STATE LAWMAKERS TO NUMBER OF 75 GUESTS SATURDAY

Party to Reach Campus for Assembly at 11; Luncheon at Hendricks Follows.

PROGRAM FOR SPECIAL ASSEMBLY ARRANGED

Dean Straub Going to Salem To Escort Visitors; Oregon Greeting Assured.

A real old Oregon welcome awaits the legislative party which will visit the University campus tomorrow. Arrangements to greet the visitors in proper style were under way yesterday, and will continue today.

Word received in the city yesterday from W. T. Gordon, representative from Lane county, that the party would number 75. The campus arrangements, therefore, will be made on the basis of this number.

The program for the special assembly is now virtually complete. With the arrival of the visitors at 10:45 they will be hurried to the campus, and the assembly in Villard hall will start promptly at 11. President Campbell will preside. The address of welcome for Eugene and the chamber of commerce will be delivered by H. O. Bowen, president of the chamber. Carlton Savage, president of the student body, will deliver the welcome address for the students. Several of the lawmakers will make short addresses. Music for the occasion will be given by the Girls' Glee club and, under the direction of L. A. Coon, by the University band.

The luncheon at Hendricks hall will follow the assembly. At the close of the luncheon the visitors will be escorted by students and faculty guides over the campus to inspect the old and new buildings. It will be the aim of the hosts to show the visitors what has been done with the money afforded by the millage tax funds and also what has yet to be accomplished by the use of such moneys.

After an hour and a half or two hours of inspection the visitors will be taken back down town to be the guests of the chamber of commerce.

Dean Straub will leave for Salem at noon today and will accompany the visitors here on the train tomorrow morning. Badges of identification will be given the visitors, and it is the hope of the committee on arrangements that the lawmakers will become acquainted not only with the University plant and the University needs, but with the students who so largely make up the life of the institution.

President Carlton Savage urges as a duty on every Oregon student attendance at the big assembly tomorrow and hospitality of the real Oregon brand toward the distinguished visitors.

13 ON PROBATION FOR CUTTING.

Thirteen men at the University of Illinois were voted on probation for cutting, by the council of administration.

511 Students Pledge $1123 For Foreign Relief; Several Donations from $10 to $35

As a result of the plan devised by the Student Council for the raising of funds in the campaign for foreign relief, $1123 was pledged at assembly yesterday by 511 students, Norton Winnard, chairman of the committee in charge of the work reported. Winnard said there would be no further plans made until after a meeting of the committee, which will be called for the earliest possible time.

Arrangements have been made whereby all students who didn't have the opportunity to contribute may drop their subscription cards into a box to be placed in front of the library.

This plea for funds comes incidentally as a result of Sherwood Eddy's visit to the Oregon campus. Although Mr. Eddy came here primarily to give a series of lectures on social and economic problems he also suggested that something should be done for the thousands of starving students in Europe. After the banquet given in Mr. Eddy's honor the student council took the matter of a

TWENTY POSTS ISSUED SO FAR BY REGISTRAR

Number Shows Decrease Since Last Term; Students Studying More Seriously.

Only 20 posts have been sent out by the registrar's office this term; this number shows a decrease since last term. Two reasons account for this, according to Mrs. Fitch of the registrar's office. First the students are studying more seriously than they did before and in the second place the faculty realizes the seriousness of the post.

Although the post is a warning that the student is doing failing work the professors are not required to send them. Mrs. Fitch said that the post was really a courtesy shown by the professor to the student.

There has been a misunderstanding on the part of those who believed that two posts in any subject would put a student on probation. A student may receive two posts in the same subject, in fact a student may fail in one subject without being put on probation. But two posts in different subjects will put a student on probation.

FROSH TO CURTAIL EXPENSES FOR GLEE

Limit Set at $300; Elaborate Decorations Barred.

In keeping with the desire of the University to cut down on all expenses possible this year, especially those in connection with the giving of college dances, and at the special request of the student council and Dean Straub, the freshman class planning a frosh glee which will be more economical than it has been in past years. As an outlay of about $600, which was the cost of last year's glee, is not in keeping with the existing necessity for conservation of funds, the amount to be spent on the dance this year has been set at $300.

The music and program of dances will be up to standard, as a ten-piece orchestra has been procured. The only item which will be eliminated, according to the committee, is that of elaborate and expensive decorations. As there are other expenses, which are unavoidable in connection with a dance of this kind, and which will equal the amount of money to be used, this is the only thing which could be done away with. A good feature dance will be worked up, good punch will be provided for the thirsty, and the committee promises that the floor will be "slick."

The frosh class is not attempting to offer excuses to the student body for this departure from custom. They are attempting to conserve where they can, and still provide all the essentials of a good dance. They hope to put on the glee without special assessment, as has usually been found necessary, and the committee in charge, or the class as a whole, cannot be blamed for the deficiency in decorations.

Plans for the dance are nearly complete, and the program will be published during the first part of next week.

100,000 STUDENTS IN EUROPE STRUGGLE AGAINST STARVATION

Dr. Torrey Tells of Terrible Conditions Present at Foreign Colleges.

EXPLAINS A.R.A. DRIVE TO RELIEVE SUFFERING

Dean Sheldon, Carlton Savage and Lyle Bartholomew Address Assembly.

"There are 100,000 students in European colleges still struggling against starvation, disease and bitter cold, against lack of clothing, against lack of every possible comfort," said Dr. Harry Beal Torrey at assembly Thursday morning, in a stirring appeal to the students of Oregon to aid in the American Relief Administration drive.

"They are making a very manful fight for something that we as students hold peculiarly dear, and they have got to be saved if we are to preserve civilization in that part of the world," he said. "The civilization in Europe depends upon them. They are struggling to keep alive the civilization of the country in which they live."

Many May Starve.

Eighty out of every hundred do not have enough of an income to keep them at a minimum required for subsistence, said Dr. Torrey. Twenty out of every hundred can continue to live, and the rest will speedily die if relief does not come soon. They have only fragments of clothing. For breakfast they have only black bread and soup, and the same thing for the only other meal of the day. One-third of the students of Europe are on this fare. Nearly fifty per cent of the students are working, but their compensation is very small. A teacher, for instance, would have to give one thousand lessons in order to earn enough to buy a dress and a pair of shoes. Sugar is 65 times as high as it was before the war; flour, 55 times as high, and clothing 30 to 60 times as expensive.

Many Die in Vienna.

In Vienna about 85 per cent of the students are dying with tuberculosis, due to cold, exposure, and lack of proper nourishment, he went on to say. In Budapest there were three times as many sick students in 1920 as there were in 1914, with less students in school.

"These students are our particular care," said Dr. Torrey. "They are our brothers in spirit. They have our ambitions, our hope, our aspirations, our life, our habits. They are ours, and we of all people in the world should understand them and sympathize with them. They are not different from us. If we are unworthy, so are they; if we are not unworthy, neither are they."

Hoover Behind Drive.

H. D. Sheldon, dean of the school of education, told of a letter he had received from a German professor, stating that over one-half of the students were without adequate clothing, and that from five to ten per cent had committed suicide from sheer poverty.

To further justify the drive, Dean Sheldon said that he had gone to college with Herbert Hoover, who is at the head of the relief drive, and that he knew Mr. Hoover would lend his support only to a praiseworthy cause.

Lyle Bartholomew, in a few words, urged the students to give all they could to this movement. Ten dollars, he said, would keep a student over winter.

Savage Announces Assembly.

Carlton Savage announced that members of the state legislature would visit the campus Saturday, and that a special assembly would be held at 11 o'clock. He also dropped a hint that if every student were present, the visitors might notice the University's need of a new auditorium.

BOXING BOUTS TONIGHT

Oregon to Meet Multnomah in First Meet of Season.

The first boxing meet of the year will be held in Portland Friday night when four Oregon fighters will meet the chosen pugilists of the Multnomah Club. Charlie Dawson, boxing trainer will leave this morning with four men who will represent Oregon. These men and their respective weights are: Charles Lucas, 115; A. C. Merrifield, 125; Harry Culvertson, 133; and Tom Wyatt, 145.

The men have been training for some time and according to Dawson are in good condition.

Would Campus Romeos Fail To Heed Plea of Those Fair Maidens? "No, 1000 Times No!"

"WANTED—Three young men to escort three young ladies to the Frosh Glee. Need not be handsome but must be light on feet. Freshmen accepted.—X, Y and Z."

The above advertisement appeared in the columns of "the Emerald" yesterday morning. Does it pay to advertise? The reply comes in the form of answers from five gallant swains who would apply for the mail order dates.

R. B. B. V. D. and G. are the appellations of the dashing Romeos, and not one of them guilty of a correspondence course in the ways and means of shaking a wicked hoof. The replies follow:

My Dear Miss Juliet: Life's a lottery, so said Socrates, the Irish pie merchant, so let's live. I'm game to be one of the mail order Romeos, even as you and I.

Yes, I am a frivolous frosh. Portland is my home port but don't hold that against me if you all happen to be from Seattle or Oregon City. Not to throw brick bats or anything but I have a nasty hoof at times and that is what the Glee means. Oh Margie!

It happens that my manly (?) stature only rises five feet and eight inches from the walks I tread upon so please, Miss Juliet, don't tell me that you are over six foot tall.

Address me Ralph Baxter, U. of O., or just slip a note in the B. box in Johnson. (No, Ralph Baxter isn't my real name, but X, Y and Z aren't your initials either.)

Here's to the Frosh Glee.

To X, Y and Z, care Emerald:—B. V. and D wish to assert their qualifications to escort you to the Frosh Glee, February 4.

B. V. and D. are neither handsome nor particularly homely, but as to their lightness and sureness of foot, it is their belief that they can qualify.

Editor of the Emerald:—When reading the Emerald this morning, I saw the ad for three young men to take the three girls to the Frosh Glee. I wish to tender my application for the pleasure of accompanying one of the fair damsels. As to my qualifications, I am a nice-looking young man, having a straight nose, and hair split in the middle; am light on my feet, as I put eighteen months in the air service in France.

I have been thinking of calling up a girl I saw on the campus the first day I was here, but I would rather save myself the embarrassment of a phone call so I will await the pleasure of X, Y or Z. Address answer to "G." box G, campus mail, Administration building.

Thanking you in advance, I remain for a date,

Your,

"G."

SHAKESPEARE PLAY DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

"Two Gentlemen of Verona" Well Presented.

"The Two Gentlemen of Verona," with its true Shakespearean humor and cleverness, delighted an audience of University students and townspeople when presented last evening at Guild hall by the Company under the direction of Professor Fergus Reddie.

The wealth of real interpretation placed the play on a place far removed from the fringe of amateur work. From the fair Julia to the queer Launce, the players lost themselves in their roles with an aptness that transported their audience to the sunny realms of Italy, where the scene is laid.

Characteristic of the productions of the Company the scenic and lighting effects were exceptional and the costumes above reproach. The numerous scenes, necessitated in the presentation of a Shakespearean play, were handled with creditable promptitude.

Fergus Reddie proved his claim to a place in dramatic art in his interpretation of Launce, an idiotic servant. Difficult of portrayal, this character found a ready response through its excellent presentation.

Marian Taylor and Marion Gilstrap were charming in the characters of Julia and Silvia, in love with the two gentlemen of Verona. Norvel Thompson's clever acting in the role of Proteus found a sterling counterpart in George Stearns' presentation of the character Valentine.

One of the features of the play was Claire Keeney in the part of Speed, a half-wit servant. Keeney, with a role of considerable possibility, acquitted himself well, dominating every scene in which he appeared.

Doris Pittinger and Helen Madden fitted cleverly into the retiring parts of the gentlewomen of the two ladies. The parts of the elderly men, Antonio, and the Duke of Milan were well cast in Vern Fudge and Manford Michael. Reuel Moore in the part of Thurio, the paternally favored suitor of Silvia, formed a clever contrast to the ardent wooing of the girls' two lovers. Clifford Knodell in the role of secretary to the father of Antonio did his work well.

DeFord Wallace, John Canoles and Reuben Goffriere took the parts of the three outlaws. Ted Baker was cast as the host of the Milan Inn and Victor Sether as Sir Eglamour, a friend of Silvia's.

The "Two Gentlemen of Verona" will be presented at Guild hall again tomorrow night. The next play to be produced by the Company will be the "Tale of Two Cities," starting February 24 with Fergus Reddie and Charlotte Banfield in the leading roles.

VARSITY FIVE MEETS WASHINGTON TONIGHT

Four Straight Wins Chalked Up As Starter.

Northwest Conference.
Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Oregon	4	4	1000
Willamette	2	2	500
Idaho	1	1	500
Washington	1	1	500
W. S. C.	2	4	333
O. A. C.	0	2	000

Pacific Coast Conference
Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Oregon	2	0	1000
Stanford	2	0	1000
Washington	1	1	500
W. S. C.	1	3	250
O. A. C.	0	2	000
California	0	0	000

With four straight wins chalked up to their credit since leaving Eugene on their northern trip, the Oregon varsity basketball team meets the University of Washington five tonight in the first of a two game series leaders in both the northwest and coast conferences.

Oregon has played four conference games thus far this season and has won all of them by decisive scores. The varsity has amassed a total of 108 points since the opening of the conference season against 79 for its opponents. Including the pre-season games played, a total of 184 points has been run up by the varsity against 134 for its opponents.

In the northwest conference, the varsity seems to have a fairly safe lead as far as early season games go, although the team tackles a strong contender for honors in both conferences when they meet Washington tonight and tomorrow night. The Sun Dodgers managed to split even with the W. S. C. Cougars last week, and Coach Bohler admitted a not very bright outlook against the Seattle team when he left here for the north.

In the coast conference, Stanford will prove a strong contender. The Palo Alto five won two straight games from O. A. C. this week, and as they have practically the same team that won the conference title last season, they will likely prove to be strong contenders for honors.

The complete scores of the varsity games thus far follow: vs. Willamette, 27-22; 21-16; vs. W. S. C., 27-23, 33-18; vs. Chemawa, (non-conference) 30-16, 27-18, vs. Multnomah, (non-conference) 19-21.

BOVARD, TIFFANY AND WALKER RETURN BUT REFUSE TO COMMENT

No New Light Thrown on Coach Situation By Council Members.

PETITION OF FOOTBALL MEN HAS 35 SIGNATURES

Salem Alumni Re-aroused By Developments, Says Correspondent.

Dean John F. Bovard, A. R. Tiffany, and Dean Walker, members of the athletic council who went to Berkeley to look over prospective candidates for the position as head coach of football at the University, returned to Eugene yesterday, but refused to throw any light on the situation. The three members of the council refuse to talk or to confirm reports that they had made any offer to "Nibs" Price while in the south.

Dean Bovard said that he had made a complete report to Professor Howe, president of the athletic council, and that he was unable to give out any information. Professor Howe said that nothing definite had been done, and restated his assertion that final action would be taken in a few days, as soon as the athletic council holds a meeting.

Dean Walker refused to talk, except to say that he was surprised that the actions of the athletic council had leaked out. He also voiced his disapproval of the publicity given the affair.

The list of signatures to the petition circulated among football men by Carl Mautz, three year letter man in football, has grown to a total of thirty-five. Those who have signed the petition lately are: Carl VonderAhe, Louis Dunsmore, Harold Kirtley, Fred Dunn, Jack Meyers, Ed Warrens, Estel N. Akers, Rainey Rugh, Hal Champman, Terry Johnson, Ed Edmonds, and Raymond McKeown.

Several applications for the position as coach are said to have been received by the University since announcement of the athletic council proceedings have been made public. No confirmation has yet been made however.

A petition which will recommend to the athletic council that coach Huntington be retained will be circulated among the business men of Eugene this morning, according to W. R. Wallace and E. W. Merrell, downtown business men. It is proposed to submit the petition to the athletic council before the meeting which is expected to be held next week.

Alumni throughout the state are beginning to voice their opinions on the situation. Paul Farrington, Emerald correspondent at Salem has sent the following article to the Emerald.

Salem, Or., Jan. 27.—Closed doors may be a boon to those engaged in the launching of a scheme which might otherwise be frustrated, but the secrecy plan of those is scarcely laudable.

Coach "Shy" Huntington has accomplished as much as might be expected from any athletic coach operating under similar circumstances.

Dobie and Bezdek may be good men and true, and are undoubtedly excellent football coaches, but their demands for railroad president's salaries render them well-nigh unavailable. And lesser lights, such as "Nibs" Price are not to be considered.

Mildly speaking, such appears to be the attitude of prominent alumni in Salem who today bitterly scored the University athletic council's procedure in negotiating for a new coach and denounced the "star chamber" sessions in which plans for the hiring of a new mentor are said to have been hatched. Such men as Lawrence T. Harris, supreme court judge; Walter Winslow, well known attorney; George W. Hug, superintendent of schools, Arthur Geary, former Oregon graduate manager, and Harry N. Crain, managing editor of a local paper, this afternoon made known their views on the matter which has caused a considerable odor, to say nothing of a violent stink, in this man's village.

Declaring that he is averse to hiring either Dobie or Bezdek, and scathingly referring to the secret council meetings, Mr. Hug, who was a member of the athletic council for ten years and who for three years was all-northwest center on an Oregon team, said today:

"I think Huntington has done exceptionally well. I am unalterably opposed to securing any of the mentors mention-
