SOCCER STRUGGLE OF OREGON O. A. C. ENDS IN 2 TO 2 TIE

Varsity Upsets Dope and Holds Aggies to Tie Game on Hayward Field.

SEVERAL HOME MEN IN BAD CONDITION

Teams More Evenly Matched Than in First Battle of Series.

Not only did the Oregon soccer team upset the dope by holding the adept O. A. C. players to a tie score in the fiercely contested game played on the slick turf of Hayward field Saturday afternoon but twice Coach Dymment's smoothly working forward line penetrated the supposedly impregnable Aggie backfield and shot the ball under the bar for tallies. Coach Wilshire's re-energized squad came back strong in the second half and the score in the second soccer contest between the two teams this year again ended in a tie, this time 2-2.

The Oregon team started with a slowness that was far from pleasing to the several hundred rooters grouped in the chilly grandstand, but when the initial rushes of the Aggie line had been shattered by the unerring boots of Koerber and Patterson, fullbacks, and fighting "Morgie" Staton, the spectators were repeatedly thrilled by the ever-increasing speed and fight of the Oregon players. Hardly had the game been in progress eight minutes when King, playing inside right for Oregon, made the first score by outwitting the Aggie backs. Before the first half ended with a score of 2-0 in favor of Oregon, "Monte" Beyers winged the ball under the uprights for the other tally.

Borgensen Makes Difficult Shot.

Fighting mad and shorn of overconfidence, the northerners came back strong in the second half and frequently compelled Coach Dymment's men to resort to a defensive game. In a shot from a difficult angle, Borgensen, playing inside right for O. A. C., curved the ball against a goal post and scored when the ball rebounded over the Oregon line. Cifre, the former Spanish player who relieved Davis, injured in the first half, scored the Aggies second and final tally with a clear speedy shot past "Hay" Schmeer several minutes before the game ended.

The two teams appeared more evenly matched Saturday than in the first game played in Corvallis when the two squads battled for 70 minutes without either scoring. In that game the O. A. C. players were continually winging the muddy ball towards the Oregon goal and would have scored but for the stellar work of "Hay" Schmeer. Saturday the five Oregon backs worked nicely with only the seven-league boot of "Heinie" Koerber overshadowing the brilliant playing of his team mates. Staton played an aggressive and persistent game at center halfback. Oregon's forward line showed up well against the skilled Aggie backfield. McPherson, handicapped by a sprained ankle, and "Hube" Jacobberger, crippled with an infected foot, worked hard on the outer fringe of Oregon's attacking force. "Al" Capps, playing his first game of soccer, held down the pivot game of soccer held down the pivot line position at center and played a nice game.

"Blighter" Merryfield playing right fullback for the Aggie squad and his team mates, Tennessee Snook and Cifre, hardly excelled the pretty work of their team mates.

Neal Ford, a soccer enthusiast who has played the Scotch game at Oregon, Stanford and O. A. C. refereed the contest. Following is the line-up:

O. A. C.	Oregon.
Sweeney.....Goal.....	Schmeer
Bryant.....lf.....	Koerber

Substitutions: Cifre for Davis.

PROBATION RULES TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

General Tightening Up Advocated By Committee and Changes to be Suggested.

Probation rules will be made stricter, and will be more uniformly enforced, under a decision of the probation committee of the faculty at a meeting last night at five o'clock in Dean Dymment's office.

Dean Dymment was authorized to make changes in the rules to be brought before the committee at their next meeting, with the object in mind of general tightening up on University scholarship.

The committee refused to let several students off probation whose names had come up, and it was announced that a similar policy will be followed in the future.

The matter of withdrawals will be given full consideration in the changed rules, and under the new system it will be impossible to evade a failure by withdrawing in the last part of the term.

One or two members of the glee club who are on probation were refused permission to participate in any tours or concerts during the Christmas holidays, as theoretically they are not off probation until the beginning of next term.

S. A. E. FIVE DOWNS S-MARALDA QUINTET

One Doughnut Game is Played; 30 Out for Varsity.

Standing of Teams.
Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Fiji	7	0	1000
Owl Club	9	1	900
Kappa Sigma	3	1	750
S. A. E.	6	3	667
Sigma Chi	6	4	600
Sigma Nu	4	3	568
Delts	5	4	555
A. T. O.	5	4	555
Beta	4	4	500
Oregon Club	3	6	333
Bachelorlodon	2	4	332
Friendly Hall	2	6	250
Phi Delt	2	6	250
S-Maralda	2	8	200
Delta Theta Pi	0	5	000

Only one game was played yesterday afternoon in the doughnut basketball league, in which the S. A. E. five defeated S-Maralda 17-14. In the last few minutes of play the S-Maraldas made a strong bid for the game annexing five field goals in as many minutes. The Sig Alphas made 14 of their points in the first half and were unable to score a field goal in the final period. Ford and Moore played excellent ball for the winners while H. Gant and Shirley showed up well for the losing quintet.

Varsity practice will be held on Wednesday and Friday of this week at 5 p. m. About 30 aspirants for Oregon jerseys were out for practice yesterday under the direction of Coach Bohler who put them through a light workout. With the reliable framework of former lettermen in Captain Durno, Jacobberger, Chapman, Bellar and Latham augmented as it is by the excellent varsity material out a team that will make a strong bid available, Oregon should this year put for coast and northwest honors.

The following games are scheduled for today:

Indoor 4 p. m.
Beta vs. A. T. O.
Owl vs. Oregon Club.
5 p. m.
Sigma Nu vs. Fiji.
Phi Delt vs. Friendly Hall.
Outdoor 5 p. m.
Bachelorlodon vs. Delts.
Kappa Sigma vs. S-Maralda.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO TOUR.

The men's glee club will make their first trip of the year during the first week of Christmas vacation, giving concerts at both Coos Bay and Marshfield.

An excellent program is arranged and the men are working hard with the fine material insures an excellent concert.

Thursday the club will sing in Assembly.

STUDENTS ARE DROPPED.

Fifteen men have been dropped from the University of Washington as an aftermath of the deluge of mid-quarter conditions.

FIVE LETTER MEN LOST TO VARSITY FOR NEXT SEASON

Steers, "Brick" Leslie, Mautz, Ward and Jacobberger Not To Return.

PLACES OF VETERANS WILL BE HARD TO FILL

Frosh Squad of This Year Will Have to Furnish Material for 1921 Team.

Five letter men will not be out for football another season and the ranks in the varsity eleven will necessarily be filled with the recruits from this year's Frosh eleven. These five are Captain Bill Steers, "Brick" Leslie, "Fat" Mautz, Ed Ward and Jake Jacobberger. The loss of this quintet of stars is going to be keenly felt on the lemon-yellow eleven next season in spite of the fact that there is a wealth of green material from which to select their understudies in the Frosh squad of this year.

In the loss of Captain Bill Steers, Oregon will lose one of the greatest football men that ever played on a varsity eleven. Steers, the unanimous choice for the mythical Pacific coast all star team for the last two years, the quarterback choice for the third all-American team last year, has played his last season of college football.

Played With Marines.

Bill began his football career in his high school days at The Dalles. He played his first game at Oregon with the Frosh team of 1916, working alternately with Bill Reinhart at quarterback. In 1917, Steers piloted the varsity eleven from the quarterback position. In the fall of 1918, while in the service, he played with the famous Mare Island Marine team which cleaned up about everything on the coast. Returning to Oregon in 1919, Bill played a brilliant game at quarterback, which earned him a place on the all-star teams and the captaincy of the Oregon eleven for the 1920 season. His work with the team this year was easily above the standard of last season, although he was handicapped by arriving late in the season and not being in condition for the first two intercollegiate games.

Leslie Another Veteran.

"Brick" Leslie, who has held down the center position on the Oregon varsity eleven for three seasons, is another player of real ability whose place in the Oregon team is well established.

BOXING TOURNAMENT STARTS NEXT FRIDAY

Matches Scheduled Between Classes and Fraternities; Four Weights Listed.

An interclass boxing tournament will be run off at once, according to Charlie Dawson, who has charge of this sport at the University. The men will be matched in the 135, 145, 158 and 165 pound or lightweight, welterweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight classes. Both Dawson and Bill Hayward are anxious to have as many men as possible enter these contests as the same system is to be used in this sport as was used in basketball this season. After the interclass and doughnut contests are over the men will be selected for the varsity boxing team from those who showed the most promise during the other contests.

The interfraternity boxing matches will be held as soon as the interclass matches are finished.

"Anyone who wishes to compete in these matches may do so," said Dawson. "We are anxious to have as many as possible enter each event."

The first interclass matches will be run off next Friday. All men who wish to participate in the contests are asked to see Dawson before Wednesday. During the contests there will be three two-minute rounds, with two minutes rest between rounds. The boxing will be done under the regular amateur rules.

A varsity boxing meet with O. A. C. will be scheduled later in the year. There may also be contests with other colleges. The men who show the best work in the interclass and intramural contests will be the ones selected to compete in the matches.

Pre-Registration of Old Students For Next Term Begun; Policy to Allow Time to Make Schedules

Pre-registration for the winter term class schedules are now ready for distribution at the Registrar's office. This will afford ample time for both professors and students to discuss arrangements of classes before registration day, January 3.

Under this new system students will have a period of eleven days before the end of the present term in which to consult advisers whenever it is most convenient to all concerned.

This is the first time that the class schedules have been made up so far in advance of registration day and according to faculty members is due to the present efficiency and system at the Registrar's office which enabled them to arrange in a brief time the large number of class lists that are sent in from the many departments that make up the University.

It is hoped by those in charge of the registration that the students will take advantage of the additional time for consultation and advise with their professors and thus be prepared to register quickly and in this way avoid the usual last minute rush on registration day which in the past has caused many students to lose much time by being compelled to stand in line at the administration building office.

In a faculty bulletin issued yesterday particular attention is called to the rules for registration procedure printed at the end of the schedule and registration officials ask that all students become familiar with them and thus aid in keeping the administration departments free from congestion.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR CHRISTMAS BALL

Plans for Dance to be Held at Multnomah Hotel December 28 Well Under Way.

Plans are well under way for the Christmas college ball to be held at the Multnomah hotel in Portland on the night of December 28. It is to be an all-university affair and invitations have been sent to all the colleges on the coast.

The committees in charge of the ball are: Ticket sales—Georgia Benson, chairman, Marion Lawrence, Elizabeth London and Mary Alta Kelly.

Patrons and Patronesses—Eleanor Spall, chairman, Dorothy Duniway, Ebebe Gage, Anna May Bronaugh and Madeline Slothoom.

Publicity—Frances Habersham, chairman, Wanda Dagggett, Geraldine King, Agnes Kennedy and Hope MacKenzie.

The tickets are on sale at the Co-op now at 75 cents apiece. They will also be on sale at different places in Portland which are to be definitely announced later.

STUDENTS TAKE TREES WITHOUT PERMISSION

Property Owner Voices Objection To Use of Shrubbery From Nearby Tract.

Three sophomores, John Gavin, Curtis Phillips and John Pearson, appeared before the Student Advisory committee Friday to answer to charges brought by Dee Wright, supervisor of a tract of land just east of Eugene. The students, charged Mr. Wright, cut down and removed two good sized trees from the property, which were used in the decorations at the sophomore dance last night. Mr. Wright does not object to having students make use of shrubbery upon the property for decorative purposes, but objected to the repeated incursions which have been going on of late.

The matter was taken charge of by the sophomore class as the three men were acting as their authorized committee.

During the hearing it developed that Pearson was on probation, and had been a regular member of the sophomore committee would have been automatically expelled from the University for participation in a student activity while on probation. It appeared, however, that he merely accompanied the committee as a volunteer and hence escaped dismissal.

SENIOR BENCH PAINTED

Smearing of Letters "O. A. C." Not Act of Collegians Is Belief.

Black buggy paint was the material used by some vandal Sunday night to deface the senior bench. The letters "O. A. C." were smeared on the back of the bench and decorations of a similar nature were painted on the seat. A committee of frosh removed the paint yesterday noon.

No clue has been found as to the identity of the party or parties who are responsible for the act, but student body officials think that the work was done by some high school students rather than by anyone actively connected with O. A. C. or the University.

OREGON NOT TO PLAY STANFORD NEXT YEAR IN GAME ANNOUNCED

Early Season Games Not Passed by Pacific Coast Conference Meeting.

BUT THREE GAMES NOW ON VARSITY SCHEDULE

Two Games, California and Washington Will Be In Eugene, Says List.

Oregon will not play Stanford University in football next year, according to Marion McClain, graduate manager, who has returned from Berkeley, where with Professor H. C. Howe, Bill Hayward and Bart Spellman, he attended the meeting of the Pacific coast conference. The game with Stanford was scheduled by a committee, which favored four conference games during the season, but just before the close of the conference, the delegates voted to go back to the old three-game schedule. Oregon thus will not play Stanford next year.

Southerners Opposed.

Delegates from the northwest are said to have been opposed to the four game schedule, while those from the south favored it. The southern institutions, according to Oregon representatives, would play northern teams only early in the season. California and Stanford wished to play their game late in the season, demanding also a week's rest before that game. This made it imperative that any games scheduled between the two southern institutions and those of the north be early in the season.

Delegates from Oregon opposed this arrangement, arguing that the earlier opening date of the southern schools allowed teams representing those institutions much more time for training and preparation. According to an interview given last Saturday in Portland, "Shy" Huntington, Oregon mentor, said:

"The northern eleven under the four-game schedule arrangement would have met a California team at the top of her form, after she had a month and a half's practice, just when we ourselves were in the formative state and at our worst. Washington State was to have played California at Berkeley, October 22. That couldn't have been anything but a gift to California, which would have been in full stride while Washington State would only have been starting the season. Oregon was to have traveled to Palo Alto though we played her there this season, and come home for a game the very next Saturday against California. That would have been another gift to California."

Announcement Wrong.

The four-game schedule was definitely tabled this year, and the old three-game arrangement adopted. The game which Oregon was to have played with Stanford was never arranged, although previously announced as officially scheduled. The revised schedule is as follows:

- October 20—California, at Eugene.
 - November 12—Washington, at Seattle.
 - November 19—O. A. C. at Eugene.
- Graduate Manager McClain announced last night that other games will be scheduled soon with members of the northwest conference, and possibly with a non-conference team.

U. of W. May Drop Game.

University of Washington, Seattle, December 4.—That the scheduled football game with O. A. C. at Corvallis next season may have to be dropped was the word returned by Darwin Meisest, graduate manager of the A. S. U. W. from the Pacific coast conference meeting.

Inability of obtaining a unanimous vote on a four-game policy is the reason given; Oregon withholding consent to enter in an agreement that would give its schedule four conference games instead of three.

In the event that Oregon cancels its game with California, it is believed all conference games on that date will be dropped and Washington will be free to line up a home game for a substitute.

SWEATER DRIVE PLANNED.

The University of Nevada is preparing to launch a drive to secure funds to pay for the sweaters which are to be awarded to the football men at the end of the season.

COMPANY'S SEASON ENDS WITH FANTASY

"Prunella" Well Received in Three Performances.

With Saturday's performance closing a run of three days of "Prunella," well received in every instance, the company's schedule for this term has been completed.

The one outstanding feature of the play was the quaint atmosphere that was attained in its presentation. The lighting, the costumes, the music and the scenery contributed to this as well as the manner in which the story is presented by the playwright, Granville Barker.

In the part of Pierrot, Norvell Thompson starred as the leader of the mummerys, or wandering players. His interpretation of the mannerisms and motives of the mummer prince was excellent, and he carried the play along with a swing that well fitted the performance.

With a part into which she fitted with ease and grace, Helen Casey, as Prunella, captured her audience from the time she appeared for her lessons to the final scene. She was charming to see looking over the hedge at the passing mummerys, and later, in her return as a beggar girl she still carried the same beauty which surrounded her from the start.

Prunella's three aunts, stiff and dignified, easily shocked, who kept her straight as a stick in the old garden, were played by Martha Rice, Loeta Rodgers and Dorothy Wootton.

Introducing the play with a garden scene, Victor Setter, as the boy, and Claire Keeney, Ervin Ludeman and Reuel Moore, as gardeners, added greatly to the quaintness of the fantasy. All through the play the gardener's boy gathered chuckles with his "oh you little birds, now fly please."

Following Pierrot was his company of mummerys, including Doris Pittenger, Marian Taylor, Irene Stewart, Marion Gilstrap, Harold Brown, George Stearns, John Canoles, Elgie Altimus and Ford Wallace, Pierrot's man. Frank Jue, as tenor, seranaded Prunella from the garden.

Adding to the humor of the play were Helen Madden as Queer, and Wenona Dyar, playing the part of Quaint. Their spats with the gardeners and the gardener's boy added to the effectiveness of the production.

OREGON HALL IS CHILLY

Classes Are Dismissed; Heating Plant Proves Weak.

The Education building began its week's work with cold, feet and gently chattering teeth yesterday morning. The heating plant refused to function with sufficient energy to send steam to that far distant arm of its domain. Classes, including the whole University high school, had to be dismissed for the forenoon. Instructors in the building hope the malady of the heating plant will not become chronic. Last year, the high school students had several extra holidays on account of cold rooms.
