

'CALL TO SERVICE' THEME OF MEETING

Y. W. C. A. Conference Addressed by 6 Delegates.

GIRLS STAY TO SUPPER

Presbyterians Win Prize For Most Original Stunt.

The call to service and its application was the main theme discussed by the six church representatives at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Tuesday afternoon in connection with the Inter-denominational Vocational Conference.

The three "L's," leadership, loyalty and love were emphasized by Mrs. Edkine Burton the Baptist representative in a short talk. Mrs. W. H. Phillips told of the definite openings for college women in social work especially in the south among the poor mountain whites, as they are called. Also she spoke of some places in foreign countries where the need was imperative.

Ideas of Service Told.

Mrs. F. A. Magruder, the Methodist representative from Corvallis, mentioned the new ideas of service and the methods used to carry them out. She emphasized the need for college women with their trained minds and ability to adapt themselves to all conditions in this social work which necessarily deals with all sorts of people. Mrs. Boudinot Seeley continued the discussion making an appeal for greater sacrifice among the girls. She contrasted the hardships encountered in countries like China and India to the really few things that we are asked to give up in this country. Her subject was "What does religion mean to me?" and in connection with this she told of many little examples of sacrifice among people interested in the work.

Begin at home and then try to help others, was the opinion of Mrs. D. C. Kellens, representing the Christian church. The work that you do near home is the stepping stone to greater work in the future and so especial attention should be paid to the work near at hand.

Mrs. Leonard, Episcopalian, spoke of how our ideas of religion and service were constantly changing and used the story of the Holy Grail as an example.

Supper Is Served.

After the meeting the girls stayed and had supper together. They were divided into six denominational groups and each one put on a stunt. The Presbyterians gave an original song about themselves and won the honors of the evening. The girls all sang Oregon songs for the visitors. Jane Campbell with a committee of freshman girls had charge of the supper.

After the stunts were over Miss Edith White of New York, talked for a short time on the call to service and mentioned particularly the Indian schools in Montana where she has been just recently.

Mrs. Magruder in closing her talk read the following poem which seemed appropriate to the topics under discussion:

"Some ships drive East, and some drive West
By the selfsame wind that blows.

It is the set of the sail and not the gale That determines the way we go.

As the way of the wind is the way of fate

As we travel along through life; It is the set of the soul that determines the goal,
And not the calm or the strife."

DEBATES NOW ASSURED

Inter-sorority Meeting to be Held Thursday Evening.

An inter-sorority debate meeting is to be held in Professor Crockat's room Thursday evening. A question will at this time be decided upon for these debates, which will take place next term.

It has been a question for some time whether or not the inter-sorority debates would be held this year. They are now assured, and will be conducted in the same manner as heretofore. As yet these debates have no faculty backing, and are sponsored by Zeta Kappa Psi, women's national forensic society. However, the girls interested have been working hard, and still hope to obtain faculty backing, and college credit for the work done, which up to this time has been unattainable.
