ARCHITECTURE WILL OCCUPY BUILDINGS CHANGED BY PLANS

Designs Completed to Alter Architectural School and Women's Gym.

DOSCH MEMORIAL TO BE PLACED IN COURT

Two Structures Are To Be Connected by a Gateway; Class Rooms Enlarged.

The plans for the architectural group have been completed and drawn ready for alteration. The woman's gymnasium and the present architecture buildings will be connected by a gate, making a court in the space between the three buildings. The Roswell Dosch memorial is to be inclosed on the north side of the court. The court is to be inclosed in shrubbery and vine-covered trellises.

The front half of the women's gymnasium is to be used as a work room for Miss Helen Rhodes' design classes. There will be a balcony at this end and some large arched windows.

The middle section will be used as a class room for Avard Fairbanks' classes in sculpture. There will be an entrance into this room from the outside on the north of the building. The part of the building facing University street will be used as a private studio for Mr. Fairbanks.

In the present architecture building a twenty-foot extension is to be made of glass on the north side, and will be used for classes in painting.

The outer section of the building which faces on the north and west will be made into an L shaped room and will be furnished with desks next to the windows for Prof. A. H. Schreff's design classes.

Professor Schreff is planning to give two illustrated lectures a week in Civilization and Art Epochs. These will be held in the room that is now occupied by the classes in design under Miss Rhodes. It will accommodate one hundred and twenty-five students. The courses in art appreciation and book and poster work will be given with lantern slides when this room is occupied by Professor Schreff. The center section of this building will be used for locker rooms and store rooms.

ZENOBIA LAFFERTY DIES IN PORTLAND

University Senior Passes Away As Result of Sudden Illness and Operation.

The first student body death in two years came as a sudden shock when the sudden illness and passing away of Miss Zenobia Lafferty was confirmed on Thanksgiving day.

Miss Lafferty had been in the infirmary for several days with indigestion, but was able to leave and go home on Friday, November 20th. Then the report came from Portland that she had been operated on to prevent peritonitis, and the news of her death followed at noon on Thanksgiving.

Miss Lafferty was born in Portland, graduated from Jefferson high school in February, 1916, and entered Reed College in the second semester. She finished her sophomore work there, and entered the University as a junior in the fall of 1919, residing at Hendricks Hall. She was expecting to graduate in the coming June, with a degree of B. S. in physics, which was her major subject.

Her mother and one sister survive her, at 503 1/2 Union Avenue, North, Portland. All who knew her intimately have been impressed by her unflinching optimism, her kindness and her ability to work with people. She was well known in college and high school circles in Portland and her many personal friends feel a distinct sense of loss in her early and sudden demise.

END OF JAZZ CRAZE NEAR, SAYS PIANIST

Prof. F. W. Goodrich Says Negro Melodies Have Been Deprived But Ragtime May Live.

"The end of the jazz craze is near, declares Frederick W. Goodrich, pianist and instructor of harmony and analysis in the University of Oregon extension course in Portland, who was the principal speaker at the closing session of the annual convention of the Oregon Music Teachers' Association in Salem last Saturday.

"The so-called jazz is a depraved method of harmony taken from the illiterate negro," said Mr. Goodrich. "Ragtime, however, is nothing else than the 'syncopation' used by the old masters in their compositions, and when ragtime is idealized and perfected it will become a study in itself." Mr. Goodrich expects that within two years jazz will be a thing of the past.

Mr. Goodrich was elected president of the association at this meeting.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN TO START TODAY ON CAMPUS FOR FUNDS

One Person In Each House Will Be Held Responsible for Every Organization.

MEMBERSHIP FEE TO BE ONE DOLLAR

Plan of Committee to Reach Every Student; Faculty Will Be Approached.

The fourth annual Red Cross roll call membership drive will begin on the campus today under the leadership of Miss Mezzelle Hair, secretary of the extension division, and a student committee. An effort will be made to enroll every University student in the Red Cross while the drive is in progress, says Miss Hair, and a system is being organized which it is hoped will reach every student.

One person will be appointed in each house to take care of the members of the house. The faculty memberships will be handled by one person in each building on the campus and students living outside will be reached by the Oregon club and other independent organizations.

The regular annual membership fee of one dollar is all that is being asked for at this time. It is expected this amount from every individual will raise enough money to carry on the post-war and the regular peace time work of the organization.

Soldiers Cared For. Although the war has been over for two years there are 26,414 men still being cared for in military, naval, and public health service hospitals who are suffering from injuries or diseases received in war service. Homelike cheer and comforts are given these men by the Red Cross. Claims of service men for compensation and insurance are still being handled through the Red Cross and many men and families look to this organization for help in getting re-adjustment.

The Red Cross must also be prepared for relief work in the event of such disasters as those of Corpus Christi, San Francisco and Halifax. A dollar given before such a thing happens will do more good than a hundred dollars given afterward, according to a statement made by Red Cross officials.

Three million European children will be absolutely without shelter, food, or medical care this winter except for such aid as Herbert Hoover may be able to get to them through the backing of several American organizations, of which the Red Cross is the largest. Funds for this work must be raised by some such means as the Red Cross has adopted.

Health Educat'ion Is Phase.

Besides these relief measures of the Red Cross the organization is constantly carrying an educational health campaign among the people of the country. Chief among the causes is the fight against tuberculosis, from which 150,000 people die annually and several million are constantly sick.

To secure the money necessary to conduct these diversified charities the Red Cross had adopted the plan of having an annual canvass of the nation. Every person connected with the University is urged to subscribe a dollar to the cause by those in charge and a one hundred per cent membership is hoped for.

DR. L. L. WIRT SPEAKS

Red Cross Armenian Relief Worker Talks on Near East.

Dr. L. L. Wirt, noted Red Cross and Armenian Relief worker, in an address on the Armenian situation, before the local R. O. T. C. unit Monday morning, told of the atrocities committed against the Armenians by the Turks and of the work being done, to counteract these evils, by the Armenian Relief Workers.

"The United States is the only nation that can furnish the much needed military aid which would save the situation," said the speaker, giving as his reasons that America only was free from the stigma of desiring territorial acquisition.

LEMON PUNCH DRIVE FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS TO START THURSDAY

Circulation of a Thousand On Campus Is Expected by Manager Ellsworth.

CONTEST OF HOUSES IS CAMPAIGN PLAN

Fate of Humorous Magazine Will Depend On Support Given by Students.

"It's up to you!" Adopting this as the slogan for the subscription campaign which will be staged on the campus Thursday and Friday of this week, Harris Ellsworth, manager of Lemon Punch, the first issue of which will be out December 10th, has appointed Dean Ireland chairman of a committee which will include representatives from every organization on the campus. The goal has been set as 1000 subscriptions to Lemon Punch, each subscription to cost seventy-five cents, and to entitle the subscriber to four issues of the comic magazine of the University of Oregon.

"It's up to the students now," said Ellsworth. "We have already made arrangements for printing the magazine, and with one or two exceptions, all the work for the first issue is already in. If the students really want Oregon to have a magazine of the type of the Washington Sun Dodger, the Stanford Chapperell, and the California Pelican, they will have to come through with a subscription to the magazine, otherwise it will be impossible to continue."

Ellsworth Goes to Portland.

Ellsworth, accompanied by Raymond Vester, assistant manager, spent the holidays in Portland, making final arrangements for the engraving for the magazine, taking with them a portion of the cartoons, and pictures which will be used in the first issue. At present a large part of the cuts have been completed, and work will be started on the printing of the magazine immediately following the circulation campaign the last of this week.

Dean Ireland, chairman of the subscription campaign committee, will name the other members of his committee tomorrow. Tags are now being printed which will be worn by every subscriber during the two days of the campaign. A booth will be placed in front of the library where a check will be made of the number of subscriptions sold, and where tags may be obtained. A blackboard will be used to announce the progress of the campaign.

Prize Will Be Given.

As an impetus to organizations, Ellsworth has announced a prize consisting of a bound volume of Lemon Punch to the campus organization which first reports a hundred per cent subscription among its members. Check will be kept on the organizations by means of the blackboard in front of the library.

But little yet remains to be done on the first issue of the magazine. The last week a great deal of copy has been received in the punch bowl, located in the library as well as through the contribution box in the journalism shack. The staff artists have completed their work, and all the art headings which will be used permanently have been made. The cover design has been drawn by Frank Short, and will introduce the "Opening Number" of Lemon Punch to the University of Oregon.

Stan Eisman, editor of Lemon Punch, spent last week-end in Portland, where he obtained copy for the magazine from some former campus humorists, such as Bill Bolger. He reports that much interest is being taken in the magazine by alumni and ex-students now in Portland.

December 10 has been definitely set as the date which the first issue will appear.

DOUGLASS TO ADDRESS TEACHERS

Professor Earl R. Douglass, director of the University high school, has been asked to address a meeting of the Jackson county teachers at Talent, Oregon, Saturday, Dec. 4. Professor Douglass will give two addresses, "Modern Methods in Teaching," and "Making Teaching Function."

MANY POSTS GIVEN STUDENTS ON RETURN

Unusual Number Given Notification of Low Grades; Many Are Near Probation.

The unwelcome notification that they have been posted awaits many of the returning students judging from the large number of these joy-killing slips on file at the registrar's office. The unusual length of the post list is attributed to the break in the class schedule as a result of the Thanksgiving recess which enabled many of the instructors to check up on the delinquent students.

A large number of students are posted in more than one subject and are close to the danger line of probation or of being dropped from the University roster.

A meeting of the faculty probation committee is announced to take place within a few days to consider the reports receive the explanations of the unlucky ones, and take necessary action.

STEERS' FATHER IS DEAD

Parent of Varsity Captain Injured In Automobile Accident.

Henry Piatt Steers, father of Bill Steers captain of the varsity football team, died in The Dalles Friday morning, as a result of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile several days ago.

The news of his father's serious injury came to Bill shortly before the start of the O. A. C. game. Realizing that his absence from the game on that day would place a great handicap on his team in the biggest battle of the year, the captain delayed his departure for the bedside of his father until after the game. He did not accompany the team to Los Angeles for the Thanksgiving game with the University of Southern California, and was present with the other members of the family at his father's death.

Mr. Steers was 79 years old. He was a Civil war veteran and crossed the plains in 1865. His residence has been in Wasco county for the past 25 years. He is survived by his wife and four children.

Bill Steers is expected to return to the campus this week to resume his studies.

K. LESLIE LEAVES COLLEGE.

"Brick" Leslie, center on the varsity football team this year, and a three year letter man in the gridiron sport, has left school. He has accepted a position as office manager for the Oregon Exporting Lumber Company of Marshfield and will take up his duties there immediately. Leslie was a senior in the school of commerce.

U. S. C. TROJANS WIN OVER OREGON 21 TO 0 IN PASADENA BATTLE

California Eleven Scores Three Times Against Varsity In Turkey Day Game.

LOSS OF STEERS FELT; LONG TRIP HAS EFFECT

Two Touchdowns in Final Period; Poor Condition and Reaction Blamed

It was a badly crippled team, one lacking materially and morally because of the absence of Captain Bill Steers, that went down to defeat at the hands of the University of Southern California football team in Pasadena on Thanksgiving day. The game was played at Tournament park, the scene of the great Harvard-Oregon battle of less than a year since. The weather, too, according to the veterans of that nationally famous classic was very much like that of the previous New Year's day — the day that the lemon-yellow warriors showed all the United States the meaning of "Oregon Fight."

One great difference in the setting of the two games however was the state of mind of the individual members of the respective Oregon teams. The team that played Harvard had that confidence born of prime physical condition. They had had two weeks of twice a day practice after their thousand mile journey to the south, plenty of time to remove the inevitable train kinks. They had worked toward this game for almost a month. It was a grand climax.

But Two Days Practice.

On the other hand the team that played the U. S. C. Trojans had but two days of practice after the long train journey in which to limber up. Steers was not in the game. The team had been put in prime condition for the O. A. C. game and from prime condition there is always a reaction. The U. S. C. game came as an anti-climax.

From the kick-off the Trojan's advantage was evident. Oregon failed to make yardage a single time. Nor did she complete a single pass. The southern university scored its first touchdown in the first period after receiving a punt near the middle of the field and advancing the ball by a series of line plays and end runs to the Oregon eight yard line. The quarter ended with the score U. S. C., 7; Oregon, 0.

Oregon On Defensive.

From the second quarter throughout the game Oregon played a defensive game punting on the first and second downs continually. The Trojans scored again in the final period. After completing a pass for ten yards Leadingham to Dean, the red and gold took the ball to within striking distance of the lemon-yellow goal where Dean put over the second touchdown with a line plunge. Captain Swede Evans converting the second goal. The final scoring was done with a pass over the line Leadingham to Smith after the ball had been worked to the lemon-yellow ten yard line.

Final score: U. S. C. 21. Oregon 0.

The line-up:

Table with 3 columns: Oregon, Position, U. S. C. Rows include Morfitt, Leslie, Strachan, K. Leslie, Mantz, Shields, Howard, Reinhart, Chapman, Mead, and Substitutions.

Substitutions: Oregon, Laughlin for K. Leslie; Brown for Morfitt; Vander Ahe for Strachan; Blake for King. U. S. C., Leahy for Butterfield; Lockett for Leahy; Isenhauer for Greene; Beale for Borle; Lowell Lindley for Townsend; Lindley for Axe; Woodward for Dean; Gordon for Isenhauer; Egan for Smith.

GIRLS AID RED CROSS.

Several University girls helped in the Red Cross drive which was carried on in Eugene during the Thanksgiving holidays by staying in the different banks on Friday and aiding other workers in getting subscriptions.
