SIX BASKETEERS TO BE TAKEN NORTH BY BOHLER NEXT WEEK

W. S. C. and U. of W. to be Played on Home Floors on Squad's Trip.

WILLAMETTE FIVE TO BE MET JAN. 21 AND 22

Second Team to Tangle With Y. M. C. A. "Cougars" at Gym Tonight.

CHAPMAN ELIGIBLE.
"Nish" Chapman has been declared eligible to compete in intercollegiate athletics again, when reports of hours made but not reported were proven to the satisfaction of the faculty. Chapman has been practicing during the past few weeks and will be in condition to accompany the varsity to Salem this week, declared Coach Bohler last night.

Six players will be taken on the northern trip to play in the games against Washington State and the University of Washington next week according to Coach Bohler. Just who the six men will be is not fully decided and it is yet possible that "Nish" Chapman may be able to take the trip with the squad.

Nightly workouts on the new floor at the new Armory is the schedule which the squad is being put through this week. The first two conference games will be played at Salem on Friday and Saturday nights against the Willamette quintet and the Armory floor is similar to the one on which the games will be played in the capital city.

Chemawa Games Stiff.
Coach Bohler was fairly well pleased with the work of the team in the two games against Chemawa last week. The Indians had a better team than they had been rated as having, and two stiff games were the result. The Willamette five defeated the Oregon Aggies last Friday night at Salem and the result of the two games will be awaited with interest by fans here.

Washington State is expected to put up some strong opposition in the two games which the varsity will play with them at Pullman on next Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The Cougars have practically the same team they had last year, having a strong foundation of five letter men about which to build their team this year. They won one and lost one of the two game series played against Idaho last week.

No Line on Washington.
At Seattle where the lemon-yellow five will meet the Sun Dodgers, another hard game is expected. Little is known of the strength of the Washington team this season but they are usually relied upon for a strong quintet.

Coach Bohler is not expressing himself very optimistically over the outlook for the coming games away from home and says he will be satisfied if we can break even on the trip. This trip will be the only one the varsity will take this season unless a post season schedule be arranged to include Idaho and Whitman for a series of games in the north.

Tonight the second string quintet will play the Y. M. C. A. Cougars at the Eugene "W" gym, and Coach Bohler will be on hand to get a line on how his second string performs against an outside team. A fast and snappy game is expected, as the teams are about evenly matched.

BIBLE STUDY STARTED

Discussion Groups Meet Each Week in All Women's Houses.

"Christian Fundamentals" is the topic decided upon for the Bible discussion groups, which, beginning this evening will be held every Wednesday from 7 to 7:30 in all women's organized houses on the campus. These discussion groups will continue for the next six weeks.

The plans for these meetings were prepared by the religious education committee of the Y. W. C. A. under the direction of Eleanor Spall, chairman, and Miss Mary Perkins, adviser. Each house will have the same leader throughout the entire course. At a meeting yesterday afternoon the different leaders decided the subjects they would use during the six weeks.

The list of leaders for the various houses has not been entirely completed.

'TIS BETTER TO SMOKE HERE THAN HEREAFTER'

Bench Under Nicotine Tree Has Inscription of Most Mysterious Origin.

"'Tis better to smoke here than hereafter" is one of the captions adorning the dedication tablet of the new bench which occupies a prominent place under the nicotine tree. The new piece of campus furniture appeared like the proverbial thief in the night and little is known of its origin, but a substantial lock and chain seems to guarantee that it will remain there until either the tree falls or the bench wears out.

Only seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen are allowed to use the bench according to the code of the new tradition, and all unauthorized persons will be summarily dealt with if they trespass. A powerful secret organization said to bear the Greek name of Alpha Sigma Sigma is believed to be behind the movement for comfortable smokes.

OREGON IS INVITED TO EUGENIC CONFERENCE

Dr. Carlisle Represented on Committee.

An invitation to the University of Oregon to send one or more delegates to attend the second international congress of eugenics to be held in New York city September 22-28, 1921, has been received at the president's office. A preliminary announcement and tentative program of the gathering accompanied the invitation and contains a lengthy list of nationally known educators and professional men serving on the general committee, the Pacific Coast is represented by C. L. Carlisle M. D., of the extension division, University of Oregon, Bishop Walter T. Sumner of Portland, bishop of Oregon, and David Starr Jordan of Stanford University.

The object of the international congress is, according to the announcement, "to hold a conference on the results of research in race improvement" and to discuss thoroughly the problem of race betterment which at the present time is of vital importance to civilization owing to the disturbed economic, sociologic and biologic conditions of the world as a result of the War.

FEB. 25 IS DANCE DATE

Oregon Club Girls Name Committees to Handle Details.

The Oregon Club girls, at their meeting last Monday night in the bungalow, decided on February 25 as the date for their dance but they have not yet decided just where it will be held. Helen Addison was appointed chairman of the committee to obtain a place for it. The heads of the other dance committees are: Features, Lola Keiser; Invitations, Mabel Haylor, and Chaperons, May Leno.

This was the first regular meeting of the club for this term, and it marked the end of their membership drive. The club was divided into two parts, and a contest for the highest number of memberships held between them with the losing side to entertain the remainder of the club sometime later in the term. The contest was won by the division headed by Dorothy Dickey.

The membership of the club now totals over eighty girls and according to Glenn Frank, president, many are still joining who just entered college this term.

The invitation for Saturday evening, January 22, extended to them by Hendricks hall was accepted by the girls of the club. It was also decided that they should give twenty dollars to the Near East Relief fund which will be started soon as a result of Sherwood Eddy's visit to the campus.

NEW PROFESSOR COMING

J. L. Whitman, Former Student, Succeeds Dr. Cole in Chemistry Dept.

Professor J. L. Whitman, of Spokane University, will teach Analytical Chemistry here in the place of Dr. Howard I. Cole, who went to the Philippines in December. Professor Whitman has obtained a leave of absence beginning February 1, the end of the semester at Spokane University, and will come here at that time.

Professor Whitman obtained his Master's degree here several years ago and was an assistant here. He also taught Analytical Chemistry here at summer school and has been an instructor in the high schools of both Pendleton and Spokane.

PYGMALION TO SHOW BOTH THURSDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS

Charlotte Banfield and Fergus Reddie Take Leads in Play.

SHAW'S COMEDY SAID WELL SUITED TO STAGE

Girl From Gutter Taught To Play Dutchess In High Society.

"Pygmalion," one of the most actable plays George Bernard Shaw has ever written, according to Fergus Reddie, will show in Guild theatre Thursday and Saturday nights of this week.

Written in 1912 when the time was apt for a criticism of the English language, the playwright succeeded in producing a comedy full to the brim with bubbling satire of the most virile type. Incidentally he takes a fling at middle-class "morality," society and other things.

As Pygmalion of old did with his marble when he sculptured the wonderful statue so beautiful that he was enamored by the creation, so Professor Higgins takes a girl from the gutter and makes of her a lady who can pass in society as a dutchess. A professor in phonetics, by polishing the girl's speech and articulation, he succeeds in raising her tastes and motives to such an extent that she is in truth a lady, a thing of which he is justly proud.

Miss Banfield Takes Lead.

The fun of the whole play lies in the unique characterization and the extraordinary situations, of which Shaw is a master of his own kind. For those who know English life, they will see typical characters in Alford and Liza Doolittle, in the professor, the colonel, the professor's wife and in the Hills.

Charlotte Banfield is the street girl, Liza Doolittle, who "don't want to learn new grammar, but ter speak like a lady." She is shocked by the immodesty of full length mirrors in the bath room of the professor's house.

Professor Higgins, the phonetician, is played by Fergus Reddie, who, as a professor in expression, has done in actual life that which he will again do in the play with Liza.

Rose McGrew in Cast.

Rose McGrew is the unfailing professor's wife who comes in contact with the street girl in so many instances.

In Mr. Doolittle, played by Norvell Thompson, Shaw takes delight in placing a philosopher, a "thinking man," who is the mouthpiece for many a quick thrust about middle class "morality."

Members of the cast in order of appearance are:

Prof. Henry Higgins . . . Fergus Reddie
Col. Pickering . . . Manford Michael
Mrs. Pearce . . . Irene Ruth
Liza Doolittle . . . Charlotte Banfield
Alford Doolittle . . . Norvell Thompson
Mrs. Higgins . . . Rose McGrew
Miss Eynsford-Hill . . . Charlie Fenton
Miss Eynsford-Hill . . . Dorothy Wootton
Freddy Eynsford-Hill . . . Claire Keeney
Maid . . . Irene Stewart

CHICKEN-POX REPORTED

Richard Gray Confined in Infirmary With Ailment.

Richard Gray, a freshman from McMinnville, is confined in the "isolated quarters" of the infirmary with chicken-pox. Leo Deffenbacher, who has had pneumonia, has been released and pronounced able to do his school work.

Carlton Logan, who is also a pneumonia patient at the infirmary, is getting along nicely, according to reports, and will be let out in a few days. Many cases of colds and other similar ailments are being handled this week, according to the infirmary nursing force.

LAB FEE RUSH IS HEAVY

Crowd in Business Office Looks Like Bank Run—All a Mistake.

It looked like a run on a bank. It was only several hundred misguided souls who thought yesterday was the last day in which to pay their laboratory and gym fees and so thronged the business office of the administration building from the opening hour on.

The error was due to a mistake in the Emerald's announcement which said the last day was to be the 18th instead of the 26th.

Freshmen Cut Expense of Glee To Less Than $300 But Will Still Have First-Class Dance

The expense of the annual Frosh Glee, which will be given on February 4 at the Armory, will probably not exceed $300, according to Harold Brown, chairman of the Glee committee. Revised estimates, made after consultation with former class dance committee chairmen, has resulted in lowering the budget for the dance to less than $300. Incidental expenditures, it is believed by Brown, will probably raise the final cost of the Glee to the limit set.

In re-arranging the plans for the dance, the committee had to allow for rent for the hall, cost of programs, punch, music, features and decorations, and incidental expense which would be incurred by the committee in charge of inviting patrons and patronesses.

Amounts formerly estimated for these items have been cut down now, according to Brown, while still all the essentials necessary to a successful class dance will have been complied with.

The best music possible to obtain in Eugene will play at the Frosh Glee, according to Brown. Appropriate programs will be ordered soon by the committee in charge, and a feature that will far surpass any yet offered at a class dance is promised by the committee in charge of that phase, according to the general chairman. The decorations will be simple, yet entirely adequate, and the punch will be plentiful. "We'll still have a wonderful dance," said Brown.

In explaining the change in plans made by the committee, the committee said they were attempting to conform to the vote of their class taken in class meeting last week, and still keep the expense of the dance under the amount of money in their treasury.

"We did not intend to have a special assessment to raise money for the dance," said the chairman of the general committee. "The special levy was to raise money to provide for future activities of the class, which would leave the full amount of money in the treasury for the dance. The assessment will not be collected now."

Dean John Straub, advisor to the freshman class, assisted in the revision of the dance budget. According to him, it was the full intention of the committee to keep down expenses, but they felt that they could not give an appropriate dance for the amount of money in the class treasury, which he says was depleted by such activities as building the frosh bonfire, painting the "O," and help towards defraying the expense of the Homecoming rally.

PERUVIAN PROFESSOR TO BE SPEAKER HERE

Political Science Subjects To Be Discussed Jan. 26.

Dr. Victor Andres Belaunde, Professor of International law and political science at the Universidad de San Marcos, Lima, Peru, is to speak on the campus to different groups on Wednesday, January 26. Professor Belaunde is known as one of the most able and influential men in Latin-American Academic circles.

He will speak at 2 o'clock on the 26th to Professor Lomax's class in Trade Routes and World Ports. Any others interested may attend this lecture which will be on the subject of "Economic Conditions in Peru." His second address will be to the faculty Social Science club on the evening of the same day on the subject of "The Communism and the Bolshevik Regime." A third lecture will probably will be given by Dr. Belaunde on "Hispanic American Culture and Ideals." The latter although not definitely arranged for as yet will probably be given before the Cosmopolitan club and some of the Spanish classes.

COMPETITION IN PUNCH CONTEST IS KEEN

Many Contributions Are Received By Writers of Humor But Art Work Lags.

Material for the February issue of the Lemon Punch has been coming in fairly rapidly of late and the contest between the humorous contributors is becoming keen, according to the editor. Few have attempted cartoons however, and it is in this field that material is most needed at the present time. A number of new artists have been discovered within the past few days, who had never turned in work before, says Stan, because they did not know what kind of cartoons to draw. Ideas for cartoons will be given to any cartoonist to work on if he so desires and they can be obtained by dropping in to the Punch office any afternoon.

The Lemon Punch is not confined to only those with humorous ideas but any person who can write good editorials is urged to turn them in as there is room on the staff as well for writers of serious copy. The staff will be enlarged very soon and those who have consistently turned in good material will receive the positions. The present staff represents only the heads of the various departments.

Alumni have been taking a keen interest in the magazine, according to the editor who says that material has already been received from old time writers of humor such as Paul Farrington, Ernest Crockatt and Bill Bolger.

Don't delay, the contest closes next Tuesday and this is the deadline for all copy!

STUDENTS KEPT FIT FOR TASKS BY WORK OF HEALTH SERVICE

System Stresses Prevention Rather Than Cure, Says Dean Bovard.

HIGHEST PHYSICAL EFFICIENCY IS AIM

Eastern Colleges Slower To Undertake Similar Line of Work.

Healthier students, students physically able to get the most out of life and the most of their studies; this is the goal toward which the University Health Service is working under the direction of the school of physical education.

Dr. John Bovard, dean of the school of physical education, has recently returned from a trip throughout the west and middle west, where he visited a number of the largest colleges, and he has found that Oregon is among the most progressive in caring for the health of the students.

"We are making a keen distinction between health service and sick service," explained Dr. Bovard. "We are concentrating our energies upon taking care of the men and women here so that they won't get sick." This, continued the dean, does not mean that there is to be a relinquishment in care of the sick. Every caution is being taken to give those who do become ill the best of attention, but stress is being laid on the fact that attention to the body in daily life tends to offset a predisposition to sickness and in general increases efficiency.

Novel System Adopted.

In line with this preventive work Oregon has adopted a novel system, which Dr. Bovard hopes will do more than any one thing to make and keep the students healthier. This is the aiding of men and women to reach their highest point of point of physical fitness.

"This work," explained Dean Bovard, "takes in the student who is well, but whose physical condition can be bettered. Men, for example, underweight men who have slight troubles which proper food and exercise will eliminate are made acquainted with their condition and given an opportunity, under proper instruction, to go through with a recreational program, and a program of physical exercise which will bring them to their highest point of efficiency."

This work, it was explained, is nothing more than taking the man who has more physical potentialities than he is actually using, and putting him in a position to make use of all the strength with which nature endowed him.

160 Men Have Defects.

The work for the men here is under the direction of Dr. E. H. Sawyer. In the physical examinations which have been conducted, it was found that slightly over 160 men in the University had some slight ailment, such as overweight, which reduced their physical fitness to a point below normal. A meeting of these men is to be held this coming Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in Room 6, P. E. hall, where programs of recreational exercise and proper diet will be outlined which will enable them to improve their physical condition.

The same work is being conducted for the girls of the University under the di-

MUSIC DEAN IS HONORED

Dr. Landsbury Heads Supervisors' National Committee.

Dean John J. Landsbury, of the school of music, has been appointed chairman of the advisory committee of the Music Supervisors' National Conference, said to be the liveliest national musical organization in existence. The advisory committee is a national one.

The Music Supervisors' National Convention was organized about 13 years ago and since then has grown to its present membership of about 1500.

This appointment shows that Oregon is coming to the front in the musical world, was Dr. Landsbury's comment on the appointment. "Oregon has been the pioneer in questions of the adoption of music in the curriculum of the public school. Its influence has been felt throughout the United States and its plan adopted in some states.

"Our slogan has been that the future music lies in the public school," the dean concluded.
