenue west and Olive street, at 3:30 yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Augusta Leader, 70 years old, and mother of Herbert Leader, university student, died at the Eugene hospital a few hours later.

Mrs. Crocker, who lives at 432 Eleventh avenue west, was driving east on Eleventh avenue and when she started to make the turn at Olive street Mrs. Leader was preparing to cross the street. Eyewitnesses say that Mrs. Leader stepped two or three feet off the curb and when she saw the approaching machine stepped back on the sidewalk again. Mrs. Crocker seemingly became confused, lost control of her car which climbed the curb running over the elderly woman. The machine passed over Mrs. Leader's chest and she struck her head violently on the sidewalk and was dragged several feet before Mrs. Crocker stopped the car.

The injured woman was picked up and taken to the Eugene hospital where she died at eight o'clock. Physicians reported that she had suffered concussion of the brain by striking her head on the sidewalk and that she was injured internally.

The Weakly Half-Wit

College Custards.

Soph: "I hear that they are going to put on 'Freckles' in Guild hall soon."
Foolish Frosh: "My, ain't the art of makeup wonderful?"

Kappa Kate: "My couldn't you just live on the millrace."
Overfed Pigger: "Nope, got to have something more substantial to live on."

Efyon Mike says: "To watch some fellahs shave, remains ya of hoein' corn in the garden."

Java & Nicotine.

Waiter: "Well, it looks like rain."
Customer: (gulping coffee) "It tastes like rain too."

The fond parents who named the only child Nosmo Kink Williams because it was unusual must have felt rather down in the month when they found out that it came from "No smoking."

To a Pool Hall.

He stood in the pool hall at midnight. His head was in a daze.
"Some shark had beat him six straight games."

Society.

A hard times party was staged on Spencer's Butte last Saturday afternoon for the benefit of piggers with low finances. Most of them had a hard time getting there.

A simple little affair was held at Obaks last Saturday evening when K. Braustetter involuntarily entertained several of his intimate friends at pool.

PICTURES OF GAME TAKEN.

Plans for taking motion pictures of the Oregon-Washington game had to be given up because of the poor light, but Lew T. Tyrrell, former chief petty officer in the naval aviation and an expert photographer, with the aid of Donald D. Huntress took still pictures of the first half of the game. Bill Hayward's camera was used. The pictures are not finished yet but will probably be out today, according to Tyrrell.

MISS PEARL HALL VISITS.

Miss Pearl Hall, who is to take the office of school superintendent of Lake county in January, was in Eugene for Homecoming. Miss Hall is a graduate of the State Normal School and is a very successful primary teacher. She has attended the last three summer school sessions in Eugene.

SPANISH STUDENTS GIVEN WORD TEST

Standardization of Work is Purpose of Experiment Conducted by Instructors.

As a means of standardizing the work to be covered in their Spanish classes, Miss Florence Whyte and Miss Anna Thompson, instructors in the department of Romance Languages gave their classes a test of 200 common vocabulary words last Wednesday. Miss Whyte's classes averaged 84 per cent and Miss Thompson's 71 per cent.

The two instructors selected words that have been tested and gave the test as an experiment. They expect to give several more during the year, taking the lists from the common words in Spanish text books.

"Older languages have all been standardized" said Miss Whyte "but the Romance languages have not. That is the reason that students from different schools get such widely varying grades on the same test."
