MU PHI TO FURNISH MUSICAL PROGRAM AT ASSEMBLY TODAY

To Be Chosen From Local Chapter of Thirty.

NATIONAL CONVENTION HELD HERE LAST YEAR

Mrs. Jane Thacher Member Mu Phi Council of Six Musical Adviser.

Music will make up the entire program at assembly today. It is the annual program given by the Mu Phi Epsilon.

The Oregon Mu Phi is the only organization of its kind in this section of the country, the nearest sister chapter being at the University of Washington. The local Mu Phis made a name for themselves in musical circles when they entertained the national convention on the Oregon campus last June. It was the first time that the convention had been held in the west, and according to those in charge it was one of the best meetings in the history of the fraternity.

PENALTIES FIXED BY SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

Faculty Passes Drastic Regulations Cov ering Cuts of Classes for Rally Dances

At a meeting of the faculty of the school of commerce, held Monday afternoon, the following penalties were decided upon for students who cut their classes to attend unauthorized rallies and dances, such as occurred Monday. The daily grade for the class cut is to be zero, the cut will count as an unexcused absence, and the student is to be posted in the course, this post to be in addition to anyothat may be already standing against the student in that course.' .

Every member of the faculty expressed his unqualified endorsement of all legitimate student activities and stated that students should be encouraged to represent the University. They expressed the students who neglected their classes to scholastic standing in the school that the faculty felt it a duty to establish some severe form of penalty. >

MISS LEACH RECEIVES BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Regular Weekly Architecture Assembly Is Devoted To Entertaining

When Miss Camilla Leach, art librarian, came to the architecture assembly Tuesday, expecting to discuss budgets, she found it changed into a merry surprise party in honor of her birthday.

The feature of the evening was the grave, bathrobe-clad Hindu - Kamasaki, whom no one could guess was Professor Adams. With McAlister acting as his interpreter he held communion with the spirits and told the members to present anything they wanted to know. When someone asked him to tell what he was holding McAlister queried, "Have you an 'inkling' of what this is?' and he would prompely reply "A fountain pen."

Dean Lawrence sent Miss Leach a desk lamp.

Amusement was later provided by the drawing of each other's pictures. This annual financial drive of the Red Cross organization is for the purpose not only of obtaining funds to carry on the work of the ensuing year but to interest and enlist the sympathy of the publi in its various activities in the way of aid and social service.

In addition to its war activities the Red Cross organization through its varieus branches carries on a world-wide work of relief, prevention of disease, and home social service little known to the general public on account of being overshadowed by its more spectacular war work.

The national organization is constantly prepared for any emergency in the way of fire, flood, or other calamity and beautiful boquet of wiolets and roses, all relief work is put into operation under their direction.

As all the funds of the Red Cross depend on public contributions and the annual membership dues of $1.00 a generous public response is expected from the nation-wide appeal.

Appearance of "Gap" Powell In Line-up Unexpected: Little Difference Made By Change.

MUDDY FIELD MAY GIVE AID TO AGGIES

Fight for Berths on Lemon-Yellow Squad Goes Merrily On.

And now comes the report from the O. A. C. campus that "Gap" Powell, the Aggies' star fullback, who was supposedly laid on the shelf for the rest of the season when he received injuries in the game with the Washington eleven the early part of the season, will be in the Saturday. Contrary to what might be expected, this is not taken as a shock or a surprise by the Oregon team or be the difference with Powell in the lineup? In the opinion of football authorities in the northwest, Powell played on his repuation this year what little playing he did do.

When Powell played his first year with the O. A. C. first string eleven he played his best game and last year the only contest in which the big star loomed up very strongly was the battle with Oregon. Powell was good for some yardage son. In the game against the Sun Dodseemed lacking in his old punch and Powell Hurt Knee.

Coach Allison did not think a great deal of the work of Powell this season and it was Allison's team which put Powell out of commission for a few weeks. The Aggies have a lot of confidence in "Gap" Powell and his playing in the past has earned him this confidence. He was brought home from Seattle with his knee in a plaster cast and a knee has to do some almost miraculous bealing to get back into shape in such a short time to stand the gaff of one of the Students To Help In County hardest games of the year. Powell will probably be in the line-up against Oregon Saturday, and it will be Powell's only chance to show whether he has the punch this season.

The driving rain which has been hanging on during the practice hour each afternoon has made the workouts very then of course it will be an advantage to have the rain now. A wet ball, wet suits and a sea of mud are hardly ideal practice conditions, but the worst sea of mud in Eugene could not be worse than the Aggie gridiron after a few hours of rain. A slippery sliding mess will be about the best way to characterize the game at Corvallis Saturday if the rain keeps up.

Positions Are Contested. The only two changes which appear possible in the Oregon line-up for the battle with the Aggies are the left halfback position and the right wing position. Reinhart and Mead are battling it out for the left half berth and it is yet a matter of speculation as to who will start in this capacity. On the right end berth the battle seems to be between "Rud" Brown and Neil Morfitt, with both of them working there during practice. It is probable that both of these men will work at end during the game, although the coaches are not announcing who will start. The heavier weight of the Aggie line will give them an advantage in the game at Corvallis and the Oregon eleven is taking no chances from this angle. A wet Corvallis gridiron is an advantage and even though the dope might show that Oregon is about two touchdowns faster than O. A. C. this does not mean that they will be that much better in the game. The Oregon-O. A. C. game will beyond a doubt be one of the hardest fought battles that Coach Huntington's eleven will take part in this season. But 'Aggies and it will not rall Saturday. If
