 Beta 30; S-Marada 5.
 S. A. E. 18; Sigma Chi 9.

The Phi Delts experienced little difficulty in defeating the Oregon Club yesterday afternoon in the doughnut basketball series, while the fighting Delts climbed a notch nearer the top by defeating Friendly Hall in a one-sided game. Beta Theta Pi walked on S-Marada and the S. A. E. five sprung a surprise by walloping the speedy Sigma Chi team.

In the Phi Delt-Oregon Club game Latham, Phi Delt center was the scintillating star, annexing 11 points for his team and showing some real class in his floor work. The game which was fast all the way belonged to the Phi Delts from the first whistle. The Oregon Club was weakened by the loss of Veatch, their star forward, and though they put up a game fight, lacked team work.

The Delta Tau Delta team showed up well winning in a walk from Friendly. The dorm men were unable to score during the first half and were outclassed throughout the contest. Beaver and Oliver starred for the Delts, Beaver securing 7 points for his team, while Oliver hooped six field goals.

The rejuvenated Betas looked like a million against S-Marada, having strengthened their team wonderfully by the addition of Clerin and Chapman and with their new line-up are very evidently a team of championship caliber. Clerin at center secured 7 field goals while his floor work was exceptional. The Beta guards, Chapman and Edlund, played excellent ball.

S. A. E. took over the heavy end of the score against Sigma Chi in a fast hardfought game. Without cheapening the Sigma Alpha victory, which they secured by an excellent exhibition of basketball, it was obvious that Sigma Chi was playing far below form, being far below standard in both passing and shooting. Moore played speedy ball for the S. A. E. five, securing five baskets while Douglas at guard for the losers played good ball.

SCHOOL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION PLANNED

Classes to Meet Once a Week at "Y" Hut; Series of Lectures To Cover Three Fields.

Plans for a "Y" school were formulated at a meeting of the Friendship council Tuesday evening. This is to be a school of religious education, which by means of a series of lectures will cover three fields: Bible study, world problems and missions, and American economic and social problems.

Each of these fields is to be in charge of a special committee. The chairmen of these committees are: Virgil DeLapp, Bill Coleman and Wolcott Buren.

Some of the subjects to be offered in these classes are: Science and religion, religion and business, the fundamental point of Christianity, Christian sociology, and ethics for college men. The plan is to offer as great a variety of courses as possible, so that each one will find something of special interest to him.

Classes will probably meet once a week during the winter term, and will consist principally of lectures.

STUDENTS OF MUSIC TO PRACTICE TEACHING

16 Want Certificates to Supervise Public School Music; Five Have Positions.

Mrs. Anna Landsbury Beck of the school of music is teaching music in the first five grades of the Patterson school every day this week for the purpose of demonstrating to student teachers in her courses the methods of teaching public school music.

In addition to showing the methods of teaching voice to school children, Mrs. Beck demonstrates to the student teachers methods of instruction in music appreciation. Educational talking machine records are used for this purpose, and the instruction touches on the subjects of rhythm and melody. The music is chosen to suit the understanding of the children, says Mrs. Beck, and is within the grasp even of the little ones in the first grade, so that children are taught to be intelligent listeners.

There are at present sixteen students in the school of music who are working for certificates as supervisors of public school music. The preparation for this consists in part of doing practice teaching in the Eugene schools. Next term Mrs. Beck expects to have all the students in this course do actual work as teachers, and several of them are instructing classes at present. Glen Morrow and Vincent Engeldinger have organized and are teaching the Boys' Glee Club at the Eugene high school, with remarkable success, says Mrs. Beck. Ruth Danforth is teaching music in the campus high school, and Blanche Wickland and Margaret Kern are teaching classes in the Patterson school.

TWO OLD BOOKS ADDED

Volumes Printed Over 200 Years Ago Obtained by Library.

Two books which were printed in the seventeenth century are among the books added to the University library. One, "Dictionnaire Mathematique" was printed in 1691 and the other "Mr. Wringates' Arithmetick" was printed in 1694. These books were found in an old English book store and were purchased by the library through a New York book store at the suggestion of Professor E. E. De Con.

Two new editions of "Olson's Oregon Law" have also been added to the library. These books contain all of the Oregon laws including those passed by the special session of the legislature in 1920.
