

CREDIT FOR STUDENT ACTIVITY EXPLAINED

Glee Club One Credit, Orchestra One-Third Credit.

In order that there may be no misunderstanding in regard to a new policy of the faculty restricting credit for student activities, the exact wording of the faculty legislation on Thursday concerning this matter follows:

"This legislation was believed by the faculty not to affect adversely the student activities that now receive credit. Those activities are: Glee club, which receives one credit per year without restriction as to the number of years; orchestra, which receives one-third of a credit per term without restriction as to the number of terms; intercollegiate and interfraternity debate, which receive an adjustable and unfixed amount of credit. The band receives credit through service in the military department.

Under the new legislation, beginning next fall, the school of music presumably will organize an academic course in orchestral music, and a course in vocal music built around the glee club, the legislation providing that the courses be administered as any other course. There is an implied restriction, of course, as to the repetition of the same course for credit.

The purpose of the legislation was to systematize the present granting of credit and to provide a safeguard for any possible indiscriminate granting of credit for semi-academic work outside of the regular curriculum in the future.

This action was taken following the report of a committee headed by Dean Colin V. Dyment. The petition of the University orchestra submitted last June for three term hours of credit instead of one was denied.

LANDSBURY LEAVES FOR CONCERT TOUR

Trip Will Include States of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

Dean John J. Landsbury of the school of music left last Saturday morning to start on his concert trip as accompanist for Arthur Middleton, Metropolitan Grand Opera singer, under the management of the Elwyn Cornett Bureau.

Dean Landsbury went directly to Pocatello, where Middleton's first engagement was booked for December 6. Middleton's itinerary includes Great Falls, Montana; Spokane and Seattle; Lewiston, Idaho; and LaGrande. He will sing in Portland December 29.

Middleton and Dean Landsbury are warm personal friends, according to Mrs. Anna Landsbury Beck, sister of the Dean. They were classmates at Simpson College, in Iowa, but this is their first reunion in many years, Mrs. Anna Beck says.

Doctor Landsbury has in his possession a Glee Club program of the days when he and Middleton used to go on Glee Club trips together during their college years, Middleton as soloist, and he as accompanist and soloist. This program shows cuts of the two as they were in their college days.

PLAY TO BE PRESENTED

One-Act Drama, "Happiness" To Be Given By Dramatic Students.

Today the one-act drama "Happiness," by J. Hartley Manners, will be presented in Guild theatre at 1:00 p. m., under the direction of Claire Keeney.

The play is one of a series of one-act plays given by students in the dramatic department, under the direction of members of the coaching class. It was scheduled to appear three weeks ago, but was postponed on account of the absence of some of the cast from the campus. The extra time has allowed for a thorough preparation.

The cast appearing today is: Mrs. Crystal-Pole.....Lorna Coolidge Snowcraft, her father.....Edwin Keech Philip Chandos.....Curtis Phillips Jenny.....Lois Hall

MAGAZINE HAS CONTEST

"The Nation" Offers $100 for Prize Poem Written by American.

"The Nation" is now carrying on a prize poem contest in which $100 will be given for the best poem submitted, written by an American poet.

The poem which may be written in any meter or free verse must reach the office of The Nation before January 1. No more than three poems will be received from one person and each poem must not be longer than 200 words. The manuscript must be typewritten and sent to "The Nation," 20 Vesey Street, New York City, with the envelope marked "Poetry Prize" on the outside. Besides the winning poem, "The Nation" may purchase other submitted poems.

SOPHOMORE CADETS STUDY MACHINE GUN

Use of Automatic Rifle to be Taken Up By Freshmen During Winter Term.

Starting with and continuing through the winter term instruction on the nomenclature, mechanical operation, and tactical use of the automatic rifle and the machine gun will be given the cadets of the R. O. T. C. Each cadet must qualify in the mounting, assembling, dismounting and mechanical operation of the pieces. Instruction as to the use of the machine gun is for sophomores while instruction on the automatic rifle will be given the freshmen.

During the spring term a machine gun platoon, composed of about twenty-five or thirty sophomores who have qualified in the work of the winter term, will be formed. These men will drill as a machine gun unit and will do their firing on the range as the same.

During the winter term there will be two conference periods in military science and the drill hours will be reduced from three to two hours a week. As no definite time has been set for the added conference period it is the desire of the commandant that all cadets should supply him with a list of his vacant periods, after he has completed his registration for the winter term.
